Blast-off time

1968 was year of change for Martin County citizens

by Dick Campbell

Just as the Apollo 8 blasted off to end the year 1968 with an a-mazing, letter perfect victory for the American people, their scientists and their space program, so the year 1968 will be remembered as the year in which Martin County blasted off to the growth and promise of the tomorrows soon to coming.

The year of change, in government, in thought, for Martin County's citizens, was a year to remember.

Looking back at 1968 we have seen many changes, some individuals mean little, but collectively mean great promises and growth.

Chronologically, this was the year in The Jensen Beach Mirror news papers:

JANUARY saw the establishment of a five-year road program by the county, and the announcement of the first summer recreational programs for the county, to be at Langford Park. The Optimist Fund held its ninth annual successful drive in Jensen Beach and Rio, the Grumman-built Hodroful gunboat, Flagstaff, was launched, on January 11, the county began to talk about garbage service in the county. Also in January it was announced that this is one project that has been talked about all year with little action.

The Stuart Sailfish Regatta showed what racing boats can do, and was deemed highly successful in January, another first. One of the many dredgings of the St. Lucie Inlet area announced for February, and Ray Lorenz was named acting postmaster of Jensen Beach, Ray Stelker was elected chairman of the planning and zoning board, and James Garvey was named president of First Federal of Martin County.

It was in January that the county commission asked for an act by the Florida legislature to franchise garbage collection. The Jensen Beach Garden Club celebrated its 18th year, and Fred Meyers of Jensen Beach was elected president of the county Republican Club.

FEBRUARY was the month that saw an industrial open-house tour by the Martin County Resources and Development Board, at which the controversial Rotonda levels project was announced. The Pratt-Whitney road was completed, and Bill Britton was named advertising manager of The Mirror.

Howard Wall, a Rio Scout was selected by the Stuart Jaycees as recipient of the Distinguished Service Award for 1967, and seven county boys were sworn in Langford Park. Three Verde Condominiums got under way as buildings were surveyed, and the Martin County Anglers Club was formed. Cedar Pointe Condominiums broke ground for more units and building picked up to a record pace.

Florida Power and Light Company announced that a nuclear power plant would be built on Hutchinson Island, and the First Baptist church began a new home on Commercial Street in Jensen Beach. Frances Langford clipped a ribbon to open a new roadtique in St. Lucie Country Club, and the Martin County High School Tigers won the Suncoast Conference basketball crown. Eleven couples held simultaneous fiftieth anniversary celebrations at Ocean Breeze Park, and Jensen Beach and Rio were declared bird sanctuaries by the county commission.

The big teacher strike got under way in Florida, but Martin County schools stayed open, and the strike here sputtered and died.

MARCH jumped off to a fine start with an outdoor art festival in Jensen Beach, and the hiring of a long-awaited county engineer by the county commission. The Audubon Pond held a chicken dinner in completing its goal for several agencies, and the county fair got under way at the fairgrounds, Susan Simone Pace selected as Miss Jensen Beach, and Jim Hudson was top bowler in the county championship with double hoop. Dr. Dick Pearce and Dr. Jim Allison, Jensen Beach dentists, opened Association stores opened for a new clubhouse, and Bill Britton, local manager of The Mirror, and Dick Campbell, editor of The Mirror, were elected chairman and vice-chairman of the Martin County Resources Board. Mary Peck was chosen "Mr. Fair Lady" as queen of the Martin County Fair, and Jan Avida was hitten by a shark in the surf.

APRIL saw the beginning of a drive to collect clothing for orphan children in Viet Nam as The Mirror and Frances Langford Fortnight, The Martin County High School DECO program took top honors in the state for activities, and the newly-formed Anglers Club asked the county for massive changes in the boat ramps and waterways facilities in the county.

In a political flap, county Democratic leader Ed Murray resigned his county seat to run house dispectir against it was revealed that he was on the county payroll. Again, the State Road Department promised to do something about, and failed to, the Poppleton Creek Bridge.

The hospital ball collected over $25,000 for Martin Memorial Hospital.

Jensen banker Bob Smith was elected mayor of Sewall's Point, and Donald Wilkie was elected president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce. The Rio Civic Club celebrated eighteen years of service to the community, and Hazel Forsberg was elected president of the J. H. Women's Association. Mrs. Leon Oliver was re-elected president of the J.H. Garden Club, and the Chamber in Jensen Beach ended each meeting under light of SR 707 and Palmer Road.

The Stuart Jaycees began a drive to raise monies to save the life of their president, Ron Johnston, and the third annual presentation of the ballet "Chrysanthemum" was presented locally.

The Jaycees in Stuart found Martin County with an open heart and pocketbook as over $20,000 was raised to save the life of their president Ron Johnston, who needed a kidnes machine to stay alive. Mrs. LaVaughn Tilton was elected to a second term as head of the Jensen Beach PTA for the 1968-69 season.

Kids chased after Easter eggs at Langford Park as candidates in the primaries chased after votes. St. Joseph College set up an advisory board and Stuart Rabinesu was elected Commodore of the Anchorage Yacht Club. William Maclaren was named executive director of the county resources board and ground was finally broken for the new auto inspection station in the county.

MAY was the month of excitement. The political primaries narrowed the field to set up the fall elections. The Jensen Lions honored Frances Langford Evinrude with a testimonial dinner, and County Commissioner Frank Wicha said he was going to try to build a field house at Langford Park on donations, the $65,000 surplus of over-runs. The Red Cross elected H.S. Hotson, Jr., chairman, and others to the local Anglers Club brought a new conservation agent to the area.

A county cleanup campaign was held, ground was broken for a new hotel at St. Lucie Country Club was announced for the future. The Landmark Harold's Bar was torn down, and work started on a beautiful condominium park created by First Federal of Martin County. The school board reinstated striking teachers, and Jim Moore and Bessie Fraser won the Sheaffer-Eaton pen awards in the Mirror annual competition.

The Mirror began its "Neighborhood Days" with issue of Jensen Beach, the National Newspaper Association won the paper promotion, and the Stuart Jaycees held a picnic-barbecue in honor of Stuart. The Small Boat Regatta and the new Small Fishes Sanctuary Area at the St. Lucie Inlet was created. The Board of Commissioners Park at Jensen Beach was dedicated, and the Jensen Beach Women's Club elected officers for the year. Mrs. Ruth Hall was elected president of the Jensen Beach Women's Club, and Mrs. Joseph Hilliard was elected president of the Jensen Beach Women's Club.

Ricou Browning heads TORS

Florida's top movie maker is former Jensen Beach resident

Ricou Browning, the handsome, muscular athlete who began his swimming career as a young boy in Jensen Beach, vaulted to the top of the motion picture business in Florida when he was recently appointed president of Ivan Tors Studios in North Miami. Browning is the son of Inez Browning, nee Ricou, the sister of Mrs. W. B. Tilton, Sr., and lived his early days in Jensen Beach.

The one-time medical student, public relations executive and professional stuntman is also a director of numerous features and the "Gentle Ben" series filmed at Ivan Tors Studios. Browning also co-authored with his brother in law, Jack Coweden, the original "Flipper" story which led to a feature and international TV series.

That Browning's new role is just recognition for a talented and hard working young man, Ivan Tors, the pioneer developer in the motion picture industry in Florida, will agree. For it was Ivan Tors who, recognizing his talents, first gave Browning the opportunity to direct.

Browning was studying medicine at Florida State University when he was asked to play the monster role in "The Creature from the Black Lagoon." A professional swimmer, Browning accepted the job and went on to play the inarticulate monster role in three "creature" pictures.

"My only acting, if you can call it acting, was playing the creature in the 'Black Lagoon' movie. I decided to stick to straight stunt work after that because I almost drowned from lack of air as I waited to rise from beneath the water with that immense costume on. In all the stunts I've done, though, I had only one other accident. I was hit in the leg with a spear during an underwater sequence."

But Ricou didn't stick to straight stunt work. Later on he began to do second unit directing, underwater directing primarily because that was the field he felt at home in. And then he started doing topside, second unit directing and then directing.

Now living in Miami, Browning recalls his fifteen years in the motion picture business. "I never wanted to get into this business," he explains. "It was just necessity and the other the interest I developed once I got involved in it. The more I got involved, the more interest it created and I wanted to learn as much about the business as I could."

Browning's interest in learning about the motion picture business has been rewarding. He directed the extremely complicated and dangerous underwater sequences for the James Bond hit, "Thunderball," winning for the film an Academy Award for Special Visual Effects. His direction of the underwater sequences for Ivan Tors' "Sea Hunt" series helped make it the nation's top-rated syndicated show during its four production years, and his topside and underwater direction on most of the "Flipper" segments, the TV show he created, made the series an international favorite seen in over 70 countries.

Browning most recently directed the underwater sequences for Ivan Tors' latest and soon to be released underwater comedy, "Hello Down There." The full-length color feature was filmed entirely at Ivan Tors Studios in North Miami and Ivan Tors Underwater Studios in Nassau. It stars Tony Randall and Janet Leigh.

"It has taken a considerable number of years to get where I am today and I'm very happy that it's at Ivan Tors Studios in North Miami," Browning says. "I am extremely happy that the movie business did not take me away from my native Florida into California. I love Florida and the warm climate."

The employees at Ivan Tors Studios are happy too that Browning was not taken from them. His honesty, easygoing manner and his humor make him a exception in a business where everyone is tense and nervous. Browning never gets nervous. He lets off steam on weekends flying his one-engine sea plane over Biscayne Bay, or playing with his four kids and a menagerie of animals living in his four-acre estate in South Miami.

PRESIDENT- Ricou Browning, a native Jensen resident who is equally at home on the water and directing of behind a desk, is president of Ivan Tors Studios, North Miami, Florida. As a writer, producer or director the original shorts for the feature film "Flipper" and the full length feature series. His control of films were outlined in the outstanding record of special effects [illegible] which won for "Thunderball" the academy award for special effects. Browning has directed both episodes and underwater sequences of the "Flipper" series and "Gentle Ben."

Editorials

1968 - - Wins, some losses and some rained out --

As the song goes, "It was a very good year."

We won some of the battles we fought, we lost some. We had support all the way of people who are interested and take the time to help their county and their fellow citizens.

In this recap of the editorial year of The Jensen Beach Mirror, we keep in mind that many projects begun in 1968 will see fruition in 1969. We do not discourage easily, but ask our friends and supporters...

In January, The Mirror editorial page viewed the budget of land to be acquired by Treasure Coast Junior College. Also in that issue was the report of Mrs. Frances Langford, entertainer, who was honorary chairman of the Christmas Seal drive in Martin County, and praised the Indian River Audubon Society for its efforts in behalf of the Pratt Whitney Road extension.

Garbage -- a loss

It was on January 12 that The Mirror featured an editorial, with full photo coverage on the indiscriminate dumping of garbage throughout the county of citizens and private garbage haulers. Commissioner Frank Ward's lecture, investigation into the "mess and hassle of providing a public sanitary service", concluding, "the ball is now in the commissioners' hill. Hussey's garbage committee, where it has stayed, will continue meetings for a year."

Nothing has been done to alleviate the filthy of State Road Department and county roadside garbage as well as private citizens. Nothing has been done to franchise private garbage collection or establish a countywide approved garbage contract, and some there were more reports of property owners illegally disposing it on said private property without permission. The mess remains. The smell is the air. The people have waited long.

We believe that safety is our best feature. If commissioner Hussey does not want to solve the problem, it should be taken out of his hands and acted upon by the entire commission. Garbage collection and disposal is still a major problem in Martin County, and it is up to us to solve it.

It is editorially brought it to Editorial January 12, 1969. Our case is the love of the people.

A win. On January 9, The Mirror urged the county commissioners to keep a close watch on the sewage treatment operation. The board was having difficulty with the operation of the plant, and we urged them to be cautious with expanding the facilities, until problems were corrected. Commissioner Hussey was on the problem board, and he reported that the plant was operating efficiently. Overall, the county board has kept close watch on the plant, and the problems have been corrected.

Poppleton Creek -a loss

The Mirror wrote of the problems of the Poppleton Creek bridge. Today it is still the same, with no action. Commissioner Hussey has promised action, with a bridge to be completed by the end of the year. Let's hope that the promise is not forgotten with the coming of the new year.

Beachfront -- a win

On April 25, The Mirror wrote that fishermen were losing access to the county beaches due to the development and fencing of the private property. The article, which passed a resolution to purchase land for beach access, was titled "Beach front and fish path." Though we do not have the complete purchase that has become a reality, we still feel that the county should purchase beach front property for fishermen. We are pleased to see that one of the first actions of Commissioner Warfield was to see that other parcels were acquired.

A win. On March 14, The Mirror editorialized against the idea of a countywide garbage collection system. The editorial, titled "Garbage Collection -- Not Now," urged the commissioners to defer action on the matter. We are pleased to see that the commissioners followed our advice.

Bill Murfin -- a win

On June 6, The Mirror editorialized that Martin County should not accept the National Guard armory unless the state would put up its share of the money. The editorial, titled "Bill Murfin -- a win," urged the commissioners to defer action on the matter. We are pleased to see that the commissioners followed our advice.

The Inlet -- a win

Our first pitch of 1968 on the St. Lucie Inlet was an editorial cartoon showing the corps of engineers dredging the inlet out as more and more silt filled from a never ending pipe. This was the beginning of a tenth fight to provide a plan for the inlet that would not take an act of God to keep open. We feel we are closer to it now than ever before, though little progress has been made on paper. We consider this year's effort a win.

Vandalism has not stopped, though it has been a subject for continuing editorials by The Mirror. The problem is enforcement and education. A loss for 1968.

The people opened their hearts to The Mirror for children in a Vietnamese orphanage, donating 400 pounds of clothing in the editorial drive of The Mirror. Our thanks to Mrs. Frances Langford for being honorary chairman of the drive. A win.

We praised and supported the Anglers Club in its recommendations for improved fishing and boating facilities and waterways. We fear that too little has been done for the fishermen since April 18. One boat ramp has been added, in the Jensen Beach. Minor help is not enough, for there were twelve points in the Anglers petition, and that was in the short range plan. We count the ramp a win, but the plan of the Anglers a loss. Perhaps they might update it and present it again to the county commission. This is the type of constructive work we should all praise in our county.

The article, which passed a resolution to purchase land for beach access, was titled "Beach front and fish path." We are pleased to see that one of the first actions of Commissioner Warfield was to see that other parcels were acquired.

School Bonds - pending

We backed the public issuance and sale of a school bond program for our school system. The schools are bulging at the seams. The future is not bright, unless the county puts forward bonding which will be sold. We still believe that the people are ready to vote for a school bond issue if they can see school up to date and running. We consider this an effort a win or loss. It is still pending.

We editorially wrote of the county's fine beaches in our editorial plans. The county has a fine beach, and it should be developed for the use of the people. We urged, and continue to urge, road access to the beaches, and parking for the future. A win.

We urged on August 22 that the county study some form of low cost housing. There is a little bath, they nothing. A loss. We also urged that the Corps of Engineers and the Flood Control District stop studying the siltation of the St. Lucie River and Inlet, and do something. The FCD announced two new studies and the Corps announced one. A loss.

We joined with the Indiantown Press in urging a countywide curfew to curb juvenile delinquency. The county commission failed to act. A loss.

We editorially asked on September 19 that Nat Reed, Governor Kirk's conservation advisor, use his power to bring more beach-front land on Jupiter Island, south of the inlet, into public ownership so that the Inlet improvement cost ratio of federal to local participation be lowered. We honestly believe that Reed is sincerely trying to get this done. Our salute is sure, and, a win.

City Indicted -- a loss

We urged the people of the City of Stuart to have patience as the audit of the city books was completed. We wanted to quiet down after in the middle of his election campaign, state attorney Charles L. Carlton indicted the entire City of Stuart to public attention. It was a mess, and the normal taxpayers had a ball. We consider this our biggest loss of the year, and a black eye for the City of Stuart.

In October we noted that the present Grand Jury could not take the evidence and make a true bill, for the audit would not be completed. Again, political consideration came first, a loss for all.

In October I we asked that the St. Lucie Inlet jetty be plugged before dredging is done. The county agreed to plug it, but selfish interests kept pushing for dredging before the Stuart Sailfish Tournament. The inlet got dredged. The jetty will be plugged soon by the county. Meanwhile, what we said would happen did. The inlet again has a bar growing across it, and all need to be dredged again. A win and a loss.

The Mirror editorially recommended candidates in the November election. The people made up their minds and voted. While we do not recommend to win, but to better inform the people and give them our thoughts, The Mirror recommendations were followed in most cases. If we were to keep score, the people elected 14 of those recommended by The Mirror, and two not recommended by The Mirror.

We asked for a printed platform from each candidate, so that the words said could be checked in a few years to come. A loss.

On November 28, we asked that the leaders of the conservation groups in Florida get together with leaders of development and government to set forth a plan for future development, with sound platforms of conservation of natural resources included. This was so that guidelines could be drawn for development. This meeting is still in the works. So win or loss.

We editorially supported Sheriff Roy Baker's request for more space on December 5. We understand that the county commission is moving on this. A win.

Pollution -- pending

We asked on December 12 that those who pollute the waters of the St. Lucie River be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law following a fish kill that endangered the public, commercial fishing interests and our sports fishermen. Lives were endangered by the pollution. Nothing has happened. We hope that nothing has happened because law enforcement officials are collecting evidence and not that the matter has been swept under the table. If the former is true, a win, if the latter is true, a loss.

To close out the year we had a Christmas present all our readers. The City of Stuart agreed to establish an open meeting-freedom of information policy following a secret meeting to elect a mayor. It was a good move on the part of the city, and an honest one. Everyone wins in the action of the city commissioners.

The editorial opinions of The Jensen Beach Mirror are the opinions of the editor and many whom we consult for material during the year. We urge, cajole, and encourage in a plan that is intended to be constructive, for the good of the people.

That some of our undertakings are difficult to accomplish, we know. That some are meant to be, we also know. We take credit for nothing, but want our readers, and those who can make things happen, to know that we are vitally interested in the future of this county and its development.

We thank those who helped for their efforts during this past year. The door to the editor's office is always open to those who disagree, as are the editorial pages open for public discussion of our stand on issues affecting the county.

So, to our ventures into the community life of our county in 1968, we bid a fond farewell. We have lived with, bled with, and worked on all these projects and many more. 1969 holds great promise.

Death of a patriot

When word reached the state of Bob Bartlett's death from Alaska, the sharp realization of the meaning did not penetrate for several days. Bartlett's death is the loss of the nation, and a patriot leaves the American scene.

During the days of Alaska as a territory, it was Bob Bartlett who fought the establishment in Washington, D.C. as Alaska's non-voting delegate for the few rights and privileges given to a people to govern themselves in a territory. It was Bob Bartlett who fought the establishment in Washington, D.C. as Alaska's non-voting delegate for the few rights and privileges given to a people to govern themselves in a territory. It was Bob Bartlett who fought the establishment in Washington, D.C. as Alaska's non-voting delegate for the few rights and privileges given to a people to govern themselves in a territory.

Within an hour of the statehood vote, Juneau Jaycees hoist vote. Juneau Jaycees had ordered a team to serve at the Inaugural Ball, and began touring the state to celebrate statehood. Bartlett was there, shaking hands, and it was now the Alaskans' job to work to make a state of Alaska.

The people of Alaska knew that Bartlett, and he could have been Senator as long as he wished, but the state was electing a Republican administrator, Bartlett saw his senate seat by 2 per cent of the people in the state.

There was a saying in Alaska; the only man who could defeat Bob Bartlett died on a cross. That could have been true.

He spent a lifetime dedicated to Alaska, and now Bob Bartlett is dead, victim of a heart attack. Alaska has lost its greatest pioneer, and I have lost a friend.

Notes and Comments by Bill Britton

'The inlet'

Some weeks ago, in this newspaper, you read a story called, "Is Dredging of the St. Lucie Inlet a Waste of Taxpayers Money?" The story pointed out the utter uselessness of continuing to spend untold thousands of dollars in repeated dredging operations, which provided only temporary relief from the shoaling caused by the constantly drifting sand. Until and unless something is done to stop this sand from coming into the inlet, the story pointed out, dredging provides only temporary relief, and, as such, is a waste of money. Monies should be spent on improving the jetty first, to hold the sand back.

There were, and still are, many who subscribed to this theory, and felt that improvements to the jetty should come before more dredging was done. There were others with, perhaps, something to gain by the dredging and its importance to the Annual Sailfish Regatta, pushed for immediate dredging of the inlet. The word went out..."we must have the inlet dredged, or we'll have to cancel the regatta?"

So it was that shortly before the regatta was scheduled to be held, there at part of December, the Army Corps of Engineers rushed a dredge here to begin the emergency dredging operation necessary to open the inlet in time for the regatta.

They might as well have stayed home.

Had weather, along with other problems, slowed the dredging operation so much, that when the regatta opened, the inlet wasn't ready. Local skippers, wise to the ways of the inlet, snaked their boats down the south shore, and went out the "Hole in the Wall," by Peck's Lake. Many boats used the Fort Pierce inlet.

It has been some weeks now since the latest dredging operation has been completed. However, the rush of the Christmas season has prevented most boating people from taking advantage of it until now.

This past Sunday, Ken Phillips and I went down to the inlet in Ken's boat to see how much better it was after the dredging.

It was worse.

Halfway out the old and useless jetty, a new sandbar stretches, right across the channel. To navigate the inlet you must slowly maneuver your boat in an east course, to avoid hitting the bar. Follow the channel markers, and you'll run aground for sure.

We had to the boat for a few minutes watching small boats wending their way through the obstacle course that nature had replaced almost as soon as the dredge had departed.

"This is awful," I said. Ken nodded, grimly. He gunned the engine in his 18 foot outboard, and slowly moved out through the inlet. We had traveled about as far as the second useless channel marker, when he turned the boat, slightly, now on a more southeasterly course, and headed what seemed like open sea. Without warning the boat suddenly hit some thing, throwing us both against the dash.

"What was that?" I yelled "Rocks," Ken answered, facing back to tilt up the motor. "There's a new shelf of rocks right over there."

I peered down into the water. There they were...up enough so they would not be noticed by wave action but shallow enough to run aground on. Ken raised the motor and noted that it had not sustained any damage, because we had been going so slowly. We shoot ering, waiting for the tide drift us off the rocks.

Moments later, watching as a large cruiser moved out the inlet. He moved slowly, as we had just done, until he reached the Intracoastal Waterway, then turned toward us and increased speed. He must have thought as we had, that he could make the shallow patch of inlet, and into deep water. "He's going to run aground too," I yelled, as the bow of the boat rose, trying I guess to get up on plane. But he kept coming.

Suddenly, the stronger and faster engine "Here he goes!" I yelled as the bow of the boat rose and then settled back down. The boat slowed, and finally came to a stop. The owner waved his hand, and slowly backed off the bar. The owner waved his hand, unturned and slowly moved toward port.

It was obvious that the large boat which had all the registration, had been dragged by the impact.

The vicious St. Lucie Inlet had claimed another victim.

In the current issue of Southern Waterways, Howard Banta reports that the inlet, and writes, "The logical solution to the constant problem would be to be jetties like those at Venice has built on the coast- It has made the best fishing spot area. With such a Martin County could have another popular fishing and lure boatmen. now avoiding the St. Inlet to the area. Next stranger in his right is going to attempt the Okeechobee Waterway through the inlet to Atlantic Ocean."

How many more boats run aground and be destroyed before something about the inlet? How visiting boaters from over the country are using this area like they because of the inlet many more thousands of dollars of taxpayer money be wasted on useless temporary solutions to the problem before we finally up to the fact that the way to do this job is right?

Baker-Wyatt suit dismissed

A prosecution suit against Sheriff Roy C. Baker and former Deputy Thomas Wyatt was dismissed by Circuit Judge D. C. Smith last week. The dismissal was filed in the office of the Circuit Court Clerk.

The suit had been instituted by James Duvall, Fort Pierce, in connection with a break-in charge against him in December, 1966. The charge was later dismissed.

In their motion for dismissal, Baker and Wyatt stated that public policy required law officers to be protected from harassment by civil actions in performance of their duty.

Camera club slide show was held

An enthusiastic audience enjoyed the slide show put on by Art Ruhnke last Thursday, Dec. 19, illustrating the trip Mr. and Mrs. Ruhnke made two or three years ago when they circled the globe. Art's ability as a photographer is well known and the quality of his slides demonstrated how good he is. His commentary left nothing to be desired in the way of describing conditions his excellent pictures presented. We are all indebted to him for taking the time and for making the effort to come and entertain us.

Many of our members are away over Christmas visiting relatives and friends. Others are entertaining relatives here, added to that there are still a few cases of 'flu in the park, so it was decided to cancel Camera Club Dec. 26.

The next Camera Club meeting will be held Jan. 2. With the second set of slides in the P.S.A. circuit will be shown and commentated on by Grace Lancot A.P.S.A. Immediately following, Milton & Bertie Sage will take us to the Eastern Seaboard via color slides illustrating points of interest they saw in their 1968 travels.

OBP CHRISTMAS PARTY--The children's Christmas party had a record number of children on Dec. 24. The custom of entertaining the children in the park at Christmastime had its beginning some twenty or more years ago and apparently is becoming more popular each year. Fifty children, ages 12 down to the toddlers, joined in the games while adults occupied seats around the hall and had almost as much fun as the kids in watching their antics. After working off some of their surplus energy, the children were glad to sit at the long table and partake of the goodies provided. Santa Claus then entered with "HO, HO, HO" and distributed presents to each of the children. Orlie Ecklund prepared the food and Sylvia Sanborn and Minnie Schaeffer set and decorated the table. These ladies did a swell job and are to be congratulated. Harry Hoke supplied the music while Ruth Hoke organized and directed the games as they have done very efficiently many times in the past.

Services

Early morning service was held in the club house on Christmas Day, as is the Ocean Breeze custom. As usual there was a good attendance. Rev. Dudley, interim minister for the Jensen Beach Community Church, took the pulpit. Prayers were offered for the astronauts and for world peace. Ethel Birchfiel efficiently provided the piano music and a choir led the singing of the hymns. After a short sermon, Rev. Dudley closed the service with the benediction.

Shuffleboard Classes

A great deal of interest is shown in both the beginners and advanced classes held every Tuesday. The beginners meet at 9:30 AM and the advanced class is at 4:00 PM also on Tuesday.

The Indian River League game of Dec. 16, played at Ocean Breeze, resulted in a win for the home team. The result was Ocean Breeze 6 to Stuart 4.

Because Port St. Lucie has only eight courts, only eight Ocean Breeze teams played there on Thursday, Dec. 26. The final score was Ocean Breeze, 5, Port St. Lucie, 3.

Paper bag lights line Park streets

Otto and Ethel McCurray were the organizers of the paper bag lights display this Christmas. Paper bags containing enough sand to hold the candles were spaced at intervals along each side of Key Lime, Bay Drive and Ocean Breeze Drive. The street lights along OB Drive dominated, but the other two streets showed up to very good advantage. The two pictures on this page were taken at 6 p.m. while daylight still lingered on purpose to show the outline of trailers, trees, etc., but for the full enjoyment of the spectacle, complete darkness was better.

The McCurrays first saw this stunt performed at Anderson, Ind., some five or six years ago, and a lady in that town got the idea from having seen it pulled off in England.

Anyway, to us it was an interesting novelty and worth while braving the chilly 50 degree breeze on Christmas Eve in order to see it.

Christmas party held

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hardy hosted a Christmas part) of Ocean Breezers from Allegan, Mich., just before Christmas. All with the one exception were in business in the town of Allegan at one time.

Arthur Hardy was Vice President of the State Savings Bank. Leo Hare was the Sheriff and tavernkeeper, Dewey Bolitt was owner of the Dziga Auto Agency. Doreen Peet's husband, Bill, owned the Peets Drug Store. Lorin and Opal Baker operated the bakery; and last but not least, the Clarence Fultons who happend to drive through Allegan enroute to Iowa, to whom Dewey Hoitt sold a Dodge car, so they were adopted.

The dinner was Ocean Breeze style, where everyone contributes and is responsible for washing their own dishes when they get home, thus relieving the hostess of the unpleasant part of the meal. After a good hearty dinner, all can sit back and relax and talk about old times on "What have you." These annual get-togethers have been so successful that it has become a custom of this group to meet every Christmas for the last fifteen years.

Myrt Huntington's sister Vivian Blake is here to spend the winter with her. Vivian accompanied a friend who was driving to Florida from Bangor, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bowman of South 4th had a very successful day fishing the surf a week before Christmas. They landed 88 blues that day, one of which weighed 5 lbs., which is big for this area. John said his muscles were stiff for three days after that bout.

Camera Club complimented

About three years ago, our camera club made up a collection of slides, taken by various members of South Florida. Doug Blyth taped the commentary for these slides which we call "Floriday Holiday." Florida Holiday has been circulating about the United States since its origin and has travelled as far as India. Occasionally we receive complimentary letters. The last one received was a real nice one which makes our club feel that their efforts are appreciated. Here it is:

The Co-ed Camera Club
Fort Wayne, Ind.

to Mrs. Peterkin
Ocean Breeze Camera Club

We had the opportunity of utilizing your slide show, "Florida Holiday" as our program for our Christmas banquet on Dec. 19.

We sincerely appreciated viewing the many warm scenery of Florida winter with the temperature outside in the 30's.

We would like to have you extend our compliments and appreciation to the gentleman who narrated the taped show. His interests in his adopted state of Florida really increased our enjoyment of the show, I am sure, along with his tremendous sense of humor. Although many of the members of our club have made trips to Florida, we didn't realize the vastness of the agricultural activities which abound in the state. This little bit of education, I am sure, we will all tuck back in our noggins of knowledge for future reference.

Two or three of our members as families are going to Florida for the holidays, and in all instances, they are visiting with their parents who have moved to Florida upon retirement. Of course, their interest in the slide show was multifold.

Thank you again for sending us your show. We are returning it this date.

Very truly yours,
J. O. Winter,
Travelling Salon Chairman, Co-ed Camera Club

Park has first auto accident

At 10:45 A. M. Dec. 22, at the corner of Broad and Seventh St., cars collided in the first serious accident in Jensen Beach Park.

A car driven by Shellenberger was travelling west when it collided with another car driven by Bert Olsen of Jensen Cottages which was travelling north on 7th Ave. Tom Marshall Nelsen reports, "Both cars were probably going faster than the speed limit of 15 miles per hour. As Broad is the most important street, Olsen was more in error than Shellenberger."

Marshall Nelsen said further, "The speed limit of 15 M.P.H. is the very maximum speed allowed under ideal conditions. When approaching an intersection, especially that of a busy street, this speed has to be reduced so the car can stop immediately if necessary."

"This accident, for instance, could have been avoided if either driver had [illegible]."

Mrs. Beatrice Barrett is now recuperating at her home on Palm Road after spending ten days in the Martin Memorial Hospital. She wishes to extend her thanks to those who remembered her with cards and flowers during her illness.

PORTRAIT PAINTING--Carl Engle's profession is commercial artist, so portrait painting is rather out of his line of work, but since the new wing was added to St. John's Hospital at Lowell, Mass., some people wished they had a portrait of the late Bishop Markham to hang in this new wing. Four brothers of the late bishop commissioned Engel to paint a portrait of Bishop Markham. This is no easy task, taking as Engel had never met the Bishop and all he had to sketch by were a few portraits and a magazine picture.

ABSURDITY

What an absurd thing it is to pass over all the valuable parts of a man, and fix our attention on his infirmities.

The $15 prize was won by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schaefer of 101 Capriosa.

Third prize of $10 went to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kyle of 181 East Prima Vista Blvd.

All the winners will receive their prizes and ribbons at the January meeting of the Rio Lindo Garden Club.

Honorable mention goes to Mr. and Mrs. George Meitner of 101 El Sido and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox of 98 Capriosa.

Although the contest was open only to homes in the area, the PSL fire station did receive special mention for their lovely decorating.

The judges found it most difficult to make a decision as so many homes were beautifully decorated.

Other were guests. The guests were Janet Shafer, Sandy Zinsmeister and Judy Hunter.

Hospital auxiliary

Members voted to change the name of the Auxiliary to the Auxiliary of Martin Memorial Hospital to the Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. The change, which is the December meeting, was because there are now some members in the organization, helping at the information desk.

Mrs. Janet Lavery, assistant administrator of the hospital, will speak at the regular meeting of the auxiliary on Monday, Jan. 6. The meeting will start at the Coast Guard House of Hope at Stuart at 11:30 a.m. Mrs. Lavery will speak on "Planning a Patient Care" and explain the new intensive care.

Sailfish Regatta

Over 100 boats are expected to participate in the second annual Stuart Sailfish Regatta scheduled for Jan. 18 and 19, according to Jack N. Sailer, general chairman.

The power boat races, sponsored by the Stuart Chamber of Commerce, will be held on the Indian River at the Stuart causeway. Proceeds will go to the Heart Association for Health Association for Heart-ed Children.

Some early entries include boat owners from Marathon Island, Tampa, Fort Lauderdale, Miami, Cocoa, Sarasota, St. Petersburg and North Miami Beach. Also from Kentucky, Louisiana and Tennessee.

Tickets are now on sale.

Vocational projects

Two vocational projects in the Martin County school system have been granted federal funds of $8,305.44, according to Superintendent of Schools N. Junior Matthews. The projects are auto mechanics and electronics.

A total of $16,610.88 will be used to purchase necessary tooling and electronic testing equipment for the new vocational courses, he said. Tools and equipment needed for the auto mechanics course will cost $10,000.80, and electronic and testing equipment will cost $6,610.08, through various manufacturers.

Plans for a new vocational-technical building at Martin County High School have been sent to the State Department of Education for approval, Matthews said. Vocational classes are being held at the old Junior School in Stuart.

Chamber discusses J.B. incorporation

The possibility of incorporating Jensen Beach into a town to "gain control over our future, and the future of our public beaches" was discussed at length Monday night at the monthly Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting. Though no action was taken, the discussion paved the way for possible action in 1969 by the Chamber.

"I am in favor of it, and believe that the incorporation of the town is inevitable," said Don Wilkie, president of the Jensen Beach Chamber. Wilkie said, however, he feared that misinformation could doom the project before the facts could be released to the public. The Chamber of Commerce committee made a five-month study of incorporation in 1964. The results, in an abbreviated final report form, were published in The Jensen Beach Mirror. Opposition to incorporation already had formed before the report was even submitted for publication.

In 1961, incorporation of Jensen Beach reached the legislature, but the bill for incorporation was withdrawn due to opposition, principally from the Rio area.

County Commissioner Frank Wacha told The Mirror that he would not comment either for or against incorporation of Jensen Beach.

"If a meeting were held," Wacha said, "I would assemble as much information as possible on it and [illegible] whatever I could for discussion at that meeting. I do believe that an open and frank discussion of incorporation would help."

Wilkie pointed out to Chamber directors that it was possible that Jensen Beach could disappear. "The incorporation of Hutchinson Island as a city in itself, or the annexation of Hutchinson Island into the City of Stuart would mean that Jensen Beach would possibly become just Jensen," Wilkie said. He added that the people are paying city taxes right now in the county District A special taxing district.

Leonard Smith, local businessman and the chairman of the chamber's special committee on investigating the incorporation facts, told The Mirror, "I do not believe that incorporation has had its proper hearing. The people who oppose any form of self-government in this area will and stomp and say they don't even want the facts on incorporating, much less study it.

"Several merchants were told by some people that they would lose local business if they had anything to do with investigating incorporation," Smith added. "That, to me, shows that some of the opponents, the loudest ones, oppose incorporation because they just don't want to be bothered with it, or have to think about it. It has never been voted on, and all the facts have never been brought out in the general public.

"I believe that the public has the right to hear the facts on incorporation. If just to find out how it might be possible to have a better county government, better [illegible] enforcement, and better disposition of our tax dollars already paid to the county," Smith concluded.

R. L. Warrington, former mayor of the Town of Sewall's Point, refused to comment on the [illegible] of Jensen Beach. "It is true," Warrington said Tuesday, "that one of the most compelling things about the incorporation of Sewall's Point was zoning. We wanted to have control of our area, and we have it."

Crary praises United Fund as 1969 drive begins here

Former county judge Evans Crary, Jr., praised the work of the Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund as he keynoted the kickoff breakfast of drive workers Monday morning at the Rio Civic Club. Following the 7:45 morning breakfast, volunteer workers fanned out through Jensen Beach, Rio, Walton and Eden to collect donations from citizens toward a goal of $8,700.

"Other areas cannot seem to get a United Fund going," Crary said. "There have been many inner struggles. You, in this drive, have done an outstanding job."

Crary told the captains and their workers that they were "directly involved in saving someone's life or in training someone to take part in life by working for the United Fund."

"You are working for charity, charity is love, and love is God. Thus you are working directly for love, for God," Crary added.

United Fund president Chris Kalb introduced all the workers in the hall, following a breakfast of rolls, coffee and orange juice served by Rio Civic Club members. He especially praised the work of former presidents Jackie Hall and Willard Bowman, and the assistance of Kathleen Spencer, Rio Civic Club secretary, and its officers of the United Fund.

Reports of the workers were checked Tuesday night with collections of $1460 reported in. The Jensen Beach Mirror by Kalb, 17 percent of the goal. The drive will continue through the week.

PLANNING--The annual Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund drive got under way at a kick-off breakfast Monday morning at Rio Civic Center. Information and kits were distributed to volunteer captains and plans were discussed for this week's drive. Left to right above are Mrs. Evans Crary, Jr., whose husband was guest speaker; Chris Kalb, president of the UF, and Mrs. Jacqueline Hall, corresponding secretary, last year's captain. This year's goal is $8,700 which will aid eleven local agencies.

Firemen begin drive

The 1969 fund drive of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department got under way last week when letters were mailed to local residents soliciting donations to the fire house fund. At the same time, Fire Chief Randolph Spinney announced that the fire house, located on Palmetto Ave., two blocks north of Commercial Street, would be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Jan. 13 through the 18th.

The public is invited to visit the building, view the equipment and see what the fire department has accomplished with local contributions. Refreshments will be served.

Spinney said that the open house would permit the people of the Jensen Beach area to see where they donations have gone.

The annual drive covers areas served by the local fire department, Jensen Beach, the Town of Ocean Breeze Park, the Town of Sewall's Point. All funds received are used exclusively for the purchase and maintenance of equipment for the fire department.

Spinney points to the "excellent insurance rating and benefits" enjoyed by residents of the area because of the fire department. The fire department is a non-profit organization and donations are tax deductible, he said.

Following the meeting, commissioners went to Sandsprit Park to look at the south boat ramp, promising repair to it as soon as possible.

BIG SHRIMP--One of the giant shrimp sought by the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission's scientists was located last week by Mirror advertising salesman Gene Pflieger. The shrimp was walking across wet grass in a ditch when Pflieger's barking dog discovered it. The shrimp now lives in the aquarium and gets upset when it has its picture taken. This one is about eight inches long, with pinchers that hurt, according to Pflieger. The Mirror featured the local search for the giant fresh water shrimp, growing to 28 inches long, several weeks ago.

Fish kill is studied

The cause of the fish kill last month in the south fork of St. Lucie River is being investigated by Florida Air and Water Pollution Control Board, according to state biologist Vernon Ogilvie of West Palm Beach. Records have been sent to the board for possible action.

Probable cause was the use of an emulsifier in a herbicide used along an irrigation drainage canal where thousands of dead fish were found, he said. The kill spread from the canal into the south fork, between the river headwaters and SR 76.

The Grand Jury report

Martin County's Grand Jury will make a report to the people, and especially to Judge D. C. Smith of the Circuit Court, on January 13. It is the final day of the service of the Grand Jury, and the report should put to rest the rumors that have been flying around the audit of the City of Stuart books.

We sincerely hope that the Grand Jury gives deep and serious consideration to the action it is about to take, and knows that the evidence that it considers is adequate for whatever recommendations it makes.

We believe deeply in the Grand Jury system for it is the one untouchable last resort of the people for justice. We support its deliberations and hope that it has received the kind of help it needed to do the job.

Finding the straws in the winds of an antiquated, folksy-type of bookkeeping system has been a difficult job for August Lutz, the state auditor who has been working diligently since early last summer on the audit. The suicide of the city manager, Joe Crowley, didn't help the audit, but added fuel to the brush fires of rumor and speculation about the condition of the city.

We hope that the fact that the legislative audit of the city's books has not been completed, nor approved by the chief legislative auditor in Tallahassee, does not make the evidence heard or considered by the grand jury invalid. As technical as the rules of evidence have become, we show concern about quick action without absolute legal proof of the validity of the evidence on which the action is based.

To illustrate the point, on December 26 ten charges against John Anderson, a news and magazine warehouse dealer, were dropped for lack of evidence when county judge Jack Rogers returned evidence to Anderson. Accused of being a "smut peddler", by state attorney Charles Carlton, Anderson is free. The case probably will never go to court.

If it did go to court, Anderson had evidence and depositions that the state attorney had alluded to him in the recent political campaign when Carlton had said he was prosecuting a smut peddler at that time. That would prejudice the case, according to law.

We hope that the report of the grand jury eliminates any doubts from the minds of the people, washes away any reason for conjecture and speculation, and allows the elected officials and employees of the city to rebuild the respect and dignity it must have to function properly.

So, stone must be left unturned and no evidence assumed to clean up this matter. Let the true-bills fall where they may, and wrongdoing bring the wrath of the people down upon the wrongdoers. It must be a complete report to end this period of darkness in a city of light.

My Florida

Ernie Lyons new book, "My Florida", (A.S. Barnes Co., Box 421, Carnbory, N.J. 08512, $3.95, or at local book stores)is must reading for all who love Florida.

A collection of previous columns, and some unpublished ones, the book tells the story of Florida like it is, like it was, and with all the sparkle of one of Florida's finest writers. Ernest Lyons' Column in the Stuart News is well read, as his first book certainly should be.

One of the reasons Lyons reaches the heart of his subject is his fierce and intense love of the natural Florida. You can take your developments, and your cities made by the "river killers" (Corps of Engineers), and your pretty homes by the ocean with manicured grass lawns. Ernie Lyons will take the byways, the natural canals, and the rivers made by God, with all His beauty intact for people to see and enjoy, and the untamed roof tops of pioneer whites and Seminoles.

Throughout the fine collection of Florida writing are drawings that sparkle with the authority of Florida's finest artist, Jim Hutchinson. What a combination, the writings of Ernie Lyons, illustrated by Jim Hutchinson.

Jim Hutchinson is perhaps more well-known for his authentic and revealing oil paintings and sketches of the Seminole Indians, and his touch with the brush or pen shows throughout the book.

In words-with, nostalgia, and warm with the emotions of a man who has lived a life he loves, writing about that which he knows most, "My Florida" is a must on every bookshelf....If you can get it out of your hands once you begin to read it.

"My Florida" is not a collection of writings, it is a confession of love.

FIND finds Gluckler fine

The decision of Executive Claude Kirk to name Ed Gluckler, Jensen Beach sportsman extraordinaire, to the Florida Inland Navigation District was a good one, and the approval of a great majority of Martin citizens, and was our vote of confidence.

Gluckler replaces Jerry Thomas, another sportsman that board member, who has appointment becomes effective on January 1.

Gluckler's dedication to the task of conservation, his interest in the future of Florida's waterways, and his unwavering loyalty to the cause of Florida's natural beauty makes him an ideal choice for the post of representative on the board.

A statement issued by Gluckler, bureau chief for the Fort Pierce News-Tribune, the operator of the Martin County Press Service, Gluckler knows the waterways, and has been active on them as an outdoorsman for years. He promises all he needed.

When the Florida Legislature created FIND in 1967, its purpose was to ensure the land for the Intracoastal Waterways, give that to the United States Government, and acquire and hold the spoil areas that would be used to dump material dredged from the waterways to keep it open. In the original acquisition of lands for spoil, FIND paid little or nothing for what has become almost invaluable lands for recreation in the middle of the waterways.

The protection of these lands and the preservation of them for posterity falls within the enormous leasing responsibilities of FIND. We are certain that the conservation bent of Gluckler will see to it that those lands receive the protection they deserve.

We feel proud that a veteran news man has been chosen for a position of great responsibility in our area, and congratulate the governor for his choice.

Some balance needed

The growing population of the United States makes it imperative that horticultural, pharmaceutical and often times irrational approaches to the use of the nation's land resources not be allowed to distort long-range development of natural resources for politics.

Many conservationists apparently do not realize that modern lumber management techniques based on multiple use of the land combine harvesting of lumber with reforestation and availability of the land for all the recreational activities—hiking, camping, fishing, hunting, and plain unadulterated enjoyment of the outdoors—but some exceptional areas should be left untouched—but locking up vast chunks of the nation's forest lands in wilderness areas is not the whole answer to conservation. As a lumber industry spokesman put it, the forest products industry today practices "more sound conservation in the public interest through multiple use of forest lands than any other element in American society."

The impression often given is that planting, growing, harvesting and converting forest resources exploits our national wealth, damages our environment or debases the quality of beauty in American life is entirely erroneous. The industry spokesman emphasized that millions of Americans in all 50 states "derive their fundamental livelihoods from reforestation, timber management, timber harvesting and manufacture, participation and use of more than 1,000 products provided by wood."

The forest industries today are not destroying our forests but are replanting them across the nation, and doing it with full recognition of the public's need for access to these lands for recreational purposes. Balanced land use with full recognition of the role of the forest products industry is achieving it has become a national necessity. The public interest demands that it be recognized.

A new political wind

Among other things that are being predicted is that within 10 years, 48 per cent of U. S. households will have yearly incomes of $10,000 or more. Many of these new semi-rich citizens will be those holding blue collar jobs and presumably be within the ranks of organized labor. The traditional picture of the labor vote in support of so-called liberal policies of government, which involve higher rates of federal spending, more public welfare programs, and along with them higher taxes, is rapidly changing.

A highly progressive income tax already takes a deep bite out of the average family's paycheck. Policies which involve federal deficits and continuing inflation strike hardest at the average citizen who is earning a good income, paying his way and trying to have something left over to provide for his future.

As more and more Americans reach this state of relative affluence, they will become more and more concerned with preserving the value of their savings. There is every likelihood that this will prove to be a major factor in curbing the unlimited growth of government, and it augurs well for the future of individual freedom in the United States.

"At an average of 5 feet, 10 inches, Americans are tied for the title of giants of the human race. Anthropologists predict that the United States will hold undisputed claim within a few years. Sharing honors now are the Nilotic tribesmen of Africa. This tribe maintains its height average by selection of mates whereas Americans are growing taller because of progress in nutrition, sanitation, and medicine." Towanda, Pa., Review

Proud beart

Occasionally, not too often, but occasionally, Weeb Ewbank leaves the massive spotlight that surrounds the fantastic Jets to the heights as one of America's greatest football coaches. He takes his job as coach and general manager of the New York Jets, and his time to favor through the Baltimore Colts, champions all, and thinks of me.

Well, not exactly me.

I remember how a tough, Frank Noble, said to Weeb Ewbank, "You know that Jim Campbell?" Ewbank, using all his wisdom, said, "He more friendly, Noble."

It was that way with Weeb, and all his players called him "Mr." such as those days, when Weeb was head coach of the Marines, and used my land, but all to get into Washington

LIVE....and love it by Dick Campbell

Weeb Ewbank and me

University, St. Louis. I wanted to play football in the worst way. That, generally, is the way I played football, in the worst ways.

When I arrived on campus, I crossed up my brother, a good T. K. E., and pledged Theta XI. I did it because they were the jockers on campus, and I wanted to play football. I planned to major in political science and poetry (no kidding), and to play football.

I might say that it is very difficult to play football when you are 5'8" inside and are 6'3" tall. Very difficult.

I walked out with the big guys during that first workout in June. Gee, they were big guys. Being a freshman, I was able to hold my own and at least make the first string of the junior varsity team. I played under Frank Noble, and quite a few of the football players.

I guess the safest place that Noble could find for me was offensive right end, and I did my job real well. In fact, I am the only football player in the history of Washington University who played four years on the junior varsity.

Weeb Ewbank had an early look at me. It was the first time I had a chance to play against the varsity. Noble put me in as a defensive right end when the regular defensive right end got hurt. I forget the play, but a halfback went in motion, right in front of me. I watched him pass, my eyes sharp, my mind classifying his move. "He's a swing pass...a swing pass," I gasped while peering in my mind's eye. I took my eyes off the halfback, saw the quarterback move back from the center into the "T" and took one step, low to the ground, "...a swing pass..."

He was mine. No one protected him from me. I could, in that instant, see me smear the quarterback moving toward me. Weeb Ewbank would be sold to Noble and say, "I want him on the first team, now." I would be a hero, and play with the varsity.

My second step was up as I calculated my smashing tackle.

Then the lights went out. What I came to, Weeb Ewbank was looking down at me. Noble was pulling up on my belt to let me in my cleats. Someone had a cold towel on my forehead.

Ewbank's voice was cold. "Are you all right, son," he said.

"I was sir," I gasped.

"You'll watch that halfback from now on, won't you?" Ewbank said.

"Yes, sir." I gasped again.

Then he turned and walked away.

I have to see Ewbank on the Orange Bowl field as he began a fantastic career. At some time during the game, watch him. He will pull his hands to his temples, lower his head, and shake it four or five times, slowly. I'll bet that is when he'll be thinking of the days at Washington University in 1948.

Notes and Comments by Bill Britton

'Open letters'

The New Year has come and gone, and with it the time for making New Year's resolutions. For some, this is an annual joke for, they reason, resolutions are made to be broken. For others, it is a serious matter, and they try very hard to the new year to live up to what they've pledged.

Resolutions are, in a way, like promises. Some can keep, promises, and others can't.

Let's look back at a few resolutions, or promises, which have been made in the past few months and see what we can do toward getting some of them kept.

Let's start by sending some "Open Letters" to a couple of people.

To County Commissioner Frank Warha: Back in September of last year we spoke about repairs to existing boating facilities on the Jensen Beach Causeway, and the installation of new facilities. At that time, you promised the installation of a new double boat ramp on the south side of the causeway, repairs to the old one on the north side; and the installation of planking around the cement docks so they could be used without boats being damaged by the wave action.

I must say, Mr. Wacha, that you did keep one of your promises, and quickly had a ramp installed on the south side. That it was a single ramp, instead of a double, that it was not lighted as promised, and that it is too shallow to be used by anything but the smallest boats has already been brought to your attention. You have promised to have the shortcomings corrected as soon as possible.

When is "as soon as possible"?

When can we expect the promised repairs to the north ramp?

We had the "joy" of using it a week ago, and launching from it at last tide is no pleasure. At low tide, we had to back down into the broken part of the ramp, which immediately made it possible for the car to get stuck, and the launching of the boat even more difficult.

When can we expect the promised "planking" around the concrete docks? The nails are now, in one in his right mind would chance putting his boat alongside any of them, especially if there is any wind from the north. They are completely useless to most boaters, but it would take so little to make them usable. Why hasn't it been done?

Incidentally, have you ever investigated the possibility of installing a bulkhead, or seawall, off shore, and running parallel to it, so that boats using the north ramp and docks would have the protection of a "boat basin" and would be protected from the generally strong waves from the north? The county has a considerable investment in the north ramp and the boat docks. Wouldn't the installation of such a protective "sea wall" remove a lot of the danger for boaters and be an equally good investment?

To Dr. William G. Myers: As a newly elected county commissioner, you have not had a chance to do anything about carrying out any of the projects promised, and not accomplished, by your predecessor in office. Therefore, what follows must be taken as a reminder of promises made, but not kept, and as suggestions for some projects which are long past due.

Months ago, the people were told that the existing ramps at Sandsprit Park would be retrofit to provide the proper pitch necessary for easy launching of boats. We were told that two additional ramps would be built at Sandsprit to relieve the crowded conditions there. Work was to have started within 30 days.

The promised 30 days passed and nothing happened. When I inquired about the projects back in September of last year, I was told that efforts were being made to have the work done by the state's outdoor recreation and conservation people. Although Sandsprit Park belongs to the county, and not the state, your predecessor thought that funds could be obtained from the state. Toward this end, I was told, the county engineer had been instructed to fill out the proper forms and send them to them for their approval. I was told we should have the answer from them in a "couple of weeks."

More than three months have passed and, again, nothing has happened. You might look into this, Dr. Myers, and find out why.

Promises, like New Years' resolutions, are useless unless they are to be kept, Gentlemen, the public is waiting.

The Arcadia Arcadian

Hunt For A Fugitive

When the hunt for accused kidnapper Gary Steven Krist turned to this section of Florida on Saturday, it had all the aspects of a John Dillinger manhunt.

Don Rowley, driving down from Orlando Saturday morning, noticed dozens of patrol cars zooming down Highway 17, heading south.

"What's up?" he asked. "You got a prison camp breakout down here?"

"Nothing that would have that many lawmen in action," I told him. Then after a moment's reflection, "The only possible thing big enough for that kind of action would be if the guy that kidnapped the Mackle girl was heading this way."

30 Miles from Arcadia

That indeed had happened, and 60 FBI men, plus highway patrolmen headed for the Fort Myers-Punta Gorda area.

Choppers picked up the hunted man as he headed into Charlotte Harbor in his outboard motor boat. When he beached his boat at Hog Island at the northwest end of the harbor, the FBI men did the wise thing...they alerted Sheriff's departments Charlotte, Lee and DeSoto counties.

DeSoto Sheriff Fra Cline sent out the alarm his auxiliary, rounded up couple of air boats belong to Bud Longmire and Bi Browning, and these m along with half-a-dozen o er members of his Sheri posse sped the 30 miles where the manhunt was re tered.

There has been much unfavorable comment on the abbreviated form for Christmas that is commonly used.

Many think it inappropriate and unqualified to use the shortened form, Xmas.

Perhaps that is the reason some folks advocate putting "Christ back into Christmas."

Xmas isn't as irreverent as some people think. The explanation of its origin is that the initial letter of the Greek name for Christ is X and the coincidence of its resulting shape led to an early adoption of this letter as the figure and symbol of Christ.

X is frequently found on walls of the catacombs. When the early Christians wished to make a representation of the Trinity, they would place either a cross or an X beside the names of the Father and the Holy Ghost.

From this came the shortened form Xmas, instead of Christmas.

A Methodist minister in Syracuse, N.Y., would have Santa Claus throw to the lions as the Christians were. "Dear Santa, drop Dead," said the Rev. Dr. John H. McConnie, Jr., head of Hendricks Chapel at Syracuse University in his Christmas sermon.

Santa, he says, "is a boon to phony money jingle in the bell on a cash register."

Would the minister really throw Santa to the lions? He didn't say as much, but it wouldn't be a surprise since he blames jolly old St. Nick for many people wanting to "overload their observance of this midwinter time" and their feelings" miles away from the main event at the manger."

"The jolly old elf has become a pest," he said, "as have his legions of 'helpers' in red baggy pants with their banging, begging bells."

But all was not lost, the good reverend was able to Schools to teach survival methods

Most of Martin County's school children will learn mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and many will learn disaster survival methods, according to John Gray, school system Civil Defense coordinator.

Gray has been authorized to obtain a dummy, known as "Resusci-Anne", for use in the school instruction program. The dummy will be used for disaster survival and medical self-help instruction as part of the 10th grade course by George Yarbro, teacher, in basic biology.

Hospital has first operating surplus

Martin Memorial Hospital is proud of its first operating surplus, small as it is, according to hospital administrator Guy N. Cromwell. The surplus is $250.

The hospital recorded a net operating loss of $44,488 last year, Cromwell pointed out. Part of the credit for the surplus is given to Medicare, he said.

Construction of a two-story addition is scheduled for next year because of the ever-increasing patient load. Cost is estimated at $1,215,000 for the planned addition which will have 36 private rooms on the second floor and intensive care facilities on the first floor.

The hospital has qualified for a $480,000 federal grant and has secured a mortgage commitment for $720,000, Cromwell said.

Medicare now pays 50 per cent of what total charity used to be, Cromwell pointed out, while listing other reasons for the surplus:

As a hospital grows, in terms of volume, it gives a larger area for spreading costs; participation in various programs of modernization have enabled some cost-cutting, he said.

The hospital still provided $11,373 worth of charity care during the year, though Medicare cut into the percentage of charity patients, he said. Depreciation on plant and equipment came to $73,507 this year.

This year the patient load was 21,827; last year it was 20,263, with Medicare in full swing. Patient load in 1965-66 was 16,358 days of care, Cromwell stated.

Freda Peterkin received a letter from Fran Gordon telling of her three weeks stay in the hospital following a double coronary astack. She says as of Dec. 30 she was in bed in a trailer camp which we presume is in a busy area, for she says, "I've stayed in quieter boiler factories." She writes that she really has nothing to complain about and has the most marvelous neighbors and friends, like her O.B. freinds. She is hoping to get to Ocean Breeze before too long. Her address is: Box 77, 5201 North Dixie Highway, Hut, Ich. 48506.

Due to the sudden illness of Fred Schofield of S. 5th his daughter, Mrs. Black from Toronto, Canada, and his step-son, Cher Mayeux-sak of Long Island flew down to be with Mrs. Schofield. Both arrived by plane.

On arriving in Stuart, Mrs. Black inquired where the hospital is, and said she was so pleased by courtesy shown her by one of the Stuart police who escorted her to the hospital. It is Sunday afternoon as this is being written, and the condition of Fred Schofield is much better than had been expected at this time.

Last summer they travelled Western Canada and the United States, staying mostly at State or Federal parks.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan Bolton of 6th and Pepper have moved to N. 3rd where they are enjoying their large living room. Hazel Wilson has hectic trip south

Hazel Wilson is at her trailer home on South 6th, but she had quite a time getting here. Due to the train wreck of the streamliner, "Columbia" in North Carolina, her train the "Silver Star" which runs from New York to Miami, was several hours late. This is the second time the "Columbia" has been derailed and sabotage is suspected.

In the meantime, Mr. and Mrs. John Kerr, on their way to meet Hazel's train in W. Palm Beach, were involved in an accident which put their car out of commission, so Kerr phoned Ervin Keith, his next door neighbor, who immediately went to their resuce.

By this time, Hazel was five hours late, but succeeded in getting home safely as did all concerned.

Camera Club

Our Camera Club meeting for Jan. 2, was poorly attended. Attendance always falls off during the holiday season, added to this was the fear of catching the flu which is continuing to go the rounds of the park.

We had an exceptionally good program. First, the second P.S.A. slides were reviewed, then a collection of slides by Kodak entitled, "How to take better Travel Pictures." The pictures, of a wide range of subject material, were excellent, and the commentary which kept the slides running through the projector at a steady pace, was interesting and instructive.

Cliff Ogle, who ran the projector, did a marvelous job, for the one and only fault of the commentator was that he failed to pause between slides so sometimes when the picture of a pretty girl was on the screen, the comment was about an eskimo, which caused a lot of merriment.

Next Thursday, Jan. 9, we will have a follow up of last Thursday's program, entitled, "Planning your travel show." Added to this there will be a showing by Roy Nordby of Mexican home life. In this series, Roy has pictures of the cliff divers family and home, and a spectacular dive from a high cliff into the Pacific. All in all, this should be a special evening, s-o-o-o, gargle with Listerine and come along.

NEW YEAR'S EVE—The New Year's Eve dance was well attended but many familiar faces were missing due to the flu ep mic.

BALLOONS—When the balloons were dropped during the New Year's Eve dance, there was a scramble to see who could get the prettiest balloon.

Once a while when Nelle or I call the operator she complain that it is the first time in years. They don't know the times we call and find them already in bed. If were possible, we would like to visit with everyone—but—900 trailers is a lot, so if any one has any news of general interest that you would like published, give us a ring on the phone and if we should be out, which are often are, write it down and drop it in our mail box. If you have an interesting story, we are always glad to call.

Sixth-grade students of Palm City Elemeotary School received national recognition for one of their activities in the "Weekly Reader."

The write-up told of the students raising money for a community project. The group raised $100 by giving skits, singing and musical entertainment, which they donated toward the kidney machine purchased for Ron Johnston, then president of the Stuart Jaycees.

The "Weekly Reader" is a nationally-used publication prepared by the American Education Publications Co., and used by most elementary schools.

NARCE to meet Wednesday

The National Association of Retired Civil Employees (NARCE) will meet January 15, Wednesday, at 2 p.m. at Jensen Beach Community Center.

Several members will speak briefly of their government connections prior to retirement. Coffee and cake, made by Paul Mahan, will be served.

Persons over age 65 make up ten percent of the population of the country, according to a report published in National Retirement Life Magazine. "Of the 800,000 retired civil employees, some 379,000 receive less than $100 monthly, and $13,000 receive less than $200 per month," the report read.

LIGHTS OUT—It was lights out, temporarily that is, Monday at 9:18 a.m. when a large tractor-trailer truck struck a Florida Power and Light Company highline pole, breaking it off at the base. The pole swung crazily like a puppet on wires until the power company sent a truck and repaired the damage. Driver of the truck, owned by Foreman Trucking Co. of New Ellenton, S.C., said he swerved to avoid a collision with a car driven by William Ford, 74, of Jensen Beach and Staten Island, N.Y., which entered U.S. 1 from SR 707 in north Stuart. There were no reported injuries.

A trip to Spoil Island

by Rick Campbell

Well, it all started when Mr. Pitman brought up a camping trip to Spoil Island. Mr. Marcus liked it and Mr. Butterfield said he could get a boat. We left Cass Riobost yard at 10 o'clock and got to the island about 11:30. Flaming Arrow Patrol had all the comforts of home. We had 4 cots, a giant tent, an electric lantern and sterno stoves. Unfortunately we had only 4 cots and 5 boys. Rick Campbell, Roger Butterfield, David Polard, Joe Millener and Mark Stemple. The Patrol had cots, a big stove and a lantern, lol

We had all the comforts of home on that island, like we had a toilet, now that is something we have never had on a campout, then we h running water, fresh wa as a matter of fact, and main thing was a cabin, Marcus and Niel Litt slept in it.

Wayne Scrarpe and Cur Littman rowed the scout b to the island. They got th about 2 o'clock. Mr. Marc and some other boys w coming up the river at great speed of 5 to 9 with a boat load of equi ment. Finaly we got ne about 4 or 5 o'clock. T we had a football game then we eat. By the time got done eaten it was pre dark.

Someone suggested that go to another island ab 1/2 mile N. of us we play capture the flag along hours. We went back in camping island and pot our shits and fooled arou for a while. We went to b and told jokes.

We all got a good night sleep except Rick Campbe See, we had bunk bed and I was on the top fl next to the window. Ab 4 o'clock in the morning started to rain and th BLOW! It was like an I CUBE in that tent. We got dressed and barley the tent down. We all tried fast and took all our g down to the shore, Mr. P man got most of the bo and started them it was turn. That's when tro started. First the wouldn't stay in for Mr. Pitman made it to island when we got all gear loaded we started was all right until the c started goofing up and David Reese got soak ing to hold it it gear. Mr. Polard came along speed us to the mainland. left us off about a mile a from the cars. When a there Mr. Pitman was ir ing around the bend at left by Mr. Polard and Mr. man changed motors fi they got to us.

We loaded all our g to Mr. Butterfield's car then Mr. Pitman said would take me home s put his boat on the tra and loaded all our stuff it and finally I made home half starved and tired.

Stuart Sailfish Regatta

100m.p.h. hydroplanes will race this weekend

DANCING BEAR- Dancing above the choppy waters of the Indian River, last year's world-record-breaking Dancing Bear will be one of the many competitors in weekend races of the Stuart Sailfish Regatta, which features 100 mile per hour hydroplanes racing off the Indian River Causeway. Curt Brayer, driver of Dancing Bear, will be trying to better his APBA world record on the favored course.

Thousands of spectators will cheer as sleek hydroplanes from all over the country spound across the Indian River at speeds of more than 100 mph. Saturday and Sunday during the Stuart Chamber of Commerce Sailfish Regatta.

One hundred drivers plan to participate in the races. Trophies and more than $2,000 in cash prizes will be given to the winners.

Spectators will see everything from nimble ski boats and 48 cubic inch hydros to the burly seven-liter jobs slam across the one and two-thirds mile official American Power Boat Association course located off A-1-A and the Indian River causeway three miles east of Stuart. The bridge will be closed both days.

Action starts at noon on both days and will last until shortly after 6:30 p.m. Children under 12 years, accompanied by an adult, will be admitted free. Bleachers will be provided for the 8,000 to 10,000 spectators expected, according to Jack Saller, this year's race chairman. Programs will be given free at the gate.

Seventy-six drivers had registered their boats as of Tuesday, some arriving after participating in the Orange Bowl Regatta in Miami.

Drivers who raced here last year broke records will be broken this year, Saller said. "This is a driver's race," Saller said, "We have designed this course with this in mind every step of the way." Every safety precaution is being taken, he pointed out. Patrol boats with heavy duty fire extinguishers will stand-by to rescue drivers if their craft, and fire trucks equipped with foam will be stationed on the causeway. Paramedicians of Homestead AFB will also be at the races.

Announcer for the show will be Dick Crippen, sports director of WLCY-TV of Tampa-St. Petersburg. Proceeds will go to the Martin County Association for Retarded Children.

There will be ten inboard races each day with prize money and a plaque for first second and third places in each race.

A Governor's Cup Invitational Race for runabouts and ski boats will be Saturday, with the winner receiving $100 and a cup.

Also on Saturday will be an invitational international Grand Prix for inboard hydros. Sunday will see the Sailfish Invitational for inboard hydros.

Stuart Commissioners are indicted by Grand Jury

All five city commissioners for the 1967-68 term of the City of Stuart have been indicted by the Martin County Grand Jury. In a final report by the jury, wrapping up a year of work violations of the state "government in the sunshine" law were cited, and former mayor Jack Hartman was singled out for malpractice.

All violations in the indictments are classed as misdemeanors, punishable by $500 fine and/or six months in jail for "sunshine" violations, and $500 fine and/or one year in jail for malpractice.

Commissioners named in the indictments include Hartman, Mayor Ray Cooke, and commissioners Bill Todt, Arthur Sloss and former commissioner Dan McClure.

The indictments cite a secret meeting of the commission on September 25, 1967, at which a bonus of $1,200 was paid to city manager Joe Crowder, who committed suicide in July, 1968, and a bonus of $600 to Fred Walton. The grand jury recommended that the commissioners repay the city for the bonuses.

Hartman is charged with malpractice in signing a check for $800 made payable to Crowder. The money, the grand jury alledged, went to pay debts of the former city manager, and was written on January 19, 1968.

The report of the grand jury was 17 pages and was presented with the indictments to Circuit Judge D.C. Smith on the final day of the grand jury's term. A new grand jury was due to be empaneled, and the outgoing grand jury suggested that the study into the affairs of the City of Stuart continue.

An audit not yet complete, by the legislative auditor, August Lutz, started last Spring, and gathered momentum after the death of Crowder. The audit should be completed within a month or two. It would then be submitted to the state auditor for verification.

State Attorney Charles T. Carlton has indicated that the misdemeanors would be transferred to county court for trial. He told court house reporters that all commissioners could be removed, but that such an action by the governor would leave the city "worse off than we are now". He indicated he would ask that Hartman be removed from office, however.

Some findings of the grand jury include:

At the beginning of the legislative audit, which covers a period from Oct. 1, 1966, through July 31, 1968, there was some $37,000 in debts the city owed in delinquent bills with some bills a year old.

The auditor found that the city was paying insurance on two automobiles it no longer owned.

Commissioners who were authorized to sign checks, signed checks in advance without knowing where the checks were going.

An individual admitted that he received a total of $4,017 from the city for alleged payments for chemicals which he never supplied. He kept 40 per cent, and the city manager kept 60 per cent of the money paid in checks by the city. No delivery of these chemicals was ever received by the city.

The auditor discovered that the sum of $1,850 was in the possession of a private individual allegedly for the purchase of a bulldozer. The bulldozer was never purchased, but the money was returned to the city.

Over the 20-month period under audit, checks signed by different commissioners that were endorsed back or cashed by department heads or private individuals amounted to $16,000. There is no record of the city that would show that the city ever received the proceeds of the checks handled in this manner.

The grand jury submitted a long list of recommendations as to future handling of the city's finances.

Grand Jury recommends

The following recommendations were made by the Martin County Grand Jury Monday to the City of Stuart:

1. That the annual outside audit of the city be comprehensive, complete and report all violations of the City Charter, the state laws and the Florida constitution.

2. That the firm of auditors now setting up new account books "do so in the best manner possible".

3. That all city business be done "in the open" and that the City Commission adhere to all provisions of the charter, ordinances and state law.

4. That the administrator of the city "do likewise".

5. That an annual report from an outside auditor and the city attorney be presented to the commission at a regularly scheduled meeting so they are incorporated into the minutes.

6. "That the individual who admits the receipt of city funds for chemicals he did not supply be required to reimburse the city the 40 per cent of the $4,017 that he received."

7. That the surety bond for the City Manager be increased to $50,000 and $100,000.

The report also recommends these changes in the city charter:

1. That the mayor be elected by popular vote and remain as mayor for the duration of his office. (The mayor now is elected by his fellow commissioners.)

2. That a city treasurer position be established and filled by a person who is not mayor, commissioner or city manager.

3. That the commission establish standards of education and experience for the post of city manager.

U.F. reaches $6,068.55 in drive week

The Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund swept to 70% of an $8,700 goal Tuesday as the first week of the drive came to a close. The fund was boosted by $1,000 donated by Ralph Evinrude and his wife, singer Frances Langford, as area captains began turning in the money from door-to-door collections.

Volunteer workers had been collecting for a week, following the kick-off breakfast on Monday, Jan. 6, at the Rio Civic Club. Most of the workers are now in a period of calling back on homes that were empty when first called upon.

Chris Kalb, president of the United Fund, told The Jensen Beach Mirror that he was highly pleased with the first reports of his area captains. Kalb, with 18 officers, met with captains at an evening meeting Monday night at the Jensen Beach Community Center to receive the reports and collect money. At that time $5,962.55 had been turned in. Donations the next day raised the amount to over $6,000.

Kalb urged those not contacted to send their donations to the United Fund, Jensen Beach, so that the goal of $8,700 will be reached as soon as possible.

Eleven agencies participate in the one-for-all, all-for-one drive in the Jensen Beach-Rio area. They are: Samaritans Free Ambulance, Jensen-Rio Girl Scouts, Jensen Community Center, American Red Cross, Martin County Animal Rescue League, Martin County Crippled Children and Adults, Martin County Mental Health Association, Pioneer Occupational Center, Martin County Retarded Children and Mars Hill Community Center.

This year's officers are: Kalb, president; J. D. Lookadoo, first vice-president; Mrs. Ira Henderson, second vice-president; Mrs. Jacqueline Hall, corresponding secretary; Mrs. V. James Navitski, recording secretary, and Mrs. Kathleen Spencer, treasurer.

Mobile home moratorium voted by commission

The battle of mobile home site construction loomed this week as the Martin County Commission voted to place a moratorium on future RT zoning until it establishes a policy on the zoning that would be "to the approval of the people".

The county commission was urged by local residents and by two of its members, Frank Wacha and Bill Owens, to move quickly. Commission chairman Bill Hussey then said he would name a special committee to investigate mobile home development and zoning on Jan. 28.

In a long discussion that began when the plat for Libby's Trailer Park came up for approval, Wacha suggested that a board be set up to look into mobile home site development. County attorney Dean Tooker then suggested the moratorium until RT zoning is changed "to the approval of the public."

County engineer Tom Sliger told the commissioners that several plats are being prepared, with investment in roads and drainage in Rio and several other places. The commissioners agreed that vested interests would not be held to the moratorium.

At that time, commissioner Owens asked that a decision be reached as fast as possible to be "fair to people". He then moved that the moratorium be in effect.

R 707 drainage is elayed by easement

[illegible] drainage and resurfacing of SR 707, announced [illegible] by the State Road Department last November, [illegible] held up indefinitely, by the [illegible] of a key easement for drainage into the Lucie River at Cass Rio [illegible], it was learned Tuesday.

[illegible] answer to an inquiry [illegible] Rio Civic Club, Arthur Ramos, district engineer of the SRD, wrote that [illegible] have been completed [illegible] money budgeted for the [illegible] project, which would see the [illegible] properly drained and [illegible] resurfaced from the FEC railroad crossing [illegible] the north county line, [illegible] at the present time," [illegible] Ramos wrote, "we are also [illegible] the county to consider an outfall easement [illegible] a boat basin (Cass Rio) [illegible] is necessary in order [illegible] this project to be let [illegible] construction." Ramos wrote that other areas had been investigated, but "since this is the only area that lends itself to properly drain this entire project and area, it is important that we secure the necessary outfall easement."

"We have once again contacted the county and requested that they proceed with condemning the outfall easement. Once this is done we will proceed with the drainage job and resurfacing from the FEC railroad crossing in Rio to the St. Lucie County Line," Ramos concluded.

Checking with the county commission, a letter from Ramos to the county revealed that county commissioner Frank Wacha had asked that the drainage of the area west of Cass Rio be removed from the drainage plan so that the project could proceed. Wacha had been unable to reach an agreement with the owners of Cass Rio for the easement. The SRD refused.

Ramos pointed out in his letter to the county that only by using the natural outfall at Cassa Rio could the SRD fund the entire resurfacing and drainage program along SR 707.

The county has, in the past, refused to proceed with improvements to roads unless proper rights-of-way have been donated by owners. Only one parcel in recent history has been acquired by condemnation, that on U.S. 1 for four-laning. It is feared that county opposition to condemnation would cause the entire resurfacing program to be abandoned, for such condemnation of land cuts deep into recently reduced secondary road funds.

Resources Board reaffirms policy

The Martin County Resources and Development Board reaffirmed its policy Monday at a meeting of the board, and established a list of guidelines for the future operation of the industry-seeking board, President Bill Burson said, "This will be to clarify the position of the board for future deliberations and projects of the board."

A special committee reported Monday, setting the newly-designed guidelines to the reaffirmation of the board's already established policy. The committee was made up of Richard E. Campbell, chairman; John Law, James A. Garvey, Walter Crowell, Joseph Greenlees and Ross Philbrick.

The policy, as accepted by the board, is as follows:

The purpose of this board shall be:

1. To assist desirable small industries in locating in Martin County.

2. To work with the Chambers of Commerce to promote tourism.

3. To aid in protecting and developing the natural resources of the area.

These broad purposes are to be accomplished by the following organizational set-up and by using the policies itemized here:

1. A Board of Directors to establish policy.

2. An Executive Director who will conduct the day-to-day affairs of the Board, while acting within the purposes and policies outlined in the policy of Board hereto.

3. A Chairman who will serve as liaison between the Board and the Executive Director. The Chairman will directly supervise the Executive Director, having in mind the stated policies of the Board.

4. It is recognized that the Board's broad purpose is to promote the economic growth of the County.

5. Any public announcements or releases come through the Chairman and over his name. Note: This follows a long-established policy.

6. Any group meetings that may be sponsored in the name of the Board shall be so introduced to the public that the Board does not get involved in the affairs of the City, County Commission, or School Board.

7. The prime responsibility of the office of the Board is one of research. A constant search for information concerning the County that affects the development of industry and tourism will be carried on by the staff. This information is to be so filed and catalogued that it is available.

Hail to the Chief

On Inauguration Day 1969, we join together to reaffirm our faith in that ideal of unity which is the cornerstone of democracy. As Richard M. Nixon accepts the mantle of leadership, dedicating himself to the solemn responsibilities ahead, Americans everywhere offer their support and voice their confidence in the new President. Today, more than ever, the tasks of our nation's President are surely the tasks of its people as well. As our thirty-seventh President takes office, let us pledge our help and our loyalty, in meeting the challenges and fulfilling the opportunities of the next four years. To President Nixon, our wishes for a successful administration.

Public meet set for 1-95

The proposed route of I-95 will be discussed at a public meeting by the end of January, according to District Engineer Arnold Ramos of the State Road Department's Fort Lauderdale office. The date will be set after he receives assurance that the Turnpike Authority will not oppose a parallel route to the turnpike.

The meeting, to outline route proposals and obtain opinions, will be held in Martin County with county officials.

Proposals include routes east and west of the turnpike. Under consideration is a 42-mile stretch known as the "missing link" through Martin County.

The faster Florida grows the harder your telephone company goes

(right now we're installing more than 60,000 telephones a month—and we're still a step behind your demands for new service)

siness phones, residential phones, public ones, extension phones — all are being talled faster than ever before. This performance has enabled us to fill some 99% the flood of new orders. What are we ng about that 1%? Plenty! We're working ger days, six and seven days a week, nging in skilled technicians and training employees by the hundreds. And spending more and more on construction. $112 million in 1967. $145 million in 1968. And $161 million this year.

Keeping pace with Florida's growth demands a full-time, all-out, spare-nothing effort. And that's exactly what we're giving it.

Holiday Outlines

Holiday Out had it's first good ol' fashioned Square Dance at the hot dog roast on Thursday evening, Jan. 11. The live music was furnished by the Wahoo Valley Boys from Covington, Ind. There were guitar players Wayne Rowe and Grant Knowles, Junior Renick, Bass and Farmer Stults on the violin. Square dance calling and instructions were provided by Clarence Fairhurst from Crawfordville, Ind. Their wives were along also and assisted in the instruction of square dancing.

It was music for the young and old. We noticed five little youngsters sitting quiet as little mice watchin' the goings on with wide eyes. For instance, we saw Janis and Russ Walters dancing around the hall and afterwards we heard Russ mumbla, "I didn't think I could dance the whole circle, but it sure was fun!"

That same evening was the hot dog roast, held on the oceanside terrace where the tiki torches lit up the food-laden tables. A covered dish was furnished by all families attending. The cooks for the evening were Ed Karan and Harold Landis. Some of the folks seen bringing in the goodies were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Armano, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Spinnler, Mr. and Mrs. Sater Mein, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ouellette, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bowes, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shirley, and Mr. and Mrs. John Quinn.

A few of the couples who joined in the square dancing were: the Paul Hollers, the Raymond Lowedays, the Bill Henrickasons, the Dave Deutchmans, the John Bells, the Dave Yeagers, and the William Sars.

Sitting on the side lines were the Lloyd Hoovers, the John Frisbees, Dick Harper, Mrs. Debbie Baker, Robert Padget, Paul Kuhn and Mrs. Bettie Witmer.

New arrivals are: Mr. and Mrs. William Mc Kinnon from Carstab, Maine and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Van Willigan from Elm Grove, Wisc.

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Madson from Vernon, N. J. were visiting their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Turner and their two daughters, Carla and De Ann from Arlington, Mass. were visiting Doug's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Turner. On her first day here, Mrs. Douglas Turner cut her fingers. It did not seem to dampen her fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Regan have been buzzin' around the area with their guests Mr. and Mrs. Charles Witham from Weston, Mass.

THANK YOU

To my friends:

What a help all your cards and visits to the hospital were. My thanks, and especially for the cheerfulness and wonderful help of those Pink Ladies.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Blanche Baker

100 YEARS OLD--Anna Nielsen has an antique food chopper that is one hundred years old. Anna inherited it from her mother and it has chopped food for a long time. The chopper blade is of good steel and the base of the bowl is of hardwood. The mechanical parts are simple but practical...if any part breaks it could easily be repaired by a good handyman. While it is clumsy-looking compared with present day streamlined versions, Anna says it does perfect work in chopping meats or vegetables. She will probably be giving it to a museum.

Fishers fly to California

Larry and Jean Fisher spent three weeks over Christmas and New Years in California where they were entertained by the son, daughter-in-law and their two children. The weather while they were there was clear but cold. They flew by Jet plane from Miami to San Francisco. Going west over the mountains they encountered an electric storm which made the going a bit rough and the lightning flashes were a bit scarey. The return journey was much better. Crossing the Rocky Mountains, they had perfectly clear skies and were treated to some beautiful mountain scenery although the mountains were far below them. They flew over Bryce Canyon and recognized it.

A game was played called "Bald Mountain." Each passenger was given a card and asked to write their guess as to the time they would fly over Bald Mountain. Larry guessed 12 noon and Jean guessed 11:55, but just before handing in their cards, they changed their guesses to 12:05. If they had stayed with their original guess, Jean would have won the prize as the exact time was 11:56.

There were large cloud formations over the Gulf which the pilot had to detour. The plane went far enough south so they could see Key West and the bridges connecting the various keys on the Overseas Highway. Their pilot was in contact with the Miami airport and was given instructions to turn north again and their plane crossed the Everglades to a safe landing at Miami. Our travellers had a good time in California and also had a very enjoyable flight. It took 6 hours goint out but a tail wind cut this time to five hours for the return trip.

Lucky dogs

Brownie and Gorda Gill are also home on Kumquat, arriving De. 28. Gorda said they had a nice visit mostly spent at their home in Manchester, Iowa, where Gorda still works during the summer. The highlight of the summer was a visit to their daughter and son-in-law's home in Interlochen, Mich., where their son-in-law Dr. Marshall Barnes, is on the faculty of the Academy of Music. They spent a month with them.

Telling about leaving for O. B., Brownie said they have two hunting dogs which had to have a home for the winter while they are down here, and they were most fortunate to find two maiden ladies who were happ to keep them. They really got the treatment, too, she says, hot milk on cold days, they never had it so good when we were there to take care of them.

Gills left Iowa Dec. 24, in zero weather, which was bad enough, but when they had to drive nearly 2-30 miles before they could find a place to get breakfast on Christmas morning that was just too much, they won't do that again.

Building is booming

As spring approaches each year we hear the patter pat of hammers and the buzzing of saws, but this year there seem to have been the urge to build and renovate, and remodel earlier than usual. Kenneth (Red) Garrity with the help of his friend, Leon Eastman, was lining his Florida room with nice new wood panelling when we called, and further down on Broad Jim Shekal has one wall torn out of his trailer, preparing to put on a Florida room.

On S. 6th, the McDonoughs are putting up a new abana on the trailer they recently purchased from the Davis Duncans. While on the corner of Center St., and 7th, Max and Bigler have a new building well under way. It looks like 1969 has started out with a big bang.

It is nice to see John Kerr out of the hospital and getting around after his recent accident.

Also pleased to welcome home Harry Oakes and Fred Schofield who were both patients of Martin Memorial Hospital for a few days.

Ambulance gets more donations

The donations from the above are noted to $145.00.

At the Board meeting, Jan. 6, it was voted to acknowledge the donations in the newspapers only, since besides the work involved in writing so many letters it is also quite an expense. Nellie D. Cook.

Carrie Harlow's son Dr. Ray Flory and his wife, Jane are spending a week in South Florida to attend the medical convention in Miami. On their way they called on Mrs. Harlow and visited for a while. The Flory's home is at Milton, Fla., and they said then enjoyed the trip by car.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Hardman arrived at their home on S. 8th, Jan. 1. Clem had two spells in the hospital, but he says he feels O. K. now.

Mrs. Archie Drummond is delighted to say her daughter and son-in-law Donna and Erwin Hinas, arrived from Milwaukee Jan. 11. They left in zero weather, so they appreciate our warmer air. We hope they get a sample of our good Florida sunshine the week they are here.

George Desjardin called his son at the lumber yard in Spooner, Wis., Jan. 10, and during the ensuing conversation he said they had 46 inches of snow on the level and it was still snowing.

Dorothy Barrett also reports getting a letter from her daughter, Jan. 11, of snow conditions in Minneo, Minn., which is the south western part of the state. Dorothy's son, Bob Barrett, Jr., is a rural mail carrier and the snow banks beside the roads are so high that he has to have someone with him to walk ahead to see if the road is clear before he can enter an intersection.

These two items are so far apart that it could appear that deep snow covers a very large area.

Hearing is Thursday

Innocent plea is expected in Stuart misdemeanors

by Dick Campbell

Stuart city commissioners of 1967-68 will make their pleas in court Thursday, and an attorney for four of the group said Tuesday that the plea for all would be "innocent". The commissioners were indicted by the Martin County Grand Jury, and charged with violating the Florida "government in the sunshine" law. Also, former mayor and present city commissioner Jack Hartman faces a second indictment of "malpractice" in office. Ray Cooke, Bill Todt, Arthur Sims, and former commissioner Dan McClure were officials in office with Hartman.

Attornies Robert J. Randolph and William F. Crary represent all commissioners with the exception of Bill Todt.

Randolph said that the commissioners were innocent of the indictments, and that would be their plea. He said that he expected little to be accomplished at the Thursday session of County Judge Mallory Johnson, who summoned the commissioners to appear before him at Thursday's session of county court. "We will ask for time to answer the charges, and will make our plea. It will take time, and we will answer any charges," Randolph said.

If the commissioners plead not guilty, a date will be set for a trial. Randolph said he would like to see the trial "right here in Martin County".

Randolph said that the Florida "government in the sunshine" law was a bad law, poorly written, and "even the first and second paragraphs disagree." He said that the commission action was legal, and that the meeting was open to anyone, and actions were on file in the office of the city.

The test is not the first of the new sunshine law in Florida. Several newspapers have filed cases under the law, but to date there have been none reported won in the state.

According to the indictments, the city commissioners held a secret meeting at which they gave bonuses to city employees, and the indictment against Hartman held that he had signed a check for $900 to former city manager Joe Crowder, who committed suicide last summer.

The charges resulted in misdemeanor claims, which had to be transferred from the circuit court down to the county judge's court. Maximum penalties could be a $500 fine and or a year in jail. County Judge Mallory Johnson set the plea day for Thursday.

Kirk announces suspension of 4 commissioners

Governor Claude Kirk on Tuesday ordered the immediate suspension of the city commissioners of Stuart now under indictment for violation of the "government in the sunshine" law of Florida. Kirk's announcement came over the news wires, reaching Stuart before any official notice was sent to the city.

Four commissioners were suspended, including Mayor Ray Cooke, Jack Hartman, Bill Todt and Arthur Sims. Only newly-elected commissioner Charles Foster was left on the board. According to the city charter, Foster must appoint four new interim commissioners to serve until the indictments are settled.

The order, mentioning the indictments, "raised doubts as to their integrity and ability to perform their duties as members of the city commission."

During the suspension, the commissioners are prohibited from receiving pay or allowance.

Mayor Ray Cooke said he had not heard about the new suspension until late Tuesday evening, and then from a friend. Todt said he had heard it over the radio at dinnertime.

Grand Jury is selected

A new grand jury was sworn in on Tuesday, Jan. 14 by Judge D. C. Smith in Circuit Court.

Foreman of the new jury is James C. Anthony of Stuart. The 18 members are; Anthony, h., L. Daughters, Arnold L. Bedell, Jensen Beach; Theodore R. Pacer, Jr., Stuart; Blanche P. Slavik and Dale A. Mather, Upper; Louise Hammond and Roberta M. Hurst, Hobe Sound; Vieria E. Christie, Stuart; Allen J. Bush, Port Salerno; and the following from Indiantown; George L. Priest, Guy Rowe, Retha M. Mitchell, William A. Parsons, Leonard G. Chase, Jessie M. McKinnon, Clevelland McKnight.

Stuart Regatta postponed

Thousands of persons were disappointed over the weekend when the second annual Stuart Sailfish Powerboat Regatta was rained-and-blown out.

The committee, headed by Jack Saller, general chairman, is discussing a date toward the latter part of March at which time the postponed races will be held, according to Saller.

Almost 100 drivers were lined up and ready to go on Saturday when the first 25 races were scheduled to be held, but for safety's sake the races were called off. The drivers were looking forward to competing again this year, Saller said, and although the were disappointed not to run last weekend, most are planning to return next month when the date has been set. Tentative reservations have already been made by some of the drivers and their families, he said.

"I know how disappointed everyone is," Saller said, "and I join them." He thanked his committee and all those who worked hard preparing for the Regatta, but all are looking forward to an even better Regatta in March, he said.

Basketball game lost 22-9

by Garry Gilliland

Friday morning, Jan. 17, about 8:45 a.m., all of the sixth graders of Jensen Beach Elem. got on the bus, and went to Port Salerno for a basketball game. We finally got there and when we saw the team we wanted to turn around and go home. They were all big guys and had on clean white uniforms with numbers on them, and all we had were jeans and T-shirts.

Well the game finally got started, and at the end of the first half they were winning 12 to 2. So they decided this had to be a beat so they put in the second string, but we went and got a rally going and they put the big guys in again and at the end of the game they came out on top 52-9.

Today, the 20th, a of us guys stayed after school and with the help of Mr. Clark and Mr. Lewis we painted the lines on the court because we have invited them for a return game and this time it is our turn to win.

The End.

Ed. Note: Jensen Beach Elementary School will play Port Salerno Friday, Jan. 24, at 9 a.m.

Dennis Cupo wins car rally

by Dennis Doyle

The Student Council of St. Joseph College held its first annual car rally on Sunday, Jan. 12, with fifteen cars participating in the unknown one-hour and twenty-minute course. The drivers were given two sheets of paper with fifty directions that were to be followed along with point the correct speed through Jensen Beach, Stuart and Palm City. There were three check points where each contestant had to pick up certain markers to show that he was there. At the first check point, the driver and navigator were given a rhyme, at the second a piece of paper, and at the third a match stick. The driver had to have all of these objects, plus the two map sheets along with the

The winner was Dennis Cupo who won fifteen dollars for the close time of one-hour and nineteen minutes.

St. Joe's tops Royals

by Dennis Doyle

St. Joseph College beat the Fort Pierce Royals on Thursday night, Jan. 16, with a score of 92-87 at Murray High in Port Salerno.

There was a good turnout of students to see the team play their last home game which turned out to be a victory.

St. Joe's was ahead most of the game except at one point when there was a tie but then St. Joe's recovered.

High scorers were Fran Carrol and John McCarthy with 24 points, and Jeff Gallop with 23 points.

The team and Coach O'Conner should be given credit for a fine job on their last home victory.

IT'S SATURDAY--Students gather to talk and dance Saturday night at the Student Union.

Student Center reopens

On Saturday, Jan. 18, the Student Center of St. Joseph College was reopened. This reopening featured the school band in the newly-designed "Black Room."

At the same time, pizza and cokes were served by the Social Committee from 8 to 1 a.m. The juke box was in full swing in one of the other rooms for those who preferred to dance rather than listen to the band.

The new thing is "Graffiti"--everyone writes on the walls with Day-Glo Paint. Try it some time. It's really groovy.

SHOOT- Player Bob Daly (#6) makes a shot for St. Joe's against the Ft. Pierce Royals.

"BLACK ROOM"--The school band's equipment is surrounded by the newly-designed psychidelic walls of the "Black Room."

BAKERS--Janet Cagnazzo bustly makes pizza for the dance at the Student Union as Kathy Robinson relaxes from the long, hard night.

Advanced statistic techniques, a new three-credit evening course, will be offered at the University of Palm Beach on Tuesdays from 8 to 10 p.m., starting Jan. 28, according to Dr. Merton B. Levinson, president.

This is a problem-solving course, he said. Machine methods of calculation are used.

Tices return

Catherine and Nelson Tice of Bermuda Ave. arrived back in O. B. safely Jan. 8, after spending the Christmas season with their family of two sons and their wives, five grandsons and two granddaughters in Central Islip, Long Island.

For a number of years Tices came down each winter for their vacations, and used to spend the time around Orlando. Then three years ago they came to see what this area had to offer, and were staying at Mullaloca Lodge when a friend told them about Ocean Breeze and asked if they would like to see around. Trailer parks were something they did not know much about, so they were quite interested, and after taking a tour, thought it all looked and sounded pretty good to folks who were on the retirement list. On their way home that year they talked of the advantages of trailer living and of the few, but very nice folks they had met on their short visit to the Park, and decided to phone back and see if there were any places for sale. This they did, and the lady in the office said someone had just been in to say she had a place for sale. That someone was Eve Ekstrom, and the deal was all done by mail and sight unseen as far as the Tices were concerned.

Nelson retired three years ago after 47 years of service with L. L. R. R. of which he served as an engineer, having started with that company at the age of 17. Catherine retired from the State Hospital Staff after 38 years as a R.N. Tices intend to spend about four months here each winter.

An island all their own in Canada

The Dennis Lenkers who returned Jan. 5, from Trenton, N. J., have an interesting story to tell of how they spend their summers, and how the happened to buy an island.

For a number of years they spent a summer vacation with a doctor friend who had a small cottage on the island, - 4 and 1/2 acres more or less of land, which is near the little town of Elliot, Ontario and the post office where they get their mail. To pin point the spot a little more clearly, it is 60 or 70 miles from the city of Renfrew, Ont. However, either place mentioned can only be reached by boat.

Lenkers enjoyed the quiet of a vacation in this pretty and secluded spot so much, that when the doctor decided to sell the island, they bought it, and built two cabins there, one they call the living cabin and the other the sleeping cabin which has three large bedrooms. This year they spent from May 30 to Oct. 15 up there, returning then to their home in Trenton. It is six years since they bought the island and did the building, but since coming to O. B., where they have made many good friends, they say quite a number of folks from here have called on them and some have spent a few days.

Colored pictures they have in their trailer show they certainly have not exaggerated the beauty of Glen Island.

We also understand her son from Tampa came over Thursday, and that her daughter from Columbus, Ohio phoned, so Mabel is being given the best attention and care.

Camera Club

Regardless of other diversions, 109 members and visitors turned up to see Cliff Ogles' movie trip to California. As a general rule, movies taken from a moving car leave much to be desired, but Ogle has a special receptacle on the dash to receive his movie camer and a convenient switch to turn it on or off, also he deserves credit for handling his car in such a wa. that the pictures are always clear and undistorted. These features enabled us to go for a car ride to Los Angeles and back in less than an hour in our own club house.

Next Thursday, Jan. 23, Milton Sage will take us for a trip up the eastern seaboard on a freighter, also while sitting in a chair in our own clubhouse.

By the way, you music lovers, be in your seats by 7:15. We have promised some music by our own Ocean Breeze entertainers.

One of the most prominent citizens in Martin County, Dennis S. Hudson, died Thursday, Jan. 16. He succumbed while attending a meeting of the Stuart Masonic Lodge where he was to be presented with a 50-year membership pin.

Mr. Hudson, 77, chairman of the board of directors, former president and founder of the First National Bank of Stuart, was born in Chiefland on Sept. 29, 1891, the son of John Perry and Laura Isabelle (Heck) Hudson. He was originally associated in banking with Bankers Finance Co., Jacksonville, which operated a chain of banks in Florida.

During World War I he volunteered for Army duty, serving for two years as a sergeant in France and participating in two battles, one at Chateau-Thierry and the other in the Meuse-Argonne locale under Gen. John J. Pershing. However, the greater portion of his military career was in the quartermaster corps." He received two awards from the U.S. Treasury Department in WWI and WWII. Starting in 1941, he acted as Federal appointed appeal agent in the U.S. Selective Service system.

Following his honorable discharge from the Army in August, 1919, Mr. Hudson joined the Bank of Holmes in Ponce de Leon where he was cashier for 11 years. In 1926 he married Beatrice Katherine Marie, of St. Louis, Mo., and in 1930 they moved to Okeechobee where he organized the Citizens Bank serving as its first president.

Following the depression, and the collapse of two banks, the area was without banking service for two years. On Feb. 13, 1933, just prior to President Franklin D. Roosevelt's proclamation of a five-day bank holiday, Hudson organized the Hudson Bank of Stuart in the old Wells Fargo building on Osceola street, which six years later was moved to Dixie and Ocean where its present home now stands.

He was a charter member and a charter member of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce, a director of the Florida Bankers Association and a member of the Stuart Rotary Club.

He was a member of the Stuart Masonic Lodge, a 32nd degree Mason and a Shriner affiliated with Moorish Temple, Jacksonville, and many other civic and community affiliations.

Mr. Hudson is survived by his wife, Beatrice, who resides at Riverside Drive, St. Lucie Estates; two sons, Dennis S. Hudson, Jr., and Dale Woodson Hudson, bank officer and secretary of the board of directors; two brothers, John and Perry Hudson, Chiefland; and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday, Jan. 20, at 3 p.m. at Johns Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. Arthur Smith, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Stuart, officiating. Burial was in Rose Hill Cemetery with Masonic graveside rites.

Visitors to the resort are coming in fast from all over the country. Lately, a few of them were Mrs. Jane Smith and daughter, Kim, and son, Mike, from Grosse Pointe, Mich. They were visiting Jane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Tropiano. Incidentally, Joe and Ruth Tropiano are new owners of a lot in the condominium at Holiday Out.

Other new lot owners, Mr. and Mrs. T. Dittrich and family, are also settled on their new lot. They arrived for a one-day visit, and the next thing we knew they were busy settling shrubs and things on their new lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Burr are another couple that have joined the resorters.

Lot owners are arriving every day for the winter. Recent arrivals are the Dorvak Siasons from Anderson, Ind.; Tom Pierces, Blackstone, Va.; William Jackson, Augusta, Ga.; the Chester Gidlier family from Mikana, Wis.; and Mr. and Mrs. A. Criscoul of Wilmington, Del.

Tuesday is a busy day at Holiday Out, but what day isn't? The day starts out with the popular coffee time in the club-house. At this time the surf-fishermen and women, gun-fathers, swimmers, and groups get together and start cards, ping-pong and you-name-it.

The shellcraft classes that Mrs. Irma Walters started are a favorite time Tuesdays at 2 p.m. Recently we saw working on shell-decorated thermometers Carolyn Rannick from Kingman, Ind.; Helen Bayer, Unionville, N.Y., and Carla Damron, Williamsburg, Va., was ambitious...she not only made the thermometer, but also a plaque.

Paperweights of magnifying glass were created by Bernice Barr from Chicago, Ill.; Bettie Witmer, Farmington, Mich.; Pat Smith of Stone Mountain, Ga., and Ruth Quinn, Plymouth, Mich.

Jackie Fairburst, Crawfordsville, Ind., was seen making a thing-a-ma-jig. Well, that's what she called it. Then Lillian Anderson claims she was a nervous wreck making her shell-decorated pill box. Now, really, Lillian, it was fun, wasn't it?

Individualists are Vi Claeson, Long Island, N.Y., making a pair of earrings; sand fleas were Dot Lehman's creation, and her friend, Mrs. Peggy Waldecker of Braintree, Mass., made a pair of magnet mice. Mabel Hendrickson, Council Bluffs, Iowa, designed a toothpick holder.

Owens opposes plan

Island condominium change is approved

A Peter Jefferson designed condominium complex that will bring a village of condominiums fronting on a winding canal to the western side of Hutchinson Island took one step closer to reality this week as the county commission approved the zoning change from HR-1A, single family, to HR-2A, multiple family, for Lloyd Dutcher, developer of Ocean Place and Little Ocean Place, condominiums across the beach highway from the area under consideration.

Strong opposition to the plan was voiced by commissioner Bill Owens, the only dissenting vote on the change. Owens questioned the need to change a plan that had only been written two years ago. When told that the plan submitted by a "blue ribbon" panel was a holding type of plan, to be changed as a trend developed, Owens still objected. He asked for a review of the entire western Hutchinson Island category.

Dutcher read a letter from James A. Garvey, chairman of the former Hutchinson Island zoning panel, praising the development.

Commissioner Frank Wacha asked that the remainder of the zoning on the A-1-A to Indian River side of Hutchinson Island, between the two bridges, be examined by the zoning board. He asked for a public hearing on the subject so that the trend to condominiums might be discussed.

Dutcher was accompanied to the session by Jefferson, a famous Florida architect who designed Little Ocean Place and the new Ralph Evinrude beach estate under construction on the island, and attorney Tom Thurlow, Sr.

In other actions pertaining to Hutchinson Island, commissioner Wacha asked for advertisement of a public hearing on Feb. 25 to place in the zoning regulations the protection of the dune line on Hutchinson Island beaches. Commission policy provides protection to the dune line, but the policy is not a written part of the zoning. "We should do this before we get a hand full of lawsuits," Wacha said.

After looking over the state of Florida for three years, Mr. and Mr. Rupert Brown decided that Jensen Beach is the place for them.

The Browns are now living in their new home at 324 Melba Drive, coming here from New York.

One "TP" passes

Hussey names study group

Louis Bergen, an avid opponent to anything that would add schools or service to the county tax rolls, was named chairman of the select "blue-ribbon" committee of the county commission to study the problems created by the expanding mobile home subdivisions and trailer parks in the county.

The county moratorium on trailer parks was cracked Tuesday as the commissioners ruled that the interests of a 73-acre mobile home park were in the area of "vested", and passed the zoning change to allow the park to be built, after it meets other county regulations.

In a brilliant defense of the proposition, attorney William F. Crary discussed the semantics of the proposal, the widening of the tax base, the progress attached to a unit of land being upgraded in amount of taxes paid, and other items that showed deep research into his proposal.

When a commissioner questioned the load of traffic on the access road, Crary said, "If we place the problems of progress on the developer, we are asking for stagnation..." He added that they were talking about progress, "...and with growth, a larger tax base."

The vote on the measure was the first party-line vote, though it was denied by the commissioners, with Republicans Myers and Hussey voting against and the three Democratic commissioners, Martin, Powers and Owens, voting for the measure.

County attorney Dean Tooker took a major role in the discussion, saying that he was trying to overturn a state ruling "by someone not an attorney," that ruled that a mobile home was mobile even when affixed in a permanent site on a trailer park.

Late in the meeting of the county commission on Tuesday, Hussey named the "blue ribbon" committee. It is composed of Bergen, George Oliver, Jack Norris, Kenneth Adams, Cy Evans, Bill Barrios and James Navitsky.

Hussey said the committee was already at work, and added he had asked for a report on Feb. 25. He said the committee was assured of the support of the county offices.

A Polynesian Festival and Fashion Show in the gardens of Frances Langford and Ralph Evinrude, Jensen Beach, will be Sunday, Feb. 16, from 1 to 5 p.m. The event is sponsored by Jensen Beach Women's Association.

The Women's Bowling Association will have a rummage sale Sat., Feb. 1 at Jensen Beach Community Center from 8:30 a.m. until 4.

Meeting Friday

Burson offers sweeping little league reformation

A complete revamping of the Martin County Little League Association was suggested in parting remarks by Bill Burson, president of the league, at a meeting last Friday night in the county courthouse.

Burson said that a new organization should be set up, somewhat like the county commission districts, with each area selecting a member of a five-man board. Burson suggested that a member of the board not be a coach or a sponsor of the team. Then, at the annual meeting of the little league, to be held this Friday, three coaches, one representing each of the three leagues, Pony, Little and Peanut, would be named to the board. These members would carry any problems of the league to the board.

Burson suggested that the monies now in the treasury ($1,300) be divided & d prorated among the teams. If the money were divided into each area, then the area itself, in the future, would be responsible for raising its own money and could buy uniforms and equipment for individual ball teams.

If the teams didn't want to buy equipment, they could submit that amount of money to the eight-member board and could have a centralized purchasing agent for the uniforms and equipment.

The refreshment stands would be the responsibility of each area, according to Burson, and some civic organization could handle it. "In Vero Beach," Burson said, "there is a group of retired men who buy uniforms and umpire the games, and it is their responsibility to see that this is done. We have a lot of retired people here and should be able to accomplish the same thing.

"There is a local supplier of equipment who would supply the equipment at 10% above cost. This could then be bought locally from someone who would be responsible for good or bad merchandise and equipment. We should consider something along this line," Burson added.

The next meeting will be Friday, Jan. 31, at 7 p.m. at the courthouse. Each area has been asked to be represented with an appointed or elected official to make up the initial five-man board.

Another point has been suggested, as some areas found it difficult or even impossible to get people to work on the refreshment stands; therefore they fail, the monies coming from the refreshments or other projects would not be sufficient and that the idea would not work.

"Burson said, "The most important thing is the cooperation of the parents. If the parents will not work, then their children should not be allowed to play. The coaches should not be considered as baby sitters. Unless it is an extreme hardship case, the parents should be willing to take part in League activities. There is too much lack of interest on the part of the parents," Burson added.

"There could be a question regarding insurance," Burson pointed out. "This could still be set up on a complete League policy as it has been in the past. This, as well as the uniforms, could be broken down into the units.

"It's not the responsibility of the sponsor to get a team or a coach. This should be the responsibility of the civic organization. Sponsors' responsibility is to pay the money... they should not be responsible or obligated to supply umpires, teams, helpers for the refreshment stands, and so forth," Burson said.

Baseball league leaders to meet

Managers, coaches and interested adults will meet on Thursday, Jan. 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the new field house at Langford Park in Jensen Beach. The group will make plans for the upcoming season of Little League, Peanut League and Pony League games at the park.

Anyone interested in assisting in any capacity during the games is asked to attend this first meeting at the newly constructed field house.

LARGEST TROUT- A new leader in the local fishing tournament took his place as Al Kroll, Mango Lane, Jensen Beach, landed a 10-1 4 pound trout plug casting in the Indian River. Kroll waded last Thursday, using a Mirro-lure with 15-pound test line.

Anglers seek enforcement

Area conservationists are pressing for rigid enforcement of fishing regulations by the Florida Conservation Service, according to Lt. Ronald Purdom, West Palm Beach, area conservation officer.

The officers are having trouble with non-residents who sell fish without having a license, he pointed out. The law requires that any non-resident who sells fish have a $25 fishing license.

Purdom said his men will continue checking anglers on returning boats for size and number limits on catches. The men, Martin County officers John Cooper and Gordon Hardee, will also check bridges to prevent anglers from leaving unwanted fish on the bridges.

Variety Show is this week

The 1969 Benefit Variety Show will be held this Friday and Saturday at Martin County High School, with curtain time scheduled for 8 p.m.

This year's show, according to director Howard Reid, will follow a different format than in past years and will be fast-moving, almost following the popular Laugh-In pace of TV. The theme of the show is wound around a country-western setting and will be worked with an open stage curtain where performers will be in view at all times.

The show will be emceed by Reid and Dick Campbell, who promise to keep the action amusing during the fast-paced show.

Featured will be entertainers from both the local and distant areas and most of the acts will be entirely new to the audience. A square dance group from Boca Raton will open the show and kick off the pace for things to come.

Other acts will include Juan Holder, vocalist from Palm City; Realms of Paradise, a teenage musical group, hillbilly, and Indian dancers from the Homer Babe Studios in West Palm Beach; the Patio Boys from Hidden Harbor, Bill and Betty Rogers, a dance team from Hibiscus Park; Ed Plesie, organist from Stuart; J. N. Roberts and Sons, a country-western group from Palm City; the East Stuart Cavalr, Dr. Richard Perrick from Jensen Beach, John Oliver from Hobe Sound, Kitty Kiernan from Ft. Pierce, John Christie from Port Salerno, the Evans Family from Port Salerno and possibly a few surprises.

Tickets are being sold door-to-door through Feb. 1 by members of the Stuart Jaycees, according to Ron Johnston, and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Another "Coffee tour" by Stuart Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for Tues., Feb. 4 at 8 a.m. The tour will be at General RF Fittings Division of Solitron.

The Democratic Women's Club of Martin County will have its installation dinner Friday, Jan. 31 at Holiday Inn. Speaker will be Mayor Chuck Hall of Miami.

Firemen lauded

A letter received by the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department lauded the firemen and enclosed $10 for their annual fund drive. The letter came from Clara and Herbert Neumann of St. Louis, Mo., who will move into their new home at 104 Indian Drive, Jensen, in April. They said they saw in The Jensen Beach Mirror the appeal for funds.

City Commissioners' trial set for March 24

Four Stuart City Commissioners and one former commissioner, suspended last week by Gov. Claude Kirk, pleaded innocent Thursday in County Court to indictments by the grand jury.

The suspended commissioners are Mayor Ray Cooke, former Mayor Jack Hartman, Bill Todt and Arthur Sima. Dan McClure is the former commissioner.

The five are charged with violating the state's "Government in the Sunshine" law. Trial was set by Judge Mallory Johnson for March 24. Defendants have 15 days in which to file motions in the case.

Hartman, also charged with malpractice in office, pleaded innocent to that indictment.

All five requested jury trial. Trials will be held in County Court with Judge Johnson presiding. All will be tried together.

TRAILER EXPLOSION--The crumpled mass of metal shown above was once a trailer, prior to its demolition by explosion and fire Thursday morning. Three men shared the trailer, located at Starlight Trailer Park, U.S. 1, Jensen Beach. Investigation by Earl Kelliher, deputy state fire marshal from Miami, revealed two valves of the stove were on 'On' position allowing gas to escape and reach explosive limits. The source of ignition has not been determined, he said, but one of the three burned victims had just lighted his pipe. There was no evidence of a gas leak in the system. Awakened by the explosion, Mirror reporter Gene Phleger who lives in the park, grabbed a hose and doused the fire. Three trucks and 15 volunteers from Jensen Beach Fire Department answered the call at 6:20 a.m. - Photo by Gene Phleger.

ESCA coming to RF Fittings

General RF Fittings, Stuart, will be the site of the newly-acquired microwave business of Electronics Standard Corporation of America (ESCA) of Plainfield, N.J., according to a recent announcement by Solitron Devices, Inc.

Solitron president Benjamin Friedman stated that this acquisition would be transferred into Solitron's subsidiary division, General RF Fittings.

The acquisition of ESCA is the latest in a series of expansion moves made by Solitron since it located in Florida in July, 1965, Friedman said.

In August, 1968, Solitron purchased General RF Fittings, including a 20,000 sq. ft. plant located on Cove Rd., Port Salerno. Currently, GRFF employs approximately 125 persons. It is expected that the new acquisition, to be moved into the plant on Cove Rd., will increase the company's local payroll.

Solitron acquired Honeywell Inc. Transistor Division in Riviera Beach in 1965 and has expanded that plant space to more than 100,000 sq. ft. During April, 1967, the company acquired the Sperry-Rand Semiconductor Division at Norwalk, Conn., and a week later concluded a cross-licensing agreement that included the purchase of the Hughes semiconductor operation in Newport Beach, Cal. These were moved to Riviera Beach.

Currently the company is constructing a new plant in Jupiter which is in excess of 50,000 sq. ft. The plant is to be operational later this year, according to Friedman.

Sandra DeFillipo is new counselor

by Kathleen Owens

A new personality has been added to our college campus. She is Miss Sandra DeFilippo, the new counselor for the Women's Residence Hall. Born in Plainfield, N.J., she moved to Miami in 1952. She attended grammar school at St. Theresa School, taught by the Sisters of St. Joseph, and high school at Coral Gables High School. While in high school, Miss DeFillipo was a member of the National Honor Society.

Ocean Breeze News

by Nellie and Tom Cook

Phone 287-5312

It happened in Iowa

Mrs. Barrett, who visited with the Gills recently had an interesting story to tell about her experience just before she left home in Manchester, Iowa to come to Florida. The weather was terrible, but Mrs. Barrett had an appointment to get her hair done, so she set out alone in the car, and got the job accomplished but when she started for home she realized the roads were getting worse, and the snow was forming deep drifts. She kept going as long as possible, but one extra bad drift proved too much and she found her car stuck fast. As we all would do she tried and tried to get out of the drift, until finally the battery ran down and she began to have visions of spending the night alone on the road and possibly freezing to death. It was five hours before she was rescued by a driver with his snow-mobile. With all the exertion of trying to free the car, and thoughts of what might happen she was reaching the point of hysteria, so she said that added to the ride home hatless in an open snow-mobile. She said when the crisis was passed and she looked in the mirror, she was in far worse shape with her wet, stringy hair then before she started out to get the beauty treatment.

Now I expect she can see some humor in the situation, but, we are so glad her story did have a happy ending.

Mrs. Richard Cook writes friends

We received a letter from Winnifred Cook which she wishes passed on to our readers.

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Cook;

Perhaps through your columns you could let the people of Ocean Breeze know how very much we appreciate the many kindnesses shown to us during the recent sadness which befel our family. The people of the park have been so wonderful during and after the death of my mother in-law, Mrs. Alcyon C. Cook, and also to my father-in-law, Joseph C. Cook, who is remaining in the park. We are most grateful, and thought perhaps you could let them know how we feel.

Also we thought perhaps people might like to know that we have established a living memorial to Mother at the Jensen Beach Community Church. She was a faithful member of the congregation, and it meant a great deal to her.

I am enclosing a check for a modest amount to the ambulance fund. We are grateful for the services the squad game when Mother was stricken in November.

We have spent 14 winter holidays in Ocean Breeze Park and certainly feel we are part of the community, too. May 1969 mean only good things for you and yours.

Sincerely, Winnifred L. Cook (Mrs. Richard Cook)

Herman and Anna Larson received from their son Walter in Wisconsin as a present a large 15 pound home cured ham. It was such a nice looking ham they felt it just had to be shared with their friends, so Jan. 19, they arranged a party of friends; Mr. and Mrs. Myron Schumann, Mr. and Mrs. John Wall, Mr. and Mrs. Bill O'Mara and Nan Campbell to join them in sampling this Wisconsin delicacy.

They all enjoyed delicious dinner and spent the evening playing cards.

A party of six Ocean Breezers took in the Country Club dinner and dance Tuesday, Jan. 21. The party consisted of Marty and Emma Koltzsch, Werner and Gretchen Pohle, Eddie and Helen Tokash, Russell and Lola Speck, Mr. and Mrs. Ward King, and Mr. and Mrs. Des Jardins. The orchestra for the dance was Guy Lombardo who also played in one of the six halls for the Inaugural Ball at Washington the previous night. The crowd was estimated at 600.

During the dance, Guy Lombardo introduced his three bro s and a brother-in-law, all members of his band. The six couples mentioned were not the only ones from Ocean Breeze as Russell says he saw several other Ocean Breezers there.

Juita and Lee Gabler are now situated o the corner of Broad and 7th, the lot occupied for many years by Frank and Karen Hahn. Gablers have installed a lovely new 12 x 36 foot Golden State trailer, which has a relatively new feature, built in tie downs. A new patio has been added, and the lot very nicely landscaped, with newly seeded grass, and well arranged shubbery. Gablers are to be congratulated on making this such a pretty corner, and when we say that, Kim Williams should be also given credit e the time and thought he put into having the place all ready when Gablers returned to spend the winter here.

This is their second winter in O. B. having rented on Manzo last season. Mrs. Gabler said they came here from Carlisle, Penna., where her husband was in government service for 41 years prior to retirement 8 years ago. They figure these eight were wasted years now they have found Ocean Breeze.

Irene and Orville Beem and Robert and Mary Strohm visited with Ed and Ethel Marski of St. John, Florida, Sunday, Jan. 12. Marskis are friends of Beems from Reading Mich.

George and Verne Piper are back for the third winter on Bermuda Ave., where they rent Dr. Derhammer's trailer each year. During the summer months, the Pipers keep busy with their fruit farm in Ludington, Mich. When fall comes they move into their home in Dearborn, Mich., and spend the Christmas holidays with their family before coming here.

Since arriving Jan. 6, they have talked with their son who is a veterinarian up there and he said the temperature had reached 17 below, and they had 34 inches of snow. He said, "it's pretty hard making house calls."

Charles Jr. and his wife Delphine Patterson of Bay City, Mich. are spending ten days with his parents Charles and Maddie on Miracle Way. The young folks arrived Jan. 19, and tell us there was 15 inches of snow at home we they left, and that with the exception of about 50 miles of the trip they had the windshield wipers working continually.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Theilig (Karl and Bessie) have Mrs. Doris Wolf of Indianopolis Ind. visiting them. Doris and her husband and family have lived near Theiligs in Indianapolis ever since their children were small. They grew up and attended school together.

Mrs. Wolf loves Florida, and hopes they can retire here, when that time comes. She also mentioned Jack Kinker's story of Flin Flon, and Churchill, which was written up in The Mirror Dec. 26, and said she has travelled extensively and that was one of the outstanding trips she has taken.

Arnold and Nellie Lock of Arborvitae, returned Jan. 23 from Wis., where they went about five weeks ago due to the illness of Arnold's mother, in a hospital in Madison, Wis. When Arnold's brother called them, they knew it was an emergency, so went as soon as they were able to pack a few things, and drove 960 miles the first day, hoping to reach the hospital before his mother entered surgery. However, his mother's surgery was delayed owing to a cold so they had a number of nice visits with her.

Although they did drive a distance of 70 miles each day from Lake Geneva to Madison over icy roads and 12 below zero weather. We are sorry to say Mrs. Lock did pass away on Jan. 12, and our deepest sympathy goes out to Arnold and Nellie at this time.

Arnold, in speaking about his wonderful mother, said her the greatest tribute a son could, we thought, when he said he had never seen her cross, nor had he ever heard her speak an unkind word.

She died at 96 years of age.

While here the visitors will stay in their trailer on a lot reserved for them. Mrs. Fenwick will, however, spend some time with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mildred Fenwick, also on 6th before she returns to the cold north country.

The Gills (Gorda and Brownie) of Kumquat had visitors Jan. 20 thru 24, from Manchester, Iowa. Mr. and Mrs. Sasselman, and Mr. and Mrs. Barrett. Since there were no vacant lots in O.B. they parked their trailers at Holiday Out, and had meals with the Gills.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus La Boda had the pleasure of a visit from their daughter and son-in-law, Norma and Harold Geer and their four year old son, Rory, all of Lebanon, Conn. who arrived with their camper Jan. 22 and parked on the blacktop till Jan. 24.

When the Geers were ready to leave they were accompanied by her parents for a fishing trip with the Chas. Nichols of Lighthouse Point. Nichols took them out in their yacht and Gus was fortunate to catch a 12 pound Dolphin, which Anna said was delicious.

Geers, who farm in Lebanon were only able to take a two week trip this time as they left their two college student sons in charge while they were away.

THATCHING--An unusual activity is going on at present at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant in Jensen Beach. Johnny Tucker, Seminole Indian from Hollywood, Florida, builder of Chickees, is replacing the palm fronds on the roof of the restaurant, with the help of a friend. The fronds, which come from Brighton reservation near Okeechobee, are nailed three inches apart. When the roof is completed in a week's time, it will last for about six years, Tucker said.

Holiday Outlines

by Beach Bum Betty

Something new has been added to the social calendar at Holiday Out. Round dancing classes got under way Jan. 28 at the Recreation Hall. Evelyn and Ernie Bott have been seen practicing in a quiet spot a few times and now have announced they would like to have others join them.

Square dancing has been neglected while our able leaders Karle and Emelyn Phillips went back north for the holidays. Now that they have returned, the familiar calls will again be heard on Monday and Thursday evenings at 8 p.m.

Listening to the shin-an-agins the other evening we heard a bunch of catchy phrases. Box that knat- Box that flea--dancin' round the silo. Finally found out that the silo is the round center of the recreation hall. To further add to the confusion, wait until you hear this! Charles and Louise Stimets from Woodstock, Vermont, are Knotheads and site Owls! Do you know what that means? Ask any ardent square dancer and they will tell you. Some of the regulars at Holiday Out square dancers are: Dave and Carl Deutchman, Ev and Bill Star, Mabel and Bill Hauricksen, and the John Bolls.

Visitors recently were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beaubien of Orchard Lake, Mich. They pulled their new trailer on the lot next to their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bowus. The Beaubien family are bear in their new Airstream that the Earl Bowes helped them decide to buy and join in on the fun of trailer living and traveling.

Another new boat will soon be docked out in the marina at Holiday Out. Elmar and Esther Gieske from Milwaukee, Wis., have been taking the Coast Guard boating lessons in Stuart. In their spare time they have been looking over new boats at the numerous marinas in the vicinity.

We have a new female in the resort. Short-haired, nice tail, and answers to the name "Toots". Now, now, gals, we know that this description fits a lot of you, but this is Dick Harper's new girl friend. W--E- L--L, to tell the truth, Toots is Dick's new dog. Watch for him as he proudly walks with her, and be introduced; she's quite a gal.

Tot owners who arrived this week are: the Harold Thiemers, S. Lake Wurth; John D. Carsons, Laurence Harbor, N.J.; Ralph Coffees, Milltown, N.J.; Charles M. Walters, Dayton, Tenn.; Phillip Roberts, Durham, Conn., Rollo J. Schroeder, Miami, and the Henry Bass family, N. Miami.

Bridge groups have started in the afternoons and evenings. Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Derr, originally from Middletown, Pa., now from Pompano Beach, visited Evelie and Jack Faust last week. We noticed Evie and her mother in bridge games almost continually while the Derrs were visiting Holiday Out. The men of this family were seen shootin' on the davenports at the recreation hall while all the bidding was going on.

Early morning risers are the golfers in our midst. One will always see Wilma and Sater Main Walter Petraska, Lee Johnson and John Quinn heading out to the Martin County Golf and Country Club at the crack of dawn. We haven't heard of any holes-in-one to report, but we are sure that it won't be long.

A bit of France has arrived. Two delightful people, Louis and Yvette Bernier from Royal Oak, Mich. It is so interesting to talk with them and exchange travel stories. We understand Yvette is a very clever person when it comes to sewing. Maybe we can convince her to help some of us. They entertained at a cocktail party the other night. Guests included Tom and Liz-b Pierce, Al and Ann Criscoe and Dave and Bettie Witmer.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Landis this month were two brothers and a sister, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Landis, Mr. and Mrs. Don Landis and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Spann, all from N. Manchester and Warsaw, Ind.

They were very impressed with all the fine facilities and the friendliness of the folks in the resort. The pool and shuffleboard courts were the main attraction in the daytime, while the evenings were spent playing euchre, gin-rummy or square dancing. Boy, Susy, is the word for the Landis family.

Also in the resort the past week are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Michael, life-long friends of the Landises, and you can bet we will see them here again next year.

Wedding anniversaries have been celebrated last week by Chester and Norma Wallace. They were surprised by a special delivery box from an organization sent by their sons-in-law and daughters, to commemorate their 25th anniversary.

Rose Mirrer of Flea Town, N.Y., left Holiday Out, Feb. 5, for Florida, Puerto Rico, Nassau, Miami and Fort Lauderdale. Then she will return to Holiday Out for the 2nd.

Elections planned

Accommodations service is planned by Chamber

A central gathering point for tourist accommodations in the Jensen Beach area is being planned as a service to tourists and motel operators, according to Don Wilkie, president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce. The service, for members of the Chamber, is designed to permit tourists to have access to all accommodations available, with rates of the various units, in the Chamber office on Commercial Street.

The plan is the result of a meeting of interested motel, mobile home, cottage and apartment owners at the Chamber last week. A large board is being designed on which will be listed the motel units, efficiencies, apartments, cottages, mobile home and travel trailer spaces available. The chart will be updated regularly to provide tourists with information on vacancies in the various properties.

June Rice, chairman of the committee on accommodations, reported that her committee was working hard on the board. The committee includes Gladys Thurston, Dick Chadle and Mr. Bollen.

A pay system was planned, with each unit being identified on the board. Vacancies will be properly marked, and rates provided by the various operators will allow tourists to seek their needed price range, according to Mrs. Rice.

At the regular meeting of the Chamber board of directors Monday night, a nominating committee was named for the coming year slate of officers. Past-president Chairman of the nominating committee, with members Gene Pflieger, Eve Caulder and Harry Lentz. The committee asked that all interested members of the Chamber suggest possibilities for directors and officers for the coming year.

Caldwell said that he hoped that the committee would have a report for the next meeting in March.

Election of officers and directors for the new year will be held at the annual meeting of the Chamber on March 24.

POLYNESIAN FESTIVAL AUCTION--The upcoming Polynesian Festival and Fashion Show will also feature an auction. Some of the items to be auctioned off are pictured above being displayed by Mrs. Geneva Sievert, chairman; Mrs. Diane Stoll and Mrs. Ruth Blaisdell. The Festival will be Sunday, February 16 from 1 to 5 p.m. at the estate of Ralph Evinrude and his wife, Frances Langford Evinrude, in Jensen Beach, and is sponsored by the Jensen Beach Women's Association.

PBIP may be sold

Over $20 million in sales of property by metes and bounds in western Martin County was revealed as Palm Beach Investment Properties announced it may be sold.

The firm controls 23,000 acres of open land in Martin and Palm Beach Counties.

Purchaser will be Lee Motor Products, Inc., a Cleveland automobile firm, according to a tentative agreement. The planned Rotunda area has not yet been offered for sale.

The PBIP had planned to develop a 5,400-acre "city in the round" located north of Pratt & Whitney. Development will continue on this program, according to officials.

PBIP would be acquired for Lee stock if Lee's directors and shareholders approve, if privy materials are approved by the Securities and Exchange Commission, and if Lee sits a continuing to be listed on the American Stock Exchange, according to Ronald Kumin, president of Lee Motor.

At present, all of the land is under water part of the year. A $6 million drainage district is planned to keep the proposed development dry.

Taxpayers Assn. promote I-95 route

A western route for Interstate-95 through Martin County is being promoted by the Martin County Taxpayers Association, Inc.

In a letter to Governor Claude R. Kirk from E. C. Warsheim, president of the Association, Warsheim said: "It has come to our attention that there are now three routes under study by the State Road Department; one several miles west of the Florida Turnpike, one east of the Turnpike, and one through the higher assessed residential districts of the county." This latter area would include Martin County Golf Course, possibly the airfield at Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corporation, and Jonathan Dickinson State Park.

"The directors of the Taxpayers Association did not object and do not now object to the routing of Interstate-95 through the County but see no reason to reduce a substantial portion of the County advalorum tax income," the letter continues.

We would like to state our preference for the route west of the Turnpike, Warsheim stated.

"In a careful study, it is our considered opinion that the loss in assessable property on the route west of the Turnpike would be approximately $100,000; the route just east of the Turnpike would probably reduce the value of taxable property approximately $200,000, and that the extreme eastern route would more than likely reduce the assessed property value by three million dollars, not considering collateral loss.

"It is our understanding, based on expert estimates, that the route west of the Turnpike would cost substantially less than the one east of the Turnpike and without a doubt materially less that the extreme eastern route.

"We have heard that a decision will be made within the next month or two, and we would like to express our conclusion that the least expensive route should be approved which would remove the smallest amount of assessable property," the letter said.

Nine locations in County

State recommends bulkheading at mean high waterline

Nine state recommendations for containing "bulkhead lines from offshore to the mean high water line were received early this week by Martin County. The recommendations, including some for St. Lucie County, were in a report of the Florida Interagency Committee and was adopted by the Cabinet.

Offshore bulkhead lines in Martin County are recommended to the line of mean high water in the following locations:

Hutchinson Island along the eastern side of the Indian River.

Town of Sewall's Point northerly to the St. Lucie County line.

North side of St. Lucie River opposite Stuart.

Northwest fork of Loxahatchee River.

Stuart, south side of St. Lucie River.

Western side of northern approach to U.S. 1 bridge (Roosevelt Bridge) across St. Lucie River.

Bulkhead lines in the remainder of the county are located at the mean high water line.

In St. Lucie County:

Full back bulkhead lines to the mean high water mark for the Ft. Pierce port terminal, pending definite development plans for Nettles Island and vicinity, and for City Island in Ft. Pierce.

Another recommendation confirms "the bulkhead line for the recently developed trailer site (Holiday Out) on Hutchinson Island near Martin County line.

Also in St. Lucie County, a recommendation asks that in those areas without bulkhead lines the lines be located along the line of mean high water to prevent further encroachments of fill into the scenic and productive Indian River.

In some line with the recommendations, seven guidelines were included to be used in establishing bulkhead lines.

Under Florida law, setting of bulkhead lines is not to individual counties, but must be confirmed by the state.

Counties are asked to review for Randolph Hodges, of the State Internal Improvement Fund, to let him know of their action before March 15, at which time he will report to the fund trustees.

Editorials

Bulkheading... one objection

The recommendations of the Florida Cabinet in drawing the bulkhead line in Martin County and St. Lucie County back to the mean high water line meets with our approval in all except one case. We hope that the county commission will make proper note of this objection and concur in the need for a future fill area.

In accordance with the instruction in the filling of the outboards of the Indian River and St. Lucie Rivers, the county has not allowed one percent fill to pass. We hope that this continues, and adhere to the "except to the public interest" proposals of the cabinet.

However, there is one area that must be excluded from the mean high water line in the bulkhead and fill proposal. That area is in the vicinity of the House of Refuge Museum. The land at this point on Hutchinson Island is in danger of being washed away. The road is also in danger to the south portion of the island.

The bulkhead at this particular point on Hutchinson Island is set out to 600 feet, a distance set by an engineer study asked for by the county commissioners. It might be pointed out that Martin County was the first county to go ask for an engineer study before setting a bulkhead line.

The need for land on which to put a road is evident to anyone who has driven the road to the Indian Dunes. It is our view, afore, that little resistance to the fill proposal of the area.

This is our one objection to the overall plan, and it is a sensible one, we believe, and others, in using the rivers for the people, now for the future. However, we believe that we should plan now for the road of the future, if we do not, we fear that the St. Lucie Inlet will have a repeat to the north after the first severe storm.

Langford Park center is nearing completion

The $15,000 recreation center and field house at Langford Park is nearing completion, according to County Commissioner Frank Wachs. Seven-hundred fifty dollars is hoped for donations stands in the way of finishing the work.

Wachs said that approximately $750 for panelling, ceiling tile, and flooring is needed to complete a job that has cost the taxpayers of Martin County only $500, but will be worth more than $15,000. He said that he hoped that the donations will come in so that the building will be ready for the upcoming baseball season.

The building is designed first for youth activities, as a meeting place, and a place to hold recreational programs, especially in the summer time. It was stated as a warehouse for materials now stored in the old firehouse at the foot of Commercial Street in Jensen Beach, soon to be demolished, Wachs said. In the warehouse are the scenes for Christmas on the Causeway, building materials for fireworks exhibits during various times of the year, and other events and volunteer group supplies. They will be moved to the large storage area in the building upon completion.

Wachs said that the building could be used for public meetings and would be available for small groups. "The first need is for youth activities, though," Wachs said.

OUTDOOR ART FESTIVAL--The third annual Outdoor Art Festival to be sponsored by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce is being planned for Saturday and Sunday, March 1 and 2. The community project has proved to be very successful and popular with local artists who are given the opportunity to exhibit their work. Above, J. Ernest Baker, Chamber director, and Donald Wilkie, president, let the public know of the upcoming event which will be held on Ricou Street, Jensen Beach.

Four new members join

Four new members were welcomed into the Jensen Beach Women's Association at Monday's meeting attended by 75 members and seven guests.

New members were Helen McNulty, Ruth Troger, Dorothy Hinchman and Mrs. Herbert Combs.

During the business meeting, details of the upcoming Polynesian Festival were finalized by committee members. The Festival and Fashion Show will be held Sunday, Feb. 16 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Frances Langford - Ralph Evinrude estate in Jensen Beach.

Hostesses for Monday's meeting were Natalie Hackbart, Hannah Hall, Sabina Foster and Catherine Cordes. The door prize was won by Winifred Dahl.

Wildlife film

"These Things Are Ours", the second in a series of wild life color films presented by the Martin County Audubon Society, will be shown Friday, Feb. 7, at the Woman's Club of Stuart.

The film, narrated by Mary Jane Dockeray, will start at 8 p.m. Photographer was Walter Berlet, Audubon photographer and lecturer.

CUB MEETING--Weekly meetings of Cub Scouts of Pack #401 are held at Jensen Beach Community Church on Thursdays. The group is sponsored by the church. Here the boys gather around a "campfire" during last Thursday's meeting.

Local artists display work

The art work of Mrs. Rita Martin and Mrs. Nellie Pezzoni, members of the Art Associates of Martin County, is on display this month at the Bank of Stuart.

The Associates maintain a continuous exhibit of paintings at the bank on E. Ocean Blvd., Stuart.

Rusty Spurs Riding Club will hold its monthly show on Sunday, Feb. 9 at 1:30 at the Martin County Fairgrounds. The public is invited.

Ada Phares enjoys Caribbean cruise

Those of you who have taken the Caribbean cruise will realize how thrilled and excited Mrs. Ada Phares and her neice, Mrs. Kessie Clapp, would be on their arrival at the home of Mary Neese in O. B. Other relatives and friends took much pleasure in viewing the wonderful display of "loot" in the form of hats, dresses, beads, fancywork and hand carving, much of which was bought at the lovely shop on the ship. Mrs. Phares told of her trip:

"Port au Prince, Haiti, was our first port of call. The streets lined with beautiful flowers was most interesting to see, but the squatters who live in abject poverty were not at all pleasant to view. Streets lined with people begging the tourist to buy, offering items such as mahogany carvings, etc.

Kingston, Jamica, proved to be quite a contrast and it appealed to us as a highly modern, thriving city.

From Kingston we sailed south to Bonnaire which is a Dutch colony. It has the best of birds and beaches and so far is unspoiled by too much tourism. The island or Curacao was extremely clean and colorful.

San Blas Island is small but has the most gorgeous palms one would ever see. Only recently have tourists been welcome. The tiny island is kept swept clean with tree branch brushes. The intermarriage of the natives keeps a pure strain of the Kuna Indians.

Cartegna, Spanish and English speaking, proved to be a photographer's paradise.

Docking at Christobal, Colon, we were taken by bus to Panama City where we viewed the locks and saw ships coming and going through the canal.

Docking at Port Matias de Galvez, we were again taken by bus through beautiful country to Guatemala City. Spanish is the common language but we were told 22 different languages were spoken. Lovely gardens surround the homes making a delight for the tourists to see. On Sunday, we had a scenic drive to Antigua, the former capital of Guatemala.

Cozumel is a small island. It provided us with the exciting experience of watching the natives diving for fish and conch, which were then taken to the island and cooked on open fires.

The fish and conch were deliciously prepared.

The last stop was Port Progresso, from where we went to Chichen Itza, on the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico, where we toured the Mayan ruins. The high point was the Temple of Kukulkan, requiring the climbing of 365 steps, which only the hearty attepmted.

Arriving at Port Everglades on Jan. 10, we weary ladies boarded the Greyhound bus for Stuart where we were met by my neice, Mrs. Mary Neese. My cotraveller, Mrs. Clapp, spent the following week in Ocean Breeze and I will remain for the winter with Mary."

We are indebted to Mary Neese for writing this story for Mrs. Phares. (T.C.)

Visitors thrilled with fishing

Mr. and Mrs. Gus LaBoda of Arborvitae Dr. had Mrs. LaBoda's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ferling of Colchester, Conn., visiting from Jan. 3 to the 17.

Mr. Ferling recently retired from Pratt Whitney in Hartford, Conn., and this was the Ferling's first visit to Florida and Ocean Breeze. They were very impressed with the beauty of all they saw. One day the men went deep-sea fishing and caught two big king fish which weighed 30 pounds which they had smoked. The following day they fished off the twenty five cent bridge and caught 17 blues which they froze to take home. Ferlings report a very happy time here and hope to be back for another visit soon.

Highly respected resident passes

A well known and respected resident of Ocean Breeze passed away in the Martin Memorial Hospital Jan. 27, in the person of Agnes Smith. Agnes and her husband were affectionately known as Scotty and Mrs. Scotty Smith. They have lived for the past few years on Cypress, and were always ready to help their friends and neighbors, who will miss Agnes very much. The sympathy of all the residents of the Park goes out to Scotty, his daughter Mrs. Ormistrom, and the two grandsons who are left to mourn her passing.

Harold Sholl of Alkader, Iowa, is parked for the present time in his travel trailer on the Strip. Harold has re-with retired from the Soil Conservation Dept. In 1968 he visited with Willard Powell, and now after touring Florida with his trailer has decided that Ocean Breeze is it, so it looks like we have another permanent resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowe (Bill and Fern) spent Sunday, Jan. 26 in Miami as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morton. Harold was best man at the wedding of Fern and Bill 40 years ago, in Indianapolis, Ind., and is now in charge of the "Gold Coast Sight Seeing Boats". Bill tells us also that while in Miami he met Edward Rouls, former chief of police in Indianapolis, who he had not seen for 27 years, but he and Edward had been on the motorcycle squad together until Bill's retirement at that time. Rouls served on the Miami Police force ten years prior to his retirement. It sounds like these old friends had a lot to talk over, as Fern said, the ladies thought their husbands had gotten lost, and waited their return patiently while the dinner got cold.

The Nixons of Center St., are building additions to each end of their trailer and enlarging the living room and the dining area.

At about 7:30 p.m., Jan. 30, Earl Burbank who was fishing off the Roosevelt Bridge had quite a thrill when he landed a 31 and 1/2 pound snook. So far this is the largest caught here and will be entered in the fishing derby which is held annually. We understand that Earl and his fish had their pictures and a write up in the West Palm newspaper.

FLAME VINE-- This spectacular flame vine beside the Ecklund trailer became so dense and heavy that the park management thought it deserved a better support, so the old tree which had sagged under its weight for years was removed and replaced with a metal pipe support. To show its appreciation, the old vine has produced a niagara of blossoms that charm the eye.

Neighbor Mildred Fenwick is peeping from beneath this flowery bower.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wellman are once again home on Skipper, arriving here Jan. 16. Willard retired Jan. 3, after 44 years with Detroit Edison Co. and Associates, the last 14 years in the Research and Development of Atomic Power in an administrative capacity.

Grumman winner in F-14-A competition

Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. announced on the weekend that it had won the U. S. Navy fighter plane competition. This win specifically assured a high level of production into the 1980's and billions of dollars of future business.

Grumman, which has a unique production facility here, won the hard-fought-for competition to build the F-14-A (VFX) fighter plane to fill a Navy need and on a schedule that calls for the plane on station in a bit more than 5 and 1/2 years.

The original design was drawn up in such a way as to provide for new elements in advance of their arrival in the fleet scene. Modifications E-14-9 and F-14-C are already in the planning stages.

Some of the new plane's outstanding features will be tandem seating for a two-man crew; two Pratt-Whitney TF 30-P-12 afterburning turbofan engines; Hughes AWG-9 missile control system, continous variable sweep wings that are tailored automatically to Ogletree said his father is Stuart's city attorney and that he, himself, had served the City of Stuart on many occasions.

Judge Johnson issued the disqualifying order in response to the request.

Meet Wednesday

Anglers seek to block netters, 'go farther'?

A joint meeting of three Martin County conservation clubs tonight (Wednesday) has set the theme for a new quarter-of-a-year fight against proposed legislative programs of the commercial fishermen of Martin County.

"Only members willing to participate actively in trying to block new demands of netters, and possibly go farther need attend," read the notice of the meeting. The notice was mailed under the Martin County Anglers Club heading. The meeting will be held at the Elliott Museum at 7:30 p.m.

The conservation groups hope to organize a telephone campaign to "preserve a little fishing water." The notice stated that the move was not designed to deprive netters of their living. "We want them to earn their living on the ocean, not in inland waters."

For one desiring to actively participate, but unable to make the meeting, call phone 287-0062, the hot-line of Angler Club president Jerry Wood, or 546-5993, the hot-line phone of Herschel Rochelle, Sewall Point secretary.

"If we can't get at least 150 to offset the automatic centers, we may as well not start," the notice read.

Participating in the meeting will be the Anglers Club, the Izaac Walton League of Martin County and the Stuart Sailfish Club.

The notice did not specify what the meaning of "last possible go farther" was.

Next week The Mirror will feature the entire problem of proposed netting regulations, with comments from both groups.

Island lateral waterway development is beginning

Dean leads the way

Bill Dean's development of a condominium on Hutchinson Island is leading the way to the eventual establishment of lateral waterways the full length of both the Island and the west bank of the Indian River, according to action taken Tuesday at the county commission meeting.

In a surprise move, applauded and congratulated by conservation interests present at the meeting, James Littman, attorney for Dean, announced that the development company was in agreement that conservation interest should come first and be considered in any application for a permit to dredge in the Indian River.

Littman's client has requested a permit to dredge a channel 100 feet wide by 600 feet long to give deep water access to the Dean waterway to the condominiums. It is the county's responsibility to issue no objection, or an objection, to the permit to the Internal Improvement Fund trustees, who will make the final determination of the permit.

Littman proposed access to deep water and the Intracoastal Waterway through two channels, one at each causeway between the Lyons and the Wacha bridges. He said that Dean would dredge only one hundred feet out into the river if the lateral waterway course was used, not disturbing the fish breeding flats.

Littman also said that Dean would dredge a lateral channel the length of his property, some 1300 feet, if the county would dredge the channel to the river deep water. He also said that he would only need a five foot depth, rather than the six foot depth requested.

"Mr. Dean would like to help conservation interests, not oppose them," Littman said, "Most of the people who will live in the condominiums would have boats, like to fish and use the waterways."

County attorney Dena Tooker asked who would pay for the lateral waterway dredging. He cited it as a high cost, and said that the county had no jurisdiction in the use and control of bottomlands.

County Commissioner Frank Wacha said that the lateral waterway could be marked at a four-foot depth along the island coast, thus limiting the need for too much dredging. He also asked that three, not two, access routes to the deep water be made available, one at each causeway and one at the center point of the island between the causeways. He said that the property owners along the route should have ecological surveys to decide the proper point for the channels and the proper course for the lateral waterway.

"We can only appease or support the access routes. The BI and Board of Conservation have the final say," Wacha said. "If we make a mistake it is our fault, and if it is right, then the BI has done a wonderful thing for the area." Wacha added with tongue in cheek.

Littman said that all spoil from the dredging would be put on the upland side of the island, and that none would be used to extend the property out of water.

George Ewing, representing the newly formed Conservation Alliance of Martin County, said, "I want to thank your people for their cooperation." He went on to read a policy statement from the alliance suggesting the lateral channels, five feet deep and fifty feet wide, for both sides of the Indian River.

Wacha again pointed out the need for ecological studies, and asked that the Dean channel be used to gain access to deep water, saying that the use of the two causeways for boat races, fishing and recreation would make a channel any closer to the causeways be in dangerous areas.

"Then we would have access at no cost," Wacha said. He then pointed out that the property owners along the island should get together to plan their lateral waterway. He told Littman to get an opinion from Ken Woodburn, Department of Conservation marine scientist, on the project.

John McQuigg, representative of the governor's council on conservation, said that any action should be taken with the advice of Woodburn.

Wacha asked that it be a county policy that any application for a dredge or fill along the Island be made with an ecological survey, so that the property owners would be required to pay for the job and therefore have the county money.

Action on the application was tabled by the board until the ecological information is available. Littman refused to speculate when the date would be for a rehearing on the matter. "It takes so long," he said.

Tooker was asked to look into the handling of lateral waterways by Dade County, now faced with the same problem.

Date changed for commission meet

Martin County commissioners will meet Feb. 26, Wednesday, instead of the 25th, according to an announcement by chairman J. W. Hussey last week.

Commissioners will be attending the mid-winter conferences of the State Association of County Commissioners Feb. 23-25 in Jacksonville.

Interest is high

Street lighting election

Interest is high in the election next Tuesday to bring street lighting to the North Port St. Lucie and River Park areas, according to Joseph E. Keating, president of the Port St. Lucie-River Park Home Owners Association. Keating said that a large turnout is expected at the PSL marina.

Only freeholders in PSL will be eligible to vote. Hours for the polls are 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Transportation to and from the polls will be provided free to those who call 464-1944, according to Keating.

"There have been many questions asked about this election to provide street lights to the people, and make our streets safer," Keating said. A sheet of questions and answers on the subject is being circulated for the information of voters. The sheet is being circulated by directors of the home owners club.

For the information of our North Port St. Lucie readers, the question and answer list is being published here.

Q. What are some of the advantages of street lights?

A. Most importantly they will enable quick and easy reading of street signs by fire and police departments, doctors, ambulances and other emergency services.

Q. Will a light shine in the window of my home?

A. If it does and is objectionable, a shield will be installed on the light which will deflect the major portion of it.

Q. What will be the yearly cost to each freeholder?

A. Approximately 55¢ per year for each $1,000 assessed value of his property. A property assessed at $10,000 would pay approximately $5.50 per year; one assessed at $15,000 would pay about $7.75 per year.

Q. May the homestead exemption be deducted from the assessed value?

A. No.

Q. Will the cost increase or decrease in the future?

A. In all probability it will decrease, for as the total assessed value of the lighting district increases, the cost to each freeholder must decrease unless there is an increase in the power rate authorized by the Florida Public Utilities Commission or additional lights are installed. In either event any such increase would be so small that it would easily be absorbed by the annual increase in the assessed value of the entire district in which the total cost is apportioned.

Q. To what will I pay my share of the cost?

A. To the county.

Q. How will I be billed?

A. It will be added to your tax bill.

. How is the total cost determined?

A. The total annual cost will involve the amount billed by the power company for the pole rentals and electric power used together with a 4% charge of this cost made by the county for billing and collection purposes.

Q. Will there be a charge for installation, service and maintenance?

A. No.

Q. Will owners of vacant lots be billed?

A. Yes.

Q. Can the county increase the cost of lighting?

A. Not unless actual costs are increased as noted in above question.

Q. Where can additional information be obtained?

A. A meeting for this purpose will be held Monday, Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the marina. Representatives of the Florida Power & Light Co., the County Board of Commissioners and of the County Sheriff will be present to answer authoritatively, all questions which may be directed to them. All interested persons are urged to be present.

Q. When will the vote on the referendum be held?

A. On Tuesday, Feb. 18, 1969, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the marina.

Port St. Lucie River Park Home Owners Association

BOY SCOUT WEEK- Representatives of Boy Scout Troop [illegible] were on hand Monday at Jensen Beach Elementary [illegible] for a flag ceremony commemorating the beginning of Boy Scout Week. Lowering and raising the flags are Boy Scout Mike Hickey and Cub Scout Eugene Rathgeber. In the background students, other scouts, parents and teachers honor the flag.

Tigers lead conference

Martin County Tigers got off to a slow start Friday night when they met Clewiston on the home court. Once they got rolling, they topped the Clewiston Tigers 86-57 for their 17th win in a row.

The absence of key players Bob Matheny and Wally Rogers was obviously felt during the first quarter. The two, together with Al McIntyre and William Harris, were suspended temporarily from the squad for not attending practice sessions.

Making up for the missing players were O. Johnson with 33 points, and Johnson, scoring a total of 22 points, Kahle followed with 13.

The local team leads the Suncoast Conference Western Division 7-0. Next games will be Tuesday, Feb. 11 at Belle Glade (too late for press time); Friday, Feb. 14, at Pahokee; and John L. Leonard at home on Feb. 15.

Martin County's JV's defeated Clewiston's JV's 86-46 for their 15th victory in a row.

Civitans oppose lewd movies

The Civitan Club of Stuart has expressed its concern about the quality of movies shown in local theaters.

In a news release to The Jensen Beach Mirror, the club wrote: "As civic minded citizens we feel that the theaters of this area should be discouraged from showing such (lewd, suggestive, violent) movies. We also urge all other concerned citizens to accept their moral obligations to our young people and fight against filth in our theaters."

Ocean Breeze group sees Busch Gardens

Virginia Dale invited your news reporters, Tom and Nellie Cook, to be their guests for the Busch Gardens Sarasota tour for Feb. 5 and 6. This was too good an offer to turn down so we accepted.

The morning of Feb. 5, dawned clear but chilly with a low temperature of 46 degrees. The Ocean Breezers who boarded the bus for the Busch Gardens were seaters and warm clothing which proved to be unnecessary, for the bus was warm and the rising sun soon dispelled the chill from the air. Nearly all passengers were from Ocean Breeze.

After lunch at the Swiss Chalet, everyone took the mono-rail ride. It is a comfortable way to see the many wild animals roaming free.

The gardens were beautiful. The early azaleas were in bloom and the later varieties were budded and hinted of a lavish display in a week or two. The most spectacular sight was the ever increasing flock of beautifully colored flamingoes.

After an enjoyable afternoon in the gardens our bus driver took us through the late afternoon traffic to the Kapok Tree Inn at Clearwater. The grounds are gorgeous whether viewed by daylight, or later, by artificial light. A miniature Niagara of water greets the visitor on entering the garden. Well kept hedges, tropical shrubs and Italian statuary surround the ornamental pool.

The main dining room features very high, steel reinforced, arched roof, with large pots containing several varieties of tropical plants, and vines climbing the main steel roof supports. It is just a guess but I suppose the combined dining areas could seat a thousand guests at one time.

After the excellent meal a stroll through the garden at night time was appreciated, after which our bus carried us to Sarasota's Holiday Inn for the night.

After breakfast our bus driver delivered us to the three Ringling museums. The Circus Museum left us with a sad feeling; like viewing the remains of a departed friend, so to speak.

The Ringling home was beautiful. Polished marble was used lavishly everywhere. Even the extensive patio and the boat dock were paved with it. The home is very large and ornate, and beautifully and artistically designed both outside and in. The decorations and ornamentations were of a garish nature, but pleasingly so. For instance I noticed one of the bed posts was of hardwood and the figure of a maiden was hand carved on it. Yes, I enjoyed the Ringling home.

We returned to the Holiday Inn for a sumptuous lunch, then our driver took us home via route 70 and unloaded us at the park entrance at 5:40 p.m., somewhat weary, but with that happy feeling that our trip was a good one.

Mrs. Wheeler returns after four years

Mrs. Harry Wheeler is spending the winter at her trailer home on 8th Ave. for the first time in four years. When she Wheelers left here four years ago, her husband Harry was quite ill, so they decided they would be better in their home in Pittsburgh, Penna. Harry was confined to a wheelchair for three years before he passed on. During all his long illness, Mary took excellent care of him, so now we hope she can get some rest before she regains Harry's best sight. We hope, too, she does not encounter the trouble getting back to Pittsburgh that she had getting here, as she tells us left home at 9 A. M. and expected to arrive in West Palm airport at 1:40 that afternoon. However, fog prevented them landing in Nashville, so after circling that city for an hour, they finally went on to Atlanta but her plane had left. Quick thinking on her part and the co-operation of the staff at the airport arranged for her to transfer from Eastern to Delta and fly to Tampa where she all boarded Eastern and finally arrived in W. Palm at 7:40 p.m. where her good neighbors the Beals and Mrs. Noble were waiting for her.

Oakes enjoy healthy and happy life

In this day and age when talk so often turns to health insurance, and hospitalization, also medicare, it is good to hear from people who have such a good health record as the Oakes. Harry Oakes who was 81 last Aug. 31, just recently returned from Stuart Hospital where he had an appendectomy. Harry had only been a patient in a hospital once before in his life, and his wife said that was not necessary, he had only been eating too well. Ellen, his wife, now 77, has only been hospitalized once, in 1918, when she had her appendix removed.

These two folks live a busy life here, shuffling and square dancing during the winter while they vacation here, up the summer schedule until this past summer

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson who are in Sheedy's rental on West Pepper are from Crystal Falls, Mich., and are spending their first winter in Ocean Breeze.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Scott of South Bend, Ind., are renting Cyril Steven's trailer on West Pepper. This is Scott's first winter in O.B., although they have spent quite a number of winter vacations in other areas. Dewey retired from the post office in South Bend after 38 years service. They both like the friendly people they have met here and the interesting recreations. The Scotts have travelled most of the time since his retirement, and in addition, Dewey is an ardent hunter. They till us the Stevens are touring this winter, so they were able to rent the trailer during their absence.

went like this. The Oakes attended the gardens for three millionaires in North Adams, Mass. Ellen did the baking of bread, pies, donuts, etc., for the three families, also their special baking for parties of which they had as many as four in a week, and to do this amazing to baking, Ellen had one gas and one electric oven, which on a busy day were both in use at one time.

Each year Ellen put up bulbs in addition to their other gardening she did for these folks, and one season put in $100.00 worth of bulbs. A couple of years ago, Ellen showed slides of Tulip Time in Mass., so we know this is no exaggeration.

Now, however, they claim to be completely retired, but a happier, healthier looking couple for their age one could not find.

The News And Events Of

PORT ST. LUCIE and St. Lucie Country Club

Margie Zinsmeister, Reporter — Phone 464-4139 after 5 p. m.

STARDUST V--Commodore pro-tem James Stenersen takes his 28-foot Chris Craft Constellation for a spin at St. Lucie Country Club Marina, for the benefit of Alice Hickey, photographer for The Jensen Beach Mirror. Stenerson was elected at a recent meeting following a boat-a-cade of seven yachts up the North Fork of the St. Lucie River. The group is forming a Yacht Club in the area and plans another meeting this week.

PSL NEWEST ARRIVAL- Jonathan Eric Burford is making his arrival known to all. He arrived January 30 and weighed 7 lbs. 11-1/2 oz. at birth. Jonathan is shown above with his brother Andy, who is almost three years old, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Burford. The Burfords live at 107 Lucero Drive.

Jim Stenersen is named Commodore

Boatsman James Stenersen was elected Commodore pro-tem of the future Yacht Club of St. Lucie, following a recent boat-a-cade.

Seven yachts, varying in size from 18 to 31 feet, left St. Lucie Country Club on Feb. 3 at 11 a.m. on a boat-a-cade to North Port St. Lucie, up the North Fork, traveling at 1500 rpms to make an hour's sail. On arrival, they were greeted by David Gessner and Arne Kunz, who provided courtesies of the Port with coffee, picnic tables, horseshoes and shuffleboard.

The seven yachts will be the nucleus of many more in the St. Lucie Country Club area who will form a Yacht Club, according to Stenersen. The group plans to form another boat-a-cade to Indiantown in about three weeks, he said, including cabin cruisers, fishing boats and pleasure boats.

Those attending the initial boat-a-cade were: Mr. and Mrs. James Stenersen on their yacht "Stardust V", with guests Mr. and Mrs. Fred Preston and Mr. and Mrs. George Streicher; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Beardsley (he is councilman of the City of Port St. Lucie), on their "Patient Lucy" with guests Mrs. Kenneth Souser, Mrs. William C. Wright of Philadelphia, and his cousin, Mrs. Arthur H. Blakemore of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Al Bufeld on "Tonal" with guests Admiral and Mrs. John Fradd, and Dr. and Mrs. Harold E. Nottley.

They were followed by Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Rogerson on their new "Our Yo" with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller and Mrs. Donald Price; Mr. and Mrs. Chet Purcell on "Duchess of Kent" with guests the Paul Schreibers and Scotts; Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Adcock on "Malibni II" with guests Dr. and Mrs. Leo Chylack. The largest yacht in the group, 31-foot "Button" of Mr. and Mrs. Edgel Peterson, was last, with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Proctor aboard.

The group plans another meeting this week.

Son born to Charles Burfords

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Dave) Burford of 107 Lucero Dr., on the birth of another son. He arrived on January 30, and weighed 7 lbs., 11 and 1 2 ozs. His name will be Jonathan Eric.

Burford works for the AT&T in Fort Pierce on the Long Lines Dept.

Fishing clinics

The last in the recent series of fishing clinics was held Feb. 4 by the Anglers Club.

Johnny Crawford of the Snook Nook, Jensen Beach, was introduced by Carl Herzog. They discussed various types of rods and reels for salt and fresh water fishing. The care, cleaning and oiling of the equipment was explained, and the matching of line to the proper reel was stressed for both heavy and light-weight fish. A question and answer period followed.

After the meeting, refreshments were served. The next meeting will be Tuesday, Feb. 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the PSL Marina.

Gary Bennett was unable to attend and take part in the fishing clinic due to illness.

Student picnic wet-wild

by Dennis Doyle

Last Sunda , students from St. Joe's attended a picnic outing at the Jonathan Dickenson State Park. It started at 1:00 p.m. and lasted till 4:30. The school supplied food and transportation to the park. Among the activities was boating which many of the students participated in. Many paddled through the water as others turned their canoes over and swam to shore.

Credit should be given to Donald Lucas and Sandy DeFilippe who organized this event.

UP AND AWAY-- Bob Daley rides high in the air, thanks to Gary Martin and Grace Holden, who hold down their end of the see-saw. The fun was part of the picnic outing held by students of St. Joseph College last Sunday.

DUNKED-- Many St. Joseph College students enjoyed boating and other activities at Jonathan Dickinson State Park on Sunday. Above, George Annas swims to shore after his canoe tipped over, dunking him into the water. A friend stands by to assist.

Bart Todd goes shark fishing

by Kevin Thomas

Bart Todd, a student at St. Joseph's College recently took up an interesting and fascinating hobby. He has decided to take up shark fishing. On January 28 he was fishing south of Stuart beach where he landed his first shark.

He used the head of a large blueflish for his bait while one of his friends, John Carroll, chumed the water. The vicious sharks must have smelled the blood instantly, for it wasn't long before they arrived to eye the delightful proposition. During the morning hours before lunch he had hooked a large one, but right before he landed it, the shark broke the line. After lunch he returned with a much stronger line. It wasn't long before the fish arrived again for his dinner. The shark swam around for about 15 minutes then went for his friends, returning with eight other sharks. After 10 minutes, one of the fish decided to try his luck at the large, bloody fish head. After a 45 minute game of tug and war with the monstrous fish, Bart had him close enough for Lanny Karwati to put slugs into the fish with a 22 rifle. After 42 slugs, of which 30 odd slugs had hit the animal, the shark was still going strong. Shortly after this the shark broke away, but was so weak that he drifted right onto the beach. This made quite a number of people especially Bart, for now he had proof that this was no fish tale.

Public Hearing date is set

April 3 has been set for a public hearing on the proposed aquatic preserve in Martin County according to a letter received by a local conservationist from Randolph Hodges, director of the Florida Board of Conservation. Meeting place will be announced later.

Murphy estate

'Cashel' will go on sale Friday

An art collection, home and its furnishings, estimated to be valued at almost $1,000,000 will be sold at a three-day public auction beginning at noon on Friday, February 21 at "Cashel", Fort Sewall.

"Cashel" is the estate of the late Owen K. Murphy, industrialist, who died suddenly last August.

Murphy owned and operated the Manatee Yacht Club and Marina, restaurant and motel in Port Salerno. His collection includes, among other show pieces, intricately designed jade, ivory, china, crystal, wood and silver. Noteworthy are the exquisite figurines studded with semi-precious and precious gems. Diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires are some of the stones used.

The late collector's valuable series of 18th century German Meisen and Dresden, English Chelsea, Royal Worcester and Italian Capo di Monte porcelain and china figures are regarded as museum pieces.

Murphy cherished most of his ivory collection, said to be one of the finest in the world. The intricate sculpturing, some dating back many centuries, illustrates the marvels of Old World craftsmanship and skill.

In others, the delicate sculpturing represents a lifetime work by a single artist. Such masterful craftsmanship can be seen in the collection's famous Taj Mahal Temple "painting." Its value has been judged on its extraordinary canvas, which is made from a sheet of pure, finely graded ivory.

Signed pieces in the collection include an L.C. Tiffany Bowl and Tiffany Vase with Rare Heart Design, signed Cameo vases and an elaborate silver coffee and tea set.

No less than 100 oil paintings by famous artists will come under the auctioneer's hammer. Among them are a number of exclusive oil carvases by native Floridian, Jim Hutchinson, who has captured the life, times and mores of the vanishing Seminole Indians.

In addition to the art collection, "Cashel," itself, the 14-room Georgian Colonial mansion and all of its furnishings (many of them antiques) will be sold at the auction.

Dunn Temple Auctioneers, Inc., of Owensboro, Ky., will handle the auction. "Cashel" will be open at 10 a.m. during each of the three days of the sale, for public inspection of the furnishings.

Although the Festival is only in its third year, it has proved popular with all artists, amateur and professional. Each exhibitor will be assigned a space of wire fence eight-feet wide, assigned in the order in which applications are received. A small entry fee is charged.

The Festival is free to the public. Information and application forms, which must be returned by Feb. 24, are available at the Chamber office, Commercial St., at the Art Mart, Rio, and Lighthouse Gallery, Tequesta.

The building will be available for rental.

Zoning is out

Park cabin lease upheld by state

by Dick Campbell

The leasing of forty acres of Jonathan Dickenson Park land by State Vending Corporation was upheld this week in an opinion by the office of the attorney general, according to Donald St. Onge, one of the principals in the vending firm. The lease is for twenty-five years.

In a memorandum issued by Hailey B. Lewis, assistant attorney general, and sent to Ellison Hardee, special assistant to Florida Board of Parks chairman Bill Miller, the office cited several cases in answer to the question as to whether "...the authority and jurisdiction of the Florida Board of Parks and Historical Memorials over state parks is subject to local zoning laws?"

The most pertinent of the opinions cited was in the case of Aviation Services versus Board of Adjustment of Hanover, New Jersey. The opinion reads, "Where immunity from local zoning regulation is claimed by any agency or authority which occupies a superior position in the government hierarchy, there is the presumption that such immunity was intended in absence of express statutory language to the contrary."

The issue came to a head last week when the Martin County Commission on the advice of county attorney Dean Tooker, discovered that it had jurisdiction over the park zoning. Commissioners expressed shock that a "bunch of trailers" were being put in the park on a rental basis.

Investigation by The Mirror showed that the "trailers" were prefabricated cabins, and were a part of a leasing service already extended to the park by State Vending Corporation. Tooker's opinion on the county zoning jurisdiction was from the office of the attorney general, and was based on a case in which horses would be prevented from being rented in a state park in Fort Lauderdale. However, the opinion held out that the case in Jonathan Dickenson Park would be open to interpretation by the courts.

The entire matter was the result of the assumption of county officials that there was no local control over the park, according to county commissioners. One county employee in the building department issued the opinion to St. Onge that the county had no such jurisdiction, and St. Onge proceeded in the acquisition of the cabins. One is already constructed on the forty acre site.

When The Mirror asked St. Onge to show a reporter around, he was quick to agree, and explained all facets of his operation in the park. State Vending has a small grocery store, drink concessions, ice machines, canoes, marina facilities and other lease-type operations in the park. The cabins were the latest addition to the lease, and the renegotiated lease covers the next twenty-five years.

St. Onge said that the plans for the cabins were approved by the architects of the State Board of Parks, and by the State Hotel and Restaurant Commission. They are prefabricated, brought to the site in two sections and assembled there. Five such units are to be constructed on the tract.

One cabin, already assembled on the site, showed an early American wood finish outside, with a modern cedar interior, with shower bath, toilet facilities, a complete kitchen, bedroom and living area. The cabin will sleep six, with four bunk beds in the bedroom, and two living room couches.

In the kitchen is an electric stove, refrigerator and oven, a double sink and cabinets. There is reverse cycle air conditioning in the cabin, and the septic tank and pump is approved by the state health department. The cabin will be fully equipped and furnished with all cooking and dining facilities. St. Onge said it would rent for $96 a week, plus tax. He said it compared "more than favorably" with cabins in other state parks.

The building sits on 23 heavy concrete pyramids, and the four corners of the building are tied from roof to six foot under ground with steel straps and auger-type screws, similar to hurricane tie-downs for mobile

FP&L asks permit for nuclear plant

Florida Power & Light Company, Florida's largest utility, has applied to the Atomic Energy Commission to build a $150 million nuclear power plant on Hutchinson Island between Stuart and Fort Pierce.

The application was received by the Atomic Energy Commission on Jan. 29, for the plant to be located on 1,132 acres in St. Lucie County, bordered by the Atlantic Ocean and the Indian River.

Based on the time it is taking to process current applications, it would be seven months to a year before a permit could be granted, Atomic Energy Commission officials stated.

The officials also stated that a public hearing in this area would probably be held in that time period.

Thirty days notice on the public hearing would be made.

The AEC has begun a survey by its staff. A separate study of the Florida Power & Light application will be made by the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards.

FP&L officials estimate they could complete the plant as early as Jan.1, 1973, or at the latest, Jan. 1, 1974.

The proposed plant, if constructed, will be the second such plant in Florida. The first such plant is being constructed by Florida Power & Light in Turkey Point, south of Miami.

The plant, which could produce 890,000 (kilowatts) kilowatts, will use a pressurized water reactor to produce steam, which in turn will power generators to produce electricity.

Board discusses dune line ruling

The dune line on Hutchinson Island was one of the items discussed at Thursday's meeting of the Martin County Zoning and Planning Board.

The dune line ruling was discussed in connection with construction on the island. County zoning director Tom Slider said the top ten feet back from the beach had to be left in its natural state, and if building is to come close to it, a concrete wall must be built within 25 feet.

Hutchinson Island zoning and a zoning category for Jonathan Dickinson State Park were also discussed by the board. Those present included Paul Stalker, Russell Yates and Frank Forsberg, holdover appointees; Andrew Pittman and Albert Stewart, new members.

BOWLER OF THE WEEK: One of the recent Bowlers of the Week was Brock Hubick, above, with a 564 series, 108 pins over his average. He bowls with the Freeport Mixed League. Winner in the women's division that week was Mrs. Beth Yates, 110 pins over her average, bowling a 473 series. She bowls with the Indian River Mixed League. The contest is sponsored by The Jensen Beach Mirror and Jensen Lanes.

DONATE LAND- Former Martin County Mosquito Control Director Mark Witham and his wife, seated above, have donated 8.5 acres of central Martin County ranch property for a rehabilitation ranch for boys. The non-denominational Christian ranch, planned for 16 boys from six to 16 years of age, will be located on Cove Road between U.S. 1 and SR-76. It will be similar to Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch and will be handled by the Withams. Serving on the board will be James Littman, attorney, center standing; Jack James, Rev. Paul Finch, Joe Mosley, George Quigley, Douglas Witham and Darrell Grace.

That's about what it costs for the electricity to dry an average load of wash in a modern flameless electric dryer. You can dry your clothes day or night rain or shine. Never a worry because there is no flame in an electric dryer.

The average family served by FPL enjoys more modern conveniences than ever before but the average price paid per kilowatt hour is one third less than it was in 1957. There have been 11 rate reductions since 1957. That's why flameless electric is the biggest bargain in your budget!

Koitzsches and Pohles explore the Caribbean

"Wow, you get back, tell us a bit about your voyage." That was your request, Tom Cook, before we embarked. So-o-o here goes "that little bit." However, unlike Christopher Columbus who discovered the Indies, explorers Koitzsch and Pohle discovered the 'Hanseatic.' And it was indeed a wonderful ten-day discovery thru 3,500 miles of placid South Seas, according to Commodoresses Emily and Gretchen and their cabin boys Marty and Werner.

But first a word about the Caribbean, its islands and ports- San Juan, St. Thomas, La Guira, Venezuela and Kingston, Jamaica. The people, well to put it mildly, are different, living in all levels, mostly in the low range and some in actually dire poverty.

However, regardless of their station they are largely a proud, happy and independent lot. For example, they don't like to have their pictures taken while wearing tattered work-clothing and in any case only with permission.

As for the islands, they are delightfully scenic, the sun always warm, the water and beaches inviting, the mountainous hinterland fascinating. Two-lanes wide and narrow, most inland roads are about as straight as crooked spaghetti; and with their edgy cliff-hanging shoulder- and gasping hook curves at shoot-the-shoot grades, are a thrilling test of courage. Yet despite all this, the mountain passes, curves, beautiful composition of sky, clouds, luxuriant vegetation in and out of the sunlight, historic shrines and eerie look-outs, pirate hide-aways, make it all worth while.

Beyond shor'-stay shopping time in the "tax-charging" Port of St. Thomas, there really isn't much to do ashore. And as for watching the banana boats being loaded you'll wait in vain for some one to sing "Day-O".

Yes, indeed, from the moment Fritz Beckert's Brass Band blew its send-off farewells as we slowly slipped to sea through the port of Everglades, things started to pop with parental, clock-like regularity. So here goes, in casual form: a 10-deck, 630-ft., 25,000-ton punch bowl called Sealand, skimming the sea at 21 knots. We were cabined in the middle top-to-bottom and amidships, fourth wise for minimum motion.

Three pools; one 3-flight theatre; one chapel; three dance floors; lounge, bar, and orchestras; one entertainment saloon; five 6-flight elevators; smoking room; library; card room; winter garden; shopping center; golf net driving station; clay pigeon trap shooting; gymnasium; steam baths; sunning decks; open and closed promenades; tennis; ping pong; shuffle boards, hospital; congenial and courteous officers; stewards and crew; (415); Bingo; 6 movie showings; 2 fun-packed variety shows; captain's champagne party, special liner masquerade carnival hes led by the King & Queen of the day and their retinue; officer's farewell cocktail review; three regular sessions in the dining room with menus that would quiver the world's best gourmet plus four additional intake sessions- eleven o'clock bastillon, four o'clock tea, ten o'clock buffet and 12 o'clock tavern snacks for the night owls.

Then there is so much talk about the young people of today, and it is all to-well-born we hear much of what's good about them, so what there were so many nice things said about a group of five young, well-mannered college students who visited in Ocean Breeze recently, it seemed the story all of them would be worth repeating and now it seems worth repeating.

These young men, one of whom is a grandson of Jen and Clarence Garn of 5th St., arrived here unexpectedly to spend a few days vacation. Their intention was to sleep out, and so look after themselves, that was until John, (Garn's grandson) told his grandmother their plans. Jen liked the friends John had with him very much and so wanted to make their time here happy, and besides she likes to cook, so Jen made the meals, and the boys did all the cleaning up, and putting away. All the boys were thrilled with Florida, and very impressed with the love and friendliness they found in the Garn home, and the neighborhood folks in general, so no doubt they too will be happy to enjoy this letter received from John to his grandparents after his return to college.

"Dear Grandma & Grandpa!"

Arrived home safe and incident free at 6 a.m. We stopped several times on the Florida Pike to rest. Perfect weather and driving conditions, only about 15 minutes of rain around Orlando.

It is hard to put into words our appreciation of what you did for us. When we stopped on the pike yesterday, I gazed into the sky and thanked God for both of you. If He heard, you should have the best of everything- well deserved. Needless to say we were a bunch of depressed boys when we left, only because we doubted we could ever show our appreciation, or even a partial repayment of kindness shown to us. It does me proud to hear the wonderful words the boys tell of you to the rest here, and you know the most recurring words? That you aren't old nough to be grandparents! How's that!

About time to register now. Again from our sunburned hearts-- a loving thanks. Take care and the best to you both. Love, John"

AARP changes name

As the American Association of Retired People is of a national nature, members of this local organization decided to expand and take in the surrounding territory. An AARP meeting was held in the Jensen Beach Community Center, Tuesday, Feb. 11, at 2 p.m. President Bill Krowar introduced Milton Parke and asked him to take over the meeting.

Parke did this with the capable assistance of Ruby Wren at the piano who led the audience in singing the old favorites for ten minutes which put everyone in a good mood before the opening of the meeting.

Rev. Bill Anderman from Ocean Breeze opened the meeting with a prayer, after which Dr. Thomas Moore took the floor. His first action was to explain why the meeting was being held in the Community Center, and asked for a motion to change the name from the "Ocean Breeze Chapter 36 of the AARP" to the "Martin County Chapter 36 of the AARP."

Bill Weis made the motion which was seconded and as there was no dissention Dr. Moore declared it carried. The doctor then mentioned that this organization was organized eight years ago and this was the first meeting of the new order. He spoke of the advantages of joining the AARP. "We can do nothing alone," he said. "At last we have a voice in wasnington."

He then touched on the problems of the older generation and lauded out a few suggestions on how to keep healthy.

Chairman Parke then called a few words, elaborating on what Dr. Moore had spoken about.

In closing the meeting, Parke said Mrs. Mary Adrean, treasurer, at the back of the room with her assistants would take membership dues. Quite a number of new members were enrolled.

VALENTINE SQUARE DANCERS- Tuesday is square dance night in the Ocean Breeze club house, so it was decided to make this last Tuesday, Feb. 11, a Valentine dance. The dance was well attended as is evidenced by this picture of the attending ladies only. All had a jolly time. Refreshments were served.

Indiana and Florida joined in song

On Feb. 6 & 7, the Bartletts, Ken and Vernabelle, took their boat, and accompanied by the Mikesells, Mike and Henriette, and Mrs. Mary Richardson and her daughter Helen Mansfield, drove their car to Lake Okeechobee for a two day fishing trip. They were very successful, so when they returned Feb. 8, they had a fish fry to use the 50 nice perch they had caught. Attending were friends the Leo Martins from Cadillac, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Claude Mansfield, Mary Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. John Nagle of Cadillac, Mich., Ted Chilton, Mile and Henriette Mikesell, and of course, the Bartletts at whose home the fry was held.

After a delicious meal, Henrietta played the accordion while the gang sang, and just for fun Kenny thought he would call his son Harry in Brookston, Ind., and let him in on the party, so it was a great surprise to both father and son, when they both found out they were both hosting a party for friends, and what do you think, while the group in O.B. was singing the Tennessee Waltz, the Indiana group had the same song playing on the stereo.

Bucks return

Ann and Ransom Buck of New Bloomington, Ohio came in Monday, Feb. 10, and expect to stay till April 1. This is their first winter here since they were here for their son Larry's wedding to Carol Symes of Ocean Breeze low years ago. Inquiring why they had not been in their cottage for so long, we learned, first Ann's mother was not well, then after her death, she and Ransom decided to renovate their farm home. Ann says they have been fortunate weather-wise in Ohio this year, when they left, day temperatures were in the 60's and the bulb flowers such as Crocus and Daffodils were flowering. This is unusual for this season. There had been some snow earlier in the winter, but the snow plows had only been out one time. While here the Bucks intend to make some changes to their place, and enjoy the sun and shuffleboard, etc.

There are a lot of good ones, too homes. The base of the building will be covered with shrubbery, affording air space between the building and the ground.

The cabin is 1200 feet from the Loxahatchee River by trail or road.

St. Onge took issue with those who called the cabins "trailers." He said, "There are five mobile homes in the park now, and they have been in here for a long time. They house personnel who work for State Vending and who work for the park board. No one has tried to hide the fact that some people live in mobile homes here.

But to call these cabins trailers is wrong. They are well constructed and are sound. They have been approved by the people who know what we need in the park. It is certainly a shame that this came up.

I hope that anyone who is interested comes down and looks at what we have in this park." St. Onge added.

"Jonathan Dickenson State Park is just short of being the most popular park in the state, and that is because we give the people something to do.

At a County Commission workshop Tuesday morning, County Attorney Dean Tookey said that the conflicting attorney general's opinion on county jurisdiction over zoning was being researched.

TIE-DOWN- Capt. Nils Friberg of State Vending Corporation, shows the steel strap tie-down from the roof joists of the cabin into an augur type screw that goes six feet into the ground. There are four such screws tying down the building.

Fishing - Netting discussed at meet

by Howard Hald

A compromise meeting between the Organized Fishermen of Florida (OFF) and conservation groups was held at Port Salerno Fire House Monday night. The meeting was held in a effort to reach a compromise over new legislation the OFF is seeking to update present fishing laws.

The laws controlling the commercial fishermen, most of them over ten years old, have been partially accepted by the clubs with the exception of three points.

1. To allow fishing within 100 yards of the bridges, rather than the present 1/4 mile limit; 2, to allow nets to be lengthened to 500 yards with not more than two to be used in any combination; 3, to permit the netters to fish during daylight hours, which are not closed during the tourist season.

The netters, in presenting the three points, said they were quite willing to give up daylight fishing as part of the compromise, and also to reduce the length of nets as requested from 500 to 350 yards, not to exceed more than two of these in combination. The netters suggested that these two points might serve as a compromise point for all concerned.

Comparing the length of nets, which is one of the main points of contention, Bobby Thompson, OFF chairman of the netters' legislative body, pointed out that at present the netters are able to use as many 350 yard lengths of net they may carry on their boats, and these nets may be strung out with only about one foot separating them, not being tied together, for lengths of 1,000, 1,500 or even up to 3,000 yards without violating the law. He said in context, "What we basically are doing is giving more than taking in this instance, as our new law proposed, and we have since then changed to 350 yard lengths again, to allow us to use a coat only two 350 yard lengths of net, and that these two may be tied together, and this is the only combination of nets that will be allowed."

Lt. Purdom, Salt Water Conservation Department, of the West Palm Beach district, was asked to explain the method of holding or dragging nets. Purdom said the nets are not hauled in any manner by these men to constitute a violation of the law. They use a method called "winding", which is taking one end of the net and making a circle by hand into a smaller pocket into which the fish are trapped.

Jerome Wood, president of the Anglers Club, questioned the interpretation of Purdom several times about the difference between the hauling and dragging rule. He cited an attorney general's 1957 opinion, as compared to Purdom's explanation. Wood also asked members of the Anglers Club to present propositions for a compromise. One such suggestion was to make a law to keep commercial men from fishing with nets within 100 yards of any sports fisherman.

Purdom, in answer to comments on the condition of the river and lack of fish, said, "The only thing that is keeping the inlet open is the commercial trade such as these fishermen and charter boats that work the Gulf Stream and offshore area. Without this type of trade, you would not have a chance of keeping that inlet open. Also, blaming your fishing conditions on the proper thing should be the St. Lucie Canal which has been a detriment for many years and no relief in sight; plus, and I hate to say this, another item of which your community is very proud, that being the Jensen Beach Causeway which has destroyed the lateral flow of water in that area. These things, gentlemen, are your greatest detriment to fishing in this area."

Following the meeting, most persons who attended seemed to favor aiding the netters in changing the laws.

Even Jerome Wood said, "I am vascillating on it right now. I feel very much in favor of these men, but I don't know which way I want to go with it. But I feel whatever is done should be fair for all concerned."

Undefeated Tigers take top rating

Martin County Tigers continue in top spot in the Suncoast Conference, Western Division, with 21 wins under their belt. The undefeated basketball team met Jupiter Tuesday evening, too late to report the score in press time.

The Tigers coasted to a 91-75 win over Leonard in the home court last Saturday, with Robert Matheny scoring 6 points.

Martin County wrapped up the Western Division title when it defeated Pahokee 68-47 last Friday night at Pahokee. Matheny again was high with 22 points. Wally Rogers turned in 17 marks.

The local Tigers lead in the weekly Post-Times area high school basketball rating with a 21-0 record. In second place is Roosevelt, 18-3; Kennedy, 16-6; Seacrest, 15-5; 5th is Dan McCarty, 11-8; Palm Beach, 13-10; Vero Beach, 14-7; South Shore, 12-10; Gifford, 11-6, and in 10th place Lake Shore, 8-14.

The winners are coached by Don Walsh who has been head coach at Martin County High School for three years. He led the Tigers to their first Western Division win last year.

The junior varsity, under the direction of Terry Moore, also has an outstanding record. It is 16-0 as of this past weekend.

He or she then chooses the teacher which contributed most to the student's success. Bank of Stuart is co-sponsor of the local program.

This sale, which was held a year ago to finance the team, will be from 8 a.m. to noon. Last year was the first year in which the newly organized VFW post sponsored a team. The Peanuts ended the season in second place in the league.

Members of the committee include Stan Fulford, Fred Fulford, Gordon Sheppard, Fred Kelly, Russ Wiedow, Virgil Lowe, Jimmy Staats, Sam Banks, Ray Nodine and Branford.

Richard E. Campbell, editor of The Mirror, was guest speaker at the meeting held last Thursday night at the Community Center. Compromise possible Friday

Anglers gird for fight with netter legislation

[EDITOR'S NOTE-- This article was written for The Jensen Beach Mirror by Howard Haid, editor of The Indiantown Press, who attended the latest Anglers' Club meeting. The club is fighting proposed changes in legislation by local commercial fishermen.]

Members of the Martin County Anglers Club and the Izaak Walton League met last Friday evening at Elliott Museum to discuss suggested changes to be asked by the groups in an effort to compromise with the commercial men on county netting regulations.

Jerome Wood, president of the Anglers Club, conducted the meeting and gave a report of the previous meeting between the committees in Port Salerno, stating that little had been decided at that meeting and the he had to be careful of what was said because the press was there.

Wood outlined the committees proposals to be submitted to the commercial men for consideration as follows:

In reference to Special Acts of 1949, Martin County Chapter 26007 (1), Section 2 (as written) to ban netting within 1/4 mile of bridges. Netters propose that they be allowed to set within 100 yards of new bridges, like one to be built soon to Long Island. Such differences in distances would be reviewed. We are very eager to help simplify our complicated conservation laws.

Section 6. It shall be unlawful to fish or cause to be fished or to place in the inside waters of Martin County, Fla., any nets which are tied or fastened together so that the combination of such nets exceeds 350 yards in length. Any additional such combinations of 350 yards or more must be at least 50 feet from any other combination.

Section 7. It shall be unlawful to haul or to drag by any method any net in the inside waters of Martin County, Fla., except a common cast net or except common minnow seines not over 30 feet long used only for the catch of bait. We ask that this law be enforced strictly under the interpretation of the Attorney General Aug. 31, 1967, that hauling and dragging means the "horizontal movement of a seine set in such a way to entrap fish by a pressure against them."

Section 11. It shall be unlawful to fish or cause to be fished or to place in the inside waters of Martin County, Fla., any nets or except common minnow seines not over 30 feet long used only for the catching of bait from Dec. 1st of each year to April 1 of the following year.

Section 23. It shall be unlawful to place or cause to be placed in the inside waters of Martin County, Fla., any strapons more than 100 yards from any shoreline, including islands, or closer than 50 feet to any official or clearly-marked boat channel or closer than 100 feet to any dock, slip or boat mooring place.

Section 24. It shall be unlawful to place or cause to be placed in inside waters of Martin County, Fla., any net of any kind within 100 yards of a fishing angler or to encompass such an angler with a net in a way to deprive him of fish he may have located. Likewise, no angler shall fish within 100 yards of a plainly marked net in such inland waters.

Several members of the club, following the reading of the above suggestions, questioned the intent of the club as to whether it was seeking compromise or was striving to put the netters out of business. One member cited a bay area in New Jersey that once netting was banned, fishing became nonexistant and care should be taken, he said, lest the same thing happen here.

One of the main items to draw objections among the club members was the section dealing with crab pots. Those with waterfront property among the members said they wished to be able to set crab pots around their own docks and such a law would prohibit this. It was then that the suggestion was made that only the commercial crabbers be affected by this law and that private citizens with waterfront property would be permitted to continue this practice.

Discussion at length was the section dealing with a 100 yard limit keeping netters and anglers from interfering with each others fishing rights. Several of the members proposed that this section should apply only to the netters and that sport anglers should have the privilege of fishing anywhere they wished. One man said, "They (meaning the netters) are just looking for trouble. I'll give them all the trouble they want, 'cause I'll go back and get my rifle...they don't scare me."

Other comments ranged from "the sports anglers don't have to worry about the normal boat channels as they are only for the big boats and don't apply to the little guys" to the thought-provoking question as to "what determines the difference between a commercial man and a sports angler", which drew varied opinions.

One of the final remarks made by a member at the meeting was, "Why don't the commercial men stop crying to make heroes of themselves by jousting fish to various organizations...nobody needs them!"

The meeting ended with the netting committee given approval to meet this Friday evening with the netters in an effort to reach a compromise, and authorized to change the suggestions made at this meeting if reasonable agreements could be reached.

Myers resigns

Philbrick elected Republican head

Ross Philbrick, precinct chairman of the Republican Party, has been named chairman of the Republican Executive Committee, Philbrick replaces Dr. William G. Myers, who resigned at the Feb. 22 meeting of the committee.

Myers was one of the architects in the rebuilding of the Republican Party in Martin County and was elected county commissioner in the 1968 elections. His resignation was accepted "with regret" by the committee.

In a statement released to The Jensen Beach Mirror, Philbrick said,

"The confidence that the Martin County Republican Executive Committee has placed in me makes me feel very humble. I will do my best to deserve it.

"It will be the aim of the Executive Committee to seek out and help well qualified residents to qualify for the elective offices of Martin County so that the voters will have a choice between our candidate and that of the other party to fill each office. When the party members have chosen the party's candidate, the Executive Committee will work in harmony with the Republican candidates so that the voters may make their choice.

"We have a very cohesive group of people in the Executive Committee, the Republican Clubs and the voters who are registered Republicans. A group like this, whose numbers are swelling, will be a great help to the growth of our beautiful county. We will continue to stress integrity among elected office holders," Philbrick concluded.

ELECTED-- New chairman of the Martin County Republican Executive Committee is Ross Philbrick, replacing recently-resigned Dr. William G. Myers.

Solons speak to Taxpayers Friday

Concern over the statewide taxing relationship prompted directors of the Martin County Taxpayers Association to invite State Sen. Bert Johnson, of Cocoa Beach, and Rep. William G. James, Delray Beach, both in the county's Legislative Delegation, to speak Friday night.

At that time the association will hold its annual meeting, starting at 8 p.m. at the Stuart Woman's Club building.

Both representatives will speak on problems of the small counties under changing conditions of re-organization, a new constitution and an apparent new attitude at Tallahassee.

School Superintendent V. James Navitsky will be on hand to question the Legislators on school finances, and members of the county commission are expected to ask questions about the loss of gasoline tax monies by the smaller counties.

E. C. Wareheim, president of the association, will conduct the meeting. Naturalist R. Reed Overstreet's talk will introduce the speakers.

SCOUT OF THE YEAR- Joe Milner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan "Herr" Milner, was honored as Scout of the Year by the committee of Boy Scout Troop 401, Jensen Beach, at court of honor ceremonies last Thursday at the Community Church. Milner was cited for his attendance, advancement and his all-around ability in growing in the scouting movement. He won a plaque and a proud kiss from his mother, who is a Girl Scout leader. The award was presented by the troop committee chairman Harold Butterfield.

City of Stuart will study 'Sunshine ordinance'

The City of Stuart will study a proposed ordinance on open meetings and access to public information, following a presentation Monday night by Richard E. Campbell, president of the Florida Press Association and publisher of The Jensen Beach Mirror.

Campbell presented an ordinance on the subject, asking that the city study it, discuss it, and perhaps take action on it at the next city commission meeting. A member of the National Newspaper Association's Freedom of Information committee, Campbell asked that the City of Stuart reassure the people that Stuart will be a center for freedom of information.

Citing the support of all five previous commissioners in his preparing the bill, Campbell said, "All Florida is watching the city to see how public information is handled. You can do a great favor for the people by accepting these guidelines and making them law for future city commissions."

The ordinance, five pages long, defines the meetings and records that would be available and open to the public, defines the way to make notice of the meetings public, and permits executive sessions under certain conditions. It also provides for penalties and recourse for the public if the ordinance is violated.

Commissioners at the meeting agreed to study the proposal and to discuss it with their city attorney.

(Next weeks The Mirror will reprint the proposed ordinance.)

Holiday Outlines

by Beach Bum Betty

What does one do on a cool, windy Monday at Holiday Out? Well, never let it be said that there wasn't anything to do...A special Bingo was announced, Ed Keran was official caller, ably assisted by one of our teenage visitors, Stitch Wood, from Westside, Mass. We wandered over to the Recreation Hall just as Ruth Collins won on her card. The big winner of the afternoon was Lynn Soda. Lynn is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Classon. Lynn won on a full card game. She yelled "Double Bingo." She won the prize, but only one prize. How about this, all you mathematicians, figure the odds. What are the odds that a person could have Bingo on two cards, and they weren't identical.

Wilma and Bill Henrick-son are back from Iowa. They raved so much about Holiday Out that they couldn't leave without having Mabel's sister, Mrs. Clara Price, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Keener Price, Plattsmouth, Neb., return with them. They went over to Nassau on a boat trip, touring the islands and night clubs.

Jim Regan fashioned a lite out of plastic and wood, then dressed it up with "Holiday Out" bumper stickers. He and Bert Turner flew it the other day.

Saw Evelyn and Ernie Bott trying out the new round dance records they purchased. Couples catching up on their lessons were: Agie and Harold Landis, Mabel and Bill Henrickson, Florence and George Poor, Cell and Dave Deutchman.

Pete Peterson, photographer, and Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Tate were scurrying all over the place taking pictures of the resorters for the new color brochure for Holiday Out that should be arriving soon. Debbie Baker was spotted about the beach and pool area as a model for bathing shots; Lisbee Pierce was put through the paces on her bicycle. Hundreds of shots were taken.

Over in the teen room we found the teenagers having themselves a lot of fun one evening, enjoying ping-pong and records. Among the group were Pat Goodniss, 14, Westfield, Mass.; Maryann Earle, 14, Lowell, Mass.; Aubrey Johnson, 13, Nashville, Tenn., and her sister, Paula, 13. Also Stitch Wood, 14, Westside, Mass.; George Goodniss, Westfield, Mass.; David Woods, 11, W. Springfield, Mass. Parents were off on their own in West Palm Beach.

And they also caught a few dolphin.

Rhoads speaks to Lions

Charles G. Rhoads, gemologist, from Ft. Pierce presented the Jensen Beach Lion's Club with a talk on diamonds and the diamond industry.

A diamond, 36 times harder than any other matter on earth, has not been successfully reproduced by man other than in small granules the size of a grain of sand. These are used for industrial purposes. Because of the importance of diamonds, in industry it has become most imperative that we have some method of acquiring them other than mining since there is no [illegible] there are no diamonds in this country other than those few found in the midwest. These were probably carried in during the Ice Age, explained Rhoads.

Methodist guilds meet in Stuart

Members from 20 United Methodist Churches attended the annual meeting of Wesleyan Service Guilds of the West Palm Beach District, Sunday, Feb. 16 in Stuart.

Seventy women participated in the day's activities which began by attending services at the Stuart United Methodist Church and was followed by a luncheon at Holiday Inn. Annual business meeting was convened at the church at 2 p.m. by Mrs. Walter Bock. Mrs. John Hannaford was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Pierce Miles.

A District Charter signing ceremony was conducted by Miss Sue Payton, Boynton Beach, marking the first meeting of the guild since union of the Methodist Church with the United Brethern denomination. Mrs. Rosaleen Murray, local guild president, welcomed the members to Stuart and the Rev. Allan Stuart conducted a communion service at the close of the day's program.

Lions Club fund drive Sat., Sun.

The Jensen Beach Lion's Club is having their annual drive for raising funds for Sight Conservation in this area. The drive will take place Saturday and Sunday, March 1 and 2nd.

All proceeds for this drive will be used for eye examinations, classes, and other eyesight needs for persons in this area not able to pay for correcting their vision.

Gene Pfleger, Chairman of the Sight Conservation Drive, stated, "This program is growing rapidly and the public's assistance is needed and will be greatly appreciated."

A table will be located on Commercial Street, in downtown Jensen, where you can pick up your symbolic white cane for your contribution.

Garden Club has guests

Mrs. Edward R. Schmidt, Delray Beach, was the guest speaker at the February 19 meeting of the Jensen Beach Garden Club, held in the Fellowship Hall of the Jensen Beach Community Church. Her topic, "Beauty has its Dangers," was timely concerning pruning back shrubs, plants, and other growth. Some of these plants can cause skin irritation, and if there is an open wound on the skin, could cause dangerous infection. She warned her listeners against putting any part of these cuttings, or their flowers, in the mouth. If broken or chewed, their seeds have caused death.

Accompanying Mrs. Schmidt was Mrs. E. A. Grater, also of Delray Beach, who assisted the speaker.

Along with these guests welcomed by Mrs. Leon C. Osler, president of the club, were Mrs. Percy Jones, president of the Elk Rapids, Mich., Garden Club; Mrs. Horace D. Graves, Harbor Hills, Nelson, Ohio; Mrs. Bernice Kanarska, Petersburg, Va.; Mrs. Andrew Jackson, Watertown, Conn.; Mrs. C. Galek plinger, Jensen Beach; and Mrs. Frank Forsberg, Jensen Beach.

Mrs. Fred Morris made flower arrangements, explaining as she created them, the "why's" of each grouping. Her material was locally grown.

Mrs. Elsie Jarka and Mrs. August Burmester named their committee, in planning the dessert-card party, sponsored by the club, in the Community Center, Mar. 11, at 1 p.m. Tickets must be purchased in advance of this date from Mrs. Jarka, or Mrs. Leon C. Osler. Table and card prizes will be given.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Jack Kuhl, Mrs. Joseph Gartner, Mrs. Carl Hoag, Mrs. Elsie Sarka and Mrs. Albert Weigand.

Electric irrigation...yields more per acre

An electric pumped irrigation system is a profit making production tool on farms, dairies, citrus groves and cattle ranches. It's right as rain but much more dependable.

Sprinkler irrigation when and where needed conserves water. Night operation cuts down evaporation. Seepage losses in sandy soil can be minimized.

Electric motors give years of carefree service. Easily controlled by time clocks or float switches to make irrigation automatic and economical.

Signs of the times; Mostly in unincorporated areas along the coast of Florida, the Florida East Coast Railroad is rebuilding the tracks. The FEC is installing concrete ties and is welding track together. No one is talking, but the only answer seems to be a future system of high speed railways to tie into the ones being used up north. Imagine, Boston to Miami, with no clickity-clack.

"Skyline Arms"

Condominiums announced near Jensen business area

Eight condominium buildings will be constructed on the site at Commercial Street and Skyline Drive, according to Harry Jennings, local Realtor. The condominium development will be called "Skyline Arms".

At present, the developers of the condominiums are applying for a zoning change to permit construction. Presently zoned zoning calls for R-2 and B-1 business, Jennings pointed to $950,000 in construction at the site in the near future.

Eight buildings, with eight units in each, will be constructed, with entrances to the landscaped property from the side of the hill on Commercial Street and from Skyline Drive. The units are priced in the $11,990 to $15,290 price range.

Floor plans show two models, one bedroom, one and one-half baths, and two bedroom, two bath. Second floor condominiums will be $500 more, according to Jennings.

The Jensen Beach Realtor said that five million dollars in condominium development in the Jensen Beach area awaits the start of the Skyline Arms condominiums. He hinted that many developers are watching to see the reaction of buyers to the development.

Jennings said he would suggest that sidewalks be constructed down Commercial Street hill. He added that all condominium units have ocean and river views and said that the engineering for the buildings was being handled by Greenlees, Arbogast and Montgomery.

Among the planned facilities are central water and sewage, shuffleboard courts, a recreation room for residents, and "all outside maintenance."

Advisory committee reports

Mobile home moratorium continuance is asked

Martin County's citizens' advisory committee on mobile homes released its first report to the county commission Tuesday, asking for the continuance of a moratorium on new zoning for mobile homes until a short and long range land use plan is developed.

The committee also asked that the county engineer "...be restrained from considering any plans for new mobile home parks or subdivisions except on land already zoned for that purpose." The committee cited in excess of 1,000 units in mobile home parks and 1,000 units in mobile home subdivisions as being "in unused or underdeveloped portions of parks and subdivisions."

"There is ample unused land already zoned for these purposes to more than double our present mobile home population," was the conclusion of the report, dated February 25, and just made available on March 4. There was no explanation why the report was delayed in release to the public.

The report was signed by L. S. Bergen, chairman, and C. K. Adams, W. W. J. Barnes, C. R. Evans, V. J. Nastasi, J. C. Norris, G. Oliver, K. F. Schourbusch and G. T. Slider, Schourbusch is county tax assessor and Slider is county engineer.

The study of mobile homes is not complete, with future information to be submitted by the tax assessor and county engineer.

The committee report shows the average tax from "conventional residences assessed at over $5,000 before homestead exemption" at $190.00. There is no calculation on taxes of residences after homestead exemption removes $5,000 in value from the rolls. The average tax of mobile home dwellers, including real estate, property and license taxes is $33.34, according to the report.

The report shows that mobile homes have increased in popularity with a rise from 1,755 tags sold in 1964, to 1,969 tags sold in 1968.

The report showed, "It is the belief of several knowledgeable persons that there are many mobile homes in parks which do not have a present year's tag."

The report revealed that "It is believed" that only 40% of the 50 county mobile home parks are "up to the standards demanded by the new code," 20% are changing over to the requirements of the new code, and the remaining 40% "represents situations from potential hazards to real problems."

The report flailed away in several areas at the lack of law enforcement.

APPOINTED—Hillie Stroetz has been appointed operations manager of Martin County Cable Co., Inc., according to an announcement by C. R. Benedict, general manager. Stroetz has been associated with the company since its inception and has been in cable television since 1956. He, his wife and 18-month old son live at 611 Azalea Ave., Stuart. He is a member of Rotary and Elks.

Frances Langford heads county fund drive

Singer Frances Langford has accepted the chairmanship of the 1969 Heart Fund drive in Martin County.

The campaign, conducted nationally each year by the American Heart Association and its chapters, supports research, education and service in the fight against heart disease.

The local Heart Fund chairman and her husband, Ralph Evinrude, have been associated with the heart cause during the many years they have lived in Jensen Beach. Miss Langford sang at the benefit dance sponsored by the Stuart Jaycee-Ettes 14 years ago, and in succeeding years she has served in other capacities for the health organization.

The Evinrudes divide their time in Jensen Beach, their 120-foot yacht "Chanticleer" usually docked at The Outrigger, and their home in Milwaukee, Wisc., home office of Evinrude motors.

Glass predicts record year

Harold Glass, Martin County building inspector, predicted last week that construction in the county would double the 1968 total which was in excess of $7 million.

The inspector based his prediction on some developments in the planning stage which should get under way this year.

A record year is indicated by the value of permits issued the first two months of this year.

In January, ninety-three permits were issued for a total valuation of $755,134. Last month, the total was 88 permits for $353,925.

Fifty-three of these hundred and eighty-one permits were for new residences.

Last in January, 83 permits were issued for a total valuation of $375,343; the total valuation in February, 1968, was 79 permits for $383,359.

The City of Stuart building inspector's office reported 22 permits were issued last month for a total of $36,540 compared to 12 permits and $23,146 in February, 1968. In January of this year, 16 permits were issued for a total valuation of $105,575 compared to 37 permits for $105,975 in January, 1968.

County school projects up for approval

Architect's plans for three Martin County school projects are expected to be accepted at a special board meeting Thursday night.

On the tentative agenda are construction plans for Martin County High School, vocational building at the high school, and addition to Hobe Sound Elementary School.

The special session will begin at 7:30 p.m., and will be followed by the regular first Thursday workshop session.

One item to be discussed at the workshop session is a food service policy for the next school year, according to School Superintendent James Navitsky.

A possible central food service will be considered.

The high school and Murray ninth grade school at Port Salerno do not have cafeterias at present.

Architect's plans for three construction projects will be forwarded to the State Department of Education for contract awarding. If the board gives final approval.

Expected cost of a math complex of six rooms at the high school is approximately $103,000, while the vocational building will be in excess of $70,000. The classroom, library and administration offices will cost about $138,000.

Acceptance of the sewage disposal system at the Port Salerno Elementary School is also on the tentative agenda.

Increased enrollment at the school made it necessary to make the addition.

Tigers beat Eagles 4-3

Barry Kelly, who hit his fourth straight single in the game in the bottom of the seventh, drove in the winning run for Martin County who defeated Dan McCarty High School last week by a score of 4-3.

Going into the bottom of the seventh, Dave Pliey, who was 3-for-3, reached on a single. Winning pitcher Paul Larson was safe on an error, but Mike Shipes forced Larson at second as Pliey moved to third. Kelley then delivered his game-winning hit.

Larson went all the way for Stuart, striking out six and walking four. Chip Hall hurled the first three innings for the Eagles and Rich Norris, who finished up, was credited with the loss.

Clines tour ship 'Queen Elizabeth'

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cline drove to Fort Everglades Tuesday, Feb. 25, and made the tour of the Queen Elizabeth ship. It was a beautiful summer-like day and the parking lot was pretty well filled. Mrs. Cline said they noticed license plates from almost every state in the union which seemed to signify that it was a popular attraction for tourists.

Signs throughout the ship direct the visitors so no guides are required. At every point of interest a tape recording supplied the necessary information. Several features particularly interested the Clines; one of these was the room which Elizabeth Taylor occupied. We understood her to say the price of that room was $2,000. They were allowed to inspect four first class cabins.

The feature that appealed to them most was the movie in the Cinema Theatre. This movie showed the construction of the ship and the launching. Also it showed the ship in wartime service. Mrs. Cline says the movie lasted about a half an hour and it was all very interesting. She was disappointed the tour did not include the engine room but she was told it will eventually be open to the public but at present is being cleaned up.

The whole tour took two hours, and the Clines say it is well worth going to see, and they were glad they went.

Mrs. Edna Stromingor was lucky to win a ten-quart refrigerator dispenser of milk at the St. Lucie County Fair recently. Since Edna could not accomodate so large amount of milk at one time, the representative of the dairy gave her one gallon milk, a carton of cottage cheese, a quart of buttermilk, and two quarts of orange juice.

We have had friends of the Woolsleys ask what we knew about them, and as they have not been residing in their place on 4th for four winters, I made some inquiries, and came up with this information. Mrs. Woolsley, after three operations on her hip is able to walk with a walker, Mr. Woolsley has what a friend believed to be Parkinson's Disease, and Mrs. Woolsley's sister who used to live here with them is not well, so let us hope they are better and able to join their friends here next year.

Weather and rainfall

The past month of February has been cool like December. To be comfortable we needed heat in our homes quite often. However, most will agree that we had less of sucshine and no frost any night so we didn't do too badly.

Rainfall was scant. We had .10 of an inch Feb. 8, and 1.00 inch Feb. 15, making a total for the month of 1.10 inches compared with 3.26 inches Feb. 68, and 2.40 inches Feb. 67.

Ocean Breeze was well represented at the Sixth Annual Fashion Show and Tea held at the Jensen Community Church Feb. 26. Not only did many from here attend, we also were responsible for two models, namely Jo Eisenharth, and Clara Seal, both who we are told were great. Then in addition, three of our talented entertainers, Don Wells, soilst, and Jean Fisher and Martha Miller withe their rendition of Hot Rod Hanna and Glow Worm, really added fun and enjoyment to the afternoon's entertainment.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Alderman of the Town of Ocean Breeze Park will be held March 12 at 3:00 p.m. in the Counsel Room.

John Stewart, a brother of Mrs. McDonagh, left Wed., Feb. 26 for Toronto, Canada to visit friends, and then on to his home in Kelowna, B.C., Canada after a six week vacation in Ocean Breeze. John really enjoyed his vacation, especially shuffling and fishing, but also spent an interesting tow days at Key West, and took the two day bus tour of Busch Gardens, and the Ringling Museums, and a two day trip by car to Cypress Gardens. So he took home some pleasant memories, and a very good idea of what our park and state have to offer visitors.

Elmer and Dot MacKenzie of S. 9th entertained their son Warren, daughter-in-law, Artie and grandchildren, Lee Mark and Kim Mackenzie of Keene, N.H. last week. They made the trip in their "Piper Cherokee Six" in about 9 hours flying time, but it was interrupted at Savanah, Ga., with a two day wait because of low ceiling and general bad weather conditions. While here they enjoyed good weather to them, even if the natives considered it cool, by visiting near by attractions including St. Lucie County Fair, Indian Country, Palm Beach Mall, and the Outrigger. They returned to N.H. with a stop over at Washington, D.C.

Father Gannon speaks

First annual awards convocation held

The students of Saint Joseph College enjoyed an afternoon free of classes to participate in the first annual Honors Convocation held on Thursday, Feb. 27.

The purpose of the event was two-fold, an opportunity to honor those students who achieved the Dean's and President's Lists and to hear Father Gannon, a member of the faculty of the University of Florida, speak on today's university student.

A mass for all the students and faculty was celebrated in the college chapel at noon. Following the mass a sit-down luncheon was served in the college cafeteria. An entertainment composed of boys and girls, greeted the guests distributed programs and served the meal. An Invocation was given by David Brockwell, president of the Student Government Association. After the luncheon, members of the head table were introduced by Mrs. Herbert Gildan, Dean of Women and Ernest Bjorkman introduced Father Gannon, guest of honor. Father's speech entitled "The New Relevance" concerned the modern university student and his importance in today's society. He contended that the current crop of university students are superior to their predecessors in mind, body and morality.

The school policy on attining Dean's and President's Lists was then reviewed by Robert Maher, Registrar of the college. Those students who had achieved the honor of Dean's List were presented with mimeanos of their achievement by the President of the college, Sister Mary Martin.

The following students attained a 3.00 or higher and are on the Dean's List: Barbara Antrilli, Alan Beaulieu, Sr., Mary Ann Benak, George Bilonoschka, Ernest Bjorkman, Kevin Blanch, Sr., Vivian Marie Cushing, Theresa Freetard, Sr., Carmen Garcia Rubio, Dennis Glaser, John Grlek, Margaret Griffin, Patricia Heeney Kevin Joens, Sr. Anne Lawrance Kloski, Terry Kroppman, Gabrielle Lundy, Patricia Malanga, Sr. Marion Pavlic, Denise Schyler, Jeanette Stefan, Sr. Mary Christine Walker, Veronica Wasserman, Connie Wheeler and Katherine Zeis.

The following students attained the high honor of the President's List upon achieving a 3.75 or better: Sr. Alice John Bliss, Fernando Gonzalez, Sr. Marianne Newsome, Sr. Carlias Shaughnessy, and Sr. John Peter Sroble. Sr. John Peter achieved the highest average in the school, an inspressive 3.84.

Special mention was made of Patricia Malanga who graduated from St. Josephs in January and is currently attending Patterson State Teacher's College. She will receive her Associate of Arts degree in June, this Compliments were flying Friday afternoon when Mrs. Staule Jensen stopped in the office of The Jensen Beach Mirror.

Have Dr. sent to Fire, Federal Savings, and the Chamber of Jensen Beach then she said that after visiting Jensen for 18 years she always felt as though she was "coming home." This year she was especially pleased with the growth and changes.

What is the above? Tooker has been unable to get what he feels a county attorney should get, plus a different arrangement with the county, including private, out of the courthouse offices, more private practice.

Port St. Lucie applies for post office permit

The City of Port St. Lucie will make application to the U.S. Postal Department for a post office, according to action taken by the city commission Tuesday. The permit application will be filled this weekend, according to Mayor Eugene Kavanaugh.

The city has received permission from General Development Corporation to put the new post office, when the application is approved, in the country store building in St. Lucie Country Club shopping center. The post office would be eight feet wide along the west end of the country store.

The office would include post office boxes, bins and windows for mailing. Initial plans include only pick up and delivery of mail at the post office.

"If a post office permit is given, we will think about delivery. Right now the load of mail, both in pieces and weight, is heavy from both north and south Port St. Lucie," Kavanaugh said.

In other actions, the city commission appointed Julian Flood to the St. Lucie County board studying home rule under the new state constitution. Also, the commission agreed to accept 4.7 miles of road from General Development Corp. for drainage and maintenance on condition that G.D.C. repair and resurface where necessary. All drains in roads to right-of-way lines are being cleaned.

Elois was discharged March 9, and is much better, following pneumonia and pleurisy.

March 7 marked the birthday of a former well-known resident of Ocean Breeze, Mrs. Priscilla Griffith, who spent 11 years here. There is some doubt about the exact age of "Unna" as she is lovingly known by her many friends, but she was either 87 or 88 that day, and although she has been in Eastmoor Manor Nursing Home for some time, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ruth Griffith had asked her a few days ago what kind of a cake she would like for her birthday to which Unna replied, "Hah! Baltimore." Ruth baked the cake and Mr. John Scott, (Unna's grandson), his wife Mary, and their four children went to give Unna a real party. The Scott family sang Happy Birthday to their great grandmother, and of course, helped her eight her cake. To you, Unna, all your friends here join in wishing you a Belated Happy Birthday, too.

The home of Ruth Griffith was the setting for a double birthday party the afternoon of March 9, when Ruth and her friend, Margaret Hall, were hostesses to Lucille Fisher whose birthday was March 7, and Hazel Hutt who celebrated hers March 8. Luncheon complete with a cake for the girls was followed by an afternoon of cards for about 20 of the neighborhood ladies. Happy birthday to you two girls also.

Margie Zinsmeister, Reporter — Phone 464-4139 after 5 p.m.

DAVE GESSNER---New Port St. Lucie reporter for The Mirror is Dave Gessner, recreation director of the General Development corporation.

Dave Gessner is new reporter for PSL news

Dave Gessner, recreational director of Port St. Lucie, has been named reporter for the Jensen Beach Mirror. Gessner replaces Mrs. Margie Zinsmeister, who handled the position during the pioneering months of establishment of the special page of news for PSL residents.

Gessner lives at 101 Naranja Avenue in North Port St. Lucie, with his wife, Beth, and four children. He has been the recreation director at PSL for almost one year and is active in many of the local clubs.

The central news collection station for Port St. Lucie news will be at the Martin in North Port St. Lucie, at Gessner's office. Telephones for news are 464-3191 at the marina and 461-1833 at Gessner's home.

Gessner is a member of the St. Lucie County recreation board and is a past vice mayor of the City of Port St. Lucie.

In announcing the appointment of Gessner as news reporter, Richard E. Campbell, publisher of The Mirror, said, "We are happy to welcome Dave into the Mirror's reporting staff. He is experienced in representing the views of the community, and formerly wrote a recreation column for the Fort Lauderdale News.

"We want to thank and praise the work of Mrs. Margie Zinsmeister, who so ably reported the news of the area to The Mirror for the first few months of our building program, despite the inconvenience of not having any office, nor even a street name, with which to give directions."

Tuesday, March 18, is the next meeting date and it will be guest night. Each member is going to bring a neighbor, friend or anyone interested in fishing. Anyone may attend if a member sponsors them. Refreshments will be served.

How's your boating IQ?

1. Powder's are used to keep the sparks from reaching over the rear of the boat.
2. A 12-foot boat is Class 2 boat.
3. White lights may be used on any shape type of power boat.
4. A sailboat always has the right-of-way over a motorboat.

Two of those are TRUE! Do you know which two? If you don't know, you should attend the free course in "Basic Seamanship" open to the public, starting Tuesday, March 18, at General Development Main Office at 7:30 p.m.

This boating course is sponsored by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla #52, Lauderdale Lakes, and is open to the public. Anyone interested may call [illegible] for further information.

Tony Romano builds a "Colonna" bush for movie

Tony Romano carries a list of movie credits as long as the guitar he plays nightly at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant, and is sporting a "Jerry Colonna moustache" as he prepares to play the part of "Doc" in the film version of the Ashley Gang story, now being filmed in Stuart.

The comic-entertainer-singer has been associated with, starred in, and written for movies as far back as the late 1930's. His memory was jogged last week when Senator George Murphy, a former movie-star, stopped in the Outrigger. The two reminisced with singer-star Frances Langford, who had been featured with Murphy in several pictures, and Outrigger general manager Ed Lawrence, who designed sets for Murphy's movies in Hollywood.

Romano toured the war fronts with the Bob Hope-Frances Langford troupe through World War Two, the Korean War, and Miss Langford and Romano toured the front in Viet Nam several years ago. During those war years, Romano turned down many movies in favor of entertaining the troops overseas.

"It's a little ironic," Romano said recently, "that I have to grow this Colonna bush to do the part of Doc in the movie." His grey moustache, heavy and full, with bushy sideburns, adds years to the youthful looking entertainer. "I always thought I looked years younger than Colonna," Romano said, "but now I don't know."

The movie, "Too Soon to Laugh, Too Late to Cry", is being filmed this week in Stuart, where bank robbery scenes are being shot on Osceola Avenue. The movie stars Fabian, a rock and roll star, and Karen Black.

Romano has appeared in many movie roles, from bandit in bars, from comedy to drama. Movies he has appeared in include, "The Man I Love", with Ida Lupino; "A Woman Rebels" with Kathryn Hepburn; two with Frances Langford including "Purple Heart Diar," and "Robert's Room"; with Richard Boone. Romano wrote the score for both of these movies.

Romano also played in several "Maverick" and "Law Man" movies.

Six lady golfers tied with 12 in their game Tuesday. The Martin County Golf and Country Club ladies played mess pars.

Tied in Class A were: Jane Grant, Madge Lauzon, Rita DeStefano, Bea Wisely, Gerri Krueger and Olive Barth.

Fran Wilson led Class B with a 13. Tied with 11 were Adele Sarro and Helen Reed.

In Class C, Alice Agresto topped the group with 13. Tied at 11 were Hazel Foster, Louise Donovan, Eve Wilchester and Bea Anderson.

Eve Wilchester and Madge Lauzon each had a chip in.

The filming of "Too Soon to Laugh, Too Late to Cry" is not without its little accidents. Mrs. Janet Hutchinson, director of Elliott Museum, received a broken collarbone Monday while handling a reel, and Mrs. C. B. Arbogast, also active in the supervision of the movie, suffered a sore foot when she dropped a desk she was moving.

Shooting of the beach scene will take place Friday on Hutchinson Island, following completion of the bank shooting.

About 15 or 20 local women assisted in making the costumes, according to Mrs. Grace Evinrud.

Revival Services

Rev. Jack Fernandez, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Jensen Beach announced that revival services will be held nightly at 7:30 and Sunday mornings from March 16 through 23.

The Rev. Murray J. McCullough will be the evangelist for the revival services. Rev. McCullough is field secretary of District Eleven which is composed of eighty-five Baptist churches in seven counties on the Florida west coast.

Belford C. Cox of Jensen Beach will be in charge of the congregational singing and special music during the revival. Cox has recently had a song published entitled "I Owe My Life to Jesus," which he will sing for the first time in a public service at the beginning service of the revival on Sunday, March 16, during the morning service at 10:50. A men's choir, the church choir, and others will provide special music during the week.

All are invited to attend the services. A nursery is provided for infants.

Martin County's School Board will ask the Legislature to raise the county superintendent's salary to a sum equal to those paid in counties of like size and complexity.

The specific amount of the proposed raise will be left to the legislators.

The superintendent now earns $12,500 a year. This is not the highest salary in the county school system, which could result in a loss of accreditation, the school board was told at a special meeting Thursday night.

Officials begin baseball planning

Managers and coaches for the pony, little and peanut leagues will meet Thursday night at Langford Park's new field house to begin planning for the 1969 season, according to Vince Bocchino, purchasing agent for the Jensen Beach-Rio district. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Jensen-Rio district representative, Dean Tooker, will explain the new rules of the game and setup of the countywide district system under which each district provides its own funds to finance the teams and fields in play.

Plans for the April 5 signup of players, to begin at 9 a.m., the registration fees, necessary equipment, and money needs for the leagues will also be discussed. Bocchino also said that the peanut league will be fully uniformed this year.

A new Peanut League team, Jensen Beach Bank, is being formed. Dr. Dennis Ensaldi and Richard E. Campbell will be co-managers of the team. Also, a new little league team, Rio Civic Club, is being formed, manage: by Lefty Passante.

Thus, there will be five baseball teams in the Jensen Beach area. Others include the Jensen V.F.W., peanuts managed by Don Wilkie; Stuart-Jensen Elks, little, managed by Harry Lentz; Jensen Lions, pony, managed by Frank Wacha.

The need for concession stand workers, umpires, scorekeepers and helpers in the baseball program was emphasized by county commissioner Frank Wacha. He asked that all parents who can work on the games sign up at the field house Thursday night at the meeting.

"115 boys will be playing ball this year, the largest number ever," Wacha said. "We need the help of parents if we are to have an expanded baseball program in Jensen Beach and Rio."

The new district system of baseball places the responsibility for raising funds to suit the teams, pay for baseballs and supplies, upon the individual district. The concession stand is the greatest source of revenue.

BASEBALL—Discussing plans for the start of baseball season in Jensen Beach, and the meeting of managers on Thursday night at the Langford Park Field House, are County Commissioner Frank Wacha, manager of the Pony League Lions, and Vince Bocchino, purchasing agent for the Jensen-Rio area leagues. The meeting followed Monday night bowling at Jensen Lanes.

Wacha spoofs facts

by Dick Campbell

The community of Lighthouse Point paid a total of $171.26 per acre in taxes, and Hibiscus Park, sections one, two and three, paid $107.75 in taxes, and the Town of Ocean Breeze Park, all east of the FEC railroad tracks, paid $563.80 per acre in taxes.

The figures above were read to the Martin County Commission as it met in workshop session Tuesday morning, and led to incredulous disbelief as County Commissioner Frank Wacha used the figures to spoof the per acre tax idea for mobile homes.

The report was based upon information collected by the county engineer's office.

Lighthouse Point showed a total of 80.5 acres of land area, with total taxes paid of $13,786.03, or $171.26 per acre.

Hibiscus Park revealed 145.5 acres of land area, $15,678.35 of total taxes paid, or $107.75 per acre.

The Town of Ocean Breeze Park revealed it paid $7,216.71 in real estate tax, $8,594.63 in personal property taxes on mobile homes, and $5,839, an estimated county share of license fees, for the 38.4 acres of land, or $563.80 per acre.

The comparison somewhat shattered the impact of the recent report of a citizens advisory committee on mobile homes, but Wacha was quick to say that that was not his purpose.

"I don't think you can use acreage as a base for taxes on mobile homes, as this shows," Wacha said.

County Attorney Dean Tooker said, "You can make figures do anything."

Commissioner Bill Owens said that he thought it was time to do something about the mobile home situation. "We should consider the parks, take it up. It is not fair to the people to keep putting it off," Owens said. He asked if the regulations were strong enough.

"If you read our TP and RT zoning regulations, they are really good. There is no reason the parks and subdivisions should be unhealthy. We must make them follow the regulations," Wacha said.

Owens asked if the board of health was responsible for the parks.

Tooker then said that about seven years ago the county commissioners went on record urging the board of health to take immediate action against offenders of the zoning.

Following more discussion between the commissioners, board chairman Bill Hussey said the problem would be placed on the next work session agenda on April 3.

In other business before the work session, the board discussed legislative bills planned for discussion at a legislative hearing on Mar. h 26 at 7 p.m. at the courthouse.

Seminoles move to Indiantown soon

Following on the heels of the Pow Wow Festival at Indiantown, the end of March, construction of an authentic Seminole Village will begin and members of the Seminole Tribe from the Dania and Brighton Reservations will take up permanent residence in the community, according to Howard Hald, a director of Indiantown Chamber of Commerce, and Billy Osceola, former chief of the tribe.

Hald said that negotiations had been underway for some time, and when the property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Keith Picht on Warfield Blvd., SR-710, was made available for the project, little time was lost in completing arrangements.

Commenting on the Picht offer, Hald said the property was being donated to the Seminoles for their use and every effort will be made to make the village a major attraction for Indiantown and Martin County. "There have been several offers made, but all had strings attached which would not permit the Seminoles to have any security in such a venture," Hald said. The Picht offer, he added, is made to benefit the Seminole Tribe and the community and "we can be proud to have people like these in our community."

Osceola, commenting on the project, said he was pleased with the offer and felt that the village would begin as soon as possible following the Festival and Rodeo, and that between four and six families would reside within the complex.

Osceola also recalled his younger days in the area, when his family moved to Indiantown shortly after his birth. He said, "It's my old stamping grounds and it feels good to know some of the Seminole people will live here again."

Trial is Monday

City commissioners begin trial ordeal

Four suspended Stuart city commissioners and one former commissioner will begin the ordeal of a trial next Monday, the outgrowth of indictments issued by the 1968 grand jury charging violation of the Florida "government in the sunshine" law. They are accused of holding a secret meeting.

Special prosecutor David Bludworth, assigned to the case, issued nine subpoenas for state auditor Augustus Lutz, who handled the field work on the city audit and many city employees. The city will bring many records pertaining to information needed in the trial.

City commissioners Arthur Sims, Jack Hartman, Bill Todt and Mayor Ray Cooke, and former commissioner Don McClure are the defendants.

Hartman is also charged with a malpractice indictment concerning a check given to a former city manager Joe Crowder.

The prosecutor has asked for, and had denied, a change in venue. Judge Mallory Johnson said that the final ruling on the request would be made if it is seen that an impartial jury could not be chosen.

The commissioners are charged with holding a secret meeting in September, 1967, and that no minutes were kept of the meeting.

Hearings

The route of I-95 through Martin and St. Lucie Counties will be the subject of public hearings to be held in March 28, according to Arnold Ramos, district engineer of the State Road Department.

Hearings will be held in the St. Lucie County courthouse at 9 a.m. and in the Martin County courthouse at 1 p.m.

Ramos said that the approval of the route of I-95, an interstate highway, being separate from the Florida Turnpike, had not yet been issued, but, "when it does we want to be ready."

There are three proposed routes under consideration. Two are east of the turnpike and one is west. Former state representative Robert Rust has indicated that the one west of the turnpike is favored.

Bowler of the Year tourney planned

The second annual "Bowler of the Year" tournament will be held on April 22, it was announced this week by Dick Campbell, publisher of The Jensen Beach Mirror, sponsor of the event with Jensen Bowling Lanes.

Trophies for first, second and third places in the men's and women's divisions, and $25 to the winning male and female bowler, head up the list of prizes to be awarded.

The tournament is the climax of the year of bowling in which a male and female "Bowler of the Week" has been chosen. The selection of the bowler has been by a committee of the men's and women's bowling associations.

Only persons who have won the coveted "bowler of the week" awards are eligible to participate in the tournament, designed to select the top bowlers of the year at Jensen Lanes. Registration at Jensen Lanes is now under way for the one-night tournament, and will continue to the night of bowling. Registration will close at 6 p.m. Tuesday, April 22.

Kavanaugh, Petersen win in PSL election

Forty-nine voters in the City of Port St. Lucie reelected Mayor Councilman Eugene Kavanaugh and Councilman Eigil Petersen to four-year terms Tuesday. They were the first Port St. Lucie residents to be elected to the council in the 1965 election.

Kavanaugh, a retired Army colonel, was unopposed, and drew 47 votes. Petersen collected 28 votes to defeat challenger Fred Preston, who received 20 votes. A total of 54 persons were registered and eligible to vote.

A mayor of the City of Port St. Lucie will be chosen by the five councilmen on the first Monday of April. The other three councilmen are Julian Flood, Dr. Harold Nottley and Franklin Beardsley.

Kavanaugh moved to Port St. Lucie from Maryland five years ago, following his retirement as a diplomatic representative for an internal oil company. He has served as a member of St. Lucie County's Industrial Development Council and served for 10 months as temporary executive director of the IDC.

Petersen is a retired manufacturer who moved from Illinois to make his home in Port St. Lucie six years ago.

His opponent, Preston, a former winter resident, moved to Port St. Lucie permanently three years ago. Formerly of Columbus, Ohio, he is a retired comptroller and treasurer of the Borden Company's midwest district. He was a Kiwanian and Mason in Ohio.

The election was held at the city hall in the Country Club Shopping Center.

Demo results of Fair Survey announced

Mrs. Velma Higbee, president of the Democratic Women's Club of Martin County, reports that the club is pleased with the results of its efforts at the Martin County Fair, where members and their husbands were hosts to hundreds of visitors who were served complimentary coffee and cake at the club's booth.

A special attraction at the booth was a voting machine set up with questions supplied by County Commissioner William Owens, and visitors were able to cast their votes on controversial issues.

With 611 people voting, the results were as follows:

Three couples cruise to Jamaica

When Harry and Ann Bartle and their companions embarked on their Jamaican cruise, we asked them, "Now be sure and tell us all about your trip." Ann promised she would do so and she kept her word. Many of our people have made this trip and many more are contemplating it so Ann's story should prove interesting. Here it is:

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bartle and Mr. and Mrs. William McDevell of Cypress Drive, together with Admiral and Mrs. William Fitzgerald of Indian River Drive have just returned from an 8-day cruise to Jamaica.

Sailing on the "New Bahama Star" on its maiden voyage, many extra activities were provided the 375 passengers, including native dancers, night club tours, talent shows, a masquarade, even exercising on the sundeck. Cruise ships are noted for their fine cuisine and the "New Bahama Star" is no exception.

Arriving in Port Antonio, passengers were taken ashore in lile boats, a thrilling experience, especially as the waves were running high and rain falling fitfully. Port Antonio has been a port of call for only 12 years, and the residents for the most part are poorly clad and seem to live in deplorable conditions. They await the arrival of cruise ships with eager anticipation as a means of selling their colorful wares. Haggling over price is an exhilarating experience enjoyed by buyer and seller alike, for all merchandise is over priced with this reduction in view. Keenly appreciative of sales, the very young are expert at this art and swoop all sorts of flingeling to attract customers.

At Kingston where the ship docked for an entire day and evening, passengers were taken for a 7-hour bus trip. The courageous chauffeur driving on the left hand side of the road, of course, whizzed around corners at breakneck speed, teetering on the very edge of deep embankments.

Many historic sights were visited... Hangman's Tree where former slaves were hanged as punishments for misdemeanors. Said to be still haunted, auto drivers are warned not to pick passengers up after nightfall in that immediate vicinity. All Jamaicans are extremely superstitious and seriously believe in witchcraft, ghosts, and returning spirits. Slaves, by the way, were freed during the reign of Queen Victoria and there is a large and beautiful statue of this queen in the square.

Lunch was served out of doors on the patio of the Tower Isle Hotel, a spot of indescribable beauty.

Norma, the guide, was an attractive native girl, educated in France, who mixed humor with statistics. Obligingly, the bus driver stopped at frequent intervals for sampling of sugar cane, inspection of cocoa plants, dissecting a coffee bean picked fresh from a plant, to enjoy a beautiful waterfall, to crush and savor the aroma of a leaf whose fragrance is a mixture of clove, cinnamon and nutmeg, to view bananas growing on trees. These bananas are used by the natives often as a vegetable--boiled in salted water and mashed--Norma explained they tasted very similar to potatoes. They are also fried or baked in the skins--truly a versatile fruit indeed.

The young guide informed passengers that chewing sugar cane is a favorite and beneficial custom. The juice being full of calcium helps destroy tooth decay. Plantations are now worked by Jamaican laborers with machetes, but machines has been developed to take over this difficult and arduous task, however, the hard working men are not trained for other types of work and would find it difficult to find employment elsewhere.

This story will be concluded next week.

Visitor thrilled with Park

On March 1, Mrs. Keturah Nagle and Mrs. Florence Shuey of Harrisburg, Pa., arrived here by bus to spend a week with Mrs. Shuey's mother, Mrs. Evelyn Harring, and her grandmother, Mrs. Edna Stromінger. Mrs. Nagle is Mrs. Shuey's aunt by marriage. Although they were only here a week, they really made the most of their time, spending a day at the Mall in W.P.B., going fishing, picking strawberries, to the Manatee, the Outrigger, Port St. Lucie Country Club, also to the Tourist Club in Stuart, then finally they were the guests for dinner and evening of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Freed of Indian River Drive.

Both ladies enjoyed their visit very much, but Mrs. Nagle was particularly thrilled with he beauty of the flowers, and said this is the nicest trailer park she has been in, and is looking forward to getting a trailer here when time for her retirement comes. The happy ladies left for home Sat., March 8, by bus.

Mrs. Tom (Jennie) Clancy returned on Sunday, March 9, from a month trip to visit her relatives in the northern and western United States. Jennie flew to Melbourne Jennie flew from Melbourne to Seattle, Washington, first, and visited with a niece there for a couple of days. They took her to the Needle for dinner and Seattle was very impressed with the wonderful view she had of the city from her high lookout. Her next stop was Salem, Oregon to visit with her oldest brother and his wife, but since her brother's home was in Albany, Oregon, they met her in Salem and took her to their home for an eleven day visit. Leaving there she was accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Francis Kennedy to Las Vegas to visit her brother, Neil Kennedy and his wife for eight days. Jennie was thrilled with the Ice Star show which they attended at the Freegloon Casino, and with the general exciting tempo of the city. Leaving there Jennie hopped to Los Angeles to visit with cousins, Julia Brocho and Janette Palmer, who took her to Disneyland, and also to Gardena, an eating place well known for its excellent food; the best she had ever eaten, was Jennie's remark. After an eight day stop there, she again boarded a plane, this time for Pampa, Melbourne, and home. It was a wonderful trip, but Jennie says not have very much praise for the weather... saying there was only one brief day out of the last eight or her stay in California.

Even though this is only my first week of writing the news, I can see already, just from the few contacts I have made with residents of the community and from the warm and friendly reception I have received from the staff of The Mirror, that this experience will be one of real enjoyment.

I would like to take this opportunity to emphasize to all the clubs, organizations and individuals in Port St. Lucie that they take advantage of publicizing and promoting their activities, recognize visiting guests, or anything they feel will be of interest to the community. It would be my advice if at all possible that organizations write out publicity and hand it in in written form, thus eliminating some possible mistakes. However, if it is not possible to do this, publicity chairman can call me at any time either at home or at the Marina.

This is a reminder to all the clubs and organizations in Port St. Lucie that the President's Council will meet Thursday, March 20, at 2 p.m. at the Marina. This will be an important meeting since it will center around community activities during the Easter holidays.

Visitors were Mr. and Mrs. George Durkovic, Mildred Lumsdaine and Mr. and Mrs. IG Pierelli. Two people had birthdays, Nan and Archie Westervelt and Alice Lapierre.

Action report

by Dick Campbell

Comments on our Florida is Jettie Nita: No cement walks; sand in your shoes and on the beaches. It smells of jasmine and ocean, with white clouds and a blue halo. It is God's country, chosen by Him, perfect. It is warm, clean, no smog. Palm trees brush the air to keep out the dirt. Pine trees belong up north, they are our reminder of how lucky we are to live here. The creatures are plentiful, but some deadly. Flowers the same but the fragrance enchanting. Aloe grows here to heal cuts on little ones. The American Eagle nests here, too, tho no law they say.

To R.B.: Action Report has contacted Martin County Hospital about an emergency boat ramp and pier, and they are looking into it. Mrs. Janet Lavery said that it was a very interesting idea.

Jet will be the subject of a hearing Friday, March 28, in the county commission meeting room. The route through the county will be discussed by the State Road Department with interested groups in the county. Meeting time is 2 p.m.

Sheriff Ray Baker held a "pot party" with the young parents of the Jensen Beach Community Church Beach nights. He demonstrated the rolling of marijuana cigarettes, and let one so that the parents of young people would know the smell of the narcotic. Parents called the demonstration a great service of the sheriff's department and planned on future and informative meetings.

A bid of $1,040 for 500 feet of sod for Langford Park's baseball diamond was overlooked in the county commission meeting until it was pointed out that the sod was for about 1,050 square yards.

To look it over

County Commission tables industrial park

A new industrial park for Jensen Beach was tabled this week as the members of the Martin County Commission decided on "look it over" before making a decision on the area.

The park was presented by W. B. Tilton, Sr., with the approval and recommendation of the county planning and zoning board and the county engineer, Tom Slider said that the board had no objection since the proposed planned industrial park would be far enough away from Legion Heights and the new Jensen Beach School.

Commissioner Bill Owens objected to the plan, saying that there was no present plan for the industrial use of the land. He asked for the uses the proposed zoning would allow.

Richard Campbell, as vice-chairman of the Martin County Resources and Development Board, pointed out that there were only two small areas zoned for light industry in the land north of the St. Lucie River, that there was only one other planned industrial park in the county, that in Indiantown, and that a planned and engineered industrial park would be preferred for industrial development due to the greater number of services available.

Tilton told the board the history of local development of the property and the surrounding property, and said, "We are trying to do something good for the area."

Owens then asked that the commission table the zoning change so that the members of the commission could look the property over.

Commissioner Wachs, who seconded the motion to table, took Owens to task about the issue, "Public hearings are properly advertised so that we the board can do its work were on the property and not in a meeting," Wachs said. Owens said he had studied it and was still not satisfied with it.

BOWLERS OF THE WEEK--Gloria Beakley, bowling a 497 series, 113 pins over her average, won the women's division for this week's bowler of the week. She bowls with the Mermaid League. In the men's division, Ben Ausby, with the Freeport League, took top honors with a 547 series, 145 pins over his average.

County action

At the regular Tuesday meeting of the county commission, the following actions were taken:

AGREED to buy a 1,000 gallon propane gas tank with pump for mosquito control from Tri County Gas for $1,389.

PURCHASED a power skid for a low-boy for $950.

LET a contract to sod the infield and side baselines of the new field at Langford Park to Rio Nursery for $1,040. Also let a contract for $4,306 for chain link fence, $2,920 for the new field, and $1,020 for the old field. Also there was $366 authorized to relocate the present fence at the tennis courts in the park.

AGREED to vacate a portion of the right of way on Second Street in Golden Gate.

PLANNED to meet with Jack Bradley, State Board of Parks planner, on Wednesday (today) to discuss the future of county parks.

ASKED the building inspector to look into the closing of an abandoned ice house in Hobe Sound so that it would be safe from children-type accidents.

ALLOWED a representative of a West Palm Beach computer firm to survey the county, that in Indiantown, and that a planned and engineered industrial park would be preferred for industrial development due to the greater number of services available.

Tilton told the board the history of local development of the property and the surrounding property, and said, "We are trying to do something good for the area."

Owens then asked that the commission table the zoning change so that the members of the commission could look the property over.

Commissioner Wachs, who seconded the motion to table, took Owens to task about the issue, "Public hearings are properly advertised so that the board can do its work were on the property and not in a meeting," Wachs said. Owens said he had studied it and was still not satisfied with it.

Pow Wow is set for weekend

A two-day championship open Rodeo will be one of the main attractions of this weekend's Pow Wow festival at Indiantown.

The second annual Festival, starting with a Queen Contest and teenage dance Friday night, will also feature alligator wrestling by Seminole Indians, a parade, sky-diving exhibitions, exhibits, a flea fly by the Kiwanis Club, and a Horse Show on Sunday.

There will be precise sky-diving by members of the South Florida Parachute School of Indiantown. Seminole Indians will be on hand to wrestle alligators; a special horse show will be sponsored by the local riding club, and the Kiwanis Club will start serving a Fish Fry at noon each day.

Something for everyone is promised by the committee headed by Howard Haid. Rodeo chairman is Mack Roberts.

The dance will start at 8:30. Over 25 units will parade on Saturday, starting at 1:30 p.m. The parade will include bands, floats, cars, Scouts and representatives from the area.

The Rodeo will start at 2:30 each day and will feature five classic events including bronc riding, bareback and trick riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and Brahama bull riding, plus special acts.

Foster scores county lack of cooperation

Jim Foster, operator of Peltrax Landscape and brother of Board Member Charles Foster, scored the county for lack of cooperation between agencies, and the county for not enforcing the laws of the books Tuesday as he chronicled the problems he has had in getting zoning enforcement and health enforcement in Palm City.

Armed with a handful of land and aerial photographs, Foster appeared to ask why a petition was allowed to exist by the various county agencies, and why the county could not report violations.

He said that those persons who reported violations were subjected to abuse, and the violations or series of violations kept many from reporting conditions contrary to the law.

Foster showed photographs of an area he said was next to his home in Palm City Farms. He said there were eight trailers on the land, violating the zoning. He said none had septic tanks, a violation of the health code, and he said that none had valid license tags, a violation of state law. He said there was junk piled deep on the county rights-of-way, a violation of a litter law.

Foster, and the county commissioners complained about enforcement of health laws by the county health department. County attorney Dean Tooker said, "It is a six foot stamp and spinning your wheels," when he tried trying to get action out of the state board of health.

Foster asked that the county coordinate the departments to work together. He said that the county should enforce the laws and not have citizens being law enforcement officers.

Regarding his problem, Foster was told by Commissioner Frank Wachs that the party with the litter and trailers had been given thirty days to get the violations corrected. He added that the health department had given them fifteen days to get health violations removed.

Foster said that one trailer had been moved out on Saturday, another on Sunday. "Then they moved another back in on Sunday," he said.

Tooker, Pfleger to head Chamber

County Attorney Dean Tooker was elected president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Monday night at the general meeting of the membership at Langford Park Field House. Gene Pflieger, Mirror advertising salesman, was elected vice-president.

Re-elected recording secretary of the Chamber was Mrs. Marie Miller. The new treasurer is Joseph Mauldin, Jensen Beach office manager of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County.

Twenty-three members of the Chamber heard objections to the "eyesores" on Indian River Drive by local residents who urged that the owners of property with run-down buildings and decaying docks be asked to tear down the structures.

Destruction of the corners of idle streets along the Dixie name in for criticism, as one resident said the signs along the road were dangerous. New speed signs installed along the drive were credited with slowing traffic in the dangerous stretch of road near Riverside Park.

The work of the Martin County Men's Garden Club was cited for cleanup and placement of garbage cans along the road through Rio, and president Don Wilkie said he wanted to see something done about the trash along the roads after one resident complained about beer cans and pop bottles littering the Jensen Cutoff Road and South Savanna Road.

The Chamber membership refused to take action on a request by the Martin County Anglers Club for support in opposing legislation by the area commercial fishermen.

Elected directors to serve the next year on the board were: one year, Charles T. Hall and Robert Baltzer; two years, Charles H. Cole, Frank Forsberg and J. Fred Silvers; three years, Betty Bruce, Dick Campbell, Eva Caulder, Harry Lentz and Leonard Smith.

Serving with the newly elected officers and directors will be hold-over directors John Hughes, June Rice and Albert J. Wiegand, and immediate past-president Don Wilkie.

June Rice was appointed chairman of the installation banquet, planned for April 21.

SOUND- The financial condition of the Jensen Chamber of Commerce was reported as sound by Chamber Bob Baltzer, who gave an annual report of the year to the membership Monday night at the Langford Park field house.

ACTIVE--Chamber of Commerce executive director John Powers responded on an active year of the Jensen Chamber in his remarks to the general membership of the organization at a general meeting Monday night at the Langford Park field house.

FINAL REPORT--Jensen Chamber president Don Wilkie made his final report to the membership Monday night as he prepared to move to his new title of "immediate past-president" following the installation of the newly elected president in April.

Tradegy strikes

On the morning of March 15, a number of people from Ocean Breeze left here by bus to board the Franconia for a week's cruise. Among the group were Mr. and Mrs. Wittnebert (Frank and Tharsea). Just as the call came all visitors off the ship, Wittnebert's grandson Bruce Tillman of West Palm came aboard with the sad news of his father's sudden death that morning at approximately 7 A.M. With the help of Bruce and crew members the Wittnebers and their luggage were put ashore. They returned to Ocean Breeze and got their car, returning to the home of their daughter, Mrs. Averil Tillman where they stayed until after the funeral of their son-in-law, Carral Tillman. In addition to his wife Averil, son Bruce, and daughter-in-law, Barbara he also leaves a little granddaughter, Barbara. Mr. and Mrs. Wittnebert are leaving here March 28th to take their daughter Averil to Jersey to visit with their other daughter, Mrs. June Smith for about a month, then they will be returning here to spend the summer. On their trip north Wittneberts will stop at Orlando, where they will be joined by Mrs. Rose Swan and her sister, and the two cars will travel north together. Our sincere sympath goes to the Tillman and Wittnebert families in their time of sorrow.

Dr. George and Esther White were visiting in the park last Thursday, March 20. Many of the older residents of the park will remember when they lived on North 4th Ave. A picnic potluck dinner was arranged for their benefit on the causeway the next day. Two people, mostly lovers, assembled and talked of old times while eating. They were: Clarence and Lucille Fulton, Claude and Bessie Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Frazier, Dr. and Mrs. White, Edna Peters, Ethel Stiler and Sara Hoadley. Edna Peters is residing at the Fish'n Hole.

The new owners of the McGee cottage (Mamie White's) are Sarah and Wilson Scott of Gardnier, Maine, and at present they have Wilson's sister, Miss Alice Scott also of Gardnier as their guest. These new comers are friends of Avis and Al Colby and Elaine and Ralph Snow. That may account for their coming here?

Valyn Wells arrived back to Ocean Breeze on Sunday, March 16, after almost a month in Katskill Bay, N.Y., where her late husband, John Wells, was buried Feb. 19. Val, as we all know her, said she had never seen such deep snow as she found in her driveway at home, and it was very cold too, but business prevented an earlier return. She is glad to be back here now, and wants all the folks in O.B. to know how much she appreciates all the kindness shown to herself and to John during his illness. Until this happened, Val says, she never knew how much friends and neighbors meant. It is a true saying and one Val aholeheartedly agrees with, that a friend in need is a friend indeed, and she wants very much for everyone to know how much their love and kindness is appreciated.

Mavis Kostesch has a brand new studio now in which to work, with lots of good light from the proper direction. She should be able to produce even better pictures than before.

VISTA DRIVE FILLED UP- Our new river front development, Vista Drive, is pretty well taken up now and half the lots are sodded.

The two young ladies in the picture are Ruth and Susan Olser who are heading for their mobile home across the street.

Ocean Breeze ladies robbed at Indiantown

Last week we told of Mr. and Mrs. Reichheimer's and Alice Millar's visit to Indiantown and how they enjoyed seeing the peacocks at Owen's Groves. We were just informed that apparently while engrossed in the peacocks and garden displays they were robbed. The ladies had no thought of robbery among such people who were roustings and left their purses in the car. They didn't discover their loss till it was time to pay for their dinner, when they discovered they were missing over $90 between them.

They notified the Sheriff's department the next morning. A few days later they were delighted to be informed by the sheriff's department that the culprit had been found and $85.00 recovered. Apparently it was a teen age boy who they had talked to and thought he was a nice sort of boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyree's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dixon and their three children, ages four, two and seven months, are visiting here. Edward brought his motor bike on the back of the station wagon. Byron, the oldest boy, loves to ride with his dad on the motor bike.

Sidewalks completed

An anxiety, long shared by residents of Port St. Lucie, has been relieved by the completion of the sidewalk along heavily traveled Prima Vista Blvd. Pedestrians and bike-riders now have the added safety of an area they can call their own.

The four-foot sidewalk borders along 2540 feet of non-residential area along Prima Vista Blvd. and was recently completed by General Development Corp. at a cost of slightly more than $6,000.

This safety factor was first brought to the attention of GDC by the Port St. Lucie Homeowners Association and was backed by the Company Employees Safety Council.

Parents, please encourage your youngsters to use this sidewalk which was placed there for their benefit.

All-States Club elects new officers

Election of officers was the major order of business at Wednesday night's meeting of the All-States Club.

New officers are Ray Bartow, president; Leo Malone, vice-president, and Helen Hoenes, secretary-treasurer.

Officers will be installed at the annual community banquet to be held May 17 at St. Lucie Country Club. Tickets are available from Mary Marsh, Kay Harris, Fay Paul, Leo Malone, Ray Bartow, L. G. Goring, Clara Clobus, Pauline Lauria, Ethel Krall, Francis Lee or Dave Gassner at the Marina.

Reservations may be made with Francis Lee. The earlier they are made the better seat they will have, Bartow said.

Revival services held at First Baptist Church

Revival Services are being held at the First Baptist Church of Port St. Lucie March 23 through 30 at 7:30 p.m. nightly. The speaker each evening is Evangelist Jimmy Johnson of Orlando. Special music is provided with Mrs. Don Hall directing the choir and T. J. DuBosq pastor, leading the song service.

Thursday night there will be a pancake supper at the church starting at 6 p.m. Everyone is welcome but expected to remain for the evening worship hour.

These services are coordinated with the Crusade of the Americas, which has "Christ the Only Hope" as its guiding theme. Beginning in Sao Paulo, Brazil, in August, 1963, the Crusade has spread thru the western hemisphere and is now involving more than 20 million Baptists in North, South and Central America. Many Baptist churches are having an evangelistic emphasis at this time.

Other newcomers to the community are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart, 316 Holly Ave., coming here from St. Louis. Stewart is a decorating contractor. They have four children, all in St. Louis, and six grandchildren, with another expected.

Profits will go, as they have since it was founded 11 years ago, to provide for research, surgery and hospitalization for those unable to afford it.

Pietri said the foundation has brought sight to 13,500 people in the last 11 years. There has been a total of 20 cases locally. The majority of the cases have been straightening of the eyes, glaucoma, and cataracts.

Attendance at the meeting was around 100, according to Cedric Bent, M's. C. Ferguson was the only first-time visitor. Other visitors were June and Charles Baker of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Al Moore of Long Island, N.Y.

Librarian meets with Youth Council

Leroi Hennings, librarian at Martin County Public Library, met Thursday morning, March 20, with members of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce Youth Council and described in detail the operation of the library. Several suggestions will be studied by Hennings; among them: a change of the Wednesday night opening to Thursday, as many students are engaged in church activities on Wednesdays.

The librarian suggested that advance notice from teachers as to what certain books will be required reading would enable him to have them available on that schedule. The student group became interested through discussion in projects to help with library fund drives.

The possibility of use of the high school library one night a week will also be explored, possibly tied in with the adult education program.

The Chamber is now setting up a Speakers Bureau for high school club programs. Qualified speakers in the area who would be willing to give talks to the youth service clubs are asked to turn the information into the Chamber of Commerce office.

Little League season opens this weekend

The 1969 Little League season will officially get under way this weekend at Sportman's Park in Port St. Lucie. Sixty players, plus their parents and relatives, plus a host of additional spectators will be on hand for the opening ceremonies Saturday starting at 6:30 p.m.

The local Veterans of WW1 Barracks 2936 will open the program with Flag Raising Ceremonies, followed by the invocation by Fr. Campbell, pastor of Holy Faith Episcopal Church. The welcoming address will be given by league president Wayne Register. Master of ceremonies Jim Childs will introduce all league officers, players, managers and coaches. All the above are assembled on the field, Rick Dickson, player for the Jets, will lead them in the Little League pledge.

Last year's graduates will also be on hand to receive awards from Register.

The first ball will be thrown in by State Representative Chuck Nergard.

Concluding the evening's activities will be two games of two innings each, with Manning Suntex against the Jets and the Juniors against M&J.

The first official game will be Monday, March 31, at 7 p.m., when Suntex meets M&J. On Wednesday, April 2, at 7 p.m., the Juniors will meet the Jets, and on Friday, April 4, at 6:30 p.m. Jets vs. M&J, and at 8 p.m. Juniors vs. Suntex.

Set for April 8

Homeowners urged to attend meeting

The regular quarterly meeting of the Port St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners Association, which will be held Tuesday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. at the Marina, will be of particular interest in that a proposal for financial aid in the installation of four new shuffleboard courts at the Marina will be considered.

At a recent meeting of local organization presidents, Jack Sheridan, general manager of Port St. Lucie, stated that General Development Corp. would match, dollar-for-dollar to a limited extent, all contributions made by local organizations for this purpose. It has been estimated that the four new courts will cost approximately $2,000, and that contributions which may be reasonably expected, total about $750. Thus leaving a balance of $250 to be raised if the community is to meet its share of the project.

It is expected the Homeowners Association will be asked to contribute toward this project. Since this will require the approval of a majority of the members voting, president Joe Keating urges the attendance of all members who can do so. He also noted that only those members who have paid their dues for the current year, 1969, will be eligible to vote on the proposal.

Keating, together with directors Al McDonnell and Don White, have met with members of the County Legislative Committee and have discussed proposed legislation which would give to the counties, authority to install certain types of improvements such as sewers, drainage systems, roads, street lights, etc., and to levy or assess the costs of same against the property owners who would be benefited by them.

Keating stated it was their feeling that enlarging the taxing authority of the counties without prior referral to the taxpayers is neither necessary nor desirable at this time and that the taxpayer is losing his control over expenditures too rapidly as it is.

Director Don White when interviewed stated, "Those persons who are forced to live on fixed incomes because of forced retirement or disability are fast becoming "fed-up" with carrying a bag with its mouth wide open into which additional taxes are constantly being poured. I note that when our legislative representatives feel the financial pinch, it takes them but a matter of days, or in some instances but a few hours, to approve salary increases for themselves approximating 40%, while they continue to ignore a most serious problem confronting millions of citizens whose only income is of a fixed nature and cannot be improved.

"Homes have already been lost by foreclosure, people have already died because of the financial worries brought on them at this age by their inability to cope with the situation. How much longer must we wait before it will be recognized that fixed incomes, on the average, simply will not stand the imposition of new or additional taxes, or for that matter, even the maintenance of existing taxes. Present tax structures should be amended so that upon retirement or disability all taxes should be proportionately reduced with respect to the reduction in income."

White also noted that Sen. C. S. Reuter when commenting on a proposal to raise homestead exemption from $5,000 to $10,000 for those 65 years of age, is reported to have said that such an idea was only "kidding the old people, that they would have to pay extra taxes somewhere else to make up the difference like the rest of us." White added that he could find no indication in that statement of a knowledge or recognition of the condition of these so-called "old folks". And if there be no knowledge of a condition, how can improvement be looked for from that source? I can see no hope, he added, for improvement in this situation unless we positively assert ourselves in every way possible. That is why the Homeowners Association is exerting every effort to make known to our Legislative Committee that which we believe to be the desires of our residents.

However, the "Big Stick" will remain as always, in the hands of the voter, if he can only be induced to use it, and we happen to believe he can be.

Swimming pool to open soon

For those interested in the swimming pool, work is proceeding well and it should be open and in operation by next weekend. That is, provided we get a lifeguard, and I feel confident someone in the area will respond to our plea.

The hours of operation will be the same as in past years. From 10 to 12 for adults only Monday through Friday and 1 to 5 for all ages Tuesday through Sunday.

Starting in the near future, at a date to be announced later, we hope thru the cooperation of the YMCA to offer an adult learn-to-swim class, probably from 9 to 10 a.m. Also a class for pre-schoolers will be run during lunch hour. Evening swimming, as was held last year, should also be starting in the near future. Follow The Mirror for additional announcements.

There has been some interest expressed to reforming the Port St. Lucie Competitive Swim Team. This would be a team of youngsters of all ages, who are fairly skilled in the various competitive strokes. The team would travel to various meets throughout the state, generally on weekends, competing with similar teams from other communities. Please call the Marina and indicate your interest if you have a boy or girl who might be interested. Keep in mind, the team will be formed only if there is sufficient interest.

Other newcomers to the area are Mr. and Mrs. William Beetle and family, 109 Riomar Drive. They have two children, Stephanie, 13, and Bill, 11. Beetle works at Grumman, coming here from Massapequa, Long Island.

Three rather large boats pulled into the Marina last week, spending several days here. They included a 36 foot ketch "The Holy Crow" owned by the Jerry Drews from New Jersey; a 38 foot cruiser "Loafalong" owned by Capt. John Litchfield of Bristol, N.H., and a 36 foot houseboat "Tealark" owned by the Bruce Teals from Rochester, N.Y.

RUNNERS-UP--Runners-up in this month's shuffleboard tournament, sponsored by the PSL Shuffleboard Club, are left, Bill Jacobson, and right, Joe Keating.

Leroy Hennings, librarian at Martin County Public Library, met Thursday evening, March 20, with members of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce Youth Council and described in detail the operation of the library. Several suggestions will be studied by Hennings; one of them a change of the Wednesday night opening to Thursday as many students are engaged in church activities on Wednesdays.

The librarian suggested that advance notice from teachers as to when certain books will be required reading would enable him to have them available on that schedule. The student group became interested through discussion in projects to help with library fund drives.

The possibility of use of the high school library one night a week will also be explored, possibly tied in with the adult education program.

The Chamber is now setting up a Speakers Bureau for high school club programs. Qualified speakers in the area who would be willing to give talks to the youth service clubs are asked to turn the information into the Chamber of Commerce office.

Cooke asks for FOI

Stuart officials are reinstated

A jury returned a not guilty verdict in the case of five 1967-68 commissioners accused of violating the state "government in the sunshine" law, and Mayor Ray Cooke called for passage of a freedom of information ordinance that would guarantee future meetings and public records open to the public.

Cooke was reinstated to office on Friday, along with two commissioners, Arthur Sims and Bill Todt. Former mayor Jack Hartman awaits a second grand jury charge of mal-practice, with trial to be April 14. Also acquitted was former commissioner Dan McClure.

Interim commissioners Harold Whalen, Sr., Walter L. Robinson and Bernard Coker were reinstated from their positions with the reinstatement of the three. Jeff Greene and Jim Gibbs, as an interim commissioner until the disposition of the Hartman case.

Cooke said Friday that he was happy with the verdict. He said, however, he felt that the case developed through the lack of guidelines under which the commission could operate.

"I want to see our commission pass the open meeting ordinance prepared by the Florida Press Association. It will assure the public that we want to hold all meetings in the open, and will give us the guidelines by which to operate," Cooke said.

Mirror publisher Dick Campbell, president of the association of Florida newspapers, recently presented a proposed ordinance on open meetings to the interim commission of Stuart. The commissioners had the ordinance for four weeks but have not acted on it.

The ordinance will be discussed Wednesday night by the reinstated commission.

Cooke has called for open meetings, full public access to the records, and a monthly report to the public through giving copies of the month's financial reports to the press.

The trial ends a period of confusion which has plagued city commission, beginning with charges by the state attorney, Charles T. Carlson, that misfeasance, malfeasance and nonfeasance charges would be brought against the city officials. Carlson, in the midst of a political campaign, called the grand jury into session.

Following a period of meetings by the grand jury, the only charge brought in indictment was one of violation of the Florida "Government in the Sunshine" law by four commissioners, accused of holding a secret meeting and one charge of malpractice, against Hartman for signing a check for $500 to former city manager Joe Crowder.

Egg Hunt Saturday

Children living in the Jensen Beach-Rio area have been invited to participate in the second annual Easter Egg Hunt, sponsored by Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department.

The event, for pre-school children up to the age of 12, will be held on Saturday, April 5, at Langford Park, Jensen Beach. The hunt will start at 10 a.m., and prizes will be awarded.

Gene Oliver is chairman of the event. Members of the auxiliary, with Mrs. Merle Oliver, chairman, will hard boil and dye 1,500 eggs on Thursday.

Baseball registration Saturday April 5th

Registration will be held Saturday from 8 a.m. until 12 noon for Peanut, Little and Pony League players, according to Vince DeAbreu. Registration will be at Langford Park field house.

Each child must be accompanied by a parent. A birth certificate must be shown, and a $2.00 registration fee paid for insurance.

Children signing up for Peanut League must be 6 to 10 years of age; Little League, 10 to 12; Pony League, 13 to 15. No 11 or 12 year old boys will be permitted to play on Peanut League teams according to a new rule this year.

The Leagues will work out next week to establish what will play on what team and what boys will be moved to the Peanut League. Little and Peanut Leagues will practice from 5 to 8 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday; Pony League will practice Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 8 p.m.

There will be five baseball teams in the Jensen Beach area. This year Jensen Beach Bank is sponsoring a new Peanut League team, co-managed by Dick Campbell and Dr. Dennis Rinaldi; a new Little League team, Rio Civic Club, will be managed by Lefty Passantie; Jensen Beach VFW Peanut team managed by Jim Wilkie; Jensen Lions Pony League, with Frank Wachs as manager, and Stuart-Jensen Elks, Little League, managed by Harry Lantz.

Parents are needed to assist with registration Saturday morning and to help with the concession stand during the season. Help is also needed for umpires, scorekeepers and other areas.

A total of 115 boys are expected to register for this season's baseball activity. Each district will be responsible for raising funds to pay for supplies, baseballs and suits. The concession stand is the greatest source of revenue.

Activity for adults is also tentatively being planned for the summer months at Langford Park. If enough adults are interested, plans will be made for tennis, shuffleboard and horseshoe-pitching leagues. Contact a league official if you are interested.

County talking

Master planning pushed for county's evolution

The need for more active planning and an eventual master plan for Martin County was discussed in a workshop meeting of the county commission Tuesday. The discussion began with a proposal by chairman Bill Hussey to establish a volunteer planning committee.

Other commissioners were quick to point out that the county planning and zoning board was already charged with that responsibility, but was too busy with zoning matters to do much planning, if any.

"We should spell out to the planning board that we want and need planning," said Commissioner Elmer Powers.

County Attorney Dean Tooker pointed out that the planning and zoning board was a "bunch of amateurs trying to do a professional job." He added that the zoning board was "sending more than an auxiliary to the real estate men so that they can sell property."

"Boca Raton has not had a change in zoning for the past two years," Tooker said, he referred to the presentation of a planning report who spoke recently in Stuart, saying that the master plan of the city was excellent.

Hussey said there were land planners available in the county who would be happy to serve on a planning committee, but commission feelings were that the zoning board should assume the responsibility of planning if it felt that the planning was needed.

Tooker, attorney for the planning and zoning board for eight years, said, "The plan should schoolgo ensure to be run with the zoning ordinance. Zoning is supposed to implement the plan you make."

Commissioner Frank Adams pointed out already, area planning which the nation has done in the master zoning plan, zoning changed accordingly.

zoning change applications.

"All areas should be planned to be zoned around the hub, which is Stuart," Wachs said.

Dr. William C. Myers was appointed to look into the possibility that the Florida Development Commission might help the planners under the new program.

In other discussions during the work session, the commissioners:

FAVORED the establishment of Interstate 75 from Miami to Tampa along the route of Alligator Alley, a toll road.

TENTATIVELY accepted a plan for the improvement of Boy Scout Camp Tanahaswka on Jonathan Dickinson State Park by the Sanlees, using county equipment, Dick Campbell, a recruiting official, was to get more information on the amount of equipment use and the liability of machines and how much the equipment was being used.

GAVE $50 from all taxing districts except 1 to the baseball leagues in the county for the purchase of equipment (baseballs).

HEARD a state resolution on a population act that would raise the salaries of county officials.

AGREED in advance the proposed plan to be backed by the county boards in the legislature. A public hearing on the plan will be held at the April 8 meeting of the commissioners.

SRD holds meeting

Majority favor western route

At an informal public meeting held by the State Road Dept. Friday afternoon, only one person spoke in favor of an eastern route for Interstate Highway I-95.

Attorney Bill Scott favored an eastern route because of the beauty of the area.

However, Walter Crowell, executive vice president of a local road building firm, said it would cost about $1.5 million per mile to build the road through town compared to a cost of $500,000 to $650,000 per mile to build it west of the turnpike.

Bill Nussey, County Commission Chairman, reminded a route a mile or two west of the turnpike, or else to build a new turnpike route west of the present one and use the present road for free I-95.

County Commissioner Elmer Powers said the County Commission has not yet adopted an official policy on the route.

Phil Baker of Jensen Beach said provision should be made for cloverleaf exchanges along the route.

State Road Dept. District Engineer Arnold Hamm, said information will soon be obtained from the Turnpike Authority showing the need for a new traffic artery.

Information from the informal public meetings will be turned over to the commission who makes future route proposals, which will be subject to public hearings.

Hamm said the road should be completed by 1975.

Dear Richard & Campbell,

You will be glad to hear that the shipment of clothing arrived. We were afraid that there had been some mishap somewhere along the line, so it was a pleasant surprise to get notification from the shipping agency that the goods were on their way. We had the clothing transported from Saigon last week.

I would like to thank you, Miss Langford and the people of Jensen Beach for your kind interest in us. Your gifts were received with enthusiasm. The large number of children's dresses are especially useful as we have quite a number of school age children.

Pleated and gathered skirts are among the more popular items, as the girls have started using the cloth from these in their sewing and tailoring classes.

Boy's and men's clothing we distributed among the neighbors, who were all very happy to have their share of the goodies. There were quite a number of boys shirts which were much appreciated by families who have a boy going to school.

Again I would like to thank all concerned for the generosity shown us. They will have a greatful remembrance in our prayers.

Sincerely yours,
Sr. Joan.

St. Andrew Society started in Stuart

Recently, 80 well-wishers toasted Robert Burns at a dinner in Stuart's Holiday Inn two days after his 210th birthday, under the banner of The St. Andrew Society of Florida.

The man who organized the dinner, and now president of the St. Andrew Society of Florida, is Coatbridge-born William O. Maclaren. Basing the program on a pattern established by the World Federation of Scottish Societies, Maclaren told the group, "We have received the sanction of the World Federation to name this new society as it appears on your programs. We have applied for membership in the World Federation, and this has been granted, which gives us a firm foundation for our activities."

The first activity was marked by the piping in of the Haggis, which was paraded and duly toasted, then returned to the chef in the kitchen.

"In proposing this toast to the real hero of the night's entertainment," he continued, "I want to pay the highest possible tribute to our Honorary Pipar George Nicoll. Piper Nicoll is Pipe Major of the McNaughton Clan Pipe Band in Rochester, N.Y., and prior to that had the high distinction of being a Piper in the Black Watch Regiment. You have, tonight, heard his fantastic ability, and can only assume from the performance that he has given that he is possessed of a fine pair of lungs."

The chairman invited the diners to rise for the toast, then as tradition requires, handed a silver goblet to Piper Nicoll, who quaffed the draft in view of all, turned over the vessel and kissed the bottom to prove that it was, indeed, empty.

In proposing the toast to the "Immortal memory" of Robert Burns, Maclaren observed, "For centuries the rest of the world has been trying to analyze the Scot's character. How can a 'foreigner' succeed in attempting to analyze a war-like nation with a poet as its national hero?"

At the conclusion of the evening, there was general agreement that The St. Andrew Society of Florida, with headquarters in Stuart, should at once set about establishing itself as a working member of the World Federation of Scottish Societies. A nominating committee appointed from those attending the Burns Night gathering presented a slate of officers and committee chairmen to a general meeting called on March 11, at the Elliott Museum, and the following were voted into office: President, William O. Maclaren; Vice-President, Colonel Hardin Ross; Treasurer, David B. Irons; Secretary, Miss Emeline K. Paige; Deputy Secretary, Mrs. Jean Kerns; Society Chaplain, Rev. A. Sydney Lowrie; Society Piper, George Nicoll; and committeemen, Harry Bayliss, Robert W. Hannah, Brig. Gen., M. N. Huston, Harland W. Perves, David Sturrock, Alexander Wilson, and R. W. Wilson, Jr.

BIG BASS- Jim Shipman, 156 W. Prima Vista, Port St. Lucie, landed these two giant bass while dibbling from a small wooden boat in the Jensen Canals. Dibbling features a cane pole, six inches of line, and several hooks through a home-made bait, a piece of rubber. Saturday morning about 7 a.m., Shipman landed an eleven pound and a five pound bass, plus a good stringer of pickerel, while dibbling.

Summer kindergarten set for Indiantown

According to School Supt. James Navitsky the Martin County school system has been awarded $10,000 for the purchase of a kindergarten classroom.

Thomas Culton, director of the state migrant education program notified Navitsky of the grant.

The kindergarten program at the Indiantown school is to be open to migrant and nonmigrant children this summer and for the school year of 1969-70.

The possibility of the county using some twenty acres of land owned by Martin County in St. Lucie County for a sanitary land fill was confirmed this week as the county commission went on record to ask the St. Lucie County Commission for a change in zoning.

The acreage lies in the southern part of St. Lucie County, off U.S. 1, and the county plans to ask for a five year zoning change to permit the "rehabilitation" of the land from its former borrow pit use.

The portable classroom will be financed by federal money, Navitsky said.

Enrollment figures announced by Navitsky for the sixth school month show total enrollment was 5,365, an increase of 432 over the same period in 1968 and 43 more than the fifth month this year.

Repub Women hear Navitsky

James Navitsky, Superintendent of Schools, spoke at the Rio-St. Lucie Republican Women's Club meeting held Monday, March 31, at the Sunrise Inn.

Navitsky spoke on the current problems of schools.

Also at the meeting, two delegates were chosen to attend the Florida Federation of Republican Women convention to be held April 24 and 25 at St. Petersburg.

Chosen were Mrs. W.A. Gessner and Mrs. John Hussey.

Mrs. Letha Keith reported on the work panel she attended last Saturday. This was the last spring meeting held.

Orville Beems are longtime park residents

The Beems have been spending their winters in Ocean Breeze Park ever since its beginning in the winter of 1938-9.

They were vacationing at Sanibel Island that winter. The only access to the island at that time was by ferry. Orville says in those days one could pick up any amount of beautiful seashells on the beaches.

The reason they came to Ocean Breeze Camp as it was then called, was to visit their old friend and family doctor, Doctor Hughes, who was staying here at the time. They were impressed with what they saw and made it their winter home from then on.

The Beems left for their northern home at Redding, Mich., March 31. Orville works at installing septics throughout the summer and at harvest time he does combining with his own self-propelled combine.

The Tuesday Pinochle Club had quite an interesting thing happen last week when they played at the Al Pape home. John Bean and Nettie Christie were partners playing against Jos Robertson and Al Pape at one table. Nettie opened the bidding and her opponent passed, then her partner raised her bid, and the other player passed. Nettie raised John's bid, so figuring he had a pretty good hand he bid again, and Nettie raised his bid again. John said he wondered what Nettie could have but was no good, but passed and was more than surprised when she declared a spades trump, as that was his suit. Each of them was holding a straight in spades and their combined meld was 39. This has happened before, but not too often in the opinion of the Tuesday Pinochle Club.

Ocean Breezers take Puerto Rican tour

Many Ocean Breezers, including Ruby Wren, our popular pianist and entertainer, give delighted reports of their recent Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands trip so we asked Ruby to give us an account of their trip, which she very graciously did. Here it is:

There was an unusual traffic jam down at the office at 7 A.M., March 18, as 45 happy people left by special bus for Port Everglades where they boarded the "Franconia" for a six day cruise to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

After a send off wit paper streamers, ballons, and the band playing, the ship headed south. We soon found our cabins and were assigned to our time and tables in the dining room. Every morning a program of the day's activities was slipped under our door. There is just so much to do you can't do it all. There is jogging exercises, swimming, games, table tennis, trap shooting, card parties, horse racing, dancing, bingo and many more.

In San Juan and St. Thomas there were side trips or you could shop around. St. Thomas is a duty free port. The liquor, cigarettes, and perfumes were good buys, but dresses and clothing were high.

We left St. Thomas late in the evening after a wonderful show. If we had relatives or friends at St. Thomas, we could invite them aboard for our last evening.

GOODBYE- Tom Cook waves goodbye as he leaves for a two week's holiday in Jamaica. His good wife and correspondent partner, Nellie, will take care of the news for The Mirror while he is away and Tom will appreciate the co-operation of Ocean Breeze friends in bringing in their news items to her.

Hijacker foiled

Ron Dye of Mt. 3rd tells an interesting story. Ron's son, Richard, of Plainview, Texas, flew into Miami, Mar. 20, to visit his father for a couple of days. On the plane from Dallas, he saw a man get out and, himself, board the plane and walk to the rear where he stood for a moment. The pilot apparently suffered was suspicious of this man so was warned that he might be a hijacker, so got when they landed at New Orleans he ordered all the passengers off the plane. When the plane was cleared of passengers, and all, superchief was centralizing with his family, and another male passenger grabbed the would-be hijacker, threw him to the floor and tied him up with his own belt. Richard told his father he was glad it happened that way, as he applied to spend his two-day vacation with him rather than visit Cuba.

Entertainers have potluck supper

A year ago last month Bertie Sage and a com-mittee of 22 staged a very successful show commemo-rating the 30th anniversary of Ocean Breeze Park. She thought it would be a good idea to get the group together again, so with this idea in mind, and with the aid of a committee, she arranged a potluck supper in the club house. The committee was Otto and Martha Schorer, Charles and Bess Olson, Earl and Lila Ehrmann, Bill and Bea Tourville, Milton and Bertie Sage and Harry and Ann Bartle.

Milton Sage asked the blessing and a very good meal was enjoyed by all. After the meal the screen was lowered and Harry Bar-tle showed movies he had taken a year ago at the time of the show. This was very appropriate and the actors in the show had an oppor-tunity to see themselves as others saw them.

Don Wells, with the ac-companiment of Bessie Theilig at the piano, then sang two songs in his very able manner.

Next, Ida Wilson in grass skirt and Hawaiian attire, gave two dance numbers, "Keep your Eyes on the Hands," and "Pearly Shells."

Don Wells seized the opportunity to thank his friends for their cards and letters he received during his long seven month stay in the hospital. They helped to make his confinement more bearable.

Don Wells then obliged with another song and the gathering joined in singing some of the old favorites, concluding with "Auld Lang Syne."

Bertie thanked all for what they had done in the past and the present to which she was given a standing ovation.

POTLUCK DINNER- The Ocean Breeze Players of 1968, who last year staged a very successful show commemorating the 30th anniversary of Ocean Breeze Park, held a potluck dinner. Orville Beems are longtime park residents

The Beems have been spending their winters in Ocean Breeze Park ever since its beginning in the winter of 1938-9.

They were vacationing at Sanibel Island that winter. The only access to the is-land at that time was by ferry. Orville says in those days one could pick up any amount of beautiful seashells on the beaches.

The reason they came to Ocean Breeze Camp as it was then called, was to visit their old friend and family doctor, Doctor Hughes, who was staying here at the time. They were impressed with what they saw and made it their winter home from then on.

The Beems left for their northern home at Redding, Mich., March 31. Orville works at installing septics throughout the summer and at harvest time he does com-bining with his own self-propelled combine.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence K. Young of Dunedin, Fla., were the guests of Mrs. Young's sister, Mrs. Ruth Griffith, for a week. This is the first time in 20 years that the Youngs have been in Ocean Breeze, and they were amazed at the changes and the growth of the park. Some 21 years ago, they lived in Fort Lauderdale and when Ruth took them there, they just could not believe a place could change so much. While here they spent a day at Lake Wales.

Ocean Breezers take Puerto Rican tour

Many Ocean Breezers, in-cluding Ruby Wren, our popular pianist and enter-tainer, give delighted re-ports of their recent Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands trip so we asked Ruby to give us an account of their trip, which she very graciously did. Here it is:

There was an unusual traf-fic jam down at the office at 7 A.M., March 15, as 45 happy people left by special bus for Port Everglades where they boarded the "Franconia" for a six day cruise to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

After a send off with paper streamers, balloons, and the band playing, the ship headed south. We soon found our cabins and were assigned to our time and tables in the dining room. Every morn-ing a program of the day's activities was slipped under our door. There is just so much to do you can't do it all. There is jogging, exer-cises, swimming, games, table tennis, trap shooting, card parties, horse racing, dancing, bingo and many more.

In San Juan and St. Thomas there were side trips or you could shop around. St. Thomas is a duty free port. The liquor, cigarettes, and perfumes were good buys, but dresses and clothing were high.

We left St. Thomas late in the evening after a won-derful show. If we had rela-tives or friends at St. Thom-as, we could invite them aboard for our last evening.

It was a beautiful balmy tropical night and as we eased out of the harbor, the city lights and those of the homes perched on the moun-tain side and the other ships in the harbor, combined to make a sight we will always remember.

With beautiful weather and the many activities on board, time flew and we were back in Port Everglades where our charter bus was waiting to bring a tired, but happy group back to Ocean Breeze where I am sure we will have a common topic of con-versation for a long time.

GOODBYE- Tom Cook waves goodbye as he leaves for a two week's holiday in Jamaica. His good wife and cor-respondent partner, Nellie, will take care of the news for The Mirror while he is away and Tom will appreciate the co-operation of Ocean Breeze friends in bringing in their news items to her.

Hijacker foiled

Roy Dye of NE 3rd tells an interesting story. Roy's son, Richard, of Plainview, Texas, flew to Miami, Mar. 29, to visit his father and couple of days. On the plane from Dallas, he saw a man, not too well dressed, board the plane and talk to the rear where he stood for sometime. The pilot ap-parently either was sus-picious of this man, was warned that he might be a hijacker, in any event when they landed at New Orleans he ordered all the passen-gers off the plane. When the plane was cleared of passengers, an F.B.I. super-visor who was travelling with his family, and another male passenger grabbed the would-be hijacker, threw him to the floor and tied him up with his own belt. Richard told his father he was glad it happened that way, as he wanted to spend his Tuesday vacation with him rather than visit Cuba.

LITTLE LEAGUE CEREMONIES- Little League ceremonies were held Saturday night at Port St. Lucie, opening the 1969 season at Sportman's Park. Flag raising was by members of VWW1, Barracks 2936, with all teams assembled on the field.

Little League season opens

The 1969 Port St. Lucie Little League season got underway with appropriate ceremonies Saturday night at Sportman's Park. An excellent crowd was on hand as master of ceremonies Jim Childs made the official opening announcement which was followed by the Flag Raising Ceremonies by VWI Barracks 2836. The invocation was given by Rev. Martin Campbell of Holy Faith Episcopal Church.

League officials, umpires and players assembled on the field as they were announced. The Little League pledge was given and last year's graduates received their LL PINS.

The first ball was thrown in by State Representative Charles Negard.

This was truly a sight worth seeing, and an experience that will live in the memories of 60 boys probably the rest of their lives.

Friday night's games will see the Jets and M&J at 6:30 p.m., followed by the Juniors and Suntex at 8 p.m. Monday night's action will pit Suntex against the Jets at 7 p.m., and Wednesday, April 9, M&J will meet the Juniors at 7 p.m.

FIRST BALL—State Representative Charles Negard threw in the first ball at the 1969 Port St. Lucie Little League season opening on Saturday night. Games will be played Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights at Sportman's Park.

Fishing contest entry deadline is April 15

Special events chairman Carl Herzog this week said that the winter fishing contest, sponsored by the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club, has only a short while longer to run. Deadline for entries will be April 15.

Herzog further mentioned that there are still several categories in which there are no entries. The entries to date have each qualified for some of the prizes which are awarded to contestants.

While for many species the club awards first, second and third prizes, practically every entry is almost certain to receive an award. Categories in which fish can be entered are as follows: snook, bluefish, trout, channel bass, bass and catfish. There will also be three prizes for the most unusual catches.

Ed Buffington said, "For the summer contest which ended Oct. 15, the 38 fishermen who entered about 92 fish received over $450 worth of prizes."

Ed Kulisek, co-chairman in charge of awards, said that the prizes for this contest will be "bigger and better than ever."

Many of the local tackle dealers donate fishing gear for these yearly contests.

Commissioners resign posts

Four City of Port St. Lucie councilmen resigned as directors of the city's homeowner's association following passage of a resolution by members of the association.

In a letter to the homeowner's president, Dr. Herbert Hedberg, the councilmen cited the recent vote of 43 to 16 in favor of a "resolution regarding a conflict of interest between we members of the City Council also being directors of the Homeowner's Association, we, the undersigned, feel, in the interests of our community and for the benefit of our homeowner's association that we should as of this date resign our appointments as directors..."

The letter was signed by Eugene Kavanaugh, mayor-councilman, and councilmen Harold Swetley, Franklin Beardsley and Julian Flood.

The letter cited a question posed by a member of the homeowners at a meeting last week, questioning the "integrity of four members of the city council who are also members of the homeowners directorate."

The councilmen resigned "without any animosity whatsoever, wishing the homeowner's association "every success".

Garden Club plans cards

The Rio Lindo Garden Club is making plans for the card party and luncheon set for April 22 at St. Lucie Country Club, according to Ethel Krall, chairman. Fabulous door prizes and a lingerie raffle will be featured.

The club held its regular monthly meeting March 24 at the Marina. Dessert and coffee were served by Mrs. Harlow Millard and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Harold Lawson, Mrs. Robert Roederer, Mrs. Alan Van Nostrand and Mrs. Lee Mallone.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Byron Morgus gave an informative and interesting discussion of plants that attract birds and also displayed various and ingenious homemade contrivances for the same purpose.

JUST EIGHTY-- St. Lucie Country Club bartender Kip Sisler celebrated his 80th birthday last Sunday and was surprised with a cake and party by the waitresses at the country club. The party was organized by his daughter, Mrs. Helen Mosier, dining room supervisor, and attended by the dining room employees.

Doubtful that pool will open this weekend

Due to unforseen difficulties involving the underwater lights, and several other small problems, it is doubtful that the PSL swimming pool will be open by this weekend, according to Dave Gessner, PSL recreation director.

One of the other problems is that the marina has still not obtained the services of a lifeguard. Until there is one, the pool cannot be opened.

However, as soon as these problems are rectified, the pool will be open for use.

Just as a reminder, start looking for pool tags, because tags will be checked and those without them will not be permitted entry, Gessner said. For the benefit of new owners, pool tags are available at the marina for a deposit fee of 50¢ each. Guest tags, for out-of-town house guests only, are also available at the marina.

Personals

Public relation officer Alice Goldsmith of U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 55, has announced that the sight lesson education course in "Basic Seamanship" has been cancelled. This announcement is caused by unforseen conditions, Mrs. Goldsmith said. The course will be rescheduled as soon as possible.

Sunday morning a non-denominational church service will be held at the main camp site.

The present scout units in PSL include Sea-Explorer ship 498, Scout Troop 499 and Cub Pack 499. Each unit has fine lead-ership and is doing a very good job, according to their Neighborhood Commissioner Ed Bauer.

County approves industrial park

Martin County approved the zoning change for a industrial park near Jensen Beach at the regular meeting of the board of county commissioners Tuesday. The change was requested by Warner B. Tilton, owner of the property.

Commissioner Bill Owens, who had opposed the change at a previous meeting "until I can look at it", moved that the change be allowed. He said that he had looked at the area, found it compatible to surrounding areas, measured the distance to the proposed Jensen Beach Elementary School as one mile and asked that it be approved.

Speaking against the change was Art Ruhnke, a property owner nearby, who said he spoke as a taxpayer of Martin County. He said it would be dangerous to pass the zoning, that "it would be giving a book of blank checks, hoping they would be used properly." Ruhnke said the county should approve each industry coming to Martin County, and said, "I recommend that this request be denied."

The industrial park is located at the south end of South Savanna Road, on the F.E.C. railroad tracks, at both sides of the road.

County engineer Tom Sliger read the possible uses under the zoning as requested, and the commission passed the plan, 4 to 1, with commission chairman Bill Hussey opposing.

In other actions, the board discussed legislation pertaining to the county, and asked that the legislative delegation representing the county in Tallahassee to inform the commission of any proposed county legislation that had not been heard by the commission or be recommended by it.

The county backed a request of Judge Mallory Johnson, asking the state to designate two days for Driver license testing in the county due to the increased load of the inspectors.

The board also heard a presentation of Travis Attaway, Port Salerno businessman, and representative of Organized Enterprises of Florida, asking support for the commercial fishermen's legislation. Attaway also needed supporting letters from various organizations to the commission.

A boat ship and launch award to Kenneth Harris for the South Fork of the St. Lucie River Board received attention from the board as did the request from Southern Bell Telephone for a subscriber split on the Ark-A-Bridge in Stuart.

St. Lucie opposes Martin land fill

Hopes dimmed for the possible sanitary land fill site of Martin County land in St. Lucie County last week as the meeting between the county attorney of Martin County, Dean Tooker, and representatives of St. Lucie County, the City of Port St. Lucie, and businessmen and residents of the area turned in marked opposition.

The City of Port St. Lucie found that a planned canal, a waterway for boats in area set aside adjoin section of the city, ran along the property line of the sanitary land fill. Opposition was based upon possible pollution and pollution from the land fill.

Opponents of public landfarks and local home owners, as well as a representative of the Indian River Estates Association, opposed the site. Some mentioned the pollution of wells nearby as reasons for the opposition.

Mayor Eugene Kavanaugh reported at his city commission Monday that he was certain that the county would deny the request of Martin County for a change in zoning to permit a sanitary land fill on the property.

In other business, Kavanaugh reported that postal inspectors had visited the city, looking at the proposed site of a new post office, and mentioned that a "more permanent" structure, instead of "tin roof" would be made. The post office would be under the jurisdiction of the city, with a full service to residents in the city, and the necessary equipment to handle registered mail. Kavanaugh said it might be possible to have the new post office in the middle of the summer.

Upon recommendation of a special finance committee, headed by Dr. Harold Nutley, the city combined bank accounts of two Fort Pierce banks and the eastern office of the First National Bank of Stuart with a provision that three months operating capital be kept in the Fort Pierce banks for payrolls and road and border maintenance, with the remainder being asked to be kept Stuart. Dr. Nutley charge in the city treasurer duties.

Floodgates lowered

Floodgates were lowered on Monday, cutting the discharge of Lake Okeechobee water into the St. Lucie River, according to Col. John F. McKinney, District Engineer of the Army Corps of Engineers, Jacksonville.

The gates were lowered from three feet to nine-and-a-half feet, however, the 24 spillway gates into Everglades National Park remain open.

At the time the reduction was ordered, Lake Okeechobee was 14.55 feet above mean sea level, a drop of .21 feet since last Wednesday. The lake is still above its regulation height for this time of year. McKinney pointed out and is still getting an input of 3,700 cfs, a second from the Kissimmee River Basin.

Reducing the spillway gate openings at the St. Lucie Locks cuts the discharge rate from 6,940 cfs per second to about 4,300 cfs.

Judge Johnson appoints Bludworth

David Bludworth, assistant county prosecutor in Palm Beach County, was reappointed on Monday by Judge Mallory L. Johnson.

Bludworth had been named by Gov. Claude Kirk as prosecutor in the case against former mayor of the City of Stuart Jack Hariman. The move followed the withdrawal of W. Dughterson, local attorney, who disqualified himself from the litigation.

Defending attorney Robert J. Randolph filed a motion in which he questioned the legality of the governor's appointment of Bludworth as special prosecutor.

Inlet hopes alive

The purchase of the island of Jupiter Island for a park by the state brought a flurry of activity all over the county and in Washington, D.C., as the planners of the expansion of the St. Lucie Inlet started looking again at the facts of federal control and appointment interplay. Many studies of the inlet have been made as a result of the lack of public ownership of land to the south of the inlet, known as area 1. Benefit from the inlet improvement project is presumed the investment of federal funds in the improvement of the inlet.

The entire project is tied to the development of a safe inlet, and to beach erosion. The study, completed by the Corps of Engineers in 1965, based upon beach erosion control, set the cost of the inlet improvement at $1,432,000. The engineers had to file an interim report on the feasibility of the project due to the lack of public ownership.

At present, U.S. Congressman Paul Rogers is looking into a new study of the studies so that a more favorable federal-state participation ruling can be made. The county is working with the State Board of Conservation to gain more information on the studies and the cost ratio.

The state Outdoor Recreation Council is purchasing 819 acres on the north end of the island, and three miles of land will be placed into public park ownership.

Local conservationists are beating the drums on the improvement of the killer inlet, a major part of the erosion project. Just recently, the inlet jetty on the north was reinforced with concrete slabs. It was hoped that the plugging and reinforcing of the jetty would allow the inlet to cut its own channel open. This has, to a degree, occurred, according to observers.

The acreage, with an indicated price of $116,100, runs from Indian River to the Atlantic Ocean, and is located about four miles north of the Martin County line.

About a third of the tract was transferred from Boswell to Walter and Carol S. Searson, Ft. Lauderdale, for $64,000, according to papers on file at St. Lucie County courthouse.

DE MOLAY'S ETHICS

A DeMolay serves God.

A DeMolay honors all womankind.

A DeMolay loves and honors his parents.

A DeMolay is honest.

A DeMolay is loyal to his friends.

A DeMolay practices honesty.

A DeMolay's word is as good as his bond.

A DeMolay is courteous.

A DeMolay is at all times gentlemanly.

A DeMolay is a patriot in peace as well as war.

A DeMolay is clean in mind and body.

A DeMolay stands unreservedly for the public schools.

A DeMolay always bears in remembrance of a good and benevolent citizen.

A DeMolay by precept and example must preserve the high standard of which he has pledged himself.

The Order of DeMolay

Building better citizens out of teen-age boys is the goal of the Order of DeMolay, an international youth organization founded on March 18, 1919 in Kansas City, Mo., by Frank S. Land and nine teenage youths.

The organization was named for Jacques DeMolay, the last Grand Master of the Knights Templars, who was burned at the stake by King Philip of France on March 18, 1314, as a martyr to loyalty and toleration. Today members of DeMolay strive to live up to the ideals for which DeMolay gave his life—loyalty and service to God and fellow man.

DeMolay does not attempt to take the place of the home or church, but rather supplement them. The organization's purpose is to offer the teenage boy of today:

1. A wholesome outlook on life spare time.
2. Worth while associates.
3. The best of entertainment.
4. An interesting and complete program of all-around youth development.

Congratulations and Best Wishes to the Acacia Chapter of DeMolay

Now it's on that City of Port St. Lucie Mayor Eugene Kavanaugh wants the Fort Pierce and Stuart Chambers of Commerce to take some lessons in protocol. It seems that they held a joint meeting to hear Congressman Paul Rogers speak and didn't invite the members of the city council, or the mayor, to the fest...held at St. Lucie Country Club. Congressman Rogers was very apologetic to the mayor, and showed that the planners didn't think of the city.

The directed verdict of not guilty in the case of Jack Harriman, Stuart city commissioner, was worked out the night before. Special prosecutor David Bludworth realized he had no case, and stated that the indictment was even issued.

Is he/she able to work out a compromise on drainage of the Cove Villa at the Casa Del Mar beach, the county will proceed with condemnation of the property. As soon as the legal technicalities are worked out the way the entire drainage and resurfacing will begin.

The second annual Stuart Sailfish Regatta, 100 sailing boats, will get underway on Sunday, April 27. It was weathered out on January 18-19.

While in boat racing, look for a pleasant surprise. There might be professional outboard racing in Stuart. The answer in a few weeks.

Jack Duffenbach was appointed chairman of the Martin County School Board last week, succeeding Mrs. Jim Morris who resigned recently. Her replacement on the board has not yet been named by Gov. Claude Kirk.

GROUNDBREAKING--Bulldozers started to clear the area on South Savanna Road, Jensen Beach, for construction of the long-awaited Jensen Beach Elementary School. Plans are being submitted to Tallahassee this week, according to Jack Simmons, assistant superintendent of schools. Cost of the proposed building is estimated at $[illegible]. The above picture was taken as Mattie Atterson, a school crossing guard was stricken.

Plan approval pending

Jensen school site clearing beginning

A bulldozer began clearing the site of the new Jensen Beach Elementary school on Monday. Tall pines and brush and palmettos were pushed under their tracks as the tractor, as the heavy blade opened the tract to future development. A swath eighty-odd feet wide along South Savanna Road was cut through the center.

As the bulldozer cleared the way for future construction, the school principals and architects began the laborious process of clearing plans for the new school. A total of [illegible] hours of conferences with the architects, principals, school board members and the county school superintendent went through the process of the proposed school.

Jack Simmons, who has directed the building program for the school board, hopes that the building will be completed at the start of the fall semester.

"Every minute counts," Simmons said. "Building costs are rising every month. Last year Salerno School cost us $12 a square foot. Last month a school in Fort Pierce cost $[illegible] per square foot. At the present time Palm Beach County is building a school at $18 per square foot."

Construction on the new Jensen School is estimated to cost about $300,000. The proposed bond issue would include this school.

The school plans would house three sections, one for each of grades one and two, three and four, and five and six. There would also be room for two kindergartens and one exceptional children's room.

There would be a large cafetorium (library, materials center and administration offices. There would be a sewage disposal plant and a water treatment plant on the site.

The long and torturous trip starts with the school board meeting on Thursday at which plans will be approved to be sent to Tallahassee. The working plans are already on their way to the state capitol for approval.

The plans have been in process for over a year, several public meetings were held on the plans, and the plant will be built to educational specifications written by Jensen Elementary school Principal Dale Tars. The design is by architects Starratt and Ashton of Fort Pierce. It includes civil defense provisions for fallout protection.

The bulldozer still clears the way for future construction. The land was loaned from the county, part of the cooperation with the county the school board and the county commission "Always to use land to the maximum advantage possible," Simmons said, pointing out that the county has constructed many schools in this area.

Too many kids

New ball fields will get growing, lighted

by Dick Campbell

A second baseball field for Langford Park was another step nearer to reality and completion Tuesday as the Martin County Commission also awarded a contract to sink a six-inch well for watering the fields to Arnold Well Drilling for $1,645, and a contract for lighting the ball park to Krause and Crane for $[illegible].

The need for the ball field was illustrated Monday night as two little league teams and one pee-wee league team tried to practice on the one field at the park.

This year there are five baseball teams for the area youth, where there were four in 1968, and three in 1967. This is not yet the end of it, according to baseball officials. If there are enough boys who want to play ball there may be another team in each of the peanut, little and pony leagues, according to Vince Boschino, purchasing agent for the Jensen Beach baseball organization.

Boschino said, "If there are too many, I'll take a team. We want to make certain that all the kids play if they want to do so."

In the meantime, the county is moved ahead with the second field, as other Martin County commissioners told the Parks Board of two more little league fields in Stuart, and said investigators waiting to bid, began to take shape, John Sansbury, Parks Chairman of a chamber committee committee baseball, said he was going to do all he can to get a Stuart field in operation, without financial aid or help, but to get the children playing. Sansbury said he would not expect any help from the City of Stuart, and could not get any help from the county due to the fact that Stuart's Sailfish Park is located in the city.

The county shelved the immediate development of a planned football field at Langford Park and set aside other work on the park to get the one field now in existance ready, and to rush the completion of Langford Park's second ball field.

Baseball season is here, and the fear of too much rain to play is coming true. But the sports-minded civic workers of the county are moving quickly to alleviate a potential trouble spot, expanding the little league fields to meet the demand of play.

Hartman Acquitted

A directed verdict of acquittal freed Martin County commissioner Jack Hartman Tuesday as the fifth indictment by the 1968 Martin County Grand Jury was brought before the Bench of Circuit Judge Mallory Johnson.

The trial lasted a scant one-half hour, ending about 11 a.m. Testimony of state attorney Charles Carlton was not performed as the State Special prosecutor David Bludworth admitted he would have no objection to a motion for the directed verdict.

Reinstatement of Hartman to his seat on the city commission, replacing interim commissioner Robert Greene is expected.

Rogers pledges aid for erosion, inlet

Congressman Paul G. Rogers, speaking at a combined Chambers of Commerce luncheon last week, pledged his efforts in assisting Martin and St. Lucie Counties with their erosion and inlet problems.

The luncheon was held at St. Lucie Country Club by the Stuart and Fort Pierce Chambers of Commerce.

In a question and answer period, Rogers said the government will participate in a program of building the St. Lucie Inlet properly and in protecting the beach from erosion. However, he protested to the inability of the local community to assume its share of the $3 million program in Martin County.

He cited the new public beach at north Jupiter Island as an answer to saving increased amount of federal participation in the 70-30-federal-state ratio.

He said he would work toward cooperation between the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Department of the Interior in their erosion control program.

Rogers spoke of the need for self-censorship of television networks, of the serious problem of drugs and marijuana in connection with the young people, and said he could tell by the mail he was receiving that the public is getting fed up with things and want changes for the better.

Hospital bids higher than estimate

Apparent low bidder for construction of the expansion of Martin Memorial Hospital was Rogers Engineering and Construction of Orlando, with a base bid of $1,314,845.

This figure is above the $1,215,900 estimate set by hospital officials for construction, according to Guy Cromwell, administrator.

Second low bid was by Southeastern Construction of Orlando, with a base figure of $1,394,000; third bid of $1 417,000 was submitted by Sweenberg Construction of St. Paul, Minn.

Construction will consist of a basement and two floors with plans to expand to 10 floors. The building would house 125 beds, provide space for a 40-bed acute patient care unit, a six-bed intensive care unit and expanded ancillary services.

The hospital has qualified for a federal grant of $480,000 toward the cost of the new building. Arrangements have also been made to obtain $720,000 under a mortgage commitment.

If a contract is awarded at this time, construction probably would be completed early next year.

DRAINAGE IMPROVED—Heavy equipment improves the drainage in River Park area. This is the second stage of a program started by General Development Corporation for improving the drainage and resurfacing of streets in the River Park area.

Cost of $30,000

River Park streets to be improved

The second of a three-stage program has been started by General Development Corporation, improving the drainage and resurfacing of streets in the River Park area.

In a letter sent to residents of River Park, the county pointed out that the streets and roads in the River Park area were constructed approximately 12 years ago by the original land developer (not General Development Corporation). These streets and roads, although dedicated to the public, have not been accepted for maintenance by St. Lucie County.

The letter further pointed out that because General Development Corporation desired to improve the area, they have agreed to perform certain road repairs in River Park. After the streets and roads in River Park are brought to an acceptable standard, the St. Lucie County Commission has agreed to accept future maintenance.

GDC is now in the process of performing the necessary repairs in the second portion of River Park. The first phase was completed about a year and a half ago and it is anticipated that the third and final stage will be undertaned time in the near future.

A great portion of the work centers around proper drainage since this is extremely vital to the life expectancy of the road bed itself.

Officials of GDC have estimated that this second stage will cost approximately $30,000.

The President's Council will meet Thursday at the Marina at 2 p.m. This will be an important meeting, so all clubs are urged to have a representative present.

Homemakers hear social worker

The Beautiful Waters Homemakers Club met at the Marina on Thursday to hear guest speaker Sterling Logal, social worker for the St. Lucie County Association for Retarded Children, speak on the needs of people ranging in age from six months to 65 years.

Logal pointed out that this is a pilot program financed by the State of Florida. St. Lucie is the only county offering this program.

He further mentioned that three per cent of people of all ages are suffering from some form of retardation. These people are from all areas and ethnic groups, he said. Some live near normal lives because they were reached and helped early in life. Many are hidden and need to be reached early for most help.

The Chittenden Hall for Retarded Children now children under six years of age. The over six years old are helped by the Pioneer Center in Stuart. Any child in need can be referred to regional school up to 16 years old needs to be contacted and sent to the Stuart center where they can be trained to care for themselves and in many instances earn a living.

The Stuart center has 31 departments and one of these departments can help any child. Many do not respond to any treatment and can be sent on to an institution for permanent care.

Everyone at some time comes into contact with a retarded person, Logal said they need understanding and friendship, also more foster homes.

Hostesses Kitty Schaefer, Laura Hartley and Lillian Chapman served refreshments.

In the absence of president Ethel Scott, the meeting was conducted by Gertrude Pilcher, who also presented a short program on birds and their care.

Junior Woman's Club re-elects Mrs. Schaefer

Mrs. Richard Schaefer was elected president of the Junior St. Lucie Woman's Club at its April 5 meeting at the Marina.

Other representatives are Mrs. Richard Scott, 1st vice-president; Mrs. R. Johnson, secretary; Mrs. James Morgan, treasurer; Mrs. A. J. Wilson, parliamentarian.

Miss Alice Schlichter, an 18-year old woman who changed clothes from dress to overalls in 30 seconds flat, entertained with a baton twirling act. She was accompanied by Linda Jones.

Homemaker for the coming year were Mrs. Richard Schaefer and Mrs. C. B. Johnson.

Officers will be installed at a dinner planned on April 26 at 8 p.m. in Tropical Acres Restaurant.

The deadline for submitting scholarship applications has been extended until May 1, according to Mrs. Johnson, who also announced that Junior Woman's Club scholarship will be awarded to the Stuart Fair Girl of Tomorrow contestant. Application forms are available from the high school guidance counselors. Scholarships will be awarded according to scholastic standing and financial need, Mrs. Johnson said.

Each year the Four St. Lucie Junior Woman's Clubs makes a fraternity scholarship available for deserving high school graduates who wish to continue their education.

FP&L Cooking Caravan to return to Stuart

Florida Power & Light's Commercial Electric Cooking Caravan will return to Stuart, on April 22,23, & 24.

The Caravan consists of a 48-foot truck and trailer with the truck section housing a Selon reverse-cycle air conditioner, water heater and the fresh water tank. The trailer portion is 30' long, with a 16-foot section on one side that is hinged at the top to open from floor to ceiling, and form an awning.

"Invitations have been issued to many in this area who are interested in this type of operation," J.M. Law, Jr., manager, stated. "If we have missed anyone, a call to my office is all that is necessary for an invitation to attend a demonstration."

36,000 acres of progress, Port St. Lucie offers a new and exciting concept of Florida living

Lucky is he who finds his ... in the sun...and lucky ... the residents of Port St. ... This 36,000-acre bit ... located along U.S. ... 1 and Stuart and Fo... ... is a showplace of ... More than ... horses have already ... built during the 10 years ... project has been in op... Almost 100 more ... various stages of con... with new owners ... patiently to move ...

There are 120,000 lots in Port St. Lucie, one of seven being developed in Florida by GDC. Of this number, over 40,000 have been sold, while the ratio of homes built to lots sold is no great, there is now a concerted effort to get more building under way, according to Jack Sheridan, general manager.

Planning, land development, recreational facilities including a swimming pool, golf, and two excellent golf courses, bring something to everyone in the area. Retirees have found this to be the ideal place in which to settle, but younger families are moving in in increasing numbers. Of the almost 4,000 persons living here, more than 700 are children. School buses transport junior and senior high school students to Fort Pierce, and the elementary school children are bused to nearby White City.

Just a few short miles north in Fort Pierce is the ever-expanding and modern Indian River Junior College.

Homes range from about $15,000 to $57,000 for a newly-announced model. At least 80 per cent of the buyers who bought lots sight unseen either have since come to look at the area or plan to do so, said M. R. (Chick) Harbert, vice-president in charge of public relations.

GDC is aware of the needs of the residents, Sheridan points out, and aims at offering an attractive as well as pleasant place to live. This is done, he said, by providing not only recreational facilities and well-planned housing areas, but also utilities which have been planned to keep pace with the growth of the area.

More than $1 million was spent last year on new road equipment, Sheridan said. Workmen are putting down over 1-1/4 miles of cement daily, a base for the bituminous hard-surface of the finished road.

Residents via landscaping plans for the Yard-of-the Month awards given by GDC and Rio-Linda Garden Club, one of the many clubs and associations in the area. GDC sets the theme by landscaping maintained areas, the residents follow suit incorporating their individual ideas on their own properties, making Port St. Lucie and St. Lucie Country Club a showplace of planned beauty.

Golfers who have played the popular Saints and Sinners courses, are enthusiastic in their praise of the courses. The 1968 U.S. Pro-Amateur Golf Championship Tournament was held there, and GDC will also host the 1969 Pro-Am.

The golf courses are only a small part of the total development. The project extends west from U.S. 1 seven miles to the Sunshine State Parkway and beyond, where an additional 15,000 lots are being developed and sold. A total of 254 persons are employed locally by GDC which has about 2,500 in its total operation.

Homesite sales in GDC's seven communities spotted throughout the Sunshine State have passed the 100,000 mark. This represents an investment of $315,386,736. Major developments are in Port Malabar, near Cape Kennedy section; and Port Charlotte on the west coast. Smaller developments are along the east coast including Vero Beach Highlands, Vero Shores, Sebastian Highlands, and Port St. John.

Locally, $3,273,649 was spent in 1968 on new homes, not including property costs, Sheridan said. Prices of the standard 80 x 125-foot lot run about $2,495, east of the turnpike. Lots west of the turnpike run a little less.

Home and lot package plans on a 75 x 130-foot lot in North Port St. Lucie can run from about $15,000 to $60,000, depending on the size of the house. Golf course houses and lots run about $6,000 for the package. Depending upon location, waterfront lots run from $4,000 to $10,000.

Lovely homes border the fairways, giving residents a tremendous, and beautiful, backyard.

The Villas, at St. Lucie Country Club, were originally sold on GDC's rental plan. Now they are being taken over by their owners for either a permanent home or a second home. All villas owned by GDC have been sold.

St. Lucie Country Club has been expanded during the past year. Opened in February, 1966, the club is managed by Hans Rawe.

Also planned for the near future is a hotel to be constructed just south of the clubhouse, and homesites on the other side of St. Lucie River.

GDC is constantly upgrading its merchandising and sales organization, according to a sales and marketing official. Each year shows more sales, better quality sales and increased profit. In 1964 there was a 10% turnover in salesmen. At present it is 15%, and the firm's goal is seven per cent. GDC sales are managed by a team of managers, with 18 key sales executives and managers. Management to them means knowledge and belief in their product; superior compensation, and a conscientious attitude toward a prospect's needs and desires. The sales organization is well trained and dedicated.

Thirty-five percent of all homes purchased with GDC here are done with an FHA insured mortgage. Another 35 percent are bought with a conventional mortgage and are handled through a mortgage banker, broker or savings and loan association. The remaining 30 percent are cash purchases.

General Development began the Port St. Lucie project in 1958 with Mackle Development Company. In 1961 the Mackle brothers sold their interest to GDC and continued with other development work.

Charles Kellstadt, former board chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., took over as chairman of the board of GDC in 1964. In 1965 he also became president of General Development Corporation.

St. Lucie and Martin Counties are proud of the Port St. Lucie and St. Lucie Country Club development and welcomes present and future residents as their neighbors.

CONSTRUCTION DEVELOPS--It is easy to see the growth of Port St. Lucie in this aerial photo, looking west of the North Fork of the St. Lucie River into the home area. At lower left is the Port St. Lucie Marina, at middle left, the new homes and roads being constructed, at at right, middle. The well developed home area follows Prima Vista Boulevard directly west. The Sunshine State Parkway (turnpike) is at the rear.

...VERS-GOLF - The many faces of St. Lucie Country Club are shown in this aerial photograph. Swimming, boating, lake and river fishing, two championship golf courses and lots of room to grow are but a few of the benefits of this city-hotel-development-country club. At the rear of the photo is the Indian River and the Atlantic Ocean. At rear left, North Port St. Lucie. It has taken ten years to build this entire complex into the asset it is to Martin and St. Lucie Counties.

Expansion is behind demand

St. Lucie Country Club is the cultural, social and recreational center of area

by Dick Campbell

In the past eight years, St. Lucie Country Club has grown into the cultural, social and recreational center of the Martin-St. Lucie County area. This is in addition to providing the area with a resort that can accommodate over 900 persons in the unique "hotel of tomorrow" concept.

The country club has two championship golf courses, both a challenge to the professional and amateur. There is a convention hall that can accomodate over 1,000 in auditorium style, or over 500 in banquet style. There are parks, playgrounds, yacht basin, tennis courts, skeet shooting, cycling, sailing, and an olympic size swimming pool to serve the people.

Two cocktail lounges, each with its own distinctive quality fully serve the gigantic dining room and the luncheon area. The Saints and Sinners Lounge is for evening entertainment, relaxing, and for showing movies. The 19th Hole serves the luncheon crowd and golfers.

Hans Rawe general manager of the country club assert, admits that it is hard to keep up with the growth of the country club complex. "Expansion is number one on our program," Rawe said, leaning back in the small office he occupies in the convention hall.

"We plan to completely renovate the men's and women's locker rooms, bringing them up to the par we believe reflects the quality of this country club. We are working on plans to provide more and more services to our members and the guests who use these facilities."

The cultural development of the club is shown in the recent art exhibits held in the convention hall. One-man shows by famed artists Roger Vail, Douglas Rosa, and local shows by Herbert Neuberger, Louise Combs and Theresa Knowles, and a portrait artist, Robert Young, add variety to the cultural scene.

The convention hall has been booked for junior and senior proms of area high schools and colleges, is the site of The Jensen Beach Mirror Cooking School, and features many of the local social and civic club formal and informal dances. The local hospital and medical balls are regular social features of the country club.

As a service to the public of Martin and St. Lucie Counties, the convention hall management brings such orchestras as Guy Lombardo, Count Basie and Glenn Miller to the area. All such dances, and dinner dances, add to the social season at the country club and are open to the public, as are all club facilities.

Rawe, who has a brilliant background in country club and hotel management, and has resident manager Jack Chesney to assist him, said, "Our efforts to bring more and more social and cultural events to this area are meeting with more and more support of the people. We will continue to bring as great a variety to the convention hall as possible. We know this area needs and will support this kind of activity."

Director of the social activity in the country club and convention hall is Pat Bagwell, a Canadian born whirlwind of activity. All decorations for special parties, planning of special events, and coordination of the social niceties of the social season are in Mrs. Bagwell's domain.

Planning of special meetings and conventions falls to Mrs. Margo Anderson, who is the contact for the many firms and clubs wanting to use the facilities of the club. Mrs. Anderson is "Girl Friday" to chairmen of the various conventions and has a reputation for getting the proper meeting in the proper place, with the proper facilities to hold outstanding meetings.

The two golf courses are highly rated among golfers. With Chuck Johnson as the club pro, the Sinners and Saints courses are kept in manicured shape, and receive a great deal of play. Johnson works under the able direction of Chuck Ankrom, director of golf for General Development Corporation.

Tournaments held in the past year include the 1968 United States Invitational Pro-Amateur, World Southern Seniors, Perry Como Amateur Invitational, Florida USGA Member Invitational, Florida High School State Team Tournament, Florida Junior Colleges tourney, Florida Press, Radio and TV tourney, Knights of Columbus State tourney, and many others.

One of the expansion plans for the golf course is a snack bar and lounge for the Saints Pro-Shop, now operating with vending concessions. Ankrom plans to have the new lounge ready in June.

A new summer membership is being kicked off this week. The resort plans family privileges for Martin and St. Lucie County residents at $175 per family. This would open pool and golf facilities, special events, parties and recreation programs for residents. The regular membership in the country club is now closed, having been full for over two years.

For the first time in the history of the country club, General Development is selling and building homes around the popular Saints course. Many streets in this new section are now under construction, and homes will be started this summer.

A new yacht club was recently formed by boat owners who keep their craft at the St. Lucie Country Club Marina. The social activities of the Saints and Sinners Yacht Club, headed by Commodore Jim Stenersen, a local home owner, keep boat owners active and regularly traveling the many river highways to other clubs.

Expansion plans of the marina are under way. The plans are in the future, according to Stuart Baltneau, marina manager.

All of the activities of the country club seem to grow in each year as more and more local residents take advantage of the civic, social and cultural benefits of membership and residence in the country club area. And, if general manager Rawe has his way, the growth will continue, with fierce determination on the part of the people who are directing that growth.

AWAY W... GOLF - One of the features of the two championship golf courses at St. Lucie Country Club is beauty on and throughout play. Lakes, lush fairways and small ponds attract wildlife to the fine courses. Homes line the fairways, so that nature and par-seeking golfers, like these above, can enjoy their day in the sun. This week, General Development announced that home building along the fairways of the Saints course would begin soon.

...YBODY IN--The pool at St. Lucie Country Club is the center of outdoor play, with ...ized pool and park recreation, under the direction of Andy Bagemary, lifeguard. Dining ... the pool deck, with a view of the St. Lucie River, is one of the better things about a day ... the club. It's just a sunfull thing to do.

The latest series provide prospective purchasers at Port St. Lucie and St. Lucie Country Club with one of the largest selection of styles and price ranges in the state.

Nine models, with a total of nineteen available exterior elevations, make up the Holiday Villa group.

The Villa line offers two, three and four-bedroom models, with one, one-and-a-half and two-bath designs.

The Country Club Collection is an elegant new selection of homes, priced from $41,900 to $51,00, plus homesite.

The Meadowbrook, Inverness, Glengarry and Greenbriar make up this luxurious presentation of country club and waterfront homes. They range in size from two-bedroom, two-and-a-half baths to four-bedrooms, two-baths for the Glengarry and Greenbriar, respectively.

The Meadowbrook, (three bedroom, two-baths), Inverness (three-bedroom, three-and-a-half bath) and the Greenbriar, have a large swimming pool included in the basic sales price.

The "Living Masterpieces" as they are called, also provide central air conditioning and heating, as well as wall-to-wall carpeting in each of the designs.

Nearly unlimited selection of colors, wall coverings, counter and vanity tops, tiles and cabinet styles allow for custom appointment of interiors to satisfy personal tastes and desires.

Shuffleboard tourneys are held

The Port St. Lucie Shuffleboard Club started in 1954-1955 with 102 members. All meetings were held at Port St. Lucie Marina on the second Tuesday of each month. The first officers of the club were: Pres., Arno Kunz; Vice Pres., Cedric Benz; Sec., Francis Lee; Treasurer, George Mittler. The present officers are: Pres., Edward Chapman; Vice Pres., Larry Haff; Sec., Ethel Krall; Treasurer, Alyce G. Thomas; and tournament director, Larry Hast.

The object of the club is to promote interest and play in the game of shuffleboard for the benefit and pleasure of the residents of the community.

Any resident of the Port St. Lucie-River Park area are eligible for membership in the club. Dues are $2.00 per year. The group are members of the Central East Coast Shuffleboard Association. The first year Arno Kunz and Dave Gessner won the consolation round, stimulating interest in the group. They then joined the Indian River Shuffleboard League, and have since enjoyed participating in league tournaments in district even though the club is handicapped for lack of facilities.

During the summer months twilight play is enjoyed, dividing the group into two teams, losers treating the winners to dinner.

Tournaments among the group are held monthly; mixed doubles, pick your partner, men's singles, ladies singles, and last, the Arno Kunz Men's and Ladies Tournament.

Congratulations to Port St. Lucie

on their 10 years of growth. We have been proud to provide our services for them and the residents who have made it a successful community.

Marina is headquarters for 20 organizations

The Marina and Recreation Area was dedicated on Halloween Day, 1959. The dedication consisted of a barbeque for all residents in the community.

The building then consisted of a small meeting room, a card room and a small screened-in porch. Since then the west wall was pushed out to include the screened-in porch and a covered patio was built on the west side of the building. Several years ago the patio was enclosed and now the whole combination makes a fairly large meeting room.

The building has been used heavily during the past ten years and at the present time is headquarters for 20 different organizations, as well as the meeting place for many other recreational activities.

Also on the Island is a swimming pool which 40 x 75 feet and was built for the use of the residents of the community eight years ago. Since that time many youngsters have learned to swim, there have been many swim meets and many a fun day for youngsters and adults of the community.

Also about eight years ago, Sportsman's Park was built, which is about a mile west of the Marina. This park consists of playground apparatus, a tennis court, basketball court, a lighted little league ball park and plenty of open space for additional games.

Art classes are popular

The oil painting instruction classes offered at Port St. Lucie have been one of the most popular activities offered in the community. Instruction classes were organized in 1962 through the cooperation of Indian River Junior College. At this time there were two classes offered, a day and evening class. Down through the years there have been classes for beginners, intermediates and advanced students. At the present time, classes have been combined and meet each Thursday morning at the Marina.

Mrs. Clifton B. Davis was the original instructor and has continued through the years. In 1960, Mrs. Davis was retired from St. Lucie County public schools, having taught here since 1928. She studied art at University of Florida in Gainesville; with A.E. Backus, local artist; with Mrs. Walter Hall, graduate of Royal Academy of Art in London; with Wayne Sease, Mrs. Remmer and Jere Chremmley.

Mrs. Davis says, "In all these years we've had 20 to 35 in each art class, so in nine years we've reached over 350 people."

Each year the class sponsors an art show. Some have been in the village campus, some in the Ft. Pierce Art Gallery. The show this year will be at IRJC gymnasium on Sunday, April 24, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Young Adults cookout

The Young-Adult Club was originated eight years ago and has continued to meet regularly each month since then. The club consists mainly of persons in the working age category.

The main feature of the club is a cook-out held each month, originally using ribeye steaks and then advancing to T-bone steaks which they have been using for the last several years. After the dinner, most everyone stays for cards, ping pong, chess and other activities as well as just plain general conversation.

The club has had many speical events including square dances, swim parties, guest speakers, ping pong tournaments, etc.

With Warmest Congratulations to our friends in

Swiss chef supervises

Serving thousands behind the scenes takes an enormous kitchen, planning

Ordering prime rib of beef, au jus, in a party of four in the dining room of St. Lucie Country Club seems a simple matter. The waitress takes the order, turns quickly, and disappears behind large oak swinging doors. Patrons who savor the fine cuisine of the country club give little thought to the preparation of the dinner, the planning involved, the timing of serving salad, wine and each course.

Minding the many individual servings of a typical meal come out right is the job of Albert Marty, 40-year old chef of the country club. The chef, born in Zurich, Switzerland, may, at the same time, be serving one thousand others in the massive banquet room of the convention hall, or that one dinner might be a part of a series of dinners in the party that each takes times different in preparation and delivery.

Chef Marty has an impressive career in the food business. He was the traveling chef of the Hilton Chain of hotels. He opened the kitchens in many new ones, including the Havana Hilton, was executive chef of the Mark Hopkins in San Francisco, and served as chef for such fine hotels as the Chateau Frontenac at Banff, Trader Vic in San Francisco and the Grand Sahama Hotel.

With a home in Fort Lauderdale, and his wife Helga, and ten year old daughter, Grazia, Chef Marty commutes on weekends from his home in the Tarpon Bay acreage of General Development to visit his wife and child.

"This is quite a change and quite a challenge," Chef Marty said as he sat in his cubby-hole office, "but when Hans Rawe asked me to come to St. Lucie, I accepted." Rawe, the general manager of St. Lucie Country Club, thinks highly of the organizational ability of his fine chef, and cannot praise his food preparation highly enough.

Chef Marty supervised 45 cooks at the Hilton Hotel, and smiles when he says that there are 12 cooks involved in food preparation, and ten kitchen helpers in the St. Lucie operation. "It is different. The work is different, but the quality must be the best," he said.

Since he came to St. Lucie in July, 1968, Chef Marty has been slowly rearranging the kitchen to his liking. He plans to enlarge the storage facilities this summer. "If it is at all possible," so that his storeroom and purchasing agent, Robert Underwood, will be able to have all stores, with a full stock a week in advance of serving, in one central location. He also plans to open the kitchen, removing any existing walls.

"The way St. Lucie Country Club is growing, we need to make the system larger, get a better flow of work, and get ready for more growth in the future," Chef Marty said.

The kitchen of the club and convention hall is a series of kitchens. One serves just the 19th Hole luncheon bar. Another serves the dining room, and yet another serves the purpose of conventions. A small "short order bar" allows sandwiches and light lunches to be served on the swimming pool area.

The kitchen also boasts a complete bakery. Chef Marty plans a full time baker this fall, a baker who will prepare danish and pastries, special breads and cakes for the different desserts and dinner staples. Previously the baker was hired just for the seasonal business.

A large proof box, to raise the danish, and two giant ovens help to bring the huge quantities of pastries, including hors d'oeuvres to the patrons on time. Four assistants help the baker, himself an artist in preparation, accomplish his task.

The large ovens also help the banquet dishes, already half-prepared finishing them in the pans so that they could be served piping hot to the customers in the large convention hall.

In another area, a large rotating oven allows over 300 pounds of meat to be roasted at one time.

All the salad men, pastry chefs, cooks and helpers work together to make the meal deliver to the customer at the right time, ready to be eaten in a proper order, Swiss style. Ably, Chef Marty and his trained crew of personnel make a career out of service. They just make it seem simple.

PANTRY- Preparation of salads and other items essential to a dinner or banquet, is done in this large, stainless steel pantry. Each department of the kitchen is planned for the highest degree of production under the present setup. Future enlargement and redesign of the kitchen is planned at St. Lucie Country Club this fall.

BAKERY OPEN- A year 'round baker operation is planned for St. Lucie Country Club next fall according to Chef Albert Marty. The bakery, which has operated seasonally, is being prepared for the increased production demanded by the greater degree of business being enjoyed by the country club. Two large ovens, shown by Chef Marty, and the "proof box" at his rear, for raising danish pastries, are the backbone of the bakery.

ROTATING OVEN--Chef Albert Marty holds a small door open on a gleaming steel oven. Through that small door will go over 300 pounds of beef, placed in roasts on the revolving trays that roast the meat to a perfect turn for St. Lucie Country Club customers.

SHORT ORDERS- A small grill and sandwich area serves the light lunch needs of the many who swim daily in the Olympic size swimming pool at St. Lucie Country Club.

We care where our product is served.

Friday Night Gang was first social gathering

by Cedric C. Bens

The Friday Nite Gang, originally "Game Nite" is hosted by Cedric C. and Marie Bens.

Its activity is the playing of Bingo every Friday night, starting at 7:30. Play continues until all prizes have been won.

Game Nite, or the Friday Nite Gang, was the first venture attempted in Port St. Lucie. It was originated by General Development Corporation, with Dave Gessner, Recreational Director, as host and caller. No money was involved. Each player would bring a gift valued at approximately 50¢. Originally all kinds of costume jewelry, etc., was brought in, but gradually the gifts turned to grocery items.

A main prize for the final gift was furnished by GDC as was coffee, cream, sugar and cups. This main prize usually consisted of crockery items valued at from $3.50 to $5.00. The average attendance at the original games was from 25 to 30 persons. Today the average weekly attendance numbers from 75 to 100 persons.

The second host was Herb Marsh, assisted by the present host. Herb gave up the job when his voice failed him and the position was taken over by the present host, Cedric Bens.

About this time GDC discontinued its support and the project was taken over in its entirety by the present group. A new arrangement of financing was adopted.

About every 4 or 5 weeks the group holds what it calls a "Mardi Gras Night" when participants bring in special gifts valued at approximately $1.00 each. These special gifts are separated from the regular prizes and during the intermission period, strip tickets are sold at three for 25¢ and at the conclusion of the games for that night drawing was had and all the lucky numbers are called the winners take from the special table gifts of their choice. In this manner sufficient money is raised to finance the games for another four or five weeks. The main prize since the inauguration of this system has been bettered and includes such items as beef roasts, turkeys, 5-lb. canned hams, barbecue steaks, fertilizer, aluminum chairs, chaise lounges, etc.

The "Gang" is now an organized group with an advisory committee to assist the host, with a treasurer to handle special funds raised by the group. These special funds have been raised by having card parties, dances at New Year's Eve, Valentine's Day, April Fools Day, etc. These special funds are used for emergencies occurring at the Marina.

At Christmas time a Christmas party is held to which the people bring Christmas gifts for needy children of St. Lucie County.

The past two years the Gang has taken over the responsibility of furnishing gifts for Head Start in Ft. Pierce and had contributed each through these efforts in excess of 250 gifts and candy, etc., for the children being taken care of by Head Start.

The group has sponsored the New Year's Eve party for the community the past three years and the residents have enjoyed a very pleasant and entertaining night at a reasonable cost; over 125 persons enjoying this event.

The present leadership of the Friday Nite Gang is Cedric C. and Marie Bens, hosts, and committee members Al Weigel, Harry Grove, Ethel Krall, Art Berman, Mary Marsh and Frances Lee.

All-States Club to hold 9th annual banquet

The All-States Club of Port St. Lucie-River Park was organized in April, 1960 by a group including Wendell Link, Cedric Bens, Dave Gessner and Herb and Mary Marsh. The purpose was to give the residents the opportunity to meet and know each other.

The first president of the club was Herb Marsh who served from 1960-61. He was followed by Fred Helmer, 1961-62; George Robbins, (deceased) 1962-63; Kay Harris, 1963-65; Fay Paul, 1965-66; Roy Miller 1966-67; Frances Lee, 1967-68 and Ray Bartow, 1969-70.

A cookout is held every month, followed by a short meeting and the showing of a travelogue. There are no dues, and residents of the community automatically are members.

The group contributes to various community projects and donates Christmas gifts to children of migrate workers.

On May 17 the club will observe its ninth annual banquet at St. Lucie Country Club. About 250 persons are expected to attend the installation of officers, dinner, dancing and entertainment.

Port St. Lucie League was formed in 1961

by Jean Petrone

The Port St. Lucie Little League was organized in January, 1961, with Fred Campbell as first president. He later resigned in order to manage a team and was succeeded by Frank Jackson.

Several planning meetings were held to draw up and approve a constitution and bylaws and to set dates for registration of the boys, tryouts and managers' bidding session. Games were scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights with the opening night set for April 10. Volunteers were requested to serve as umpires.

Sponsors for the first season were Hooper Construction, Crosby Builders Supply, Maule Industries and Triangle Truss. Managers included Fred Campbell, Dick Shaffer, Ed Hungate and Roy Ortsen.

Only 43 boys turned out for registration that first season - barely enough for the four teams necessary for a league. Declation was thus made to apply for additional insurance coverage and accept the eight year olds into the league for that season.

General Development Corp. allotted the necessary land, had lights installed and a backstop built, laid out the field and built a section of bleachers. On April 10, 1961 Sportsmanship's Park was duly dedicated. True, it was only an all-dirt diamond, but it was the start of a ball park and a place for the boys to play as Little Leaguers.

Later in the season, General Development Corp. built a 8 x 12' wooden building to serve party as a concession stand and partly as storage for equipment.

In 1962 with Dick Shaffer as president, it was decided to ask the area Little League representative to increase the Port St. Lucie Little League boundaries so more players could be obtained. This request was approved to include the entire White City area.

John Sprague was president in 1963 followed by Vic Corratta, who served for 1964 and 1965 and devoted much time and effort to the development of the league.

Financial problems have plagued the league from the start. While the attendance at games is good and the fans generous, it is not sufficient for maintaining a league. Additional revenue at that time was obtained from the concession stand, donations, one authorized fund-raising project a year, and from sponsor fees. But sponsors are hard to come by and vandalism to the concession stand became very costly.

The board of directors discussed a new stand - a fine modern building of sturdy material with a pressbox on top and restroom facilities. The plans were submitted to an architect to prepare blueprints, and these in turn to various building contractors for bidding. The cost figures were staggering and the project had to be tabled.

Jim Childs was president during 1966-67-68. In order to secure additional land, permission was requested from General Development Corp. and granted to erect a wooden outfield fence on which advertising space could be sold. Grass seed was purchased for seeding the infield, interlocking sand for the base paths, light fixtures cleaned and new bulbs installed and a chain-link fence put up on the sides of the outfield. The Civic Association donated a scoreboard and the V.F.W. Post in Fort Pierce donated an American flag and flag pole.

Due to the difficulty in obtaining qualified volunteer umpires, the league voted to pay umpires. Bud Griffith, chief umpire for Area 1, agreed to act as one and to bring another from the FL State staff.

In July of 1967, the field was approved as a standard Little League field, and the Port St. Lucie Little League proudly hosted an Area 1 All-Star game.

Three directors were added to the executive board in 1967 and the association became incorporated. The concession stand then in use had to be dismantled and plans for a new one were again brought up.

The Port St. Lucie Junior Woman's Club, who for five years has faithfully sponsored a team, offered to hold its annual 4th of July celebration as a benefit for the Little League concession stand fund. All participating groups donated 50% of their profits. But even with this, the fund grew slowly and for 1967 and 1968 the league had only a makeshift concession stand.

In 1968, through the interest and efforts of Don Horner of the General Development legal staff in Miami, an agreement was reached with GDC to help the Little League build the much needed concession stand. Permits were obtained and materials ordered. A number of workmen from the various crafts offered to donate their services. Construction finally began last month. The building should be ready in a few weeks, and at long last, the Port St. Lucie Little League will have its first concession stand and restroom facilities just like other Little Leagues.

They also hope to finish another section of bleachers in the near future as well as regulation bugouts. Forty-some boys turned out for registration and tryouts this year. With only 2 places available, 16 boys could not be used. So expansion to six teams must be considered, probably for next year. Formation of a Little League Auxiliary has been discussed as more and more volunteer help is needed.

Of the current executive board, Dave Gessner has served since the league was organized. Jean Petrone and Harold Jones for five years each as secretary and treasurer respectively. Joe Petrone four years as director and Bill Callender for two years. Wayne Register is the new president, Durrell Bright is vice-president and player agent. Managers H.C. Dixon and Tom Jamieson are in their third year, and Rich Brooks and Leo Perdue are new managers this year.

Managers, coaches, players and other volunteers prepare the field for opening night each year and take turns thereafter with the upkeep during the season. The league cannot afford to pay a groundkeeper. An official scorer is obtained through the St. Lucie County Superintendent of Schools and the Sheriff's Department provides deputy coverage at the games and spectators on the premises between games and in the off-season.

MacDonald's treats the winning team to a "feed" at the end of the season, and Rialto Restaurant gives a pizza party for the last-place team. The board of directors, assisted by some of the parents, holds a party for the entire league each year after the season ends.

This year, for the first time, the Port St. Lucie Little League seems to be on sound footing. But uniforms do wear out, equipment has to be replaced, two new light poles must be purchased, umpires and light bills paid, and fixtures and equipment purchased for the new concession stand. One more sponsor is also needed for this year.

It has been rough going for this small organization and it isn't out of the woods yet. But the spirit is high and it'll make it!

Wimodausis Club does charity work

On February 1, 1963, Clara [illegible] (Mrs. Frank) called a meeting at her home to see if the women of Port St. Lucie would be interested in starting a Wimodausis club.

This is a social club and includes the wives, mothers, daughters, and sisters of Master Masons.

There were fourteen present and they were definitely interested in forming such a club. Cards were sent out to the wives of Master Masons in Port St. Lucie and the River Park area announcing the first meeting which was held at the Port St. Lucie Service Center on February 13, 1963. This was a dessert luncheon at which time 36 members signed and held an election of officers. The following was the first slate of officers for a term of one year: President, Clara Clobus; 1st Vice President, Mary Evans; 2nd Vice President, Helen Richards; Secretary, Kay Harris; and Treasurer, Kay Westervelt.

This club does charity work and have for some time been sponsoring a girl at Sunland Training Center in Ft. Myers as well as giving other help such as gifts and clothing for other children who have no sponsors.

At each meeting the members are entertained with an interesting program and a special Christmas luncheon is held each year. Every February is our Birthday meeting and this past February we celebrated our 6th birthday. Our present membership consists of 115 women.

Those who attended the first meeting at Clara Clobus' home on Feb. 13, 1963 are as follows: Ella Millspaugh, Helen Richards, Mae Perman, Alice Goddard, Florence Goddard, Marie Hallmer, Dora Edwards, Mary Evans, Kay Harris, Estelle Martin, Ardith Waldinger, Carolyn Griffiths, and Clara Clobus.

The present officers are: President, Gerry Casperson; Vice President, Viola Kasmire; Secretary, Cecilia Kirby; and Treasurer, Harriett Eichler.

The mother club is in New Castle, Pa.

Masonic Club purpose is social

by Ed Robinson

The Port St. Lucie Masonic Club had its beginning on August 1st, 1962, at which time 26 Masonic Brothers all residents of the Port St. Lucie and River Park area, met at the Marina and adopted a constitution.

This meeting was chairmanned by Floyd Perman. The nominating committee gave its report and the following were nominated and elected as the first officers of the club: President, A.J. Martin; 1st Vice President, Floyd Perman; 2nd Vice President, Ed Kulisek; 3rd Vice President, Willis Brothers; Secretary-Treasurer Fred Helmer; Auditor, Charles Simms; and Chaplin Cecil Goddard.

The Club meets on the first Wednesday night of the month at the Marina. From the original 26 members it has grown to over 100.

During August of 1965, the Port St. Lucie Masonic Club was recognized as a bona-fide Masonic Club in the State of Florida. Under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of F and A.M., the Club is purely social and adheres to the principle of Masonic Brotherhood.

It holds an annual Christmas Party in December for members and their wives. A turkey dinner is served and a good time is had by all.

Membership is open to all Brothers Masons in good standing and visiting Brothers are welcome at all meetings.

Garden Club nearing membership of 100

The Rio Lindo Garden Club of Port St. Lucie and River Park, organized in June of 1960, now has a membership of almost 100. Meetings are held the fourth Monday of the month except June, July and August.

From its inception, emphasis has been placed on the planting, caring for and sharing of plants and flowers. Classes and contests in corsage-making and flower arrangements have been held.

The Club has co-sponsored the Christmas lighting and Yard-of-the-Month contests.

Many speakers have been featured at the meetings, and field trips to nurseries and flower farms have proved popular with members.

Officers include: Mrs. Frank Smith, president; Mrs. Darrell Flidden, first vice-president; Mrs. Edgar Adams, second vice-president; Mrs. John Ramage, recording secretary; Mrs. Ralph Eichler, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Mildred Whitney, treasurer.

Action report

by Dick Campbell

Two Muscovy (one recovered from illness) and two mallards returned to Lake Rogers.

Dr. Richard Penick reported many offers of ducks to restock the lake following last week's article in The Jensen Beach Mirror.

Dick Campbell, editor of The Jensen Beach Mirror, will lecture at the University of Florida College of Journalism in Gainesville this week as part of a program of bringing local journalism to the students of the college. The Florida Press Association, of which Campbell is president, has established a chair for working editors and newspaper publishers who lecture to the classes.

There will be a local disaster exercise conducted by Martin County Civil Defense and Martin Memorial Hospital on May 1. Local emergency units will participate. The morning of the alert will see classes in creation of made-up injuries conducted by the State Board of Health.

Talking about disasters, the outcome of a knock-down-drag-out between two doctors while on duty at Martin Memorial Hospital is still in doubt. Of course, no one is talking about it, but everyone seems to know about it.

Mr. and Mrs. John Butler will attend a 40-hour training course in shelter management instruction in Miami. Local CD officials are meeting them.

While things us to the east of the day... when Incorporation of Jensen Beach is mentioned, there is a groundswell of public apathy.

The 43rd annual meeting of the Early Settlers of the Lower Indian River area will be Saturday, May 10 at the Stuart Youth Center. Registration will be from 9 till 11 a.m., followed by the business meeting.

Helen Kay Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, Jensen Beach, presented a project on sharks to the marine science department of Martin County High School last year when she was a senior.

The presentation was so impressive, according to Tony Roberts, chairman of the marine science department at the school, that it has been adopted for the course. It will be rewritten by Miss Smith and Roberts.

Miss Smith is studying oceanography at the University of South Florida and is expected home next weekend.

Postponed from January

Stuart Sailfish Regatta will be held Sunday

Fair skies are hoped for this weekend for the upcoming second annual Stuart Sailfish Regatta.

The power boat regatta which had been postponed since January because of inclement weather at that time, will get under way at 10 a.m. Sunday.

About 50 boats are expected to race the course on the Indian River at the Stuart Causeway.

All drivers will be American Power Boat Association members, and the races are sanctioned and approved by the APBA. The course lap is 12.3 miles.

Feature trophies are those given in the Sailfish International, International Grand Prix and the Governor's Cup Invitational.

Proceeds for the event will go to the Martin County Association for Retarded Children.

Persons holding rain checks from the January races may use them for the races on Sunday. Tickets are available at many places locally and will be sold at the gate at the causeway.

Chairman of the committee is Jack Sailer; referee will be Everett Hatfield of West Palm Beach; Nita Hatfield and Dr. R. Pare will be scorers; Russell Burke, inspector; Larry Hatfield, starter; Dr. E. A. Gear; and Jim McCoy, timers, with Dr. Marshall Evans as medical attendant.

Chairman of all water activities is Herman Reitz. Jerry Travis will handle all shore projects. Bleachers will be set up for some of the 2,000 spectators expected to attend. Concession stands will be open.

The causeway between the two Stuart bridges will be closed during the races.

KING OF KINGS--What a thrill this was to catch a 33-1/2 pound king mackerel in the surf! Using a 15-pound test line, Dave Yeager, above, of Stuart brought in this giant Friday morning from the surf at Hutchinson Island.

Race bonds sold

The sale of race track bonds by the Martin County School Board on Tuesday assured construction of the Jensen Beach Elementary School and a middle school in Indiantown.

Hensberry and Company of St. Petersburg paid $1,848,228 for $1,88 million worth of the revenue certificates to be used for construction of the two plants.

Gross interest cost was $2,174,800, with discount on the interest of $31,772. Average interest rate is 5.9428.

The School Board will deposit the construction and sinking funds in a depository until they are used. The bonds were validated late in February by Circuit Judge Wallace Sample.

Bulldozing of the land on South Savana Road, Jensen Beach, started last week for construction of the local school. The present school will be phased out, and a request has been made that the building be used for a marine and oceanographic center.

The race track certificates, dated September 1, 1968, will mature September 1 of the years from 1970 through 1998. They are for $5,000 each and are not callable until 1983. Semiannual interest will be paid March 1 and September 1.

Race track revenue at present is used by the School Board for general operation including administration, instruction, maintenance and operation of the school system.

Martin County conservation agents will be on the lookout for persons molesting sea turtles on Hutchinson Island.

Closed season for the turtles started April 15. Anyone possessing turtles, their eggs, or caught molesting the animals will be prosecuted.

Owens forces action

County denies TP change, agrees to move in a week

Angered by the continuing procrastination of the county policy toward mobile home development in Martin County, Commissioner Bill Owens, with an assist from Commissioner Frank Wacha, thus stated that the commission meet next Tuesday to resolve the policy.

Commission Chairman Bill Hussey wanted between a work session and a special meeting, finally deciding on the special meeting so that action could be taken.

Wacha joined in pleading for the special meeting, adding that the commission should resolve the problems of RT (mobile home subdivisions), TP (mobile home parks) and high rise developments.

The action came at the end of the meeting, following a sometimes stormy session which saw the denial of TP zoning asked by South Wind Land, Ltd., a development firm seeking to establish a 600 unit mobile home park at the Intracoastal Waterway on Cove Road.

William F. Crary, representing the developers, ran into opposition from the advisory board of the new St. Lucie Seashore Park, which will be located just across an as-yet-to-be-constructed bridge from the end of Cove Road.

Crary stated that the county has a moral and legal obligation to change the zoning, for the developers had asked specifically for mobile home park zoning, and had it approved in 1967, and had been deprived of that classification when the county created the TP zoning classification, moving mobile home development out of R-3A zoning in 1968.

Crary cited the one mile of right-of-way donated to the county by Whitpeg for Cove Road, hinting that the awaiting property owners had held up on right-of-way donation, delaying the road completion for years. He said that only one half of the mile-long stretch of property along the road would be rezoned to TP, with the remainder remaining in R-3A.

A presentation of John Oswald, president of Modular Homes of Florida, indicated that four of five homes being purchased in the United States this year for under $15,000 would be modular homes. He said the 600 units would be a six million dollar investment by the Canadian firm.

The presentation faced objections of Sen. Prescott Bush of Hobe Sound, on behalf of surrounding property owners and the Town of Jupiter Island, and as chairman of the park advisory board. Jean Huptel, a member of the advisory board, spoke for herself and for another member, Mrs. Virginia Forrest in opposition. Carl Geis, representing North Hobe Sound Association, spoke against the proposal. A petition with 58 names of residents in Rocky Point was presented.

Commissioner Bill Myers and Owens said they did not feel obligated to back actions of previous commissions, and acted to deny the application.

Wacha's mention of the high rise problem was the first public acknowledgement of a problem existing. Wacha favors placing a limit on the height of buildings east of the Florida turnpike.

In other business, the county commission set a meeting between the Organized Fishermen of Florida and the Martin County Anglers Club, with three from each group meeting with the entire commission, for Wednesday night (tonight) at 7:30 p.m. in the commission chambers to resolve differences between the two groups.

HEARD Commissioner Myers propose a full-time electrical inspector for the building department.

ACTED to investigate the contracting of junk cars to a Gabe Priest, on SR-76, in which the county would build an impoundment area and pay Priest $1 per day for impoundment of cars held longer than six months.

ASKED the legislative delegation to oppose the combining of Martin and St. Lucie County.

GAVE a flat "No" from the state department of public safety on a request for two days of motor vehicle license examinations. No funds were cited as the reason for refusal.

Bowler of year win tourney

Carl Gongaware and Karen Dailey became Martin County Bowler-of-the-Year for men and women in the exciting climax of the second annual handicap competition.

The award, sponsored by The Jensen Beach Mirror and Jensen Lanes, was given to persons who achieved outstanding bowling accomplishments during the week.

Gongaware rolled a 188, 181, 168 for 537 scratch and 640 handicap.

Miss Dailey rolled a 174, 207, 164, for 525 scratch and 653 handicap.

Second place went to Bruce Hulick and Toni Reed, and third place went to Martin Coulter and Ernie Hein.

Photos of the winners will be published next week in The Mirror, along with the complete scoring of the tournament.

Seeing the country

Cook describes rural Jamaica

Quite a number of Green Breeze residents visited Jamaica last winter. In nearly every case they took the trip by car and only had about half a day at each of the ports of Kingston, Montego Bay, and Port Antonio. While a-shore they took the standard tour in most instances and were able to get some idea of what Jamaica is like. This month I spent two weeks in the Kingston area during which time my step-son, Maxwell Edwards and family took me for many drives into the surrounding area. I enjoyed these trips and thought what a pity it was that other United States visitors could not see the countryside as I saw it. Next time, how about flying over. It only takes an hour and a quarter. A nice, clean hotel room, off Kingsway, Kingston can be rented for $16 a day per couple including breakfast. A car can be rented for a week for $60 or up, according to the size of the car. Full insurance is $1.50 extra. Then, with good map one can really see the country.

The Blue Mountains can be partially seen from Kingston and there are many round trips to be had in a direction. The roads are mostly narrow and winding but traffic is very light and by using your car here at the sharp blind turns when going uphill you will have no difficulty.

The Newcastle Drive is a popular one. One can enjoy a picnic lunch at 5,000 feet elevation and wish you had brought a sweater. From this vantage point you can look down on Kingston and the bay. Before venturing so far it is well worth while seeing some of the beautiful homes on the foot hills, one might call them. The wealthy people live here, and they are not necessarily Americans. Some, like the eagle, like to build on a high pinnacle over it it makes their home almost inaccessible by road. The large majority like a location with a distant view, adjacent to a good road, that is why Skyline Drive at two thousand feet elevation is building up so fast.

Not everyone disregards the lower levels for many lovely homes are to be found on the lower slopes of the many beautiful ravines cutting into the mountains. Generally, these homes are not so large and prentitious, but they are attractive in their own way. We visited one such home on the outskirts or Gordontown. The Jamaican lady owner, Miss Robinson, has a lovely tropical garden surrounding her comfortable home which she takes great pride in. The hummingbirds were so tame they didn't seem to notice us as they flitted from flower to flower. One, they called the doctor bird, had a very long tail trailing behind. The small Hope River some fifty feet below was accessible by a flight of steps which it took less than a minute for our three peppy youngsters to locate, and in no time flat they were jumping from boulder to boulder across the river till Peter fell in and got wet.

Another lady, a retired actress, singer and entertainer, Mrs. Doyne Fitchett, whose stage name is Rome Prezano, has a cute little castle perched on a ridge in a large tree-filled valley. Her late husband built an outdoor theatre capable of seating four or five hundred people. The stage is semi-natural with a natural back drop of the almost vertical side of a mountain. The acoustics are perfect, and every word spoken from the stage can be heard distinctly from the topmost seat. The first performance was held last month and it is hoped to hold a series of operas throughout the summer. A small river also flows some one hundred feet below where a small rock dam provides a pool that our kids had been there before.

To the north and west of Kingston is another residential area worth a visit. This is a very hilly section, and narrow roads twist and turn in every direction. One cannot get lost. If you do, all you have to do is to coast down and you'll arrive in Kingston. Many fine homes are also built here, and nearly always on a steep slope necessitating high retaining walls. The preparation of the building site costs as much as the building of the house itself. We visited a family in this area. The house is perched on a rocky promontory overlooking a small valley or ravine. The lot was large, including some bottom land where many fruit bearing trees grew, including coffee, cocoa, spice, nuts, etc. The lady seeing I was interested in cocoa, picked a ripe pod and opened it, exposing the cocoa beans encased in a jelly-like substance. She explained the washing away of the jelly and the drying of the beans in a slow oven so the husks could be popped open. What is left is the pure cocoa. She made us a cup of her own grown cocoa. It took me back many years to the time we were served "chips rowse" in the British Navy. In those days we really appreciated that hot cocoa with the cocoa butter floating on top. Now most all the butter is removed before it is put on the market.

Vacation cancelled by auto accident

We are sorry to have to report a bad accident to two of our well-known residents of Ocean Breeze. George Reeve and his sister, Carole Chapman were going for a vacation to Clearwater, Tuesday, April 15, where they intended to visit friends. According to George, they were travelling between Bartow and Mulberry when a panel truck driven by a woman cut in from the east-bound lane to west-bound lane. Instead of keeping to the inside lane till the other lane was clear, she crossed over to the right hand in front of the Reeve cars. George, who was driving, said he was too close to avoid hitting the panel truck and struck it in the neighborhood of the right hand fender.

The impact threw Carole into the windshield which shattered, while George was thrown upward and struck his head on the visor. An ambulance picked them up and took them to the Harlow hospital where they were X-rayed and treated for various cuts and abrasions.

Friends at Dunedon were notified, and arrived later, picked them up and took them to the Tampa airport where they caught a plane to W. Palm Beach. On arrival at the airport they were fortunate to meet two men from Ocean Breeze, Clyde Stover and Frank Freeman, who brought them home.

The Reeve car is apparently a total loss.

Son, family visit Mrs. Stanley Jensen

Mrs. Stanley Jensen of Cypress had her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. & Mrs. Stanley Jensen, Jr., and their two children visiting her recently. They left for their home in LaGrange Park, a suburb of Chicago, April 8. Mrs. Jensen says her two grandchildren were really sold on trailer living, which influenced her in trading her present mobile home for a two bedroom, 12 x 64 foot model.

Her present lot will not accommodate a trailer that size so she is having it delivered to Lake Manor Park where she will reside till after the end of May, then her son will drive her home.

Her home at La Grange Park has been remodeled nurse, expect 32 to graduate to kindergarten, June 4.

Her home at La Grange Park has been remodeled for a pre-kindergarten school where five teachers, one of whom is a nurse, expect 32 to graduate to kindergarten, June 4. After this date, Mrs. Jensen will reside there for summer months.

Bridge Club has outing

The Monday Bridge Club went to the Ramada Restaurant at the Mall in West Palm for the annual luncheon and outing. Seven members attended: Mrs. Tweed, Mrs. Nailin, Mrs. Pape, Mrs. Cammack, Mrs. Wall, Mrs. Chihasz, and Mrs. Barnes of Stuart. Unable to attend was Mrs. Ginter, who is ill. Mrs. Barritt who recently broke her arm in a fall, and Mrs. Wittendorff, who is visiting her family in N.J. The ladies report a good time.

Mr. & Mrs. Kowatch of Bay Village, Mich., called on friends in and around O.B. They visited Dave and Eva Donaldson, and Ruth Griffith, as well as others they knew when Mrs. Kowatch's parents, Mr. & Mrs. Atkinson, lived down front.

Mr. & Mrs. Harry Barlow who spent the winter on Center St., are to leave on Monday, April 21, for Endicott, N.Y., where they will visit with their daughter and her family for an indefinite time.

Gen and Clarence Garn left for their home in Elmore, Ohio, to spend the summer with their family who all live within a 25-mile radius of Elmore.

Mr. & Mrs. Dave Donaldson have Mr. & Mrs. Fred Smith from Largo, Fla., visiting them for a few days. The Donaldsons and Smiths were neighbors in Bay City, a suburb of Cleveland, years ago when their children were little, so are old friends.

Tanners tour Florida gardens

Each spring Mr. & Mrs. Tanner take a trip somewhere around the state. Willis likes to spend time on photography, and discover new places to take pictures, and since Lu's hobby is oil painting, their interests are along much the same line. This past weekend they toured the Gardens of the State, Cypress, Busch, and Bok Tower, and points of less interest along the way. Lu said she made two new sketches which she hopes to paint soon, to add to her collection of scenery. Remarking about the trip which they enjoyed very much, they said the cattle country of mid Florida never looked greener.

Ocean Breezers attend Men's Brotherhood

A large representation from Ocean Breeze attended the Men's Fellowship monthly dinner and meeting at the Community Church Friday, April 16. It was a first for two of them, Bob Smack of Kumquat and Ray Reid of Arsea St. Mr. &

We were pleased to hear that the Rakes who left O.B. Sat., April 12, arrived safely at their home in Muncie, Ind., on Mon., April 14. Since both had been in poor health for some time, the neighbors were quite worried until the news of their safe arrival came.

Mr. & Mrs. Fred Malsh had a post card from Minnie and Lester Warnes dated April 13. The Warnes, who are touring the western and southern part of the country, had spent some time in Texas, then crossed the border and spent two days in Monterrey, Old Mexico. At the time of writing, they were in Mesa, Ariz., and intended to continue with their travels.

Carl and Dorothy Marquart of Battle Creek, Mich., who have been staying in Catherall's rental trailer for the past three weeks, returned to their home Friday, April 18. Before leaving they enjoyed a farewell luncheon at the Outrigger with their friends, Bernice and Fred Malsh the day before their departure.

Mr. & Mrs. Otto Chihasz attended the Round Dance Council's Annual Spring Festival at the Governor's Club Hotel in Ft. Lauderdale, held April 11, 12, and 13. They tell us dancers came from near and far and that the couple travelling the farthest were from Alberta, Canada.

Elmer MacKenzie and Louis Kraft enjoyed some fine snook fishing on the Roosevelt bridge the week of April 12. One night they returned with 3 snook weighing 11 pounds each, and a trout weighing 6 pounds. Since they returned with their catch at 3 a.m., we did not get a picture for the paper, but a colored policeman snap taken confirmed they were big ones.

Mrs. Smack will be among the new members of the Community Church to join May 11.

Fred Myers, chairman of the dinner committee, reported a profit of some $1,-800 on the five dinners that the men's organization put on last winter. He worked very hard on this project and was given a standing ovation.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Oscar Walquist of Cocoa St., showed slides of Holland, Sweden, and Norway. These slides were much appreciated, especially the Holla d pictures of the tulips in full bloom.

Word has been received of the death of Bill Bassemer, Sr., who passed away at his nursing home in Akron, Ohio the afternoon of April 21, at the age of 92.

Mr. & Mrs. Joe Robertson leave shortly for their summer home at Westerville, Ohio. They will be stopping at Winter Park for ten days where they have a daughter and family. Their daughter is going to a choir school in Washington, D.C., so as Joe put it, "We will be baby sitting till she comes back." Their daughter is organist at the St. Michaels Episcopal Church in Orlando.

In Ocean Breeze Park, it is hardly news when a couple celebrate a mere 40th wedding anniversary but anyway that's what Clyde and Lila Redinger did April 9. They served a buffet supper to their neighbors in the South Ten, several of whome were about to leave for their homes in the north.

Guests from away were Fonda and Leland Roberts of Eugene, Ore., Art Stevans from Birmingham, Mich., and Mr. & Mrs. John Landis and children from Wheaton, Md.

The eldest son of Earl and Thelma Gordon, Hugh, paid his parents a surprise visit last Saturday night, April 20. He is temporarily working at the Air Center at Cape Kennedy. He had no idea where his parents were living so he went to the hall where a dance was in progress, and to use his own words, "I asked a man by the name of Harry and he told me where to find them." Hugh just stayed overnight and returned to Kennedy the next day.

Snap up a bargain.

Electric rates have gone down eleven times since 1957!

Snap! And your home is flooded with light. Twist a dial. And your laundry gets washed while you do the shopping. Flick a switch and all the entertainment world comes into the room in full color.

Today, we rely on electricity so much, and have it so readily at our fingertips, that we often forget how miraculous it all would have seemed a few generations ago. And we seldom know what a great bargain flameless electric is, especially in these inflationary times. The average price per kilowatt hour paid by FPL-served families today is one-third less than it was in 1957!

No wonder then that you use electricity so much. It is the biggest bargain in your budget. Snap it up!

FPL

FIGHT INFLATION. USE ELECTRICITY. What else costs less today than it did in 1957?

The Girl Scouts of Troop 104 from White City and Port St. Lucie are presently busy earning merit badges and winding up their current year.

On April 18, under the supervision of Mr. Herbert, swimming instructor from the American Red Cross, eighteen of the girls enjoyed the use of the Port St. Lucie Marina Pool and the following fourteen girls earned their Water Fun Badge: Debbie Fleming, Debbie Gillies, Beverly Ackerson, Susan Alvey, Laura Betling, Dina Bould, Cathy Wright, Tammy King, Cathy Sims, Teresa Medeiros, Marie McClure, Wanda Dotson, Karen Swanson, and Susanne Holton.

In order to earn their Gypsy Badge, they must participate in one more hike, and are this time looking forward to trodding some nature trails on April 25, a school holiday. After the first hike in February, along the ocean in Jensen Beach, one of the girls was overheard saying, "I've never had so much fun in my life."

Debris, litter show neglect

County beaches untended as lifeguards are awaited

by Dick Campbell

Empty beer cans lie flattened against the roadways, the sun glittering on their aluminum sides, which catch the rays, offering a sparkling spectacle of neglect at the entrance to Martin County's beaches at Hutchinson Island.

The cans, with bottles, empty cartons and trash, litter Stuart Beach, Jensen's Beach and the new Park and Fish Park, between the two.

The debris is the result of Martin County's growing park problem: a problem that began in a political clash last year. The political nature of the neglect of Martin County beaches was evidenced this week as Martin County Commissioners passed the beach responsibilities and solving of the problems from one to another, with only one commissioner accepting a share of blame.

"We are working on it," said commission chairman Bill Hussey. He answered a query from The Jensen Beach Mirror about the hiring of life guards.

"When the college boys get down here we'll have the beaches manned with life guards," Hussey said.

A local resident brought a petition into The Mirror office, asking the rehiring of Jack Cammack, former manager of the county beaches. Cammack had resigned to accept a position with better pay at Jupiter Island.

"The beaches looked nice when Mr. Cammack took care of them," said the resident. "We want the county to take care of the beaches, keep them clean. There are bottles, cans, trash and paper all over the beach. It is not manned by life guards, and if it is they are usually spending their time in cars with girls or off somewhere, not watching the beach."

Hussey said the beach problem was being solved by Roz Cosden, a county employee. Hussey also said the county parks committee was working on it. He named commissioners Frank Wacha and Bill Myers as in charge of the committee.

Wacha refused to take responsibility for the condition of the beaches.

"When Ed Murray was on the job I know when a beach looked bad or when there was trash. We had control over the problem. Our beaches were clean and there were few problems with the life guards under Jack Cammack. Then the politics got into it. The job Murray did was abolished, and with it no one was named to check the beaches and parks to find out what was wrong and fix it.

"When we had a meeting after it, the gate at Sandsprit Park was locked every night, and people in Port Sewall didn't have the problems they have today with trespassers. We had control."

"When Hussey complained about the fact that Murray, then chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, was on the county payroll, doing a job that was not useful, I decided to let Hussey handle the parks and beaches," Wacha said.

Bill Myers, a new county commissioner who was not around at the time of the Murray incident, but was placed in the middle of it during his election campaign and as chairman of the Republican Executive Committee, said Tuesday that he was doing his best to work with Cosden to get the life-guards set up and working.

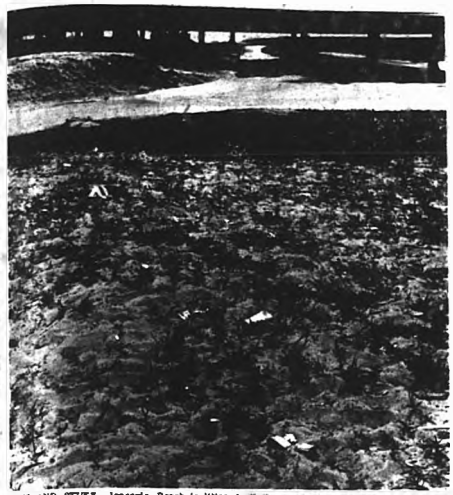
Cosden said that the beaches were manned with life guards on the weekends only from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. He said that Jensen Beach had two good guards, Jensen's south beach had one guard on Sundays, and Stuart beach had guards on the weekend, both of them "exceptional".

He said the beaches would be opened for the full week on May 1, and said he had four good life guards, all with Red Cross experience and training. Three guards are from Indian River Junior College and one is from St. Joseph College.

All beaches except Hobe Sound would be open, Cosden said he did not know what the Hobe Sound Beach would be opened.

The future, after May 1, is bright for the sun and fun worshipers of Martin County, for then there will be life guards who can keep the beaches clean, and the approaches to those beaches policed.

Tuesday at one p.m. The Jensen Beach Mirror photographed some of the litter in the parking lots and along the beaches at Stuart Beach, Jensen's Beach, and the Park and Fish Park. The photos tell a story of growing neglect for the one great attraction of Martin County.



CANS AND STUFF--Jensen's Beach is littered all the way back to the highway, due to the heavy traffic to the beach. Cops, cans and paper trash make the beautiful park unsightly. Litter indicated weeks of neglect of maintenance.

STUART BEACH--Children play in the surf in the background of this photo of debris littering Stuart Beach on Hutchinson Island. The untended lifeguard chair is the gathering place for mothers who must keep a close eye on their children as they swim.

PARK AND LITTER--The new Park and Fish Park on Hutchinson Island is already the victim of quantities of litter. Debris surrounds the trash barrel, and abounds in the nearby sawgrass.

SMASHED CANS--Aluminum edges glitter in the sunlight, but these smashed beer and soda cans offer even greater light into the growing neglect of Hutchinson Island beaches by county officials. Officials wait for May first, when life guards will be on duty through the week, for a general cleanup of the areas covered.

Family picnic event

Jensen Baseball Day has doubleheader Saturday

An exhibition doubleheader baseball game will show the new and expanded baseball teams of Jensen Beach baseball teams of Jensen Beach to local citizens on Saturday as a family baseball day is held at Langford Park. The event is planned as a fund-raising event to pay for the new and expanded baseball program according to Vince Boschino, purchasing agent for the teams.

"Two years ago there was one peanut league team, one little league team and one pony league team," Boschino said. "This year there are three peanut teams, two little league teams and one pony league team. Next year there will be more, for this town is growing."

Baseball Day will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., with a family picnic atmosphere before and during the ball games. The first game is slated to start at 9 a.m. and will be between the 9 to 10 year old peanut league teams.

The V.F.W. Peanuts, managed by Leader Jack Wilkie, will play the Jensen Bank Peanuts, managed by local dentist, Dr. Dennis Rinaldi, and Mirror editor Dick Campbell. The Jaycee team was an expansion team" last year, ending the 1968 season in second place in the league. The Jensen Bank team is a 1969 expansion team and is yet untested.

At about 4 p.m., the two little league teams will play. The Stuart-Jensen Elks, managed by chairman Harry Lentz, will play an expansion team, the Civic Club, which was first in the peanut league for the past four years, managed by constructive man Lefty Passaro.

Parents of the ball players are prime committeemen in the picnic event. Co-chairmen of the day are Linda Rinaldi, Jane Hills, and Claire Fulton. Many of the mothers and fathers of the players will serve in the various areas of selling hot dogs, hamburgers, potato and macaroni salad, potato chips, soda, coffee, and cupcakes.

The baseball day funds will be used to help pay for uniforms, bases, bats, and other necessary items in the enlarged baseball program.

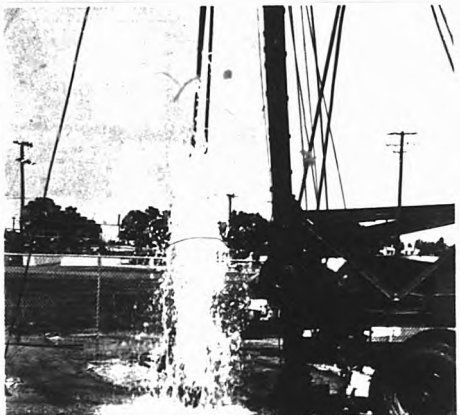
One new team, managed by Boschino, has been announced. It is the little league team, the second expansion team of the year, started because of the number of boys who are playing this year. The new team will not play on Baseball Day, but will take part in the picnic activities.

Food ordering for the day will be handled by Jane Hills and Dave Carlisle. The committee for cupcakes, headed by Pat Skwara, includes Mrs. Virgil Wilson, Mrs. Dave Carlisle, Mrs. Willard Lynn, Mrs. Wally Fletcher, Mrs. Hans Lukat, Mrs. Kohler and Mrs. Riley.

Mrs. Dennis Rinaldi and Mrs. Vincent Dibble are in charge of cleanup. Committee on salads, with Alex Milan as chairman, includes Mrs. Laire Rinker, Mrs. Dave Carlock, Mrs. Jim Driscoll, Mrs. Eugene Pollard, Mrs. Dibble, Mrs. Belanger, Mrs. Rinaldi and Mrs. Kohler.

Claire Fulton, chairman of concession stand, announced the following schedule for Saturday: 4 to 5 p.m., Marcee St. Clair, Carol Riley, Eugene Rathgeber and Gilbert Bouse; 5 to 6 p.m., Earlene Lynn, Bernice Carlock, Roger Jackson and Al Schommer.

From 6 to 7 p.m., Alice Hickey, Georgia Fletcher, Russ Bollen and Wally Hostetter; 7 to 8 p.m., Mrs. Kohler, Bea and Lou Trapowski and Alex Milan; from 8 until 9 p.m., G. Turner, Neil Sprott, Virgil Wilson and Hans Lukat.



COMING IN- The new well, to water the baseball fields at Langford Park, was brought in Tuesday by Doug Arnold. Irrigation of the two fields will now be designed by the park committee according to County Commissioner Frank Wacha.

County will 'do away' with mobile home subdivisions

The Martin County Commission will take action to eliminate RT mobile home subdivisions from the county zoning plan next Tuesday, according to a mutual accord reached in a meeting that lasted over three hours this week. Also, a new category, MH, for modular homes, might be instituted.

According to the commissioners feelings, mobile homes will be able to locate in the TF, mobile home park classification only. Present mobile home subdivisions will become "non-conforming use" under the plan, and will be unable to expand beyond present sites. This will not limit the development of present platted parks, it was explained to county attorney Dear Tooker.

Tooker said that the MH category would group modular homes, not sell them as a part of the community.)

The MH category is certain to draw fire from builders and contractors, as indicated to Peter Jefferson, local architect, who said that a pre-fabricated home valued at $75,000, built of pre-stressed concrete, had been completed on Sewall's Point at the exclusive High Point subdivision.

The county commissioners were irked directly at the concept of mobile home subdivisions, not at the individual subdivisions in the county. They cited a former head of the National Mobile Home Builders Association, who testified to Martin County recently, as saying he opposed the concept of subdivisions of mobile homes.

Mobile home parks came in for praise, and the category looked like it had nearly complete support of the commissioners.

The entire meeting delved into the broad picture of mobile homes in Martin County as the commissioners searched for a way to deal with the growing number of such homes in the county. What started out as a simple revision of the mobile home subdivision code turned into a complete evaluation of the concept of zoning, the direction of zoning, planning for the county future, and the semantics of the way people live.

Evans Crary, Jr., former county judge chastised the commission for not dealing with the basics of the problems.

"There are two problems," Crary said. "The first is taxes. You say you are not getting enough taxes from the people who live in mobile homes. You must either do away with mobile homes, or accept them as a part of the community."

Crary said the other problem was "compatability".

"Get to specifics and meet them head on," Crary said.

"The attitude of the government should reflect the attitude of the people. Most subdivisions have a compatability plan that has restrictions for economic reasons. If a man wants to restrict something, let him restrict it," he added.

Crary scored the "ivory tower" thinking of today, and feared that the country was getting into economics of living when it began building restrictions so tight.

He said that zoning was a guide to development, not a firm way to develop. He said the problem would be solved if the county would abolish everything but a 2200 square foot home. "But you'll hurt a lot of people, little people, in the community," he said.

Crary cited the "fair share of taxes" the county expects mobile home owners to pay. "As a businessman," he said, "I pay a great deal more than a resident who is retired, w

Jensen firemen ask flat Lucie fee

Volunteer firemen from the Jensen Beach Fire Department have been covering fires in the south portion of St. Lucie County for an individual fee per fire.

At a recent meeting of the St. Lucie County-Ft. Pierce Fire District, a letter was read from the Jensen Beach company asking that as of October, 1969, it be paid a flat fee of $1,200 annually for its services instead of the current $35 for the first hour and $10 for each additional hour or part thereof.

For a year and a half the local firemen have been responding to fire calls on Indian River Drive from Martin County line north to Walton, and on A-1-A north of the Holiday Out Resort.

The St. Lucie County firemen were unanimous in agreeing that the present contract should continue, rather than a flat annual fee and will meet with the Jensen Beach firemen to discuss the matter.

Hospital contract awarded

A $1,424,600 contract for construction of a new addition to Martin Memorial Hospital has been awarded an Orlando firm, construction is expected to get underway within two weeks, according to W. A. C. Miller, III, president of the board of trustees of the hospital.

Authorization to award the contract to Roberts Engineering & Construction Co., lowest of three bidders has been received from the U.S. Public Health Service, Atlanta, through the Division of Community Hospitals and Medical Facilities, Tallahassee.

The building is expected to be completed within 12 months.

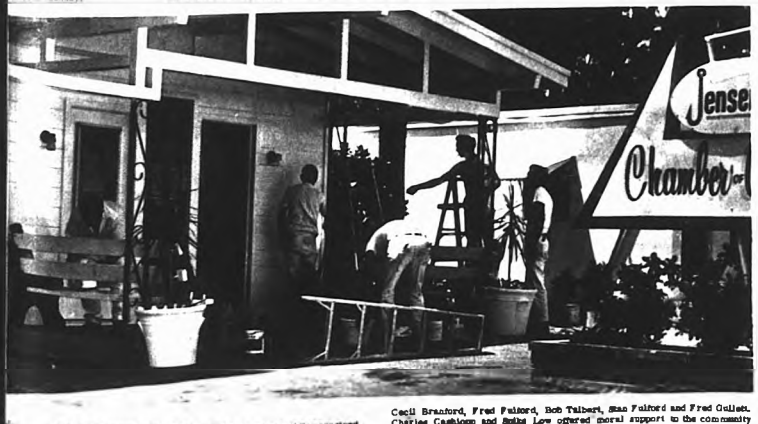
The addition will include a six-bed intensive care unit, 36-bed acute patient care unit, medical records department, laboratory and physical therapy areas, pharmacy, central sterile processing and stores. Maximum capacity of the new addition will be 125 beds.

The addition, consisting of a half-basement plus two floors, is designed for future vertical expansion to 10 floors.

Reeves and Walton of Orlando are the architects.

Cost of the total project is expected to be $1,750,000

AND THE WINNER IS--Max Saylor driving Bob Kaufman's boat, the "Clark Watt," placed first in the 266 cubic inch hydroplane class. Saylor is from Miami, and Kaufman is from George town, South Carolina.



INTRODUCING UP- The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce building received a new face last Sunday when members of the V.F.W. Post #10068 of Jensen Beach painted the exterior of the structure. Wielding the brushes above are Cecil Branford, Fred Fulford, Bob Talbert, Stan Fulford and Fred Gullett. Charles Cashlopp and Spike Low offered moral support to the community project, and Ross Wiedow stepped by to take pictures. Sunday Services were conducted on the site by Chaplain Fred Kelly.

I.R. Drive groups to join forces.

The Indian River Drive Freeholders, Inc., and the Indian River Drive Association, two civic, social and political action groups representing the residents of Eden, Walton and Eldred in the southeastern corner of St. Lucie County, east of the Florida East Coast Railroad tracks, will meet Thursday at the Walton Community Center to join forces.

In a meeting, set to start at 8 p.m., the two groups will vote to merge under the freeholder corporation name. The action brings to an end a long period of negotiations begun this winter to bring more unity of purpose to the drive residents.

The freeholder association is the younger of the two groups, having been formed in 1959. Florence Teal, secretary of the association, said that Don Romanello, president of the freeholders, is acting as chairman of the new group until an election of new officers is held.

The meeting was called by George Carnaghan, president of the drive association.

"The Good Old Days" will be talked about by some 300 early settlers and their descendants when they gather for their 43rd annual reunion and picnic on Saturday, May 10. The group will meet at the Stuart Youth Center for registration from 9 until 11, followed by a business session and program.

A picnic lunch will be served starting at 12 noon. Those attending are asked to bring food, Beverages, bread, plates, cups and utensils will be furnished by the Early Settlers Association.

Mrs. Leona Ross Smith, 1969 president, will preside. The number of pioneer settlers who came to the Lower Indian River area prior to 1905 is rapidly dwindling, but their descendants are expected to join in the annual get-together.

County salary requests approved

Martin County salary requests have been approved by the legislative delegation for temporary passage "until the Trask report has been made public," according to delegation chairman, Sen. Beth Johnson.

Legislation to establish a pay schedule of $5,200 a year for the voter registrar, $12,000 each for the tax assessor, tax collector, clerk of the circuit court, and sheriff, and $14,000 a year for the county judge, has been endorsed by the county commission.

In other action, the legislative delegation has approved recommendations to:

ALLOW the school board to provide group insurance under population standards;

AUTHORIZE the county commission to maintain auxiliary offices;

BAN dedication or conveyance of lands to the county without county approval;

CHANGE the fee for gun permits in the county from $5 to $10;

COLLECT funds for operation and maintenance of the law library;

PERMIT the county to issue certificates of indebtedness in face for a bridge;

ISSUE a club license to Moose Lodge 1282;

RECITAL the county judge to be a member of the Florida Bar (b) referendum.

A request for legislation to provide matching funds for new construction at the fairgrounds was withdrawn because it requires general legislation not local legislation.

Senators lounge bugs Beth Johnson

Beth Johnson, Florida's only mini-skirted senator, has a lounge problem.

"The senators lounge is the only thing that has ever bugged me about being the only woman here," said Mrs. Johnson.

Her problem was brought to light last week when the senators kicked in $5 apiece to put a coffee urn in the lounge.

Sen. Johnson, who has been using another room, designated "wives" rose to ask, "does this mean I am now allowed in the lounge?"

Senate President John E. Mathews assured Mrs. Johnson there is no rule barring her from the lounge, and offered to personally deliver her coffee.

"Nothing goes on in there she shouldn't be a party to," said Sen. Ralph Poston, D-Miami.

After being asked if she now plans to use the lounge, Sen. Johnson replied, "Never. I tried it once when I was a green freshman, but the screams were so loud, I never tried it again."

'Finest, fastest'...Reitz

3,000 see photo finish as 100 mph hydros race

An estimated 3,000 people turned out Sunday to view the Stuart Sailfish Regatta boat races, sponsored by the Stuart Chamber of Commerce, according to Herman Reitz, vice-chairman of the event.

"These were some of the finest, fastest, and most exciting races I've ever seen," Reitz told The Mirror. Some of the boats attained speeds of up to 100 m.p.h. in the straight away, and a number of the races weren't decided until the last turn of the last lap. There was even one photo finish.

Drivers came from as far away as Ohio to run on the 5 and 2/3 mile course. The races were sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association, (APBA).

Winners of the races were determined by total points accumulated. Two heats of three laps apiece were run, and the driver with the most points at the end of these heats was the winner.

There were eight individual classes, from the 48 cubic inch hydroplanes to the smaller ski boats. The big races of the day were the Governor's Cup, composed of ski boats and runabouts, the Invitational Grand Prix, for boats from 91 cubic inches to 160 cubic inches and the 280 cubic inch boats; and the Sailfish Invitational, for seven-liter boats and 166 cubic inch and 225 cubic inch boats.

The course, originally scheduled to be run on the south side of the Stuart causeway, were changed to the north side because the water was not so choppy on the north side. The racing was fast, for a total of 19 heats were run from 11:30 to 5:30.

The general race chairman of the event was Jack Sailor, vice-chairman in charge of getting the boats in the water was Herman Reitz, and Jerry Travis was vice-chairman in charge of the pits.

"Much credit is due to Everett Hatfield, of West Palm Beach," said Reitz. "He was scheduled to be the referee for the races but was called away late Saturday afternoon, because of a death in the family. He helped to organize the races, and did a tremendous job," Reitz added.

The substitute referee, appointed by the APBA, was S.E. "Sonny" Jones of Miami. Hatfield is also appointed by the APBA.

The crowd was kept well-informed by Dick Cribbin, of St. Petersburg, who did the announcing for the race.

Winners, by classes, were: 48-cubic inch class, 1st, Randy Harris of Miami in the "Time Bomb II", 2nd, Art McDougall, of Orlando, in the "Road Runner," and 3rd, Calvin Wingate, of Miami in the "Wait for Me."

In the 91 cubic inch Hydroplanes, 1st, Richard Cooper, of Miami in the "First Mortgage," second, Steve Jones, of Miami, in the "Gold Bug," and 3rd, Ron Hagan, of St. Petersburg. Hagan's boat did not have a name.

In the 160 cubic inch Hydroplane class, 1st, Tom Dehah, of St. Petersburg, in the "Southern Style," 2nd, G.W. Fugate, of Ft. Lauderdale, in the "Ginny," and 3rd, Roger D'Arbeloff of St. Petersburg in the "Pearl."

Winner of the 225 cubic inch Hydroplane class was Gene Bramblett of Miami in the "Southern Color," with second place going to Stan Irwin of Hialeah, in the "Pooks," and third going to Ted Panaretos, of Livonia, Mich., in the "Goodie Wagon." Panaretos is the man who, last year, flipped his boat and was sent to the hospital, as a result.

In the 166 cubic inch Hydroplane class, 1st was Max Saylor, of Miami, in the "Can't Wait," 2nd, Louis Nuss, Jr., of Miami, in the "Roman Candle," 3rd, Bill Goodwin of Miami Springs, in the "Miss Kathleen."

The 280 cubic inch Hydroplane class was won by James Deal, of Worthington, Ohio, in the "Outcast," 2nd, Tom Sheehy, of Miami, in the "Baynara," and 3rd, Gene Whipp, of Dayton, Ohio, in the "Shamrock."

The E. & F. Service Runabout class was won by Curt Brayer, of Miami, in the "Dancing Bear," who set the world's record here last year; 2nd, Ted Nauwelier, Jr., of Miami, in the "Second Mortgage," and 3rd, Dick Kiesler, of Miami, in the "Redhead."

The ski boat class was won by Jack Wilcox, of Ft. Lauderdale, in the "Cynthia," 2nd, Win Phillips, of Miami, in the "Wild Hare," and 3rd, R. Bradfield, of Ft. Lauderdale, in the "Thunderay."

The Sailfish Invitational was won by Tom D-ahsh of St. Pete driving Ray Cassner's seven-liter, Sunshine Baby IV", 2nd, Max Saylor of Miami Springs,, in the "Can't Wait," and 3rd, Gene Bramblett, of Miami, in the "Southern Color."

In the Invitational Grand Prix, first place went to Gene Whipp, of Dayton Ohio, in the "Shamrock," 2nd to Tom D-ahsh of St. Petersburg in the "Southern Style" and 3rd to James Deal, of Worthington, Ohio, in the "Outcast."

The Governor's Cup was won by Curt Brayer of Miami in the "Dancing Bear" 2nd, E. Bradfield, of Ft. Lauderdale, in "Thunderay," and 3rd, Jack Wilcox of Ft. Lauderdale, in the "Cynthia."

Win Phillips from Miami, in his boat "Wild Hare", flipped in the Governor's Cup Race. He was not injured. His boat did a complete cartwheel turn and landed right side up in the water.

Another accident occurred during the afternoon, with no injury reported, although the driver was taken to the hospital, where he was discharged. Ron Martin, left Cincinnati, Ohio, at 8 a.m. Friday, driving straight through to arrive here at 2 p.m. Saturday.

During one of the races, Martin's boat, "The Cobra", flipped. The boat was a total loss. Upon his release from the hospital, Martin asked if he could get another boat to drive in the remaining races.

Stuart Coastguard Auxiliary Flotilla 29 contributed an important part in the success of the Regatta. Four auxiliary boats assisted in patroling the course and controlling the fleet of about 75 spectator boats that turned out for the races.

Flotilla 29 Commander Gene Hall expressed thanks and appreciation to the boating public for their cooperation in conforming to Coast Guard regulations and assigned positions to view the races. It was most gratifying, he stated, to have such a large fleet responding to directions for viewing the races and their cooperation greatly conforming to the smooth operation of the races.

Flotilla Operations Officer Verne Chason provided the liaison with the Coast Guard and directed the assignments of the auxiliary patrol fleet.

AND AWAY WE GO- Bill Hodge, of Cincinnati, Ohio, shows how its done at the Stuart Sailfish Regatta boat races held Sunday. Hodge placed fourth in his class.

Cook describes rural Jamaica

Having seen much of the better class living conditions in the Kingston, Jamaica, area, one day I expressed a wish to see how the very poor country people lived. So Florence packed a lunch and we drove west to Spanish Town and then north through Bog Walk where we left the main road to Ocho Rios for a little forest settlement called Riversdale which is a little north of the center of the island. We were looking for one of Mac's students, Bob somebody, who was living with his mother during the Easter holidays. Her house was at the top of a steep slippery slope; it had just rained. The house was small but spotlessly clean. Mother insisted people leave their muddy shoes on the porch.

While the others got acquainted, Bob, the kids and I went for a walk. Peter was interested in coconuts, so Bob slipped a pair of home-made foot protectors on his feet and proceeded to climb one of the trees, using hands and feet. A machete was suspended from his belt, with this he chopped several nuts free which fell to the ground. Some were ripe and some green. The green ones he chopped the tops off and everyone had a drink. Then with his trusty machete he quickly took the heavy husk off the other coconuts. These were ripe nuts for the boys to take home.

Opposite the mother's home was a large spreading tree. Bob's younger brother ran up this tree and threw down several star apples. These apples are soft, like a tomato, but have the apple taste. The one and only store was a shack beside the road. A few shelves held a small quantity of canned goods and other essentials and, as always, the universal Pepsi or Coca Cola. Florence had lunch prepared on their only table and Max arrived with the cokes as the household used neither tea or coffee. The mother did her part by bringing in a pot dish of boiled green bananas. These bananas are purposely picked green so they will hold together while being cooked. Max actually likes this dish. I was so glad someone could appreciate this lady's kindly effort.

The interior of Jamaica is mostly rolling hills. An occasional hill is grass-covered but the interior is mostly covered with a lush growth of bushes and trees of many varieties. The breadfruit, Ackee and coconut seem to grow everywhere and bananas and other fruits are very easily grown. The fact that there is no employment to be had does nothing to encourage ambition and the people are inclined to live for the day only and seldom plant for the future. This does not mean they are not happy. There is always a group of people around the country store where they congregate and gossip. This is their main recreation. Wherever there is a clearing there is a cricket pitch and the men and boys will walk miles for a game of this favorite sport.

Religion is apparently important, for most every small community seems to have at least one church. Many denominations are represented but according to the last census, the Anglican Church predominates.

The counties, or parishes as they are called, provide good drinking water by drilling deep wells and piping the water to convenient places where it can be had by turning a faucet. From there it is carried or hauled by "donkey express." Cement is used quite extensively in building homes. These homes, to a casual observer, have no doors. The doors are there, but folded back against the wall out of the way, for night temperatures seldom get below 70 degrees. These people are aware of the value of education and they are doing their utmost to have their children educated. Not only the children, for we noticed a sign on a building beside the Kingston-Ocho Rios main road, "Adult Education."

Some of these country people have small patches of bananas, citrus or sugar cane, which are sold to get a little money to buy a few luxuries, but mostly they seem to live off the land. Bob's mother receives a monthly check from her husband who is working in England. Occasionally a few chickens are kept. The eggs supply protein which most of their foods lack.

We are inclined to make fun of the Jamaican roads but when we consider the extremely difficult terrain and the scarcity of tax dollars, it is a miracle the country has so many roads of any description. The British, during Jamaica's colonial dyas, did a wonderful of making roads, and now, although these roads are narrow and winding, they are mostly all black topped.

The cities in these tropical countries seem to have a great attraction for country people where they congregate in tumble-down make-shift shelters until work of some sort is found, so we are glad to see quite a lot of them are wisely staying on their small holdings where the air is pure, living conditions uncrowded and where there is no need to go hungry.

We are pleased to see Harold Scofield is home and progressing favorably after his three weeks stay in the Martin Memorial Hospital following a heart attack.

Mr. & Mrs. William Birum left April 26 for Hillsdale, Mich. Mrs. Birum says if they are able to sell their farm they will make Ocean Breeze their permanent home.

CASTLE IN THE VALLEY--The castle-like living quarters of Mrs. (Flynn) Flichett mentioned in last week's installment of "Rural Jamaica." The dressing room for the outdoor theatre is back of the high retaining wall to the left.

A WELCOME DRINK OF COCONUT MILK- Bob, the Jamaican at left, climbed a tree and threw down several coconuts. He chopped the tops off the green ones and provided the grandchildren with a refreshing drink.

GORDA GILL'S NEW MINI WAGON- Tuesday, April 22, Gorda Gill drove into the park with a new conveyance. It is the Ford Minihome. Gorda proudly showed us all the modern conveniences it contains. Community leader mourned

The community of Port St. Lucie mourns the death of one of it's most active citizens, - His interest in his fellow man was endless. Mr. Edward L. Baker, 66, of 169 Camino St., died at his home Saturday morning.

Mr. Baker was a native of Massachusetts, moving here in 1965. He was an architect and was a member of most every society connected with his trade. He was also active in the local Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla #56 of Port St. Lucie.

Mr. Baker's main interest however, centered around youth, especially those in scouting. An Eagle Scout himself, he was active in forming many troops in the north and continued his interest after coming to Port St. Lucie. He was instrumental in the formation of Sea-Explorer Troop 408 and served in an active and advisory capacity as the community scouting chairman.

He was a member of the first and second Boy Scout troops in the United States and was active in scouting for 54 years. He was planning to take part in a scouting Camporee when he died.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Betty Baker, Port St. Lucie; two sons, John A. of Fayetteville, N.Y., and R. Kenney, of Cumberland, Md., and four grandchildren.

why not reduce the headmaster's taxes, or increase others?" Crary said there was good and bad in everything, "but the whole thought should be the community, the entire community."

Crary said he, too, did not personally believe in mobile home subdivisions, but did in the park concept for the interim use of land until its price obviates mobile park use.

Dr. Bill Myers, commissioner, said he wanted to move that the population density, health and safety of the county should be considered in land use, and that area of a family be a minimum of 7,500 feet, that all subdivisions be required to have central water and sewage, and that all homes meet the Southern Standard Building Code.

Audubon refuge is donated by FIND

A new bird and wildlife sanctuary has been established on the Intracoastal Waterway at Jensen Beach. The sanctuary, consisting of 1443 acres of spoil islands and spoil areas, is located between the norte Martin County line and the Crossroads off Sewall's Point.

Florida Inland Navigation District board approved the sanctuary resolution presented by Ed Gluckler, local FIND representative.

Signs will be posted by the Florida Audubon Society.

that all subdivisions have central water and sewage.

Capt. Frances A. Adams, venerable Spanish American War veteran, said that the mobile home concept was what developed the west of the United States in early days. "The mobile home is true Americanism, right down to the ground," Adams said. He talked briefly about the prairie schooners of early days, comparing them to the mobile homes of today.

Architect Peter Jefferson compared the mobile homes of today with the horse and buggy days, and modular homes with the automobile. He said that sectionalized housing was the newest form of building, using pre-cast concrete and added that prefabricated dwellings were the building method of the future.

The county commissioners, following much debate, decided to formulate ideas from the information presented Tuesday, and come to another special meeting next Tuesday to take action on the mobile home problems of the county so that a policy for the future is established.

Postmastership bureacratized

The Jensen Beach postmastership after three years is still in limbo, facing an uncertain future in the many bureaucratized departments of Washington, D.C., according to information received this week from Sen. Edward Gurney.

In answer to a request for information on the status of a permanent postmaster in Jensen Beach, Gurney ran into the same post office department delay as has been evidenced for the past several years.

This time, however, the delay is due to the fact that, "Officials of the Post Office Department and the Civil Service Commission are working on new standards to be used in screening postmaster candidates. The revised criteria will be announced as soon as possible," according to acting deputy - assistant - postmaster-general Nyle M. Jackson.

Gurney wrote that he would advise the people of Jensen Beach of any information he may receive relative to the local post office.

The huge fish, caught on live shiner last Sunday evening in the St. Lucie River, weighed 12 pounds, six ounces. The lunker trout was caught on the Evans Creek Bridge just west of the Sewall's Point shore. The present world record sea trout was 17 pounds. The record is held by the late C. A. Hubbard of Fort Pierce.

Stuart area to lose ambulance service

As of May 31, Stuart area will lose its ambulance service, according to a letter presented by G. Wade Aycock of Aycock Funeral Home Stuart.

The letter was read at a Martin County Commission meeting Tuesday morning. It stated that as of May 31, separation date of the contract, Aycock will no longer be able to continue the ambulance service in Stuart and Martin County, as they are not financially underwritten for the service to operate under the supervision of the funeral home.

Aycock said he was aware of the public relations program provided by the service was an asset to the business, so especially finalized terminating the contract.

Pointing to his concern, and as a token of his sincerity Aycock offered free and clear one fully equipped ambulance including two-way radio, oxygen equipment and first aid supplies. Also, he said, "we will donate to the county another two-way radio, oxygen equipment and first aid supplies which will be enough to adequately equip another ambulance such as a converted station wago." In addition, he offered to assist in the formation of another ambulance service and said he would serve as a consultant when needed if it is operated on a volunteer basis.

The service has been available 24 hours daily during the past year, Aycock said and never refused service to anyone regardless of his ability to pay.

Areas served by the present ambulance service include Jensen Beach-Rio, Hobe Sound and Indiantown.

County commission chairman Bill Hussey congratulated Aycock on service. He said the problem has been solved in other communities and questioned if the county "Should go into it?" Is it a go-ahead for the county?

Commissioner Frank Wacha suggested advertising for ambulance service. He also suggested that bids be obtained for the cost of maintaining and operating a county ambulance service.

RT Moratorium set as rules get stiff

Martin County commissioners indicated that they would be straight and narrow for future mobile home subdivisions, and an "indefinite moratorium" would be placed on all future applications for changes to the residential mobile home subdivision zoning. The new and still rules were part of a suggestion placed before the county fathers by county engineer Tom Slider.

Slider asked that the county upgrade present RT classification to make MH, and that it stand for "Modular Housing" so as to prevent the use of [illegible] mobile homes in RT zoning places. He said that RT zoning [illegible] was used by the commissioners in trying to define mobile homes, and legally including that to include modular homes would be falling off the mark.

"We need to talk about modular housing," commissioner Bill Hussey [illegible] "That's the only way to [illegible] Slider said that [illegible] the mobile of the mobile home [illegible] involved a rolling [illegible] Slider affixed of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Specks celebrate golden wedding

To celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary which was April 30, Russell and Lola Speck invited some of their friends to a cocktail party. For convenience, the party was held Tuesday, April 29. Guests present were the Mr. & Mrs. Fred Steigmeier, Fred Tyler, Willis Caldwell, Klare Steinle, John Gilbert, Harvey Holcombe, Walter Scott, Earl Grant, Eddie Tokash, George Dell, Harold Schroeder, Cecile Harlow, George Henle and Winnie Newkirk.

A second cocktail party was held the following day, April 30, when 13 friends assembled to offer the happy couple congratulations. The guests were Mr. & Mrs. Herman Larson, Ed Austin, Larry Moore, Al Pape, Boo Sears, Fred Schmidt, and Walter Neva.

The gorgeous display of flowers as pictured were presented from their family and friends.

Russ says he feels their 50th wedding anniversary is now well celebrated. It started with the occasion in the club house last February for all who celebrated this year. They much enjoyed and appreciated that gesture of the park management. Now Rus tells us there will be another celebration when they get to their summer home at Lake Wallenpaupack in the Pocono Mountains of Pa.

While the Specks were at dinner at the Outrigger, the evening of April 30, their waitress noticed the orchid that Lola was wearing, and inquired whether it was a birthday or anniversary. A short time later, several waitresses came in carrying a lovely cake and singing "Happy Anniversary."

LOVELY FLOWERS- These flowers were sent to Russell and Lola Speck by family and friends to commemorate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Jensenites attend Episcopal Convention

Among the 910 attending the 46th Episcopal Church Convention in Miami Beach, April 28, 29 & 30, were six from All Saints Parish, Father Lynn, Mr. W. Hewitt, Mr. & Mrs. George Craig, all of Jensen; and Mr. & Mrs. Henry Doring of Ocean Breeze. Here is a short report as related by Mrs. Doring.

There were 325 men and 325 ladies attending as delegates, 240 clergy, and 20 in unofficial capacity. Three hotels were used to house the visitors, The Dupont, Everglades and Columbus. The ladies meeting was referred to as the Episcopal Church Women, and the men's, the Church Convention. The ladies met in the Dupont Plaza, while the men met at the Bay Front Auditorium. On Monday morning, the opening meeting was conducted during one of our tropical rains. Mayor Smith welcomed the visiting ladies.

This is the first year that the Youth Groups have been represented at the convention. They have undertaken two projects on their own, one with the migrant workers, and one helping to maintain a monastery. The girls from the group had what they called their "Thing" and presented each visiting lady with a long-stemmed rose, in exchange they asked for a smile.

Father Pasha, an ordained priest, spoke on the news media via radio and T.V. Bishop Louttitt told of his early days as vicar and priest, and of the present plan to divide this Diocese of South Florida into three parts. Bishop Duncan spoke on racism, saying the white and colored women must come to a complete understanding, and meet on common ground so they can work together.

In conclusion, Mrs. Doring said the three days were very gratifying, and we have high hopes for the future program of the Episcopal Church in Florida.

Gertrude Myers lectures

Mrs. Gertrude Myers was guest speaker at Dad McCarty High School in May 2, when she lectured on astrology to four classes in Assembly Psychology. Mrs. Myers, who has studied Astrology for the past twenty-five years, has been teaching for two years, in South Bend, Ind. Mrs. Myers also belongs to the National Astrology Association of Washington, D.C., has lectured also to Parents without Partners, and an association whose interests are making the best possible homes for their children where only parents, Gertrude laughingly said grandmothers are welcomed for knowing how to raise their grandchildren. In addition to her many other talents Mrs. Myers recently spoke to 40 ladies of St. Joseph's Parish on "Talents" and making the best of them and she also conducts a weekly Art Class in the Methodist Educational Building on Monday afternoons. She has been teaching this class for the past three years and has pupils from as far away as Tampa. Hats off to a clever lady.

Mrs. Maude Dexter's daughter came down Friday of last week and took her mother back with her to Alexandria where her home on the St. Lawrence River in New York.

We are told a group of people from Ocean Breeze went to Jupiter last Sunday and they came home with a lot of tomatoes. It appears some grower has a field of 70 or 80 acres of tomatoes which are abandoned and left to rot as the wages demanded by the packers leaves no margin for profit.

Personals

Alice Miller and Charlie Slezak are to have dinner May 4, with Mr. & Mrs. Clarence Gilbert of Jensen Beach. This is a farewell gesture to the Reinheimers who plan to leave for Warsaw, N.Y. Monday, May 5.

Mr. & Mrs. Ed Austin of Key Lime had for company for a few days last week, Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Seward of Hammond, Ind. The Sewards and the Austins have been friends for many years.

By the way, the Austins have a summer home on Eagle Lake which is 200 miles north of International Falls in Canada, they just heard there is nine inches of snow there, so Ed says he will wait here a while. Ed tells us their summer home is all electric and very comfortable, also fishing in Eagle Lake is good. He showed us a picture of a muskie he caught that weighed 28 lbs.

We have not heard of many fish catches lately, but Urban Masson says he caught two snook off the Wacha Bridge catwalk. They weighed 3 and 12 pounds.

Mr. & Mrs. Ed Duguay drove to Lakeland and Sarasota, the week end of April 26th, where they visited a brother and a sister.

Mr. & Mrs. Elliott, who have their trailer located just north of the office tell us they have heard from the Harold Fairs, the George Hindmans, and the Harold Woodpurys, that they all arrived safely at Mishwaka, Ind. They also heard that Doc and Mrs. Willeny had arrived at their home in Needham, Mass.

Mr. & Mrs. William Davenport sold their trailer and have purchased a new one, and are now living in it. They are located on the lot just west of the office to Mr. & Mrs. Mike Schillace and have a mobile home at Lake Manor.

Ralph and Bobbie Tucker have everything ready to leave Monday morning, May 5, with their Avion trailer for Flint, Mich. They intend to take in the Avion Rally at New London, Ohio on the 25th of June. A calcavacade is being arranged to leave Calgary July 10, which the Tuckers will join. A very interesting itinerary is arranged for this trip, through the most scenic part of North America. Stops will be made at various points including Edmonton, Jasper, Lake Louise, on their way to Vancouver, where the calvacade ends August 11.

At the conclusion of this trip, the Tuckers will take a month or so to visit several members of the family before returning to O.B.

Mr. & Mrs. K. Ebright of Mifflintown, Pa., spend their winters on Lil Bit Lane and return north early each year to take care of their apple orchard. They had been away some time, but now Mr. Ebright has been back to get the trave trailer he bought last winter from Mrs. Saum and will be travelling with us this summer.

Mrs. Nan Campbell had Mrs. Edna Campbell as a guest. She flew up from Seattle, Wash., to Miami, where she was met by Nan, who brought her home to O. B. They visited the Queen Elizabeth at Port Everglades and other points of interest in South Florida. The two ladies will visit friends in Virginia and several others enroute to Idaho and Washington.

Larry Fisher and Frank Freeman went bridge fishing Saturday morning, real early, and brought in five nice sheep weighing a total of 50 lbs. They tell us their best fishing was between two and three A.M. I guess that is because at that hour, they like me, are fast asleep. What these fishermen will do. A picture next week.

Fred and Margaret Buob bought the Marland trailer-Indiana on S. 6th. George Beattie of Fort Wayne and his remodeling the work shop to make a bedroom of it, is living with them. He is from Atlantic, Iowa, and is looking for steady work here. The Hanks are from Whitewood, Pa. This is their first experience in a mobile park but they like it.

Mrs. Hunt was sent in this country by the Japanese parents. Her father was a sea captain for 40 or 50 years and held licenses for Norway, Great Britain, and the United States.

Mr. & Mrs. Earl Gould have bought a house on Martin St., Jensen Beach, and were here to visit May 2, 3, & 4th. Earl says they are going to fix house first, for a thank you and if they don't have it the next time you come back to their trailer at that lot.

Mrs. Helen Webster, formerly with the Stuart Daily Press, and more recently of Long Island, N.Y., tells us she left here on the first day after the death of her husband, and came back about a week ago, renting Boyd's trailer - N.P. 4th, while she looked around the park for a place to live. Helen saw and liked Mrs. Mikesell's trailer on Almond, so a deal was made and she moved in May 1st. Welcome, Helen.

Earl and Nellie Grant have a letter from Julia Wingert. She and her husband, Pat, were Ocean Breeze residents for many years. Julia has not been well for two months and she says she is not completely healed since her operation, but is getting right along. She gets out and walks some, but can't wear anything to keep fitting clothes. Weather is beautiful with warm days and cool evenings. She and Pat will be staying home this summer.

Julia says the Harris family left last week, and are ready to leave for the north for fishing. Marge and Bob McLanahan and Mat and Elsie Baker left May 3rd, May 1st. They wish to be remembered to their Gulf friends. Pat and Julia Wingert, Box 2866, Alamesa, Cal. 92001.

Mrs. Blanch Mikesell, a resident of Ocean Breeze, during the winters for the past 15 years, left with Mr. & Mrs. Everett Garrett, Mrs. Ivy, on the A.F. Airport, where she boarded a plane for Fort Lauderdale, N.J., which had many friends here who will miss her very much, and we all wish her much happiness in her future home.

Mr. & Mrs. Oscar Wallquist of Goose Haven have been looking for a larger trailer for some time, and unfortunately for Mr. Mead, they found just the place they had in mind, and bought it, that drive, from Del Vance, Oscar and Estelle as they called it will move to their new home May 9th. Mr. Vance, the former owner is moving back to Minneapolis, Minn., where he expects to make his permanent home.

Hello, Mrs. Cook. We left O.B.F. Wed., April 23, at 7 a.m. Drove 550 miles the first day, 553 the second, and 249, the 3rd day which took us right to our back door. We had a very nice trip. Glad to be home, everything is so nice and green. Cherry trees in full bloom. We are both feeling just fine. Sincerely, Anna and Jus Lasbo. Their home is in Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Adreani:

The family of Harris J. Holcraft acknowledges with grateful appreciation your kind expression of sympathy.

The following refers to money your funeral committee aired to the funeral home in Lafayette, Ind. for the Holcraft funeral, (N. D.C.)

Dear Friends: Here is a clipping of my class' reunion held April 21st, from Avon Beacon Journal. Also a little note of appreciation from the family. How nice of you to send us the list of names and contributed to the Memorial Fund for M. Bessemer. My husband just loved the parks and the friends we have made there, was so anxious to return each winter. For me, I know there will be an emptiness that can never be filled, and I know too that I must live for the future. I am expecting to come back to Ocean Breeze next year. Hope to see you then. Sue Bessemer.

The enclosed clipping reads: Retired Akron farmer William D. Bessemer, 92, died Monday in Shangri La Nursing Home, Medina, after a long illness. Mr. Bessemer, of 1430 S. Micheals Ave., was born in Sandy Lake, Pa., and lived in Akron 55 years. He leaves his wife, Susie Florence; a daughter, Mrs. Maxine Bailey, and a son, Eugene D., both of Akron; nine grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren, and several great-great-grandchildren. Cremation and interment will be in Greenlawn Cemetery.

The memorial Mrs. Bessemer referred to was the donations made by their friends to the Ambulance Fund, (T.C.)

Dear Tom & Nellie Cook: We thought our friends at Ocean Breeze would be interested in knowing we arrived home safely last night (A)—till 2%, after a 1600-mile trip from St. Pete, and we did not had pulling of trailer. The weather and scenery were beautiful the first three days, but yesterday, in Illinois we ran into rain, hail and wind. Total has been very disagreeable here, therefore it is nice to be back home where Burrises is 70 degrees and temperature is 48 below.

We had a mishap with our trailer the day we left Ocean Breeze for it developed that it could be a two section, but luck was with us, resulting only in a slight damage to car and trailer. At Indianapolis we had a very enjoyable visit Clarence and Eva Smith and also had several Jensenites stop by back in the park. They gave us a beautiful bowl of fruit which I made into a delicious fruit salad. We left Indianapolis at 7:30 A.M. and arrived here at 5:30 P.M. Central Standard Time. We had a wonderful trip, and enjoyed every minute of it. Had a nice visit with Mr. & Mrs. Ed Austin, Jensen Beach, and Mr. & Mrs. Ed Duguay, Lakeland, Florida, on our way down. Also had a visit with Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Seward, Hammond, Ind. on our way home. Both couples are friends of ours from Needham, Mass. Ed Austin has a summer home on Eagle Lake, Maine, and he says the fishing is very good there. Ed showed us a picture of a muskie he caught that weighed 28 lbs. Ed Duguay has a summer home on Lake Winnipesaukee, N.H. Both couples have been friends for many years.

Our trailer is very comfortable, also fishing in Eagle Lake is good. He showed us a picture of a muskie he caught that weighed 28 lbs.

Marie and Cedric Benz honored

A covered-dish supper held in honor of Marie and Cedric Benz was a huge success with 85 persons in attendance. The Friday Night Gang sponsored the May 1 to acclaim "Marie and Cedric Benz Night" for their untiring efforts on running Game Night, or so-called Bingo, at the Port St. Lucie Marina every Friday night for the past number of years. Those participating decided it was time to honor the pair for getting to the Marina early every Friday night to put the coffee on, for seeing that get-well cards are signed and mailed to any of the gang who are sick, for their time spent in purchasing the cover-all prizes, and for the gas used in obtaining them, for making special announcements, to get quartets together to sing "Happy Birthday" or "Happy Anniversary," for checking work, and to serve as a jinx for being Ann Landers of good will in the community.

A member's gift was also given Marie and Cedric, after they thanked everyone profusely for their contribution to making the evening an enjoyable hr. there.

After the covered dish supper, everyone remained and played Bingo. Visitors at the night's festivities included George Perry, Janet and Archie Clarke, Ruth and John Blake.

The special guests sang "Happy Birthday to Florid ... as has "3000" birthdays.

The main prize of a two-pound beef roast was won by William J. Hessler.

Friday Night this week will be Mardi Gras Night,

GDC announces highest earnings

General Development Corporation has reported the highest sales and net income of any quarter in the company's history, sustaining a five-year trend of improved quarterly earnings over the corresponding period for the previous year.

In making the announcement recently, Charles H. Kellstadt, board chairman and president, said that total sales reached a record $28,302,104, an increase of 44.5 per cent over the $19,581,479 recorded in 1968.

Net income after a $3,382,400 provision for federal income taxes, soared 64.2 per cent to $3,023,726 compared to $1,840,677 last year.

Per share earnings increased to 33 cents from 23 cents, based on 9,126,612 and 7,952,131 average shares outstanding for 1969 and 1968 respectively. The average shares outstanding for the first quarter of 1968 have been adjusted for a two per cent stock dividend declared in May of last year.

Kellstadt stated that in addition to the substantial increase in homesite sales, single family housing sales rose to $2,567,106 over $1,874,529 for the same period in 1968.

"We feel," he said, "that the company's performance is indicative of the tremendous faith people have in the future of Florida and the communities which General Development is building."

Fred Preston was elected president of the City of Port St. Lucie Homeowners Association, Inc., at the board of directors' meeting held at the Port St. Lucie Office on May 1.

The three officers plus board members Walter Allman and H. Adm. Jack Pardi were appointed to the executive committee to act in the absence of the majority of board members, and also to select one committee member to attend city council meetings of the City of Port St. Lucie.

Port St. Lucie Barracks 2936 or VWWI and Auxiliary were hosts to the meeting which was held at the Marina and the Catholic Church.

The second district comprises all barracks in the following counties: Glades, Hendry, Indian River, Martin, Palm Beach, Okeechobee and St. Lucie.

Blood Bank elects Benz

Cedric Benz was elected president of the River Park-Port St. Lucie Blood Bank, Inc., at the annual meeting held at the Port St. Lucie Marina on Sunday, April 27.

Other officers elected by the board of directors were: Al Weigel, vice-president; Frances Lee, secretary; and Harry Lunden, treasurer. For operating purposes, Benz will serve as director and Harry Grove as assistant director.

Vacancies on the board of directors were filled by election as follows: Ethel Krail, Harry Grove and John Tuck, three-year terms; Archie Clark, two-year term.

Benz appointed a membership committee with Grove as chairman; Tuck and Ethel Krail as members.

At the meeting, the report of treasurer Janet Clarke was reassuring in nature as it reflected a stable organization; one which guarantees protection to the membership of the Blood Bank in any emergency.

After the report was accepted, it was announced that the treasurer was retiring and would not be a candidate for re-election.

The president lauded Mrs. Clarke for her untiring efforts during her three years as treasurer, especially in its first and formative year and her assistance to getting the bank on a firm financial footing. A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Clarke for her work.

The membership report showed the bank had 664 active members on the rolls; and that over 50 members were deleted from the list because of moving from the district or death.

The Blood Bank is a non-profit corporation, organized for the benefit of residents of River Park and Port St. Lucie. All residents are eligible to membership upon payment of one dollar entrance fee, with no further assessments. An interested resident may contact a director.

SIMULATED DRILL- It was a shocking thing to see for those who drove the Jensen-Pin South Savanna Road last Thursday afternoon. An overturned school bus looked as if it had dumped a score of students onto the side of the road, in all stages of injuries. The Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department and the Martin County Sheriff's Department stood by, watching the Martin County rescue team pull the students to safety and bandage their wounds. The simulated accident was held by Civil Defense and Martin Memorial Hospital with local emergency units assisting. The "injured" were students from St. Joseph College.

MAIL ORDER BUSINESS- A mail order business for novel and unique gift items is being offered by Betty Lewis and Betty Bruce of The Swinging Door Gift Shop, Jensen Beach. Gifts can be mailed to the purchaser or recipient of the gift and the mail order brochure may be seen at the Swinging Door on Commercial Street.

Stuart Juniors promote 'Healthy Baby Week'

Members of the Junior Woman's Club of Stuart realize the importance of prenatal care to all the women of Martin County. They are informing the public of this need through a film to be shown at the clubhouse on Ocean Blvd., Stuart, on May 16 at 8 p.m. The title of the film is "More than Love" and emphasizes pre-parenthood responsibility for giving children a healthy start in life. The public is invited.

Results of a recent survey show that more than 250,000 babies are born each year with a significant birth defect. Birth defects destroy 500,000 babies before they are born and at least 18,000 infants born with defects die before their first birthday. Pamphlets on this subject will be passed out at local grocery stores.

The Junior Woman's Club also urges all parents to have their children vaccinated for German measles, aside from the regular measles vaccination, to protect future mothers from contracting the disease. The new vaccine will be available in the very near future. All children under 14 years old should be vaccinated.

Another new vaccine to prevent RH disease is available to RH negative mothers to prevent damage to future children. If used within 72 hours of a stillborn birth, it can prevent damage to each future child.

Indian River Drive groups to merge

Two Indian River Drive community groups merged at a recent meeting held at Walton Community Center.

The Indian River Drive Freeholders, Inc. and the Indian River Drive Association joined forces at a meeting last Thursday. Temporary officers are Don Romanello, president; Grace Corrao, secretary, and Florance Teal, treasurer.

Election of officers for the new organization will be held Thursday, May 15 at 8 p.m. at Walton Community Center. At that time plans will be discussed for new by-laws and other matters.

The group will represent residents of Eden, Walton and Eldred in the southeastern corner of St. Lucie County.

Tom Cockrill was appointed as representative to the St. Lucie County zoning board meetings.

School Board open meeting Thursday

The regular meeting of the Martin County School Board will be held at the Stuart Courthouse on Thursday, May 8 at 3:30 p.m. The meeting is open to the public.

Scheduled on the tentative agenda are appointments for replacements for the 68-69 year, Lee Hoffman, replacing Mrs. Barbara Anderson at MCHS, and appointments of new teachers for the 69-70 school year.

Also, the board is expected to give bus travel authorizations over the 75-mile radius to parties, for the Fort Salonga trip to Cape Kennedy, May 20; Hobe Sound trip to Cape Kennedy, Jensen Beach trip to Cape Kennedy, and Sound trip to tour Queen Elizabeth, in Fort Lauderdale.

The board will authorize bidding on moving portable classrooms from Dunbar to Warfield, and from Hobe Sound to Indiantown and Stuart as alternate.

There will be a construction bid opening May 22 at 3:30 p.m. at the Courthouse for re-bid of Hobe Sound and MCHS additions.

County Actions

At Tuesday's meeting the Martin County Commission took the following actions:

INSTRUCTED county attorney Dean Tooker to contact Associated Appraisers regarding land on Martin Grade for a sanitary landfill, and draw a contract to be submitted for consideration at the May 27 meeting. Tooker will prepare purchase agreement as soon as possible.

AGREED to permit W. A. Fordyce, at Indialantic, Sewall's Point, build a 120-foot dock. Town of Sewall's Point has no objection.

APPOINTED Bill Hussey and Harold Glass to the electrical board.

Clarence Fulton passes away

Ruth Griffith received a phone call from George Fulton telling of the death of his father, Clarence Fulton.

He said his father had been driving the tractor, which work he loved, the afternoon of May 5, and as he stepped down from the tractor, he passed away.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon, May 8, at the Jones Funeral Home in Washington, Iowa. Clarence was well liked by everyone who knew him in Ocean Breeze Park and he will be missed by his many friends who extend their sincere sympathy to his wife, Lucille, and the family.

Six first places

Mirror wins 13 awards in contest

The Jensen Beach Mirror won thirteen awards in the 1968-69 Florida Press Association Better Newspaper Contest at the 90th annual spring convention of the state newspaper group. Included in the awards list were six first place awards, including first in conservation writing, first in community service and first in Americanism editorial writing.

Other "Best in the state" awards were for writing on freedom of information, sports-feature column and newspaper promotion.

The Mirror was ranked second only to the Boca Raton News, judged Florida's best newspaper for the period.

The number of awards is the highest received in the history of The Jensen Beach Mirror. Last year, in being ranked "Best in Florida", The Mirror won eight awards with four first places.

First Place: Community Service

The Mirror campaign for a sound jetty at St. Lucie Inlet as a temporary measure to stop the inlet from being continuously filled with sand drifting through the jetty was honored by community service judges. "...excellent example of comprehensive approach to community problem; many stories, editorials, supported by pictures and cartoons..." was the comment of the judges.

First place: Conservation

The Mirror editorial and news participation in conservation was honored. Three articles required by the contest judges were on three different phases of conservation by The Mirror. The judges remarked, "...apparent that writer's active participation added knowledge to the three articles entered."

1st place: Americanism Editorial

The campaign of The Mirror in fighting the indictment of the City of Stuart by the state's attorney earned this Americanism award, given for articles protecting and informing the public on principles of government. The judges commented: "Mr. Campbell more nearly reflected the hard-hitting approach to Americanism that the drafter of the rules envisioned when the latter were drawn..."

1st place: Sports Feature/Column

The articles by Richard Campbell on lobstar fishing in the Florida Keys, on fishing in Martin County and on camping won the first in-the-state plaque for best outdoor writing. The same award was won by Campbell in 1968.

1st place: Freedom of Information

The Mirror effort to have local open meetings and records, ordinances and policies passed by governments in Stuart, Martin and St. Lucie Counties won the award, presented this year for the first time in Florida.

1st place: Newspaper Promotion

This award for activities promoting newspaper community relations was won by The Jensen Beach Mirror in 1964, 1965 and 1968. The Mirror won praise from the judges: "...the key to selection of The Jensen Beach Mirror as tops in newspaper promotion is its balance, bringing all departments into play and utilizing community activities, the newspaper initiated and sponsored, advertising and in-paper promotion..." The judges also said The Mirror adhered to the sound philosophy of "...doing its job, the...just a little more, in leading community affairs, not just reporting them..."

In other divisions, The Mirror took second place awards in General Excellence and Editorial Page. A third-place honor was awarded for Best Advertising Idea and Best Editorial of Free Enterprise, and honorable mention awards were given for Best Editorial, Best Feature Story and Best Original Column.

Judging of the Florida Press Association contest was done by editors and publishers of national prize-winning newspapers outside the state of Florida.

ANOTHER ONE?--One of the thirteen awards received by The Jensen Beach Mirror at the Florida Press Association Convention last weekend in Daytona Beach brought a laugh when contest chairman Sonny Stalls, editor of The Clewiston News, said, "Another one?" as he presented the plaque to Mirror publisher Dick Campbell. Ten members of The Mirror staff attended the convention. The six first places and thirteen awards were the largest number of honors garnered by The Mirror in a single year in its eight-year history.

Beautification

'Can-smashers' work for trip to camp

The students at Jensen Beach Elementary School are smashing cans for a trip to camp, and the efforts will help to beautify Jensen Beach. The Jensen Beach Garden Club has asked the students to collect as many cans as they can, which are littering the area, cut out the tops and bottoms, and smash them flat.

It is all a part of the Garden Club's beautification project, according to Mrs. Arthur C. Mills, Jr., president. The student who collects the heaviest load of tin cans will win a free two-week trip to the Junior Nature Camp at Camp Okihumpka.

Students from grades four, five and six are eligible for the prize.

Students were asked to put all their tin cans, smashed flat, and the lids, in a box, tie it tightly, and bring the box to the Jensen Beach Volunteer Firehouse near the end of the contest period.

The litter bug campaign will run from May 14 (today) to June 6. Mrs. E. J. Curtis is chairman of the committee, assisted by Mrs. Frank Barton and Mrs. Charles Munch.

Students are encouraged to help the garden club clean up roadsides that are littered with cans thrown from cars by "litterbugs", and to save any and all cans they find for turning in at the fire house for weighing. Student names should be on the individually tied boxes.

The project could raise some money for the garden club fund to beautify the Jensen Beach Arch, Mrs. Mills said. Sale of the metal cans could raise a small amount of money. Last week the arch project got under way with the establishment of a water line from the county park pump 700 feet up the hill to the arch. An application is now pending to drill a pipe under the road (SR 707) to pass a water pipe through to water all four sides of the arch.

Recounting the history of the arch, Mrs. Mills said that all through the life of the garden club, various administrations have tried to beautify the arch, but found it impossible without water. Hibiscus bushes were planted there as one of the first projects of the club.

"The lack of direct water, and the fact that members are not as young as they were 19 years ago, make our mind for a permanent solution pressing," Mrs. Mills said. The president thanked The Jensen Beach Mirror for having spearheaded the acquisition of and laying of the pipeline to the arch.

Port St. Lucie considers 'open meetings' ordinance

The City of Port St. Lucie listened to and asked its city attorney to look into an ordinance insuring open meetings and open records of the city Tuesday morning. A proposed ordinance presented by Jensen Beach Mirror publisher Dick Campbell to the councilmen brought prompt action and sympathetic attention of the council.

City attorney Rupert Smith questioned the need for such an ordinance, and pointed out that the city already had ingurance of open meetings and records in the city charter. "It is a model charter," Smith said.

Campbell pointed out that the detailed ordinance was for the future growth of the city, "when you have 50,000 or 100,000 population."

The councilmen asked Smith and Campbell to meet and discuss the proposed ordinance for future consideration.

In other business, the council:

HEARD proposals of General Development Corporation for land use, which, in detail, will be revealed next week in The Mirror.

ASKED that Smith prepare an ordinance on limitations of plantings and approval of any plantings by utilities in the rights-of-way between sidewalks and the roads of the city.

TABLED action on a mowing resolution until the plans for services to homeowners are revealed by General Development in the latter part of May.

PASSED an addition to an ordinance providing that a ten inch drain pipe be required under all driveways passing over a drainage ditch.

EXTENDED the deadline for purchase of dog licenses to June 1, 1969. Licenses purchased will expire on April 1, 1970.

HEARD Councilman Julian Flood report that the county regional planning board would vote Friday on the route route of I-95 south of Okeechobee Road in Fort Pierce. Flood said the council had already decided that the location should be west of, or on, the turnpike.

AGREED that the city hall would have to be open daily due to the heavy work load of the councilmen. A committee was appointed to look into the hours and extension of working conditions in the office.

Half million is homestead loss

About $500,000 will be cut from Martin County's tax roll because of last week's court ruling granting $5,000 homestead exemptions to each condominium unit. Local tax assessors were assessing condominiums on the basis of a single homestead exemption per building, rather than per unit, and were pro-rating it among all units in the building.

The assessors were working on a ruling by a lower court and did not expect the $5,000 exemption per unit to be effective this year.

Following the high court ruling last week, plans are being made to extend the exemption to each condominium unit owner.

About 130 owners will be affected in this county, according to Joseph Phillip of the county tax assessor's office.

Total exemption will probably reach over a million dollars for condominiums next year when buildings now being constructed are completed and new ones get underway.

Twenty-one condominium structures are now under construction. This will add 114 units to the 171 units in the 20 condominiums now operating in the county.

THE QUEEN- Mrs. Barbara Miller Ferson of Eden was selected last Saturday by 250 members of the Lower Indian River Early Settlers Association. The group met for its 43rd annual get-together at the Stuart Youth Center. Mrs. Ferson, who has lived in the family home which was built in 1888, is a retired school teacher, having taught in Jensen Beach school for about 20 years, and in St. Lucie and Palm Beach Counties. Mrs. Warner B. Tilton presented Mrs. Ferson with a bouquet of roses.

Settling basin

hearing is May 28

A hearing on the proposed settling basin above the St. Lucie Locks will be held at the courthouse in Stuart on Wednesday, May 28 at 10 a.m. At that time the public will learn details of the plan to dig a basin in St. Lucie Canal above the lock and seven-gate dam, according to F. D. McCray, Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District.

The Army engineers will assume the major portion of expense of the $60,000 basin project.

The hearing on May 28 will probably decide if the proposed settlement basin project is feasible. If so, the bidding will be let in June, along with dredging of shoals below the lock.

Silt collects in the area of the lock when Lake Okeechobee water level is lowered as a flood prevention measure. Lake level is lowered during this time of year as a precaution against hurricanes and their heavy rains.

Surfers are bringing abolishment of sport

The possibility of abolishing the sport of surfing in Martin County was raised this week as the new county life guard issued a plea for help in ending the "wild surfing" at Jensen Beach. The actions of surfers in and out of the water led to a question of possible discipline for offending surfers by County Commissioner Frank Wachs at the county meeting Tuesday.

Many local residents called The Jensen Beach Mirror in the past week complaining about the surfing into bathers, and the takeover of the beach by the surfers. Picnic tables turned over, commanding of tables by the young men and women, throwing of beer cans around the beach and general noise of the surfers were predominating complaints.

Asked to comment by The Mirror, the Jensen Beach lifeguard said he had called the sheriff several times, but found that when the deputy arrived the surfers received a "hand-slap", and continued on their way as soon as the deputy left. "They laughed at me, and at the deputy," he said.

Beer drinking on the beach by minors brought the promise of an undercover agent on the beach by Sheriff Roy Baker. He said he would try to "bring someone in", due to the fact that the teenagers knew most of the local deputies, and dispose of the evidence when they see them.

Wachs said that the boundries for swimming, fishing and surfing in the county beaches must be defined and enforced. He added that there is a strong feeling for banning surfing at the beaches but added that he felt that the sport is "wholesome" and should be allowed as long as the rules are observed.

In other business, the commission:

HEARD a request from Americable, Inc. for permission to develop a cable TV service in the Palm City area.

EXTENDED to one year the time for Dan-an Memorial Camp to meet building code requirements on buildings moved to the camp.

DECIDED to ask the legislative delegation to reconsider its denial of a salary increase for the sheriff, from $10,500 to $12,000 a year. The sheriff was advised to write a letter asking for the raise, and the commission voted to support the request.

AGREED to store microfilm in the First National Bank of Stuart.

APPROVED the first step of a county civil defense shelter plan.

SET June 10 public hearings on requests to vacate a plat and roads in part of the Jupiter-Tequesta Hunt Club Colony, and on revisions of RT zoning worked out a week ago.

OFFERED no objection to a Robinson Groves application for a bulkhead and fill permit on the south side of the St. Lucie Canal at the firm's plant east of Indiantown.

APPROVED rezoning of an existing trailer park to TP classification.

DECIDED to wait until the new budget year to hire a master planner, but to take preliminary action soon.

Activities will extend as far south as Jonathan Dickinson State Park. There will be six major summer school centers.

Other action at the meeting included:

Approval of the appointment of 39 new teachers for the coming school year and approved summer school transfers, resignations and teacher transfers.

Heard architect Kendall Starratt propose pre-bidding on some phases of construction for the new Jensen Beach school to be built during the next year.

Voted to buy a portable classroom for Warfield School for $7,499.98, and to replace 27 windows in the instructional center for $3,105.

Named the following teachers to the summer program to study middle school curricula: Marsha Whiteside, Mary Ann Stepp, Joan Hankins, Steve Darvill, Marty Buchanan and Louis Rizzolo.

Ordered expressions of appreciation sent to Mrs. Lillian Dassori, retiring general supervisor, and Mrs. Gertrude Boyd, who is retiring from school lunchroom program.

School personnel get pay increases

Raises in the amount of $53,745 for 19 Martin County school executives were approved last Thursday by the Martin County School Board.

This figure did not include the superintendent or two posts, school psychologist and adult education assistant.

Raises totaling $55,474 for 275 teachers were also approved by the board.

Under the new teacher pay schedule there is a general increase of $200 a year for Rank III (bachelor's degree) teachers. An additional three per cent raise is given to teachers with up to 10 years of experience, and one per cent for those with 11 to 15 years experience.

Edgar Norton, Classroom Teachers Association representative, had said the teacher scale should be revised to give more compensation to teachers with 11 to 15 years experience. Norton said the increase included in the new scale still does not offset the cost of living increases.

Pre-school clinic in Jensen Thursday

There will be a pre-school clinic at Jensen Beach Elementary School at 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 15.

Physicals are required by law for children entering first grade. Kindergarten physicals are required by the Martin County School Board and should be obtained from family doctors, according to Harriet Elkins.

Children must be six years old by January 1, 1970 to be admitted to first grade.

Parents are asked to bring the child's birth certificate and health certificate obtained from the family doctor. Children need not accompany the parents.

For further information all the school at 287-2752.

Pay raises approved for county officials

V. James Navitsky, superintendent of Martin County schools, has been given a $4,000 raise in salary. The move was made by members of the Martin-Palm Beach County delegation when they met recently, according to Rep. John Jordan, legislator.

The raise brings Navitsky's salary to $16,500.

The application for a raise in salary for the Martin County sheriff was denied. He had been given a raise last year to $10,500.

Raises approved by the delegation included county judge, from $12,000 to $14,500; clerk of circuit court, $9,000 to $12,000; tax assessor, $9,000 to $12,000; tax collector, $3,000 to $12,000, and supervisor of elections, $4,200 to $6,000.

She talked to the tree

About 4 or 5 years ago, Ruby Wren had a handful of seeds given her from an orchid tree. Ruby gave away all but one of them which she planted on the soil at the west end of her patio. It grew into quite a nice little tree, but no flowers, so this spring, Ruby did a little talking to it and said, "Now produce or our you go." Apparently she scared the poor little thing, for right now it is beautiful. It has 16 lovely orchids fully out, and many buds yet to come out.

Miss Hollcraft and her sister, Mrs. Doris Raley returned May 5th, from Lafayette, Ind., where they had flown recently to attend the funeral of their brother, Harry Hollcraft. The ladies returned with a rental car, and after attending to some business here, they will drive their own car back to Lafayette, but hope to return to the part about July 1, to make their permanent home here.

Mr. & Mrs. Bill Krowarr left April 7 for Melbourne, Fla. There, they were to meet their daughter, Mrs. Betty Cox the morning of May 8th, and Betty will help with the driving from Melbourne to their home in Kirkland, Ohio. Bill told us that Kirtland is quite a historical town. It is the sight of the first Mormon temple built in this country, being built in 1889. The original temple still stands, and is well kept, and boasts hand-rolled glass in the windows.

Mr. & Mrs. Tony Mutloon entertained their dancing friends, the 5 Hinds. Sheehys, Charles Morgan, and Myrt Huntington to a cocktail party at their home Friday, May 9th, at 5 p.m.

Mrs. Alfred Hall was called on Mrs. Emily Ewing recently and is glad to report she found her mu ...er after her sick spell of the previous week.

Sunday night movies over

Virginia Dale of the Jensen Beach Travel Service informs us that she is unable to get suitable films for Sunday, May 18th, so there will be no show.

Under the circumstances of considering the much smaller crowd we could reasonably expect, we have mutually agreed to discontinue the Sunday night movies until further notice.

SEA GRAPES- If the amount of blossoms is any indication, there should be a good crop of sea grapes this year. Hundreds of one particular variety are consuming the nectar which evidently has no appeal for the busy bee. We are told the grapes make a lovely pink jelly.

SPANISH BAYONET- The last of our Spanish Bayonet or Yucca blossoms got badly used in last week-end's storm. The stem was broken and the blossom head hanging down, so I had Fred Failing pull it upright with a length of twine so I could get the picture. This Yucca is on Harold Woodruff's lot at the corner of 9th and Broad.

We get letters . . .

Mr. & Mrs. Ray Seamehorn received a card from Jack Kinker, May 6th. Jack says: "Had a good time at the Kentucky Derby races, stayed at the Terrace Hilton Hotel Friday night and went to the races on the Saturday. We came back to the hotel the same night and left for Flint, Saturday morning. Had a bus load of 41; only eight men. All had a good time and the weather in Louisville could not have been better. We leave for Japan on the 22nd."

Mr. & Mrs. Carl Mennenger have a card from Mr. & Mrs. Frank Moon, dated May 5, to say they had a lovely trip with a stop-over, Sunday, which they spent with their daughter and family, Mrs. Moon writes: "It is beautiful here and nice to have plenty of room to move around in a large home." She adds "Keep well." The Moons.

Mr. & Mrs. Harold Scofield heard from Lyle Hall to say they got home in time to plant their potatoes in the "dark of the moon." They left April 4th.

We have a letter from the Spears of Key Limo: "Dear Tom: We drove to Jacksonville, April 17, and then flew to Hartford, Conn. Our son flew down the next day and picked up our car. When he arrived with it we drove it home. A very easy trip for us and we are both feeling very good and we are collected quite a bit.

"Our friend, Tom St. Peter, who spent a couple of winters on Banyan St., passed away suddenly at his home, 38 Hubbard Ave., S. Portland, Me., on April 11.

We have a letter from Mr. & Mrs. Harry Sicard, and are glad to know they arrived home safely. Extracts from their letter: "We arrived home April 29, at a quiet, warm but daughter, Gretchen, and grandson were waiting for us. They live in the upper part and we live in the lower section. It is furnished throughout completely. The house is brick, has living room, bedroom, stairway, and half recarpeted.

"The children also went up to the lake and had a wonderful time testing. Deborah, the baby, we still have her. Decorating Day, we will likely get the Long Lake cottage special at the weekend.

"We had nice weather on the way home, in fact the Lovely Florida weather came right along with us. This is one of the best springs we ever had since we have been up here. We both thoroughly enjoyed the trip.

"Today, May 3, we received The Mirror. We got out right here to enjoy the news of Great Britain and about Jensen Beach."

Dave Hillman gets a card from the Haines: "We arrived home safely April 29, after spending three nights with our children in Toronto. We found things OK, here. Had the weather all the way, while in Toronto we had 'Hell to pay' and had another disappointment. We had to wait another year to get her ears attended to. We were both pretty tired when we got home. This trip was hard on Dad."

Mattie Tweed received a letter from Mary Hall dated May 3rd.

Mary says they stopped at their daughter's place a day and two nights and arrived at their home at Elkhorn, Wis., May 1st.

To use her own words, "We caught up with the Pearly our before the second oasis and we had breakfast together, then we had lunch at the Georgia Welcome Station. They travel faster than we do, so we agreed to meet them at Griffith, Ga., but we, of course, sailed right through Griffith as we were 20 miles past it, so we got a motel and tried to get in touch with them by phone, but didn't know the name of the motel, and the operator was not co-operative, so we never saw them again.

"The traffic was heavy on #75 North, but after we got through Atlanta, it let up and we had clear sailing. It seems everyone was glad to see us and popped in for coffee. This morning I was invited for 10 a.m. coffee and this afternoon I had to help my neighbor dress as she had broken an arm. I went to another neighbor to bandage a sprained foot. Monday, I am invited to a party. Thursday, I get a perm and go to the Senior Citizens Club, so you see, I am as busy as in Ocean Breeze.

"The weather is real cool here. The trees are just beginning to show green. Flowers are in bloom and everything looks great. I sure miss you all.

"Friends will be interested to know that Inez and Dorothy Barrett arrived home at Wells Lake, Wisc., April 16. Extracts of a letter from them both will be of interest to their friends:

"We left Seattle Tuesday, April 22, stopped overnight, saw friends at Big Timber, Montana, and arrived at St. Paul, Minn., April 25, where we spent several days visiting relatives and friends who enjoyed our trip. All our relatives had plenty of room for us so we didn't have to feel that we were crowding anyone. It is a beautiful trip from Seattle through the Snoqualmie Pass and into Idaho; we really enjoyed that section. Montana is also beautiful.

"When we arrived at Wells Lake, Wisc., we found the house all ready for us—water and sewer lines opened up, all we had to do was to light the furnace. Never had it so warm. Dot says he raked the dead leaves and cut the lawn, also that the young lilac trees look quite a bedding and are full. The snow was deep and it seems that it held the grass over here and trees warmer than they are in Florida. Dot and I like it to live in the summer and cool winters, and our other reasons will be covered later.

"Tom Mellon is arriving at Wells Lake and we are very glad to get it." There has been no sign of snow since we left Seattle.

Dorothy adds that she was sorry that it was the weather that kept us from visiting and it would have meant their waiting in Seattle another two weeks and that is too long. As she mentions their local church is having a two-week revival meeting and we enjoyed one night and attended on Mother's Day. We also had a family supper.

Mrs. Erma Krowarr was discharged from the Martin Memorial Hospital, Tuesday, May 6th, and left the following day with her son, Howard Krowarr to plane, for his home in Phoenix, Ariz., where she will be making her home with her son and his wife, Nettie. The address is The Krugers, address is 4316 East Aeolian Way, Phoenix, Ariz. This will be of interest to Stuart and many friends who used to keep in touch.

Mr. & Mrs. Bill Fowler left by car ... May 4th for their home in Wynantskill, N.Y.

Mr. & Mrs. Harold Duffield, were making preparations for their annual trip north early, when we called May 6th. They planned to leave at least by Sunday, May 8th. They enjoyed the winter here, and their son, Major Luther K. Duffield, who arrived April 27, with his wife, and stayed with his parents for a week. At the time were on their way to Germany, and should be in Frankfurt, Germany by the end of May. Mrs. Duffield reports that Major Duffield has received a new assignment, and that he will be stationed at Ft. Paul, Minn., April 25, where we spent several days visiting relatives and friends who enjoyed our trip. All our relatives had plenty of room for us so we didn't have to feel that we were crowding anyone. 150 rooms in first phase

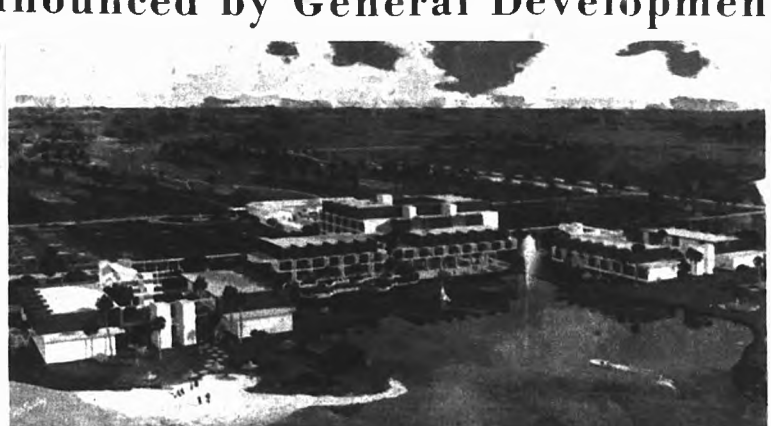
$3.5 million hotel for St. Lucie Country Club is announced by General Development for 1970



NEW HOTEL- This new $3.5 million, 150-unit hotel planned by General Development Corporation for St. Lucie Country Club was announced this week by officials of General Development at a meeting of the council of the City of Port St. Lucie. The plan would change the concept of the country club to a great degree, utilizing the natural beauty of the area, the already existing facilities of the convention hall, country club complex for serving the new hotel, and promises future expansion to 500 units with the growth of the area.

A 150 room hotel, the first phase in an eventual construction of a 500 room hotel complex, was announced last week by Fred Roach, executive vice-president of General Development Corporation, for St. Lucie Country Club. The announcement was made at the meeting of the council of the City of Port St. Lucie.

Making the presentation, Roach said that the hotel would be tied to the country club convention hall, would feature step-down construction of five to two stories, with an atrium in the five story hotel center, featuring a glassed elevator.

There will be four elevators in the hotel, which will be constructed in a semi-circle at the head of the small lagoon on the North Fork of the St. Lucie River.

"The aesthetics of the area are being taken into consideration," Roach said. "We plan to have covered walkways, minimum parking at the hotel, with auto delivery service to the entrance, and the landscaping will be done by Walter Tapp Bradshaw, famous Fort Lauderdale landscaper, who did the Doral Hotel. There will even be an underground water sprnt in the lagoon."

The preliminary plan showed an independent view of the St. Lucie River from all rooms in the hotel.

"The concept might be compared with Sea Island, Georgia," Roach said.

Roach also announced that a new road would give access to the hotel, a road from U.S. 1 about a mile south of Cane Slough Road, directly into the hotel site. The "Hotel of Tomorrow" group would be phased out as the rooms are added with private residences being established to the west of the hotel site.

Roach discussed the possibility of creating a "buffer zone" of executive type villas on a waterway to be tied to the river through several ponds presently along the drive on Morningside. "This is an idea, a dream, if it can be constructed and planned by our engineers," Roach said.

The first 150 units would use present dining, swimming and recreational facilities of the St. Lucie Country Club, with new dining rooms being added as the second and third phase of the 500 room hotel are constructed.

"We are not trying to save money," Roach said, "we are trying to create something beautiful."

The GD executive estimated that the hotel would be ready for occupancy in November, 1970, or, "within two months of that time." He said that the architects would have four and one-half months to complete the plans. Ground testing had already started, he said, and after six weeks of bidding, construction would start. The timetable set construction starting in approximately six months.

Roach told city officials that an economic survey by Economic Research of Chicago showed the hotel to be feasible. He said that road use through the country club would be held to a minimum during construction, as GD planned to cut a dirt road through to the construction site to avoid heavy equipment using Morningside. He said also that General Development would be constructing the new Savannah Road boulevard as the direct access to the hotel site.

The members of the city council of the City of Port St. Lucie received the often rumored plans of the hotel with enthusiasm. They offered their thanks to Roach for this preliminary, and promised cooperation with the objectives of the complex in the planning period, including the possibilities of the use of the facilities for Civil Defense protection.

SRD has budget hearing at SLCC

A hearing on the budget of the State Road Department will be held Thursday, May 22, at the St. Lucie Country Club convention hall. Included in the budget is $2.12 million for road and bridge projects.

The St. Lucie County Commission and the City Council of Port St. Lucie are planning a social hour for Wednesday (tonight) at 6 p.m. at the convention hall, followed by dinner for invited guests and the State Road Board.

The SRB will be welcomed by John R. Park, chairman of the St. Lucie County board of county commissioners, and by Col. E. P. Kavanaugh, Mayor of the City of Port St. Lucie.

Martin County projects included in the budget are:

Drainage of alternate A-1-A, Rio, estimated at $140,000; resurface SR 707 for 5.6 miles from U.S. 1 north of Stuart to the St. Lucie County line, to cost about $100,000; widen U.S. 1 for 5.1 miles north of Palm Beach County line to the Olympia overpass, estimated at a cost of $1 million; replace Arundel Shop Bridge on S-76-A, at about $700,000; and construction of fenders for SR A-1-A bridge over the Intracoastal Waterway at approximately $30,000.

The event is free and is open to the public.

The lobby of the convention hall will be the scene of the growing Appliance Fair, begun three years ago, the Fair gives local appliance dealers the opportunity to show their wares to the public, and several have indicated that new ideas in cooking appliances will be shown.

Cooking showcase planned

The sixth annual Jensen Beach Mirror Cooking Showcase and Appliance Fair will be held Friday, June 6, at St. Lucie Country Club's convention hall, according to Dick Campbell, publisher of The Mirror. There will be two sessions, at 2:30 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m.

Taking part in a recent planning session for the annual showcase were John Law, district manager of Florida Power and Light Company; Vanda North, home service representative with FP&L; Carl Bridges, FP&L; Mrs. Martha Norton, home demonstration agent for Martin County; Pat Bagwell, social director for St. Lucie Country Club, and Campbell.

Highlight of the cooking showcase will be a show of the latest sportswear fashions by Frances Langford's Boutique at SLCC. Local models will show the fashions three times during the show.

Many prizes will be offered at the two-hour show.

PLAY BALL--Jensen baseball commissioner Dean Tucker threw out the first ball as the Little League season got under way last week in Jensen Beach. Jensen Bank catcher Randy Balanger and chief umpire Harry Bibbee stood in the protected area behind the commissioner as the game between the Jensen Bank and Martin County Cleaners got under way. M.C. HELP THE KIDS—Civic and community organizations, businesses and individuals pitch in each season to help the baseball leagues at Langford Park. Last week members of the American Legion Post #126, Jensen Beach, voted to donate $200 to support the Jensen Beach Cubs. Left to right above are Julius Newman, senior vice-commander; Virgil Rathbone, finance director, both of the Legion, and J. Ernest Baker, chairman of the Cubs, who looks happy to accept the donation.

Public meeting Friday on condominium appeal

A public meeting to hear debate on the proposed "Skyline Arms" condominium on Commercial Street in Jensen Beach has been set for 7:30 p.m. Friday night at Langford Park recreation building, according to Tom Higgens, assistant to the county engineer and zoning advisor.

Higgens reported to The Mirror Monday that all interested in the application for a zoning change for the area at Commercial Street and Skyline Drive are invited to the meeting.

The request for a zoning change was recently denied by the Martin County Planning and Zoning Board in the face of protest mainly by residents of the nearby South Street area, and some protest from other areas of Jensen Beach, all contained in petitions presented to the zoning board.

County commissioner Frank Wacha, Higgens and possibly Slider will be on hand at the meeting to hear proponents and opponents to the plan. Appearing to support the request for a change will be Evans Crary, attorney, Harry Jennings, local Realtor, and O.S. Gaskill, developer.

Gaskill plans eight condominium buildings, a $960,000 development, on the site, the southeast corner of the intersection. The property is presently zoned R-1 and R-2. There are plans for eight units in each building. The units will be priced from $11,990 to $15,290.

Petitions in support of the condominiums have been circulated in the past week to the Jensen Beach area in anticipation of the county commission public hearing on the project next week.

The condominium complex was announced on March 6th, and is presently going through the rezoning stages of development.

The First Presbyterian Church, North River Shores, will hold a worship committee meeting in the Fellowship Hall at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, May 26.

COLLAPSED ROOF—Workmen carefully dismantle the twisted and broken timbers from the roof of Stuart Paint and Supply in Hobe, following the collapse of the roof Tuesday night in a rainstorm that featured high winds. The collapse was attributed to a "freak winds storm" by Larry Timon, manager of the building supply firm.

There will be a U.P.W. meeting of the First Presbyterian Church of North River Shores and branch on Tuesday, May 27, at 9:30 a.m. Rev. Barman will speak.

Windstorm collapses roof at Stuart Paint and Supply

A "freak windstorm" twisted and pulled loose a rear support, causing the roof of a new addition to Stuart Paint and Supply to collapse Tuesday morning, according to Larry Timon, manager of the building supply firm.

"We don't know how it happened," Timon said. "All we know is that this morning there were roof and trusses spread all over the interior of the shop."

Investigation by local engineers failed to show any weakness in the structural design, or the installation of the roof and the trusses, Timon said.

"We checked the structural design with the engineer and found it to be proper and sound. No one seems to know how the roof collapsed. The violent winds and rain on Tuesday night point to a freak wind that snapped an area on the south side of the building away from its support, causing the trusses to bend and collapse," he said.

One half of the roof over the structure was sound, and untouched by the winds. Interior panels showed the destructive force of the winds, being spread all over the shop, even into the interior of the old building to which the new section was attached.

"It must have been a twister, touching down for a moment, then moving on, through the heavy part of the rain," Timon added.

The exterior roof section showed the twisting action of the wind on the outside tie to the wall, with timbers twisted and pulled away from the wall where the wind took the structure apart.

Timon could not estimate the damage to the area, mainly in the glass department, where the falling timbers and flying interior ceiling panels destroyed most of the glass inventory.

"The only thing we are trying to do now is get this shop cleaned up, get our glass department and screen department restocked, and get a new section of roof back on the building. We must maintain the volume of work that we have on our order sheets and not get behind," Timon said.

"HOME OWNERSHIP - FOUNDATION OF THE NATION"

Buying a home can be a barrel of fun. Or a pack of pitfalls. And that's where a Realtor comes in. Even though you may know the difference between a dormer window and a bay, his expert help can open your eyes to other features you might never notice. And steer you clear of drawbacks you might easily overlook. Below you will find ten of the best reasons we know for starting your search for a home in the Realtor's office.

When Buying or Selling Real Estate
Consult your REALTOR

1. THE REALTOR SAVES YOU TIME, EFFORT AND HEADACHES. He discovers your architectural interests, learns something of your personal tastes--and tries to show you only the types of homes you want to see, within your price range.

2. THE REALTOR ADVISES YOU ABOUT NEIGHBORHOODS. His professional experience is invaluable to you in analyzing future trends and the potential value of your home as a long-range investment.

3. THE REALTOR HELPS YOU SEE THROUGH INFLATED PRICES. Owners who try to sell personally, often tend to overprice a home. But homes listed with a Realtor benefit from his knowledge of current market values.

4. THE REALTOR ARRANGES FOR DEFINITE INSPECTIONS. He makes appointments for your convenience. He will also see that you have plenty of time for a thorough, unhurried inspection.

5. THE REALTOR HELPS YOU SHARPEN YOUR VISION. He inspects homes with you, calls your attention to improvements and advantages you could overlook. And points out disadvantages his trained eye may spot.

6. THE REALTOR PROVIDES YOU WITH FULL INFORMATION. He will give you essential facts about taxes, maintenance costs, quality of construction, adequacy of public services, schools, churches--even introduce you to the neighbors.

7. THE REALTOR ACTS AS A NEGOTIATOR. Settling of the finer points of price and other differences can get pretty hectic. Your Realtor smoothes over the details and helps buyer and seller arrive at a mutually advantageous agreement.

8. THE REALTOR HELPS YOU STAY WITHIN YOUR BUDGET. He will help you analyze your financial situation, give you sound mortgage advice. Then, if you desire, he can recommend sources of mortgage funds so you can arrange financing.

9. THE REALTOR HELPS YOU KNOW FINAL FACTS AND FIGURES. At the closing of the transaction, you will need a complete financial statement, giving you an exact record for insurance, tax and other purposes.

10. THE REALTOR IS PLEDGED TO SERVE YOU WELL. Display of the NAREB seal is evidence of a pledge to uphold the ideals of the Association. The term REALTOR is your assurance of competence, fair treatment and integrity.

R&DB honors Grumman during Industry fete

A Florida Development Commission plaque, honoring Grumman Aircraft Engineering Company's Stuart facility, was presented to local Grumman officials last Friday as the Martin County Resource and Development Board celebrated Industry Appreciation Week in Florida.

The plaque was presented to Bill Cobey, director of the Florida Division of Grumman, who turned and handed it to plant manager Art Melrose, saying, "I'd like to pass this on to the man who has earned it."

Bill Burson, chairman of the R&DB, introduced a film clip prepared by Governor Claude Kirk, saluting the industry chosen for the honor during the week. Then Burson thanked the company for being a "good neighbor."

"Grumman is a family organization," Cobey said, "and if I wanted to raise a family, I would raise it here." Cobey added that he was glad to be back in a small town, saying, "We want to be a part of this community and are very hopeful for our future here."

Cobey praised local manager Art Melrose, saying, "He has built one of the finest working organizations in our system. We are making this the front door to Grumman for Army aviation and we'll be bringing more and more people down here."

Ken Ferguson, manager of Hoosier Metals in Stuart, said that his firm had been doing business with Grumman since 1947. "We know it as a stable company, and that is important to Stuart," Ferguson said.

Before the presentation, the members of the resources board reelected officers for the 1968 year. Burson, manager of Southern Bell in Stuart, was reelected chairman, Richard E. Campbell, editor of The Jensen Beach Mirror, was reelected vice chairman, Ross Philbrick, local property developer, was reelected secretary, and Ernie Lyons, editor of The Stuart News, was reelected treasurer of the board.

Burson, upon his reelection, said, "It is an honor to, in some small way, do something for this county. We have tried to do something in the past year. At times we were criticized, and that is right. We did not do all right, nor all wrong."

"Whether we like it or not, Martin County and Stuart are going to grow. It is our responsibility to see that the county grows in the right way. We should profit by our mistakes, and the mistakes of other counties to make this the Utopia we want."

Burson congratulated the county for seeking a planner, thanking county commissioner Bill Owens for his interest in coming to the annual meeting of the board.

PRESENTATION--Grumman Aircraft's plant in Stuart was honored last Friday with the presentation of a plaque by the Martin County Resources and Development Board on behalf of the Florida Development Commission as a part of Industry Appreciation Week by the local board. Presenting the plaque was Bill Burson, chairman of the board. Receiving were Art Melrose, plant manager, left, and Bill Cobey, director of the Florida facility.

Letter from the Caldars

These are extracts taken from a letter written to Hugh and Irene Burgess:

"We both came home from the hospital April 29th. The first week we did nothing but rest. Guess the medicine and pills slowed us both down. I sure had my brains examined, and they found no lumps bumps, or holes! We are sure lucky to have such an up-to-date hospital. Had all heart tests, blood, etc. Then I had my neck and head X-rayed. Two sessions with the neurologist specialist. Then three hours down in the brain lab for all those exams. They decided I had a change in brain waves most likely due to exhaustion. I am the second adult they have had with it—it happens to children. So guess I'm in my second childhood! Guess getting ready for the trip up here, the long trip in the rain, unpacking, cleaning, washing, and Nae in the hospital finally wore me down. Had a check up last week and doctor said I was in good shape but should slow down.

Nae had a check up Wed. He improved faster than the doctors thought he would. They said his body was in perfect shape, except for his heart. He didn't feel so peppy the last two days, so just laid around and will do the same today. Then will go back to taking a walk, morn-ings. Hopes to go fishing soon. Love, Nae and Doro-thy.

We know all the folks here will be glad to hear the good news N.C.

cards and letters to friends Betty McNab received a letter from Jean Sturrock in Lacona, N.H. Jean wrote from the hospital where she was being treated for bruises and broken ribs. According to the letter, Jean fell over the extension cord when she answered the telephone one afternoon, but did not realize she had suffered any real hurt until the next morning when the pain got very severe and finally she got up and tried to walk around. Hope you are feeling better, now, Jean.

Dear Tom & Nellie:

We made it home in 3 days, but with a few problems. Had six new tires put on trailer, but cable broke trailer tire caused a blowout on flat tire on inner tire on the other side. Result, we were delayed in Penn., until Monday and the stores open-ed up. Stations don't carry the smaller tires. Yes, the campers survived very well and we didn't lose more than 8, and we sure made our family happy. To have two bushels of fresh tomatoes right when they were planted, my gardens was just fantastic. Our lake is beautiful now and we are starting a few jobs. Best wishes to all. The Ken Bartletts.

Just a note to let you know that we got home O.K. Stopped to see Betty Thompson and had lunch with her. She seems well. It was snowing after we came through the mountains of West Va. But the weather is nice here. Have a good summer. From Lester and Gladys Adams, Highland Park, Mich.

We arrived home Friday evening as planned; Jennihas not been well since we got here. Went to the doctor Monday and will go again tomorrow. Believe she is better today. Tulips are blooming and we need rain. Give our best to our friends. Leslie and Jennieve Zimmerman, Royal Union, Ohio

Sue and mother arrive! safe and sound Wednesday night. Mother stood the trip very well. They used a lift to get her on and off the planes without having to use the stairs. Then there was a wheel chair available at each stop. She really enjoyed the trip; has kept saying how and over what a smooth flight it was. The heat is; she was tired, but is doing very well. Thank you and all for their help. Best, Mrs. Elwood (Slim) Krueger, Phoenix, Ariz.

Dear Mrs. Cook:

I want to get this check to the right person. It is late, but we have had sickness much of the time. We are doing it in memory of William D. Bensemer, Sr., who passed away recently. They were good friends of ours. I have been disabled five years today with a broken hip, am still unable to walk without a walker. Spent weeks in hospitals, the last month in Cleveland Clinic. I try to do the cooking, etc. We missed being there last winter. Hope to see all and of the year. Sincerely, Alice and Dave Woosley, 462 Greenwood Ave., Akron, Ohio, 44320.

I was so happy to see Gladys and Lester Adams. Wish they could have stayed longer, but they had to hurry home to her sister's funeral. Gilbert and Phyllis have moved, are only about two blocks from me now. Give my best to all the folks I know down there. Love, Betty, Mrs. B.M. Thompson, 42450 Church St., Salisbury, N.C. 28144.

Arrived April 24th, staying at the Monaco Motel on Miami Beach for about a month. Two other couples with us. Hope you are planning north with the cabin this year, we sure missed you both. Mary and Rudy. This is from the De Nittos, friends of the Von Hallas.

Dear Nellie & Tom:

Rainy and chill in the air We are now home at 32 Thicketwood Estates in our new 70 foot "Holiday Mansion." This park was built out of the forest that was badly hit in the 1938 hurricane, hence the name Thicketwood. I should know, we were caught away from our home when the hurricane hit in the late Afternoon, and never got home until the next day, and then only by crawling and climbing the trees that were down. I had two of the children with me and one was Warren, who was eight at the time, and now runs this park. So this area means a real experience in our lives. Although we have moved in and are settled, the lot is not landscaped yet. My mother lives close by, so we visit often. My retirement has not meant much to me yet, but now I should have more time to do the hobbies I enjoy so much. This is from a letter from Dorothy McKenzie, 32 Thicketwood Estates, Keene, N.H. 03431

SILVER OAK BLOSSOMS- The golden blossoms of the Silver Oak would be more noticeable if its tree were not so tall. When the blossoms first open up, they resemble rows of safety pins, closed. Day by day these "safety pins" open until at last they become perfectly straight, as the ones in the foreground.

Clarence Fulton dies on his Iowa farm

Due to lack of space, the announcement of the death of Clarence Fulton was not printed on this page last week; consequently many people missed it. Following is an announcement from the Washington, Iowa, newspaper:

Clarence E. Fulton, 63, died on his rural Crawfordsville farm at heart attack Monday afternoon, May 5, 1969.

Mr. Fulton had been a Washington County Supervisor from 1946 to 1952 and also had been a school board member for 19 years. The funeral was held at the Jones Funeral Home, May 8, at 1:30 p.m., and burial was in the Elm Grove cemetery.

Mr. Fulton was born in Washington County, Feb. 28, 1906. He was reared in this county and married Aug. 6, 1927 to Ida Lucille Hotle. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, Clarence loved the park and all the people there as on Thanksgiving he did not suffer very long, and just passed in the night, and helping the less fortunate once more. I cannot find words to express our feelings.

There were 44 floral pieces, 37 contributions to the heart fund and scores of messages among the out of 54 S.M.H.S. I have received inside the 200 letters and cards.

I just cant write to each one as well as I'd like to.

I plan to come back to our little home in Vista, where so many of our happy memories are, (Carlene & Jim had almost 42 years of happiness, and now happy I am to say they were all happy). Oh, how I miss him.

Our family has been wonderful, and the grandchildren are a great comfort. Mi-best to all, with love, Lucille.

Lucille said to write this as we thought most, but it was such a lovely letter, just like Lucille, that it has been shortened but letter. Sure-
